Graphic Description of the Queen of England in Her Declining Days.

Writing from the Riviera, where Queen Victoria is now spending a month near Nice, Mrs. Crawford the Paris correspondent of Mr. Labouchere's Truth, says:

"I was at once glad and sorry to see the Queen as she alighted. The gladness was due to feeling for her the deepest respect, and to regarding her as a quite exceptional member of her caste—indeed, so that I always cry amen whenever I hear "God save the Queen." The sorrow arose from seeing how years tell on her. She was greatly stooped. How weary she looked, and yet how kind and obliging and well disposed to play her part in the rapidly acting pageant. She seemed unable to raise her head. The upward glances that she cast on all went to one's heart.

"She looked up and around under her eyelids, as if wanting strength to look otherwise. One might have thought that she did not feel her feet under her as she tried to descend the stooping gangway from her train into the station house. Two servants usually helped her. But, no doubt to lend herself to the function, she leaned only on one of the Indian servants, who supported her well. The blood left her face as she tottered down. A painter worthy of the name could have done an immortal portrait if he caught her at that moment. He should not be a frivolous Angeli from Vienna, or a fashion-plate artist from Copenhagen; but a modern Velasquez or a Bastien-Lepage, with the courage to be absolutely truthful, and the ability to transfer to canvas all the history the Queen's face suggests, all the exceptional experience of her exceptionally long regal career. It more than hints all her constantly repeated and firmly fulfilled desire to keep the right path, and all her woman's joys and sorrows, which are written in plain characters. That painter would have said with his pencil: She was unswervingly good; at 76 she was invested with a majesty that altogether ceased to depend on her lofty station, that was entirely personal, and a moral fact strange and interesting.

"The smile—that test of disposition—was most sweet. There was no trace of the gloom which is so characteristic of so many of the Queen's photographs, not one which conveys a moral portrait of her. How was the Queen dressed? It would be hard to describe. The clothes were all loose. Where they bundly? Perhaps, but they suited her. They conveyed the idea that she was her own law and that she had other things to think of more importance by far than her clothes. Convenience alone was consulted. The bonnet was of white satin veiled with black lace and trimmed with ribbons falling down on the nape of the neck. A modern Velasquez would have been faithful in noting these details as giving an index to the royal mind. He would have seen in them evidence of a nature superior to stupid conventionalities. For the want of such a painter I fear one of the great lessons of the Queen's life will be lost to prosperity. She ought hereafter to figure in the National Gallery as the antitype of George the IV. Is there any greater miracle in history than that the Queen, such as she appeared to me at Nice and such as she has shown herself in the fifty-eight years of her reign, should resumer, exprimer, culminer, transfigurer et terminer the House of Hanover in England."

In a subsequent letter Mrs. Crawford adds: "Owing to the Queen being unable to stand alone unless supported, her tire-women fine it hard to dress her. Corsets and close-fitting corsages have been given up. She was long threatened with losing the use of her limbs, but the first time she experienced the loss of them was last summer at Osborne. A council was to have taken place there that day, but it was put off in consequence. Her health is good, considering all things. But if the menus of her dinners given in the French papers be genuine, it is astonishing that she is so well. The Queen should now eat merely to live, and milk should be her staff of life. She should give up tea, and take black coffee (unless it disagrees with her) after her lunch. This meal should be the chief repast. No meat or fish, only milk, eggs and fresh vegetables, should be taken in the evening. Beef mutton and game or shell fish are so much poison. The best fish are whiting, trout and young haddock, and the only meats chicken and veal, the gelatinous parts of which are most suitable to sufferers from rheumatic gout. Sarcey was threatened with losing the use of his limbs and blindness before he resorted to a regime of fish, vegetables, milk and eggs. He takes no meat of any kind. At first he suffered from the privation. But he now dislikes meat, and he finds his mind and body have recovered the activity of former years. The longer the Queen keeps well and lives, the better for her empire. It therefore concerns her subjects to know that the doctors see to her daily food."

How to serve Strawberries.

Strawberries are astonishingly sweet this year, and they give promise of being cheaper than usual when they shall arrive in plenty.

Popular as the strawberry is, says The New York World, very few households know the delights of it when served in unaccustomed forms. Shortcake, for example, is a byword, but shortcake is seldom made properly. Rightly constructed, this delicacy is of two separate sorts—the genuine sponge-cake variety and the real shortcake, a biscuit paste made with baking powder, and not raised. These biscuit layers are then split and the berries placed between and on top, the whole being afterwards covered with a rich cream. For the other sort of shortcake the spongecake is baked in round tins, and each layer is surmounted with whipped cream and well-sugared berries laid closely together.

A pretty and delightful way of serving strawberries is with the hulls on, and dipped in sugar. They are then eaten from off the hulls, held between the fingers. This method prevents all loss of juice, and there is the additional advantage of the berries not having been handled or touched by water. If they were properly picked no dirt remains on them.

Strawberry Bavarian cream, strawberry cream tarts and strawberry syllabub are other pleasing varieties of a dainty sort. In making the second of these, stew the berries and mix with corn starch, adding whipped cream when this mixture is put into the pastry. For syllabub put the berries into the oven and strain out the juice to add to whipped cream.

That Everyday Assistant, Glycerine.

Here are a few of the many uses to which glycerine may be applied: Equal parts of bay rum and glycerine applied to the face after shaving make a man rise up and call the woman who provided it blessed. Applied to the shoes, glycerine is a great preservative of the leather and effectually keeps out water and prevents wet feet. A few drops of glycerine put in the fruit jars the last thing before sealing them up helps to keep the preserves from molding on top. For flatulency there is no better remedy than a teaspoonful of glycerine after each meal. It will prevent and cure chapped hands. Two or three drops will often stop a baby's stomach ache. It will allay the thirst of a fever patient and soothe an irritable cough by moistening the dryness of the throat.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

SOME SERVICEABLE AND STYLISH TRAVELLING GOWNS.

New Jackets and Mavelocks—Yellow Chiffon Waists—Basket Woven Linen Duck—Pink Dotted Changeable Silks—Painted Collarettes.

Among the most serviceable gowns shown this season are those sent over by English tailors for travelling and shopping. They are simplicity itself, yet very expensive on account of their foreign extraction. The domestic manufacturers can give us similar gowns within smaller prices.

Diagonal and finer serges in black, navy-blue and bright brown are taken for the four-yard skirt, pointed or round vest and three-button cutaway coat; or the vest is entirely omitted and a silk waist worn. Bone or pearl buttons are on the coat and vest, and the former is lined with silk, as is the skirt of a London gown. With a round vest or silk waist a pretty leather or silk belting belt is worn. The sleeves of the coat are very large at the top and plaited in generally; the skirt is a four-yard shape, having seven gores, and each seam, like the jacket, is covered with a strap of the material.

If a waist of the material is preferred it has a double-breasted or jacket front; in the latter case a full vest of wool moire and revers of the same on the jacket fronts are correct. For young ladies the Eton fronts are neat over a vest of black and bleuet or cherry silk. Vests of plain Liberty satin or gros grain are likewise in vogue.

FRENCH TRAVELLING COSTUME.

The favorite tweeds for tailor, travelling, visiting, etc., wear are found in all wool and silk and wool mixture. These mixtures show flecks of white with every color, and green is even a better seller than blue or brown. They are plaid, check, all-over and striped effects; always indistinctly patterned.

Checks of a color with white are sold for girls' and ladies' dresses and are brightened by an occasional line of red, blue, green or yellow. Mohair effects show curls of black or white hair over a mixed ground, but anything of this character seems more appropriate for winter wear.

Homespuns, or goods closely related to them, have white, black and colored boucle effects and bourette stripes. These show a ground in gray and brown mixtures and the heather-like colorings that are never out of favor as fashions come and go.

A neat line of light-weight loosely woven homespun show such mixtures as brown, tan and white, with boucle stripes in yellow, tan and blue or red. These will make capital general wear summer gowns. One thing about mixtures that recommends them to shoppers is that they do not show dirt easily.

Besides the always worn navy and brown serges there are fabrics of this weave in cords smaller than "storm" serge in light tan, bleuet and mistral blue. Whipcords have been brought out this season in the fashionable plain colors and tiny stripes; green, blue, brown and tan are prominent in both collections, and the goods are recommended for travelling and general wear, as they shake the dust clean, easily and endure hard service.

A light-brown cheviot flecked with tan white and blue is made up with a skirt five yards wide, which has the back in two box plaits. The lower edge is trimmed with three tiny folds or may be left plain. The round basque is double-breasted, with stitched straps over the seams and bordering the cuffs, revers and turn-over collar, which may be of cloth, velvet or satin, brown velvet being shown and braid frogs or fastenings across the front to match.

A high collar and V fastening with tiny horn buttons finish the neck. The sleeves are very large and plaited into the armholes. The basque has a slight fullness at the back somewhat in a modified godet shape.

A light weight of tan-colored cloth is used for this gown with a trimming of brown mohair braid in curving arabesques surrounded by tendrils of tiny scallops of soutache braid of the same color or a lighter shade. This trimming entirely covers the short basque, which has a godet fullness above an accordion plaiting of blue satin, which matches the vest.

The center of the basque front is a box plait of brown velvet. Rosettes of this fabric are on each side of the blue collar and large fancy brown buttons are placed at the waist line. The godet skirt is trimmed on either side of the front with points of the braid arabesques.

LAME BACK AND ERUPTIONS.

MANLEY'S Celery Nerve Compound

WITH BEEF, IRON AND WINE.

WATERFORD, ONT., March 28, 1895.

To Lion Medicine Co., Toronto:—

SIRS,—It is with pleasure I send you the following regarding my case. For some years past I have been doctoring with three different physicians for Blood Trouble and Lame Back, but received only temporary relief. I tried a bottle of your Compound, and it has more than fulfilled its claims. The eruptions on my face have been removed, and the trouble in my back as well, and I feel like a new man. I consider your medicine better than any other for blood and liver troubles, as it has proved so in my case.

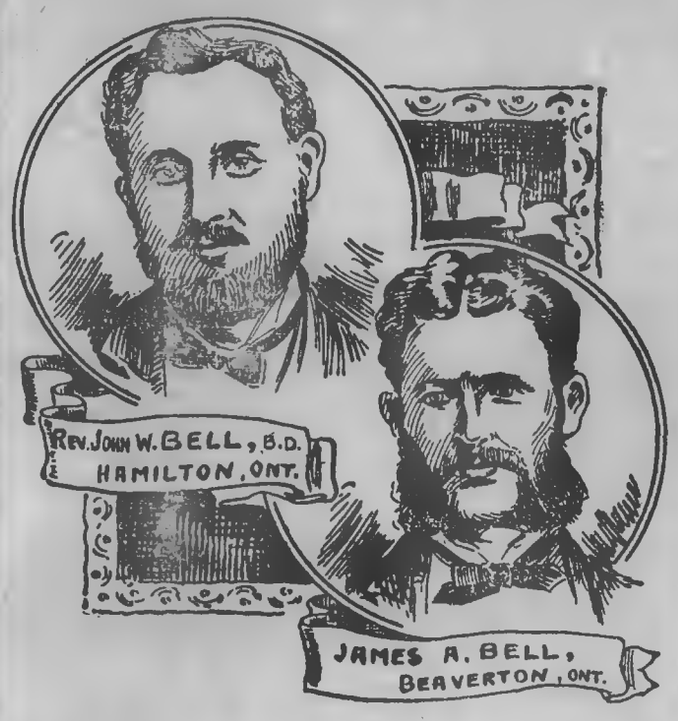
BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., Brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., Prostrated by Nervous Headaches--A Victim of the Trouble for Several Years --South American Nervine Effected a Complete Cure.



Is their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother, Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario, his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference, and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headaches, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them, and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell. The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

THE LIBERALS IN A BAD WAY.

An Early Dissolution Desired by Them—The Unionist Program—Bimetallism—Racing Matters—An Unwelcome Guest—Notes.

London, May 25.—The Unionist leaders have decided to postpone a decisive trial of the strength of the Government until after Whitsuntide. The Ministry will accept the challenge half-heartedly. The rank and file of the Liberal party are sick at the uncertainty of the situation and desire the dissolution of Parliament. Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, talks freely in the lobby of the House of his desire to dissolute and of his wish for a general election to take place at the earliest possible time. It is an open secret that he is confident of the retirement of Prime Minister Rosebery when the present parliament is ended, and that he wants to expedite the moment when he can seize the leadership of the party.

On the other hand Lord Rosebery, as he gradually recovers his health, becomes more reluctant to be shelved. He tries to persuade his colleagues that the best interests of the party will be served by holding on. Against this course most of the Ministerialists are opposed, relying on the consensus of opinion of the political agents throughout the country that the longer the general election is delayed the better the prospects for an aggravated defeat of the Liberals.

The reports of the Unionists agents show that should Parliament be dissolved now and a general election be held that party might secure a weak working majority. Should dissolution be postponed for six months, they would be likely to secure such a strong position that they would be able to keep the Liberals out of power for the next seven years. Both sides are convinced that dissolution is near, and have begun their electoral campaign. The agents have been instructed to get ready their canvass books, while many candidates will open on the stump during the Whitsuntide recess.

The program of the Unionists as declared by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain at the demonstration at St. James' Hall comprises old age pensions for artisans, a house purchase scheme, improved dwellings for workingmen, aid to agriculture, and the creation of peasant proprietors.

"You will have to decide," said Lord Salisbury, speaking at Bradford, "whether the social problems will be longer delayed of solution, whether England will sanction any more the system of log-rolling, whether a confederacy consisting of Irish, Welsh and Scotch contingents, each fighting for themselves, shall keep in power the party which is now sustained entirely by the action of squabbling mercenaries." The latest calculation is that the elections will take place in the third week of July.

The Parliamentary Committee, consisting chiefly of Unionists, formed to Utary system is signed by every Right Hon. Sir John Lubbock, Mr. Edward Brodie Hoare, Mr. Richard Biddulph Martin, Mr. Henry Kimber, and 80 others Sir William Vernon Harcourt's statement that the Government would not send representatives to a conference unless international bi-metallism is excluded from the discussion, does not imply that the proposals for a conference are squelched. Although refusing to allow England's monetary system to be debated, the relation of India with international currency arrangements, can be referred to the conference. The address of city bankers and merchants presented to Sir William Vernon Harcourt against a change in Britain's monetary system is signed by every leading financial house, except the Rothschilds.

Among the foreign horses that are expected to start in the Derby there is not a single good one. The tipsters are all at sea concerning the favorite, and experts speak of the list as a wretched lot. Bookmakers find their business on this event paralyzed, public interest in the race being very slight. At present the betting stands 5 to 1 against Laveno and Raconteur, 9 to 1 against Solado, 8 to 1 against Levar, 11 to 1 against Kirkconnel, and 20 to 1 against Beckhampton and Lombard. The Sporting Times gives either Laveno or Solado as the winner of the race for the Manchester Cup, Banquet for second place at odds of 11 to 1, finds ready backers.

The anti-gambling crusaders sent a clerical contingent to the Birmingham races, where they sang hymns and prayed. The crowd present passed them respectful inattention. A delegation will also be present at the Derby, but it is thought that they will be not so kindly treated there, and policemen will be required to protect them.

Sirdir Naerubrulla Khan, the second son of the Ameer of Afghanistan, who is now visiting in England, will remain at Dorchester House, whither he went immediately upon his arrival in London, for six weeks. His visit will cost the Government £6000, exclusive of the damage that will result from the habits of the 90 natives of his suite. The experience met with in the visit of his father to England barred him from being lodged in any royal palace, as it was found necessary to disinfect the place occupied by the Ameer after he and his suite had left on their return to Afghanistan. The collection of works by the old masters in the old Dorchester House have either been removed or covered up to protect them from the distinguished visitors, and British officers are in charge of the temporary residence of the Prince of Afghanistan to keep it as far as possible from being damaged Kaerubrulla Khan found it difficult to follow the program made for him after leaving Peshawur. He insisted upon a halt being made whenever the whim seized him.

The Marquis of Queensberry has applied to the Treasury to recoup him the £90 expended in the Wilde case. The Treasury offered him £100. The Marquis in reply says that unless he is reimbursed he will raise the question in Parliament.

DILLON WANTS HOME RULE.

Urges Irishmen Not to Support Liberals Without Home Rule.

Liverpool, May 25.—Speaking in this city Sunday, John Dillon, the well-known Irish leader, said that the Irish Parliamentary party had made unceasing efforts to secure the release of the Irish political prisoners. He declared that Irishmen should not vote for the Liberal candidates at the general election unless Home Rule was placed at the forefront of their program.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

War Against Turkey Would be a Holy War

London, May 26.—In the course of his sermon delivered in the City Temple to-day, Rev. Joseph Parker, D.D., said that he had not attended the meetings in London to protest against the Armenian outrages, for the reason that these meetings would not come to anything. It was the time for action, he declared, and the only action to be taken was a war against Turkey. Such a war would be the most holy, humane and righteous one the world had ever known.

"Say, my man, have you come across a bicyclist about here?"

"Na, na, young man: but I kent a young feller a wee bit upt lane, sittin' on the yearth medin' umbrillies."

Butcher Carts Don't Count.

Official—What's that? A man run over and hurt? Notify the entire police force to watch for the bicyclist who did it.

Official—Oh, if that's all, never mind. People are used to being run over by butcher carts.—Good News.

He Made a Discovery.

The fact that the profanity and slang of one nation are soonest acquired by the natives of another in common intercourse has been frequently verified.

In the same way children learning to speak their own language are apt to acquire very early strong phrases that are unconsciously dropped by their elders.

Little Dana is only two years old and uses yet only a few words.

He sleeps with his uncle in a folding bed, and it is his custom to stand up and indulge in a long talk in his own language every morning when he awakes, his auditor being the uncle aforesaid.

The other morning while engaged with his harangue he spied a box of candy on the top of the folding bed. He stopped short, opened his eyes to their widest extent, and then, in a tone of exultation, exclaimed:

A SENATE FIELD DAY

BUT DID COMPARATIVELY LITTLE

SENATOR M'INNIS INDIGNANT

Bill to Amend the Indian Act Read a Second Time—Alleged New Evidence in the Hendershott Case—Damages Awarded by the Exchequer Court.

Ottawa, May 27.—The light on the tower of the Parliament buildings shone out brilliantl yto-night. It was the customary signal to Ottawaians that Parliament was in session, and yet people wondered, because it had been announced that the Commons would not re-assemble until to-morrow afternoon. It was not for the Commoners, however, that the light gleamed forth. The Senate was in session, and the Senate has just as much right to let the people know that it is working as the plebeian Commons. Three years ago, when this signal light was first instituted, it happened, as to-night, that while the Senate was in session the Commons was taking a holiday. The electrician of the Public Works Department got the idea into his noddle that the illuminant was the property of the Commons. A vigilant Senator noticed that the light was not burning, and reported the matter to his colleagues. An indignation meeting was held, a strong protest filed, and ever since it has been known to the subs. around the Parliament buildings that the Senate is a portion of the body politic, and that the light must burn when they are sitting at night.

This evening, therefore, there was a good attendance of spectators in the galleries. Before the orders of the day were called, Senator McInnis of British Columbia rose to a question of privilege. He read a letter which appeared in the newspapers, written by the late Inspector of Penitentiaries, J. G. Moylan, calling attention to the fact that the late steward of the British Columbia Penitentiary was a nephew of Senator McInnis, and that he was a refugee in the United States. He admitted that his nephew had for 10 or 12 years been steward of the British Columbia Penitentiary, but denied that he was a refugee in the United States. It was a fact, he said, that his nephew had not been discharged when the accountant, warden and deputy warden of the Penitentiary were dismissed for irregularities, but voluntarily resigned his position last October, and went to the United States of his own free will. He severely criticised the action of the late Inspector of Penitentiaries in writing what he knew to be false in the newspapers, for the purpose of making an attack upon a member of the Senate, and thought the Government should stop Mr. Moylan's superannuation, or at least warn him that, if the offence was repeated, his allowance for superannuation would be stopped.

Senator Kaulbach rose to a point of order and contended that Senator McInnis had no right to occupy the time of the House in defending the actions of his relatives and in making an attack upon a respected member of the Civil Service who was not in a position to defend himself.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said that the Minister of Justice had desired him to express his regret that the clause mentioning the fact that the late steward of the British Columbia Penitentiary was a nephew of Senator McInnis had appeared in the annual report of his department. He had noticed the words in the report before it was printed, and had instructed that the sloulb be taken out, and he could no tunderstand how it was they appeared.

In answer to questions by Senator McInnis, Sir Mackenzie Bowell said it was not the intention of the Government to reinstate the warden and accountant of the British Columbia Penitentiary, nor to grant any railway subsidies to the Esquimalt and Nanaimo or the British Pacific Railway Companies. No railway subsidies would be recommended by the Government this session.

Senator Poirier made a long speech in reference to the proposed erection of a monument by the Historical Society of Massachusetts, commemorating the taking of Louisburg in 1745. He regarded the action of the society as an unheard-of impertinence and offensive to a large number of loyal Canadians.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said that the Government understood that the monument was being erected by a historical society founded in Boston. The consent of the Canadian Government had never been asked nor given. The Government was not aware what inscriptions would appear on the monument, and did not know upon whose land the monument was being erected.

On the second reading of the bill to amend the Indian Act, Sir Mackenzie Bowell entered into lengthy explanations.

The principal clause has reference to the prohibition of certain Indian customs. The law as it stands is insufficient to prevent the holding of such Indian festivals as the Potlach or Tamanawas, and the late Chief Justice of British Columbia expressed the opinion that it would be difficult to convict under it. It has been held that the mere designation of the festival ordinance, such as Tamanawas or Potlach, is not sufficient for conviction of an Indian engaging or assisting in its celebration, but that what is done at them which constitutes the offence must likewise be described. As there are similar dances to the Potlach celebration by the Indian bands in the Northwest, known as the "Giving Away" dance, which consists of the giving away of large quantities of personal effects, sometimes all that the participants possess, it has been decided in the present bill to prohibit all "giving away" festivals, as they are conducive to extravagance, cause much loss of time and the assemblage of large numbers of Indians with all the attendant evils. The Tamanawas dance has been known to last from October to March, and of course results in a great waste of time and much demoralisation. It consists of orgies of the most disgusting character, such as biting the arms of spectators, eating, or rather tearing to pieces, dogs and human bodies exhumed for the purpose. The initiation is looked upon as an honor and is eagerly sought after, large quantities of property being given to the head Tamanawas man for admission into the rites, which are made as mystical as possible. It is known as medicine work possible. It is known as medicine work, and is a prominent feature in savage life. It prevails at Nass, Kitamaht, Owickanee, Knight-inlet and among the Kwakewiths of the north coast of Vancouver Island and the southwest coast of British Columbia. The bill was read for the second time and the Senate adjourned.

There will be a formidable array of legal talent from Canada before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council when the argument in the prohibition appeal is heard in London next month. Sir Oliver Mowat has already left for England, and it is understood that Mr. E. L. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, will leave upon the same business in a week or so. Messrs. Wallace Nesbitt and T. G. Blackstock of Toronto are also going over in connection with the argument in this case.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has been notified of the arrival in England of Sir John Thurston, Governor of the Fiji Islands, who expects to return home via Canada, and will discuss with the Government the question of the development of trade with Fiji. Mr. Larke, Canadian Commissioner to Australia, who visited the islands on his way out, reminds the Government that the trade of Fiji is steadily growing, and although not large in extent is worth cultivating. The trade in 1892 was about $1,250,000. As nearly the whole of this is imported through Australasian ports, it has to pay two freights, and considerable heavy expense for transference is entailed thereby. Being on the direct route of the Canadian-Australian line, the only direct ocean steamships touching at the islands, Canadian trade has a distinct advantage. The Customs Act of the Islands has been amended by providing that for the purpose of levying duties there should be added to invoice prices 5 per cent. on all goods coming from the Australian colonies, Canada or the Pacific Islands, on goods brought by vessels direct from the United Kingdom and India, 10 per cent., and on goods brought through these places, or from other ports, 15 per cent. Canadian products have, therefore, a preferential tariff of about 1 1-4 per cent., as the average duty is 12 1-2 per cent.

Messrs. Robinson and Macdonald, counsel for W. D. Welter and John A. Hendershott, who are under sentence of death for the murder of W. D. Hendershott, have communicated with the Department of Justice with the object of presenting new evidence in connection with this celebrated case, by which they hope to save the necks of their clients. Mr. Macdonald will probably visit Ottawa within the next week.

In the Exchequer Court to-day the following business was disposed of by Mr. Justice Burbidge. Dame Catharine O'Connell v. the Queen. This was a petition of right for damages arising out of an accident during some work of repair on the Lachine Canal at Montreal on 24th March, 1893, whereby the husband of petitioner was killed. The action occurred in the use of a derrick, and, it was alleged, was attributable to the negligence of the Crown's servants. The case was referred to the Registrar of the Court as referee to make inquiry and report the damages to the Court. The Registrar reported in favor of the suppliant for the sum of $5000 and costs. On motion of Mr. J. A. Ritchie this report was confirmed. W. D. HOGG, Q.C., appearing for the Crown.

John Owens v. the Queen was a case arising out of the same accident. the suppliant's son having been killed. Suppliant is a farmer, living in Roscevey, County Tyrone, Ireland, and it was proved that his son contributed to his support. The Referee reported in favor of the suppliant for $500 and costs, the report being confirmed.

John Burgion v. the Queen.—This was a case involving only $23, or thereabouts, but, as the counsel for the suppliant explained: "there was a cow between the parties, and they could not come together on a settlement." However, if the parties could not come together the suppliant's cow and the respondent's locomotive on the Intercolonial Railway did, which was the cause of the former's untimely demise and the existence of the present action.

The case was referred to the Registrar for inquiry, and report on motion of Mr. J. A. Ritchie, W. D. Hogg consenting on behalf of the Crown.

Mr. C. E. Sontum, commercial agent for Canada in Swedon and Denmark, reports to the Department of Trade and Commerce that during the last six months he has traveled extensively on the Continent for Canadian houses, and sees openings in the Scandinavian countries, Germany, Switzerland, and Australia, for several Canadian articles, not only agricultural products, but also for manufactured goods, especially since the Government has decided that in future 99 per cent. of the duty paid on materials entering into the manufacture of goods, which are subsequently exported, will be refunded. Mr. Sontum thinks this favorable arrangement for Canadian manufacturers should make them able to compete with any body in a foreign market, and he has already had communications from different parties, even in the dry goods line, who are going to make use of this very wise and liberal arrangement for drawback. Mr. Sontum has placed several hundred sacks of Canadian wheat and flour since his last report, after having induced the mills to start packing the flour in 220 lb. (100 kilograms) sacks. Prospects are now very good for the coming season. The Bakers' Union in Christiania has at present under consideration the handling of Canadian flour, which is a very high compliment for it and would tend to increase the sales largely. Canadian cigarets and smoking tobaccos are getting a fast hold in most European countries, viz., Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Germany and Switzerland.

Staff-Sergt. A. Bell of the 12th York Rangers, who had accepted a position on the Bisley team, has been compelled for private reasons to resign it, and his position is taken by Sergt.-Major C. Armstrong of the Guelph Field Artillery. Surgeon Ross of the 77th Wentworth Battalion is still waiting man.

The Marine Department has received a gold watch and medals from the President of the United States for presentation to Captain Jacob Wiman, master of the St. John, N. B., barque Buteshire, First Officer C. D. Grant and four seamen, for gallant services rendered to the captain and crew of the American schooner Florence J. Allen, on the 11th of February last under circumstances of great bravery.

Contractor W. Stuart, who is erecting the new leper hospital at Tracadie, N.B., Dickey to-day and urged that the Rideau have charge of the institution are contemplating erecting new quarters for themselves, and have asked Mr. Stuart to undertake the work.

IMPORTANT RAILWAY DEAL.

The C.P.R. and M.C.R. Are to Run the T., H. & B. Road

Hamilton, May 28.—The Spectator verifies the announcement made in the papers two weeks ago that the T., H. & B. Railway will be run jointly by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Michigan Central Railway Company.

The Toronto line is to be built to Cooksville, and thence the trains will enter Toronto over the existing C. P. R. line. The trains of both the C. P. R. and M. C. R. will run over all parts of the T., H. & B. Railway—the Brantford branch, the Welland branch and the Toronto branch. This arrangement, together with further arrangements now pending between the C. P. R. and M. C. R., will give Canadian Pacific trains entrance to Buffalo by way of Welland, and will give M. C. R. trains entrance to Toronto by way of Cooksville and the M. C. R.

The construction of the T., H. & B. is to be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

How this deal will affect the Niagara Central scheme it is impossible now to say; but it is not impossible that the C. P. R. may desire to get a line through to Woodstock, and another to Niagara Falls, and that the Niagara Central may be that line.

Projector Beckley is in town, and in an interview, said: "The agreement between the New York Central, Canada Southern and T., H. & B. was signed on April 8. The T., H. & B. will be operated as an independent line, but it will be connected with the Vanderbilt system."

Mr. Beckley was asked if it was true that the T., H. & B. had made any agreement with the C. P. R. "I'm not in a position to talk about the C. P. R.," he replied.

TURNED DAY INTO NIGHT.

New York Enveloped in Fog During a Thunderstorm.

New York, May 28.—The heaviest downfall of rain this season came yesterday, and was accompanied by a few minutes of darkness of night. It occurred just after noon. For nearly an hour the rain came down in torrents, flooding the streets and sidewalks, and making pedestrianism almost impossible. For the first ten minutes of the downpour, the heavy black clouds which overcast the sky had the effect of casting a darkness so intense that it was almost impossible to read out of doors, while the dense fog which swept up over the city from the bay lent a yellow tinge to the light which has not been seen in this city for years.

In the big down-town offices the electric lights were turned on, the whole giving to the city an aspect of nightfall in the short winter days. The storm was accompanied by thunder and lightning.

Disease is cured not by magical incantations, but by medical science. Hence it is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures, and that it proves so eminently successful. It is a skillfully prepared and strictly scientific blood-purifier and tonic, the only one admitted at the World's Fair.

TUESDAY, MAY 28, 1895.

MIGHT NOT RIGHT.

MR. CASEY, M.P., has introduced into the House of Commons a bill amending the Railway Act in many important respects. It seems to be a step in the right direction—in the direction of decreasing the domination of the powers of great corporations over individuals. Its most important provision is that fixing a minimun compensation for the injury or killing of employees while on duty. The bill gives those who are disabled from work sixty per cent. of their average wages while so laid off, and a payment of $3,000 for permanent disability or disability resulting in death. It also provides that the employee cannot contract himself out of this provision, or be ousted by any rules of the company, or cut off from any further claim he may have at law. We all know that great corporations—nor are railways the only sinners—have a way, in their litigation against humble individuals, of enforcing the law of might is right. Having both the means and the inclination, they worry their opponents who may win a suit by repeated appeals to higher courts; but the poor litigant, or the lawyers, reaches the bottom of his pocket book, and a man who may be plainly in the right is compelled to submit to being put as plainly in the wrong by simple inability to meet the tactics of his financially stronger adversary. We all remember the case of a Toronto street car conductor, who won his suit against the Street Railway Company and the appeals were carried through the several courts to the Supreme Court, every court sustaining the decision of the first. In this case the poor man came out all right because he was supplied with funds to carry on the fight. But if this exceptional assistance had not not been forthcoming he would have had to lose. Justice Taschereau, of the Supreme Court, severely denounced the inhumanity shown by the company to its needy employee, who in the company's service had been so injured that his usefulness was affected for all time, and who was refused reasonable compensation, which the courts one after another decided was his due, and which he never would have got had not the accident of impulsive charity provided him with the means of fighting to the end. Such a course as this suggests the necessity of a remedy something like that embodied in Mr. Casey's bill. It is contrary to the principles of British fair play that there should be one law for the poor and another for the rich, as is practically the case when the possession of wealth permits costly appeals, beyond the limits of the purse of the poorer litigant.

TWO FACTS.

The Montreal Herald makes the following suggestive contrast: If the Conservative Government at Ottawa had to rely for its revenue upon taxation levied according to the scale adopted by the Liberal Government from 1873 to 1878, the deficit would be vastly greater than it is.

Had the Liberals, when in office, adopted the present Conservative scale of taxation, and maintained the Liberal scale of expenditure, they would nave been able to show a handsome series of surpluses of their own.

The Wilde flower of England—the sun flower—is faded.

THE guild of bakers has no reason to be accused of failure to keap up with the procession. The advance in the price of bread follows with the greatest possible promptitude the rise of wheat. The bakers excuse the advance in the price of bread by the plea that they could not sell their bread if it did not rise. Doubtless on the same principle they justify their failure to bring down the price as promptly as when the price of wheat drops.

ARDENT protectionists who assert that the N.P. is responsible for the rise in the price of wheat are respectfully asked why the N.P. didn't "bull" up the price when the farmers had wheat for sale, and not wait till the wheat is in the hands of speculators, who raise the price and reap the profit after the farmer has raised and reaped the wheat and sold it at 60 cents per bushel? When the beneficent N.P. comes freighted with blessings, it generally gives the farmer the go-by.

THE railway hitherto running from Jaffa to Jerusalem is now extended to the Valley of Hinnom or Gehenna. The word Gehenna is several times translated "hell" in the New Testament, and from its 'ever burning fires' originated the sulphurous conceptions of future punishment. The Christian World says that "an odd collocation of ideas is brought about by the news of this extension. The voice of mediævalism will be drowned in the shriek of an engine whistle.'

THE only Canadians that have been made Knights of the Order of St. Michael and St. George by the Queen's Birthday distribution are Hon. Mr. Joly de Lotbiniere, the great Quebec Liberal leader, and Dr. Schultz, the Lt.-Governor of Manitoba. The title does not make Mr. Joly a whit more knightly and noble than he was before, and the prefix of Sir to Dr. Schultz's name will not make his undignified doing of questionable work for the Dominion Government, in order to win a second term, either knightly or in good taste.

RADICALS AND LIBERALS

Charge the Government With Shillyshal lying With the Party Program

London, May 27.—The London Liberal Radical Union and the National Liberal Club held a joint meeting to-day. The proceedings were stormy and significant. Sir Samuel Montague, member of the House of Commons for the White Chapel division of the Tower Hamlets, presided. Several members of the Union charged the Government with shilly-shallying and attacked it for not passing the Registration Law Amendment bill. A motion was submitted declaring that the meeting was satisfied with Sir William Vernon Harcourt's promise to do the best possible with the bill. Two amendments to the motion were submitted. One demanding the holding of an autumn session of Parliament for the purpose of affecting the Newcastle program, was adopted by a large majority. The motion was then carried.

HUDDART STILL HOPEFUL.

Lord Rosebery, He Believes, Favors Subsidizing His Line.

London, May 27.—In an interview today, Mr. James E. Huddart, the promoter of the new Canadian steamship line to Australia, via England, expressed himself as greatly pleased with the reply of Lord Rosebery to the Chamber of Commerce deputation, last Friday, in regard to the resolutions of the Ottawa Intercolonial Conference, favoring an inter-imperial system of postal and telegraph routes between the United Kingdom and the colonies.

Mr. Huddart declared his strong belief that some assistance from the Imperial Government in furtherance of the objects mentioned would shortly be forthcoming.

Canadians at Court.

London, May 27.—At the Prince of Wales' levee to-day Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, presented Hon. Mr. Vernon, the Attorney-General of British Columbia, and Major General Herbert presented Colonels Otter and Wilson, Rutherford and Lessard, and Captain McDougall, all of the Canadian permanent force. The levee was chiefly a military and diplomatic affair. The Afghan Prince Nasrulla Khan was present.

THE LAKE GAVE UP ITS DEAD.

An Unknown Floater Washed Ashore at Ridgeway.

Ridgeway, May 27.—The remains of an unknown man came ashore one mile east of this point yesterday morning. The body was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to tell by what little remained of the features what the dead man originally looked like. The remains were dressed in black cutaway sack coat and vest, dark woolen pants and grey (underclothing. Around the neck was a red and white handkerchief. It is believed the dead man was one of the unfortunates who perished when the Dean Richmond foundered off Dunkirk last fall. The man was heavily built, but would not exceed 5 feet 4 inches in height.

Byrne's Resignation Accepted.

New York, May 27.—Chief of Police Byrnes sent an application to the Police Commissioners to-day asking to be retired. The application was immediately acted upon and granted. Byrnes retires with a pension of $3000 a year.

Toronto Markets.

Toronto, May 28.—Flour—Firm. Straight rollers sold at $4.75, water freights, and Manitoba patents are quoted at $5.20 to $5.25.

Bran—Trade quiet, with cars on track quoted at $14, and sales of shorts at $17.

Wheat—Offerings are so small that dealers will pay almost any price asked. There were sales of white wheat outside to-day at $1, west, and at $1.01, east. Manitoba No. 1 is also higher, with sales at $1.05 to $1.07, Toronto freights.

Barley—There is a good demand, with sales of feed at 50c outside.

Oats—The market is strong, with a good demand. Sales of white at 38 1-2c to 39c west, and many asking 40c.

Peas — The demand is fair and prices firm at 61c to 62c, outside.

Rye—Business quiet, with limited offerings. Cars are worth 50c, outside.

Buckwheat—Prices are purely nominal.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

CELEBRATED, THEN SUICIDED

After Enjoying Queen's Birthday George Randall Took Laudanum.

Toronto, May 28.—George Randall, a well-known resident of Toronto Junction, committed suicide on Sunday by taking a dose of laudanum. He had been at Cooksville celebrating the Queen's Birthday, and upon his return learned that his wife, from whom he had been separated for some time, had gone to Detroit to reside.

About 11 o'clock on Sunday morning Mrs. Felix Dickson, his daughter, at whose house he had been staying, entered his bedroom just in time to see him take a drink from a bottle. The flask contained some liquor and nearly three ounces of laudanum. Dr. Perfect was summoned and did all in his power to relieve Randall, but it was all of no avail, and he died about 9 o'clock. Deceased was 60 years of age and came to the Junction from Newmarket some years ago.

KITCHEN OF A BIG HOTEL

MYSTERIES OF TURNING OUT AN ELABORATE BILL OF FARE.

The Chef's Organized Corps—Buying the Enormous Food Supply and Cooking it According to a Thousand Recipes.

Hotel kitchens are a deep mystery to most people who glance over the long menu three times a day and wonder where all the dishes come from, and how they are prepared so that they can be had at a moment's notice. They do not consider that cooking for a houseful of guests requires an army of workers below stairs, a minute system and studied generalship on the part of the managers, who daily produce enough cooked food to feed the population of a fair-sized town.

There are two great men in the lower section of the big modern hotel. One of them is the steward and the other is the chef. The first supplies the raw provender, and the other gives it the artistic treatment which later on soothes the appetite of the guest into dreamy satisfaction.

The steward is a keen business man who watches the markets as closely as a professional stock speculator. At night he makes a list of what he is to buy the next morning. The list would read like a bit of fiction to the average housewife. It is the regular thing for the steward of one of the new Fifth avenue hotels to buy each morning twenty-five different kinds of fresh fish, fifteen sorts of shellfish, ten of smoked and salt fish, twenty-five varieties of meats, and the same number of butcher's miscellanies, such as sweetbreads, calf's head, etc.; fifteen varieties of game, thirty-five of vegetables, a dozen of fruit and a like number of cheeses.

A number of smaller items are also bought each day, such as olives, jellies, syrups, milk and eggs. There are regular days for the purchase of vast quantities of groceries, but these give the steward comparatively little trouble, as they require no skirmishing about to secure. An order is sent by telephone or messenger to the wholesaler, and the goods are delivered.

Great care is taken in the purchase of milk, butter and eggs. Four of the large fashionable hotels pay a contract price of $1 a pound the year round for their butter, and this item alone costs each of them in the neighborhood of $90,000 a year, including the cooking butter.

None of the milk supplied to these hotels is of the skimmed variety. It is bought by contract from large dealers and from each can is taken enough to fill a small glass jar, which is at once placed in a refrigator at 45 degrees and kept locked up for twenty-four hours. At the expiration of that time it is tested by an expert to discover the exact proportion of cream and milk. The season of the year has much to do with these proportions, which for the cream vary from 12 to 22 per cent. If the cream falls below the minimum the dealers stands the immediate danger of losing a fat contract.

Eggs are a tender subject with the large hotel men and the steward invariably buys the costliest in the market. An egg of bad character may lose for the hotel one of its best patrons, and may indirectly cause others to change their quarters, as the man who leaves on account of a disreputable egg is sure to tell about it. Not only that, but it has the power to ruin scores of dollars' worth of dainty pastry, gallons of puddings and custards, and generally do untold damage.

All the eggs not boiled to order are broken separately by skilled assistants, making the cost of handling them a considerable item. Two hundred and fifty dozen is an average number used each day in a large hotel, and at busy times as much as 500 dozen have been handled. Breaking and judging 6,000 eggs in a day is no small task, as can easily be imagined.

The ultra-fashionable hostelries use English mutton to the almost complete exclusion of the American product, although immense quantities of the latter are daily exported to England. It is the proper thing to call for English mutton chops, and though it takes a skilled epicure to distinguish their delicate flavor. The sheep there are kept more carefully and the fattening process is slower and more painstaking. It would be an easy matter for the hotel man to furnish American mutton when English is ordered, as not one guest out of fifty would recognise the fraud, but hotels that pride themselves on their cuisine dare not practise such a deception.

All the meat used is treated with artistic care, and the "ripening" process requires the judgment of an expert. When purchased it is ticketed with the date of killing and the dressing, and is then packed in a cold room at 45 degrees for two weeks. When removed it is usually covered with a thick mould, and the appearance of this mould to the expert is the keynote of its condition. It must be ripe, juicy and tender, and the long storage usually brings about these results.

The real work of the kitchen falls to the lot of the chef. In four of the greatest New York hotels the chef is an Alsatian, and his salary ranges from $6,000 to $10,000 a year. He has a number of department chefs under him and each of them has a small regiment of helpers.

The next in rank to the chef is the saucier, who boils the meats and mixes the soups and sauces. After him comes the rotisseur, who broils and roasts all the meats and fish. Following the rotisseur is the entremetier, who handles all the side dishes, such as vegetables, omelettes and whatever is fried. The garde a manger, next in rank, makes the salads and prepares the cold meats. The boucher, who cuts the meats, and the poissonier, who dresses the fish, and the casserolier, who fills the important post of head pot-washer, complete the executive force of the chef.

With a well-organized staff of assistants the main duty of the chef comes just before mealtime, when he makes a round of the entire kitchen, tasting every article prepared. He may suggest some slight change, like the adding of seasoning, but usually everything has been done to his satisfaction. The bakery force is independent of the chef.

A description of the fittings of one of these kitchens would fill a volume, and were the technical terms used it would be wholly unintelligible to the average good housewife. The equipment of an up-to-date hotel kitchen costs close to $100,000, and the yearly expense of keeping it in fine running order is equivalent to the income of a millionaire.—New York World.

A Quick Response.

"Who," asked the pastor, "will undertake to raise this money for the church?"

The converted counterfeiter rose in his pew.

"I'll raise it if somebod yelse will pass it," he said.

Obviously that was all he could do.

Unutterable.

"Do you not sometimes have soulful yearnings which you long to convey in words, but cannot?" asked the sentimental girl.

"Yes, indeed," replied the young man. "I was once dreadfully anxious to send home for money and I didn't have the price of a telegram."

ARTIST GIBSON'S MODEL.

The Tragic Fate of Beautiful Amy Thill, Who Posed for Society Pictures.

According to The New York World, Amy Thill, who was murdered in West Thirty fourth street, in that city, a few days ago, was none other than the original of some of Charles Dana Gibson's most popular drawings.

The pictures of the murdered girl are beautiful in themselves. They are particularly interesting because of the tragedy which ended the life of the unhappy model, and because of the artist's wide popularity.

Amy Thill was one of three sisters. Alice and Marie were the other two. They were very pretty girls, and were fairly successful as actresses. When Amy Thill found herself out of an engagement, a short time ago, she began to make a living posing as a model for artists. She was employed by Gibson and posed for the pictures which he intended for Mr. Chatfield-Taylor's book, "Two Women and a Fool."

Amy Thill lived in a small room on the third floor of No. 15 West Twenty-fourth street. She was a sensible girl and lived very quietly. One of her few friends in New York was Jack Bigelow, a smooth shaven young man, who acted sometimes and more often looked about for a chance to act. He had got her an engagement to act with Sydney Drew. She was grateful, but she did not love him. One morning he killed her. Her landlady got a man to break in the door after waiting a long time for Amy Thill to come out. Amy was lying dead on the floor with three bullets in her head. Bigelow was dead beside her. He had killed her and himself.

Amy Thill belonged to a Minneapolis family. Her mother kept a hair-dressing establishment there and her daughters attracted attention by their good looks. They were stage-struck, but had a good reputation. When they had an opportunity they all went on the stage.

Amy was but little more than twenty years old.

THE LOVELIEST WOMAN.

Madeline V. Dahlgren Voices Her Great Charm.

The loveliest woman is she whose large heartedness makes her forget herself.

She is magnetic because she is unselfish.

She is refined because she considers others.

She has a pleasing expression because she is good.

When in addition she is intelligent, she becomes a leading force without knowing it.

If God had given her talent, if she is an original thinker, she is a factor in the world's progress, without being assertive.

Thus men lean upon her for sympathetic aid, where they might refuse her leadership if she claimed it.

The inner soul alone can give that grace and sweetness and indefinable charm that makes woman womanly.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

Gentlemen,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it suceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. O. L. Kilmer.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked: the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON

MANLEY'S Celery Nerve Compound

WITH BEEF, IRON AND WINE.

Waterford, Ont., March 28, 1895.

To Lion Medicine Co., Toronto:—

Sirs,—It is with pleasure I send you the following regarding my case. For some years past I have been doctoring with three different physicians for Blood Trouble and Lame Back, but received only temporary relief. I tried a bottle of your Compound, and it has more than fulfilled its claims. The eruptions on my face have been removed, and the trouble in my back as well, and I feel like a new man. I consider your medicine better than any other for blood and liver troubles, as it has proved so in my case.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., Brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., Prostrated by Nervous Headaches--A Victim of the Trouble for Several Years --South American Nervine Effected a Complete Cure.

In their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother, Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario, his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference, and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headaches, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them, and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell. The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

Fire at Kinmount.

On Thursday night last fire broke out in the residence of Mr. Michael Mansfield, at Kinmount, while the family were asleep, and they were compelled to make their escape in their night clothes. The fire spread to the large barn and storehouse adjoining, which was also consumed with all their contents. The house occupied by Mr. Michael Barry across the road, also caught fire and was burned to the ground, but the neighbours managed to save the principal contents. Mr. Mansfield, who was absent on a business trip to Ingoldsby at the time, is only partially insured.

A Badly Cut Hand.

Mr. Egerton Crowe met with an unfortunate accident on Thursday morning at the saw mill of Kennedy, Davis & Son, near Nogey's Creek. The mill had just started to work and Mr. Crowe was doing something at the circular saw, when a block caught and his left hand was drawn into the saw. The saw went between the second and third fingers, and in an instant the hand was cut in two from the fingers to the wrist. He was brought to the village and it was considered advisable, on consultation, for him to go to the hospital in Peterborough, where he would receive constant attention. The Estarion was caught, and he went at once to the hospital.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Mr. Crowe is steadily improving at the hospital, though it will be many days before he will regain the use of his hand.

Mr. J. P. Armstrong has returned to Saratoga Springs, after a visit of a week or so with relatives in town.

Mrs. Frank Burke and son, Charles, of Lindsay, spent the 24th in town with their friends, Mrs. and Mrs. Geo. Stenton, 472 Park street.

Past Grand Patriarch Blackaby, of Kingston, General agent of the I. O. O. F. Relief Association, was in town last night, and was present at the meeting of Otonabee Lodge.

Miss Carrie E. Hoyt, a graduate of the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses, who has been professionally engaged in Campbellford for the past several months, has returned home to Peterborough.

FOUL AND IMPURE LANGUAGE.

A Heavy Fine Imposed by the County Police Magistrate.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Catherine Dwyer, of Hale's Bridge, in response to a summons, appeared before County Police Magistrate Edmison charged with using grossly abusive and insulting language.

The plaintiffs were Mr. Geo. Hunter and Mr. Sheppard Huggins, and the charge was brought in order that a check might be placed on Mrs. Dwyer to prevent her circulating damaging stories concerning the character of Mr. Hunter's sister-in-law, who is said to be a most estimable and highly respected young lady. According to the evidence the families of Mr. Hunter and Mr. Dwyer are unfriendly it seems, and the wife of the latter is habitually given to using the most foul-mouthed language in speaking of Mr. Hunter's wife and sister. In fact when Constable Archie Moore served the summons on her, she expressed herself quite freely in his presence, and used expressions in regard to the young lady's character of a nature unfit for publication.

The County Magistrate imposed a fine of $10 in each case, together with $14.95 costs, with the option of spending 30 days in gaol. The fine was paid, but before discharging her, Mr. Edmison warned her that if further attempt was made to blast the fair name of this young lady, that in default of the furnishing of bonds to keep the peace, he would commit her (Mrs. Dwyer) to gaol for twelve months.

Back From Toronto.

Messrs. R. Bradburn, Ernie Rutherford, Evans and O. Shortly have returned from Toronto, having ridden both ways on their wheels. On their way up the boys tried to make good time, and did for the first thirty miles, covering that distance in two hours. A strong head wind, however, prevented this pace being kept up. It is evident that the quartette did a great deal of riding on the asphalt pavement in the Queen City, as the cyclometer on Mr. "Lupe" Bradburn's wheel indicates that four hundred and fifty-three miles have been covered.

BAPTIST CONVENTION.

Opening of the Annual Meeting of the Ontario and Quebec Body—Foreign Mission Affairs.

The Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec began its annual sessions last evening, with a great meeting in the Bloor street Baptist church, Toronto, the building being crowded with the delegates and their friends, as well as prominent members of the church in Toronto. Before the opening of the convention the billetting office, opened in the school room of the church, was a busy spot. Some 250 delegates from all parts of the jurisdiction have registered, and there are still many to come.

The delegates appointed to attend the convention from Peterborough were Messrs. V. Eastwood, T. F. Matthews, Wm. Garbutt, Ed. Stanley, Louis Croly and Rev. J. E. Trotter, of the Murray Street Church, and Rev. Mr. Pady and Mr. A. L. Grover, of the Park Street Church.

Last evening's proceedings were under the direction of the Foreign Mission Board, the principal object being to present the work of the board. Rev. S. S. Bates, chairman of the board, took the chair, and with him Rev. H. F. Laflamme, of the Hindostan Mission, Rev. J. R. Stillwell, Rev. T. S. Johnston, (Brantford), Rev. C. H. Emerson (Onaudago), and Rev. A. P. McDermott, the secretary, came to the platform. After devotional exercises, the Chairman delivered a brief opening address, in which he spoke of the importance of the work of the Mission Board. The 29th annual report was read by Secretary McDermott. The first point made was as to the relative cost of home work and of foreign missions. The expenditure of the church during 1894, including educational work, was $356,568, and the baptisms reported 3,176, or one convert for every $112 spent. Last year, in the Telugu Mission, in India, the expenditure was $29,986, the converts baptised 408, or one convert for every $74 expended. The finances were reported on very fully. It was shown that the deficit last October was $5,674, and that on every hand the cry of hard times was heard. In March the account was overdrawn $10,000, and it was decided to make an appeal privately to wipe it out. The result was cheering in the extreme. When the Treasurer closed his books on May 1 the report says:—

"It was found that the total amount received in cash during March and April for the deficit was $7,138.89, and $2,150 more was provided for, one thousand of it being, however, conditional on the whole $10,000 being secured. This left $711.11 to be yet provided for. Your board recognizes very distinctly and very gratefully God's leading in this effort. The people's hearts were made willing under the gracious influence of God's spirit.

"We are are glad to be able to report that the special effort for the deficit during March and April did not diminish the regular income for current needs. The receipts in the regular way during those two months exceeded the expenditure for the same two months by $523.

"The total receipts since the convention in October, 1894, up to May 1st, 1895, (six months), were $17,907.31. For a year, from May 1, 1894, to May 1, 1895, the entire receipts (including receipts for deficit) were $35,183.29, which is $5,000 more than in any previous year of our history. It is surely something for which

and the people that in a time of such financial depression there should be such a marked advance on any previous year's income. God gave willing hearts in the day of special need. May all these hearts be kept willing by constant touch with the Spirit of God. And may their number be largely augmented from the ranks of those who have hardly yet known the blessed experience of large fellowship with Christ in the spirit of giving. The bank deficit when the Treasurer closed his books on the 1st of May was $2,335.98. The Executive Committee at a special meeting on March 2nd agreed on the following definite policy in the matter of appropriations for the foreign mission work, viz., that the appropriations made for an ensuing year shall not exceed the actual income of the immediately preceding year, and that exceptional expenses shall not be incurred until the required amount is actually subscribed. This policy has since received the endorsation of the board. This ought to mean not a backward step, but a forward step, inasmuch as it lays the responsibility of moving forward, where it should be, right on the hearts of the people."

Since the report has been printed, the deficit has been ENTIRELY WIPED OUT.

Continuing, the report made mention of the work of the various missionaries. Rev. Geo. H. Barrow, one of the Telugu staff, died of fever last November, and touching reference was made to this. Mr. Garside has resigned on account of illness. Mr. Stillwell, it is expected, will be able to return to India this fall, and Mr. Laflamme had been given a furlough on account of ill-health. The total staff consists of nine men, eleven women, and 90 native helpers. The field covered by the mission in Telugu has 1,357,000 people, 1,914 villages, 27 churches, and 3,215 church members.

Rev. Mr. Laflamme, a fine-looking and eloquent missionary, was the principal speaker of the evening after the presentation of the report. He drew attention to some exhibits of the Indian field. One was a idol, a rather plain stick of wood, the goddess of cholera and smallpox. Another gave pictures of the third person in the Hindu trinity in ten different forms. Of the vastness of the field, Mr. Laflamme spoke. There were 287,000,000 people in India, and about 560,000 native Christians. He did not count the Roman Catholics, for their mission work in India for the Lord Jesus Christ was not worth a row of beans. Their missionaries were self-sacrificing and full of devotion, but the results were despicable, because they were not working on the right lines. The need for extension of mission work, the speaker strongly pressed home. The field was there, the labourers were offering in sufficient numbers, and all that was needed was money. It would be forthcoming, he believed. (Applause.) In this connection mention was made of the liberality of Thos. Shenstone and Wm. Craig, and those present were urged to follow the splendid example set by them. The board wished to get $75,000 yearly for the work of the mission, and $40,000 to put more men in the field.

AN OTONABEE WEDDING.

An Interesting Event at the Residence of Mr. William Hunter.

A very interesting event was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Wm. Hunter of Otonabee, on Friday afternoon, May 24th, in the marriage of his fourth daughter, Mary, to Mr. J. C. Chapman, formerly of County Tyrone, Ireland, and at present in the employ of the C.P.R. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Howard, of Keene, in the presence of a few invited guests. The bride, who was becomingly attired in a handsome travelling dress of brown, was assisted by her sister, Miss Jennie, in a garb of cream, trimmed with lace, while Mr. H. McCall, of town, performed the duties of groomsman. The bride, who is well known and highly esteemed, was the recipient of a number of valuable and costly presents from her friends, among whom she was a general favourite. After receiving the congratulations of those present the happy couple left on the 4.40 C.P.R. express for Toronto, where they will reside, followed by the best wishes for a happy wedded life.

QUINTE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Preparations for the Next Exhibition on a Large Scale.

On Saturday last, says the Intelligencer, a meeting of the above society was held in the President's office, (Mr. W. N. Ponton) at which it was decided to hold a four days' show and to increase the prize list for the Agricultural Department $250. One of the days will be Children's Day, and it is expected that 2,500 will take part in the programme, which Prof. Canfield has undertaken to provide. This should prove a good drawing card. A special committee was appointed to meet with a similar committee of the Horticultural Society to arrange for a joint exhibition.

THE CHURCH MENDICANT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—We hear of the Church Militant and the Church Triumphant, and now behold in Peterborough the Church Mendicant. It appears we cannot maintain a Young Men's Christian Association. We can build drains and bridges, keep up an opera house, furnish our homes luxuriously, and cushion our churches; but this association comes too expensive. So to-day its officers are going about begging its bread. We are actually sending this Christian institution to stand like a tin-cup beggar on the corners of the streets, and the cry has gone up even to Toronto. In response a gentleman has been sent from Toronto in the hope that the loaves denied to the plea of kinship may be granted to his importunity. For is not the Association the child of the Church, which she is bound by every natural obligation to support? Is it more than decent that she should keep her child off the streets? The present debt is a disgrace to the Christians of Peterborough.

Every believer must admit that the institution is an absolute necessity. I am not in a position to say whether or not the management has been competent; but I am sure the officers would only be too glad to step out if better men would come forward. The whole responsibility of management and maintenance rests upon the Church. If any say that the Association does not do $1,200 worth of work—and I have never heard this complaint—whose fault is that? That is only our additional shame. Whatever the value of the actual work done, there is here an organization of incalculable value. Possibly, on investigation, it would be found to pay as well as our band or Horticultural Society, to both of which the council, very properly, makes annual grants. It may even pay as well, and contribute as much to the general comfort, as our street watering, which costs five or six hundred dollars. In my view this is how the Association should be maintained. How to reach the young men and to enlist them in the service of Christ is the great problem of every branch of the Church.

The Association is the best organization for this purpose. Each church cannot (or rather will not) have such an association of its own, so the natural business-like way is for all to club together and establish and maintain a common institution, where all can work together in Christian fellowship. We pray for and sentimentalize over this unity, but we don't try to advance it very much. Representatives from each church should meet and decide what each should contribute towards maintenance, and the allotted amount should be in a manly business-like way paid by the respective churches out of the general fund, and not pathetically begged by the officers of the Association as the need arises. The churches should work through the Association. It should be their Association, under their supervision, and a part of their main work—a part of their church organization, and not as at present, an independent institution. Here is a bond of union, a common platform, and workshop for all Communions.

There may be difficulties in the way of this plan; but to my simple mind, it is incomprehensible why the 900 church members of Peterborough do not pay their average 40 cents a year to maintain this indispensable Association. I wonder how many really find any common sense in the saying, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," or in the saying, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God!" Hadn't we better, good church people, make up our minds pretty soon whether it shall be God or Mamon? There are some rather hard things said of certain people not unlike ourselves, and I think we will read them more comfortably—if we have any heart or conscience—after we have set this Association right.

There have been a great many good, gentle, charitable people talking about this matter and they haven't said a nasty, unchristian thing to anybody, so here is a little plain abuse for a change.

ATTEMPT TO BREAK GAOL.

Conspiracy by the Prisoners to Escape.

Concerning the escape of Plumpton from the Cobourg goal, the Sentinel-Star gives the following particulars:

Another inmate of the county's gaol has sought the air of freedom, and left Gaoler Snelgrove's bed and board without permission.

William Plumpton, of Brighton township, was in gaol awaiting trial on a charge of having stolen a buggy and harness, and was to have been tried before Judge Benson on Wednesday. On Monday afternoon the prisoners were allowed out in the yard for fresh air and recreation, Plumpton being amongst the lot. Turnkey Higgins went up to the indigent's ward for a moment, and returned just in time to hear the word hurriedly passed along by the sentries that "Higgins' coming — go!" The turnkey hurried to the yard and found that the prisoners had accomplished what is called the pyramid act—standing upon each other's shoulders along side the wall, and in this way reaching the the top. Plumpton was just reaching the wall when the turkey put in an appearance, and by a dexterious move scaled the top and dropped to the ground outside, a distance of 16 feet. Sharp, a notorious character from Hastings, who was sentenced a few weeks ago to a term in the Central Prison, was the next candidate for freedom, but Turnkey Higgins' sudden appearance prevented his escape. The turnkey locked the prisoners up in the corridors and in company with the gaoler commenced a search for the missing man. His tracks were followed over the ploughed ground for some distance, but were finally lost on coming to pasture land. The police officials have been notified and every effort will be made to capture the deserting prisoner.

The component parts of what the gaoler was pleased to term the "Human Pyramid," which was the agency whereby prisoner Plumpton escaped from the gaol on Monday, appeared before Police Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court on Tuesday, charged with a conspiracy to assist a prisoner to escape. The names of the four prisoners are Henry Sharpe, the Hastings desperado, the alleged ringleader; John Evans, a tramp sent down from Port Hope, Thos. Wilson, known as "Toronto Tommy," a vagrant serving six months, and R. C. Newton, the convicted horse thief.

A sensation was caused when Newton, the youthful horse thief, was called to give evidence at the trial of the conspirators. He had consented to peach on his pals, and was not included in the indictment. The three others ground their teeth and uttered subdued mutterings when they saw their game was up, and their conspiracy was to be given away by one whom they considered safe. Newton's story was straightforward and evidently true. He told how the pyramid had been formed by which Plumpton was boosted on to the wall; and how the attempt to pull Sharpe after him had failed by the tearing of a coat which was used in place of a rope.

The trio were sent down for trial.

Almost every day a new development appears in connection with the conspiracy of the prisoners to escape. It now transpires that there was a deep laid plot amongst them to do up Turnkey Higgins with the iron handle of the pump, and make their escape by the means of his keys. They had everything in readiness to make the onslaught at the first favourable opportunity. Sharpe has stated that he will never serve a term in the Central Prison, and that he will knock his brains out against the wall before he will submit to be taken there. It is also said that Sharpe and his two pals are vowing vengeance upon Newton for having 'squealed' upon them.

THE ENGLISH BACON TRADE.

(From the Hamilton Spectator)

TO THE EDITOR.—I notice that a lot of Berkshire hogs have been sold to go east from the asylum here. I am aware that during the last few years a very large number of that breed have been sold from the asylum farm, and good hogs of the sort they are, but not the kind that are now wanted by the packers of this country. The time is past when the meat from this breed will bring the best price, as they are too heavy in the head and shoulders, too narrow in the side, too light in proportion in the hams, and develop too large in proportion of fat to the lean. The raising of pigs has very much increased and the taste and consumption have very much changed. Formerly the fat hogs brought the most money, nor is it the fleshy or lean animal that brings the top price, and that is in the most demand. A large export trade is done with England, but it is worse than useless to send any but what will suit that market, as it is sure to end in loss, as is the experience of every packer in Canada who has tried it. We have to compete with the English, Irish and Danish packers, who can get the right kind of hogs and are near their market and can ship their meats much milder cured, and they arrive in much better condition than any Canadian meats, owing to the distance; consequently they bring a better price. A still further disadvantage is the thick-shouldered sides that are in the Canadian shipments, that cause such a discount on the consignments that there is no profit left for the Canadian packer. Most of these heavy shouldered hogs are of the Berkshire breed. Those of the improved Yorkshire and Tamworth breeds and there crosses are the most suitable either for the Canadian or the British trade, as our own people now call for the lean meat; even the Canadian farmer's family and his hired man stipulate for the tender, lean, city-cured meat, and the thick fat of long ago is not wanted.

Pigs should not be over six months old when brought to the market. The hog of a year old and over is a thing of the past, and the product of one is a curio on an English or Canadian table. If the raising of hogs is worth anything for the English as well as the Canadian market, the farmer will have to give attention to the varieties or breeds of pigs that he raises, as it is plain that a coarse full-shouldered animal will not bring a good price, and the meat is most difficult to sell.

There has been a great deal written on this subject, and a great improvement in breeds of pigs as well as in feeding and marketing them, and in the cut and cure of the meats, so that the products bring better prices in foreign markets than they used to do, and the demand is regular. Competition is keen, there are many more packing houses, and profits are slim, so that it is necessary that none but the best stock and product be produced.

I enclose a letter addressed to the Toronto Globe by George Matthews of Peterborough, who is a large pork packer there, and it will be noticed that he, as well as others packers in Canada, has the same complaint to make.

I trust that the trouble may be removed and that the asked for improvements will take place, and hope that large breeders of hogs will give attention to the requirements of the trade. If this business is worth anything to the country it is important that the preceding directions be considered and attended to.

The number of hogs packed in 1875 and 1886 was 115,000; ditto in 1892 and 1893, 356,000. In the summer of 1875 and 1876 23,000 live hogs were handled by packers, and in the summers of 1892 and 1893 129,000, showing the increase in the live hog trade. For 1894 and 1895 the increase is much larger still.

Relieved of Pain in Twenty-Four Hours

Douglas Bros. & Co., Napanee, Ont.:

Dear Sirs,—About two years ago I had a severe attack of muscular rheumatism, to cure which I tried several remedies, but without effect. The doctor told me I would be laid up for a week or ten days at least. I had heard of such wonderful cures made by your Douglas' Egyptian Liniment I determined to try it, which I did by applying cloths wet with it to parts affected, and in twenty-four hours was entirely relieved of the pain, which has not troubled me since, although subject to attacks of it frequently during year previous. Yours,

W. J. DOLLER.

PHOTOGRAPHY UP TO DATE.

The Art Seems Now to be Almost at Its Height.

Being photographed nowadays is an an elaborate process. Heretofore, when a woman wanted her photograph taken, she went to the studio and arranged about the size of the picture and the number she wanted. She gave a reassuring touch to her hair, sat down before the camera, turned her head a little to the right or to the left, as the artist desired, and, clamped on either temple, gazed fixedly, insipidly, or otherwise, at a spot on the wall. Now the subject's "possibilities" are studied in detail. Nothing is left to accident. The fashionable woman carries her various gowns to the studio with her and tries them on, each in turn, that the artist may decide which suits her best. She pays $50 for the photographs. Her hair is arranged by skilful hands in different ways, and a style of coiffure may be chosen which will be appropriate not only to the contour of her face and head, but to the environments of the picture. The subject's hands and arms are criticized, likewise her throat and neck, to see whether a severe high costume or an evening gown shall be used. The topics of backgrounds and accessories are discussed. All of these tinted carbon photographs are taken full length. Maybe the subject will pose, as a dame of the first empire, with skimpy satin gown, elaborate coiffure, jewelled girdle, fan, vinaigrette. Perhaps she stands half turned about, with her back to the spectator, and her pure profile deftly thrown out on a dark velvet curtain. All women would not look charming in such a picture. The artist knows whom to choose, and the subject will wonder at her own beauty when she sees the picture. A wilful, coquettish girl is posed as a modern Priscilla. The quaint spinning-wheel and high-backed chair, the small-paned window at the back of the colonial room, form a charming contrast with her rich brocade gown and beaming face. The scant, puffed sleeves set off the rounded arms, the curve of the wrist. The hand that grasps the wheel is like a rare old painting, and the undulating outlines of the figure are sugested, not revealed, by the prim folds of the flowered silk rock. These latter-day photographs are like paintings, and are likely never to grow old-fashioned. They have the charm that distinguishes the portrait painters of the old English school. A charm that custom will not stale. They will not become out of date and grotesque, like the photographs of twenty years ago, found in family albums. In those days a woman was hired to put the lights in the eyes, color the cheeks and paint the ribbon bows and artificial flowers of the ladies and the gay neckties and button-hole bouquets of the gentlemen. The new photographs, be it a hundred years hence, always will be things of beauty, no matter what evolutions, contractions, or diminutions may befall woman's dress. —New York Sun.

TO MEASURE FOR PAPER.

Rules Which If Followed Makes This a Very Easy Task.

As different paperhangers pursue different methods in hanging paper, so there are various rules and forms for measuring rooms. We therefore append several methods, any of which will bring the desired result.

As most paper when trimmed is eighteen inches wide and twenty-four feet to a single piece, a piece will contain thirty-six square feet.

Measure the length and height of each wall in feet and multiply. Add together the number of square feet of each wall, getting total number of square feet. Divide this total by thirty-six, which will give you the number of pieces required for side wall. Allow one-half piece of paper for each door and window.

To allow for waste in matching it is safer to divide by thirty-three instead of thirty-six.

To find number of single pieces required for ceiling, multiply length by width, in feet, and divide by thirty-three.

A Mental Rule.—Suppose a room to be five yards long by four yards wide, which nets eighteen yards around the room. This is equal to thirty-six half yards or breadths of paper. For each door or window allow two breadths. Our example room having two doors and one window, we allow six breadths, which brings us down to thirty breadths. The room being nine feet high, we divide by five, which gives us a result of six double or twelve single pieces.

For a room seven feet high divide by six. A room eight or nine feet high divide by five. A room ten or eleven feet high, divide by four.

Walking and Dyspepsia.

"Half the dyspepsia and indigestion and general debility from which so many people seem to be suffering is due to nothing in the world except a lack of exercise," said an old physician with a wise shake of his head. "Take all these department clerks, for instance. More than half of them lose from twenty to thirty days a year of government time on account of these causes. It is not remarkable that they should, either. They get up in the morning, hurry through breakfast and rush out and get aboard a street car. When they reach their offices, instead of climbing upstairs they get in the elevator and ride up. At noon they dawdle around instead of taking a brisk walk of ten or fifteen minutes to expel the air they have been breathing all morning from their lungs and cleaning them out with the fresh article. After dinner they are listless and worn out, or feel that way, and ride home again to eat dinner with no appetite and lie around idly till bedtime. I tell you that everybody ought to climb up three or four flights of stairs at least once a day in order to bring important muscles into play, and everybody, too, quarter of an hour every day with no other object than the walk in view, ought to take a brisk walk of at least a They'd be more well stomachs in this vicinity if they did."—Washington Post

A PENSION FOR LIFE.

"I cannot understand" said a capitalist to a friend, "why men are so imprudent as to allow themselves to sink into money embarrassments. There is a simple rule that I follow myself, and that I have always found a great safeguard—it is never to let one's balance at the bankers fall below five thousand. By strictly adhering to this rule, one is sure to be able to meet any unexpected and immediate necessity."

The rich man's rule is golden, but his prescription not only lacks practicability but common sense. It reminds one of the advice given poor Joe, whom Dickens has immortalized; but underneath it there lies this thought: Live within your income. The difficulty of having a balance at one's bankers has increased during the last few years, for competion is greater, the margin of profit has lessened and the chances of retiring upon a fortune are not so numerous as they were. Under these circumstances, it becomes necessary to adopt other means of providing for the inevitable rainy day which comes to most men, whether professional or commercial.

The only available method of providing a pension for life is that of life assurance, the original object of which was to indemnify the family for the loss of its bread-winner; but the endowment plan has now become the most popular form of insurance. Under this system, a man may receive his money at a given time, the age being fixed when effecting the insurance. "But I want to retire before I am an old man," remarks an objector. Very well, if you can afford to retire when you reach middle age, nobody will object. Your determination is praiseworthy. May you be able to carry it out! Most business men remain in harness until the end. The anxiety to become rich is one of the curses of civilization. It robs a man of all the pleasures of life; it prevents him enjoying the good things placed before him by a bountiful Providence, and from acting the part of the good Samaritan. It is not to such a man that we appeal, but rather to the man who wants to live on the sunny side of the hedge.

"Gather ye rose-buds as ye may," was the advice of the Poet Herrick, and no better advice could be given. We knew a man who was afraid of having a holiday, for fear his family would need the money if anything happened to himself. Now, if he had insured his life, he could have gone away with an easy mind; for a policy-holder, though not justified in living up to his income, may indulge himself with more comforts than the man whose life is not protected by insurance. While an insurance policy tends to alleviate the wants of the future, it also enables the holder to accept more fully the advantages to be enjoyed while he is yet living. He can secure to himself and family many little luxuries that otherwise he would feel called upon to deny, in order to leave something behind to provide for them. The policy is the protecting shield, which, while guarding his loved ones, gives confidence meanwhile to its possessor in fighting the battle of life.

A pension for life is something to look forward to, even if it does not become payable until middle life has been passed. The sweets of life are not monopolized by youth. There are a few, green sunny spots in the desert of life even in old age. "Life is so very pleasant," declared Crabb Robinson, when he had turned three score years and ten, "that I do not like to think how old I am." Some men never do grow old. They seem to have discovered the secret of perpetual youth; they retain both vigor of body and strength of mind. But whether a man be strong or weak there comes a time in his life when he would like to relax, to sever his connection with business pursuits and to follow his own inclinations. With the aid of the money derived from his insurance policy, this laudable desire may easily be carried into effect, and the afternoon and evening of life spent in comfort and peace. In short, an endowment policy in the Confederation Life Association gives absolute protection to your family during the existence of the policy and secures to yourself a sum of money at a given age, which may, if desired, be applied in any of the following ways:—

First.—The policy may be surrendered and the entire value taken in (1) cash, (2) paid-up policy, payable at death; (3) life annuity, an annual payment to the insured till death.

Second.—Or, the policy may be exchanged for a paid-up policy of assurance, payable at death, without profits, for an equal amount of insurance, and, in addition, there will be paid an annuity for life of $45 per $1,000, applying the accumulated surplus either in (4) cash, (5) bonus addition to the sum assured, (6) life annuity.

FAILED TO GET A LOAN

A GENERAL EXODUS OF RESIDENTS

DESTITUTION STILL PREVALENT

The Retrenchment Scheme Not as Drastic as Proposed. But Unpopular—Whiteway Fails to Make an Announcement—People Losing Confidence in Govt. Banks.

St. John's, Nfld., May 27.—The Legislature adjourned to-day for want of a quorum. None of the members of the Executive were present, it having been arranged beforehand that no session would be held. It is believed that a hitch has occurred in Colonial Secretary Bond's negotiations for a loan. The general opinion is that the loan has collapsed. Great crowds assembled around the Parliamentary building and expressed utter disgust because Premier Whiteway's promised announcement was not made.

An individual in New York, who is reported to be associated with the loan movement, is unfavorable known here, and this causes the whole thing to be regarded as a fiasco.

The Whiteway party is divided on the retrenchment scheme. It is now ready for presentation to the Legislature. It only provides for a decrease of $200,000 instead of $500,000, as Mr. Bond stated in Boston that it would do.

The newspapers and newspaper correspondents are indignant at Mr. Bond's declaration that despatches from here are exaggerated. The truth is, the worst facts concerning the country's condition have not been telegraphed abroad.

A mob of a thousand destitute fishermen this evening surrounded the office of Sir Herbert Murray, the British Relief Commissioner, seeking supplies with which to prosecute the fishery.

About 3000 people of St. John's and vicinity have emigrated since the new year, and the exodus continues.

Depositors are still withdrawing their money from the savings banks. It is said that half a million dollars will be withdrawn in the next two months.

The imports thus far this year are a little better than half those of last year.

Paying Too Dear for Their Whistle.

St. John's, Nfld., May 28.—Investigation among the members of the Whiteway party reveals a feeling of uncertainty respecting the Bond loan. Many of them question the propriety of conceding important fisheries rights to American fishermen unless the very substantial privileges yield a return.

OUTLOOK FOR WHEAT.

Only Half a Crop Expected in Six Wheat Raising States.

Toledo, May 27.—During the past four days King & Co. have received replies from 4578 reliable grain dealers and millers, covering every important wheat county in the six principal winter wheat states which generally raise two-thirds of that crop in the United States. Three thousand one hundred and eleven replies are from the larger wheat producing counties and 1467 from the less important. The present prospect in the six states, reduced acreage considered, is for about half a crop. Ohio and Michigan promise about two-thirds of a crop; Missouri about half a crop; Indiana a trifle below half; Illinois worse and Kansas about a quarter. The damage has occurred mostly during the past three weeks. The acreage harvested will be materially less than last year. More is being plowed up than usual. Reserves of old wheat are very small.

DEATH CAME IN THE SMASH.

A Trolley Hits a Wagon, Fracturing the Driver's Skull.

Toronto, May 27.—Michael Rogers, expressman, 242 Claremont-street, was killed by a trolley car in Queen-street shortly after noon Saturday. He was driving his wagon into the grounds of the new Court House. As he was crossing the tracks a westbound car, which he apparently did not see, crashed into his wagon. Rogers was thrown from the wagon, and alighting on his head sustained a fracture of the skull.

Toronto Markets

Flour—The market is very firm. Straight rollers are $4.45 to $4.70, and Manitoba at $5 for patents and $4.75 for bakers.

Bran—Trade quiet, with cars on track quoted at $14, and sales of shorts at $17.

Wheat—Demand active, but very little offering. White and red sold outside at 94c to 95c, but holders generally ask more. No. 1 hard sold at Port Arthur at 91, and it is held at $1.03 to $1.06, Toronto freight.

Barley—There is a good demand, with sales of feed at 32c outside.

Oats—The market is strong, with a good demand. Sales of whits at 32c west.

Peas — The demand is fair and prices firm, there being sales outside at 62c.

Rye—Business quiet, with sales at 50c.

Buckwheat—Prices are purely nominal.

Judges of the Supreme Court Who Are Also Privy Councillors Only Are Eligible—Lord Rosebery's Bill Read in the Lords.

London, Ma. 28.—In the House of Lords yesterday Lord Rosebery presented a bill to enable Colonial judges to sit in the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. In his speech introducing the bill, Lord Rosebery said that there was only one judge of colonial experience who now sat in the Judicial Committee, while the number of colonial appeals was constantly increasing. The bill, he said, proposed that anyone holding a judicial office in the Supreme Courts of Canada and Australia, if sworn as a member of the Privy Council shall also become a member of the Judicial Committee, but without salary. If the bill were passed, the several colonies would take advantage of its provisions, thus adding a link to the golden chain of the Empire.

Lords Salisbury, Knutsford and Herschell expressed their approval of the bill which passed its first reading.

Press Comments.

London, May 27.—The Daily News will say to-morrow: The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council ought to be strengthened. Lord Rosebery's bill will strengthen it. It is highly desirable that the autonomous colonies contribute to the Judicial Committee from their best legal intellect.

The Post says none but an advocate of the disintegration of the Empire could object to Lord Rosebery's modest, but useful and pregnant proposals.

The Standard: The case for the admission of colonial members is urgent and unanswerable. Their admission would impart a strength which would be exceedingly useful.

The Standard contends that eligibility ought not to be limited to judicial experience. It says that some of the ablest British law lords, members of the Appeal Court were elevated direct from the bar, and asks why membership of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council should be an exception.

The Times says Lord Rosebery's bill is very microscopic. It provides a remedy which, to say the least, is tentative. With the fear of his own Chancellor of the Exchequer before his eyes, he does not propose any financial provision. Although he does no tsay so in so many words, he implies that if the colonies want better representation, they must pay for it.

SECRETARY GRESHAM DEAD.

The U. S Minister Succumbs to Pneumonia and a Weak Heart.

Washington, May 28.—Secretary Gresham died at 1.12 o'clock this morning. No death could be more quiet, more calm or more peaceful.

For two hours preceding dissolution there had been no indication either of a pulse or a heart beat. Arrangements for the funeral will be made after Otto Gresham, son of the deceased, arrives in Washington this morning from Chicago.

Dr. W. W. Johnston, the physician who has been in daily attendance on Secretary Gresham, early in the night gave following statement of the case: Mr. Gresham's lines has been a ute pleurisy, with effusion, beginning on May 1. From May 13 his condition was entirely favorable, and his speedy recovery was confidently expected. On May 25 symptoms of a relapse appeared, due to the acute development of pneumonia. His present alarming condition is due to weaknes sof the heart's action, and seems to be little hope for his recovery, and there seems to be little or no hope of his recovery.

A telegram was sent to Secretary Gresham's son Otto Gresham, at Chicago, informing him that the end was near, and to hasten to Washington without delay.

Oshawa's Auctioneer Dead.

Oshawa, May 28.—Samuel C. Hunking died here to-day in his 47th year. He was a native of Cornwall, England, and for the past 10 years has carried on a business as auctioneer. He leaves a wife and family of seven.

FIGHT TO THE LAST DITCH.

Rosebery Will Stay in Office Until Fall If He Can.

London, May 27.—The Cabinet Council, held to-day [illegible] two and a-half hours. Lord [illegible] presided. It is understood the Council decided upon a resolute continuance of their bills during the session until autumn, no matter how small their majority may be.

Suicide From a Balloon

St. Louis, May 28.—Among the attractions yesterday at Arsenal Island, a pleasure resort on the river a few miles south of this city, was a balloon ascension and parachute drop by Prof. Barson, a local aeronaut. Tony Heafie, 23, urged Prof. Barson to permit him to accompany him, but he was refused. When the balloon shot upwards the spectators saw Heafie clinging to the netting on the upper part of the immense bag. The Professor's attention was attached to Heafie when the balloon was about 700 feet from the ground and he cried to him to hang on, but at that instant Heafie loosened his grasp and went whirling through the air, striking the ground with such force as to crush his body into a shapeless mass. Heafie went to the ground with a young lady and quarrelled with her. It is thought that his trip in the balloon was with the deliberate purpose of committing suicide.

Petrolea Block Burned.

Petrolia, May 27.—Fire broke out in the brick block known as Lancey's Folly Monday morning, and damaged it to the extent of $10.00; insured. Other losses were: Mr. Scarsbrook, grocery, $500, insured; R. Herring, Advertiser office, $200, insured; Young Conservative Club, $100. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

SMITH AND RYAN FIGHT A DRAW.

The Police Interfered and Saved Smith From Being Knocked Out.

Coney Island, May 27.—Loud applause greeted both Smith and Ryan as they stepped into the ring. The seconds were announced as follows: For Ryan, Joe Choynski, Harry Ryan of Canada and Jim Barry of Chicago; for Smith, Bill Hennessy of Clinton, Iowa, his brother Bob Smith of Boston, Jim Kelly of California and Dick O'Brien of Boston. The men were matched to fight 25 rounds at 142 pounds. The police interfered and saved Smith from being knocked out. The referee then declared the bout a draw after two minutes, in the 18th round.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is that some folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

THE TURF.

"At Peterborough on the 24th," says the Belleville Intelligencer, "there was a trotting race and a running race. Mr. Terrill, the time-keeper, is the local editor of the EXAMINER, and yet no time is published in that paper or in the Review, which latter paper states that Wm. Bensley, Warkworth, and Thomas Dunn, Peterborough, were the judges. Why was there no time published, in view of the fact that all horses which take part in a "no time" race are barred from entering in their class on any association tracks? If the time is not given, the penalty ought to be strictly enforced, because all concerned offend knowingly? The horses which contested were: Curioso, Phillips; Sandy B., Ed. Brown; Billy T., Thomas; Black Fan, Hamdon; J. S.B., Yeomans."

(There was neither a trotting nor a running race at Peterborough on the date mentioned, but if the Intelligencer is anxious to ascertain the time made in the races at Campbellford, in which the horses mentioned competed, an application to Mr. Fred Fanning, of Belleville, who was one of the judges, would obtain for its editor the information he needs. The time was duly taken and registered in the judge's book.

The principal share of the money won at the Ontario Jockey Club meeting went to Mr. Seagram, the list of chief winning owners being:

J E Seagram	$8060	Robt Davies	$625
Chas Boyle	1150	Jos Duggan	575
Wm Hendrie, Jr.	965	L Patterson	550
M C Carr	900	John Nixon	530

T Welch	800	J T Stewart	400
Alex Shields	625	R A Smith	375

*Including Walker Cup, value $1,000.

LACROSSE.

Great influence is being brought to bear by some of the leading citizens upon the members of the lacrosse teams in the endeavour to effect an amalgamation.

It is a case of "united we stand, divided we fall." Both the Athletics and the Peterborough's are good teams, but neither of them would be "in it" with a fast team, though the Athletics would doubtless make a good showing, as they have demonstrated their ability to stand plenty of work and to play with their heads as well as their sticks.

Both teams possess star players and a twelve picked from the Athletics and Peterboroughs by a committee composed of some of the old retired players would be strong enough to administer defeat to almost anything outside of the National League.

The Peterboroughs once had the name of being the best aggregation outside of the big league, and if the amalgamation suggested can but be effected there is no apparent reason why the name of the Peterborough lacrosse club shyuld not be famed far and wide, as in the days of yore.

Never, perhaps, in the history of lacrosse in Peterborough has there been such a splendid array of stick handlers to choose from, and if the two clubs can but be persuaded to put their shoulders to the wheel, drop all personal differences and pull together for Peterborough, there is not the shadow of a doubt but that a team will take the field which will restore to the name of the Peterboroughs its pristine glory and 1895 will be marked as the year in which the local team once more demonstrated its ability to win and hold the proud title of "the invincible Peterboroughs."

If the proposed combination is to be effected no time whatever should be lost in calling a meeting to talk the entire matter over, as the team which goes to Orillia ought to be one that can win what will certainly prove to be only the first of a long list of victories.

THE WHEEL.

The Belleville Intelligencer says,—George Horkins, whom many will remember as a most enthusiastic curler of one of the rinks of Peterborough colts, is no less enthusiastic on wheeling and he discusses the sport intelligently. He says he does not forget what the Belleville wheelmen did for his own town towards trying to secure for them the C. W. A. meet. He thinks Peterborough has a cure thing for 1896, as the western division should go with them. He left for Campbellford yesterday afternoon on his wheel. Davidson and his brother, who is training the team, and George Horkins, of Peterborough, Official Time-keeper of this district, came to the city with Cummings on Saturday evening and put up at Hotel Quinte. The big Torontonian is in the pink of condition. He said he expected to ride here on Labour Day. He will try to break Canadian records for some distance from one to five miles at Peterborough during the season. He left for Toronto early on Sunday morning.

The citizens as yet hardly realize the magnitude of the bicycle meet which will be held here on August 30th, but an idea of what it is expected to be may be gathered from the fact that already $130.00 has been received for the privilege of merely printing and selling the programmes on the grounds. The individual making the offer also agrees to print free of charge the big numbers on linen squares, which are pinned on the backs of the different riders in order that they may be identified.

CRICKET.

The cricket team, as announced yesterday, will leave for Port Hope on the 11.45 a.m. train to-morrow. The members are hard at work practicing this afternoon and evening.

CATTLE TRADE GOOD.

Prospects are Bright and Exporters are Making Money.

"Yes, things are looking better in the cattle trade," said Mr. Thomas Crawford, M.P.P., to the Toronto News.

"Prices are perhaps a trifle higher than circumstances warrant, but there is a fair demand from abroad. Things are much better than they were this time last year, prospects are good, the dealers and exporters are making a little money, and as a consequence we are all feeling contented and happy."

AFTER 30 YEARS

OF INTENSE SUFFERING AND AGONY, MR. JOSEPH WALKER FINDS HEALTH AND RENEWS HIS LIFE.

Paine's Celery Compound Onee More the Agent of Rescue.

THE WORLD'S GREAT HEALTH-GIVER IS THE DYSPEPTIC'S ONLY HOPE.

Thirty years of sufferings and agonies from awful dyspepsia! Long, weary days and sleepless nights! Failure after failure with doctors and medicines! Such experiences are common everywhere in Canada, and must continue if sufferers will experiment with the worthless prescriptions and preparations now flooding the country.

Thousands of men and women—old and young—live to-day, and thank Heaven for the results they have obtained from earth's best medicine, Paine's Celery Compound.

The marvellous cures effected by this medicine have given it a standing and popularity that have never been reached by any other. To-day Paine's Celery Compound is the dyspeptic's only hope and safety; it cures the worst and most obdurate cases of dyspepsia, and gives a new, fresh life to even those who have been pronounced incurable.

Mr. Joseph Walker, of Bloomington, Ont., writes thus:—

"I think it my duty to my fellow-men to send you the following testimonial, so that you may let suffering humanity know what your Celery Compound has done for me. I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia for thirty years; have been treated by different doctors, and tried nearly all the dyspepsia remedies on the market without getting much relief, until, seeing your Compound recommended as a sure cure for dyspepsia, I thought as a last resort I would try it; and am happy to say after taking six bottles I was completely cured. I have since recommended it to a number of others, and will continue to do so, as I believe it a sure cure no matter how bad the case may be."

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality, the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD.

William Kiely's Tragic Death at His Boarding House.

TORONTO, May 28—Wm. E. Kiely, son of the late Geo. W. Kiely, and one of the best known of the younger citizens of Toronto, met his death in a tragic manner at his boarding house, No. 232 Jarvis-street, about 5 o'clock last evening.

Deceased was alone in his bed room when the fatal shot was fired. He had been lying down during the day, and shortly before 5 o'clock told his wife that he intended to dress and go down town to see a party from whom he had won some money at the races. His wife related to Coroner Johnson, who was summoned after the shooting, what followed: Her husband had got out of bed and put on his drawers and walked over to the washstand, when he observed his revolver, which had fallen from the washstand, lying upon the floor.

He picked it up and, seating himself on the bed, commenced examining it, at the same time remarking that some person had extracted the cartridges from it. His wife said she would go down and prepare a cup of beef tea for him, and started down stairs, leaving her husband still seated on the bed with the revolver in his hand.

Mrs. Phyall, the landlady, ascended the stairs a moment or two later and had proceeded about half way, when she was startled by a pistol shot and, hurrying to the room, found the young man lying on the bed with the revolver still grasped in his right hand. A gaping wound over the right eye showed where the bullet had entered. Dr. Johnson and Father Guinane were hastily summoned and the young man died a few minutes after their arrival.

The revolver had been in deceased's possession for a long time, and three weeks ago Dr. Johnson warned him against having it around the place, and advised him to get rid of it. He replied that it was empty, and so long as there were no cartridges in it nothing was likely to happen.

Deceased was in the 23rd year of his age. He was only married in January last, his wife being formerly Miss Maggie Carruthers.

An inquest will be held at the family residence, 580 Jarvis-street, this evening, and the funeral will take place on Wednesday to St. Michael's Cemetery.

FARMS AT HALF PRICE

Depreciations in Value Under the N P.

TRENCHANT REMARKS BY GIBSON

One of the Last Speeches in the Budget Debate Which Will Close To-Day—Trade Increase in Other Countries Gigantic Compared With Canada.

Ottawa, May 29.—The budget debate enters upon its last turn today. It was resumed yesterday by Mr. Rider, Liberal, of Stanstead. He was followed by Mr. Ryckman, who was replied to by Mr. Gibson of Lincoln.

Mr. Gibson set out to disprove some of the statements of the member for Hamilton as to the work of the National Policy in Hamilton. He said that the rolling mills did not spring into life because of the introduction of high protection. Before the National Policy came into existence they were the property of the old Great Western Railway Co., which used them for rolling the iron rails then in use. But when steel superseded iron rails the company had no further use for the mills. As a result of the National Policy the company had been able to extract from the people a dividend of 75 per cent. on its capital. It enjoyed a protection of 35 to 75 per cent. The Hamilton foundries had been standing idle during the winter months, and had the owners been in the secrets of the Government they would perhaps have been idle yet. They were opened up in anticipation of the election that did not take place. In all his experience of 25 years in Canada Mr. Gibson said that he never knew the building trade to be so quiet as it is at the present time. In Hamilton Mr. Ryckman will find idle men by the hundreds who were looking for work. While speaking of the effects of the National Policy Mr. Ryckman might have told the House that the N. P. had driven Mr. Wanser out of business by the over-protection on raw material. He was put out of his factory and the door closed against him and his workmen.

As to the sugar duties that Mr. Ryckman had commended, Mr. Gibson said that the sugar dealers were in the hands of the combine and that there was not now the profit in the business that there was when the importation of the article gave opportunity for legitimate competition. What the great mass of producers in Canada wanted was this: Taxes for revenue only, economy in administration and no boodling. Mr. Gibson recalled the statement of the late lamented Premier last session that the Government would dispense with the distribution of the experimental farm reports, and pointed out that while glaring extravagances were allowed to proceed unchecked the farmers were to be deprived of these reports.

Turning then to the question of the effect of the National Policy upon the agricultural community he showed how enormously land values had declined during the last decade. Quoting from a statement furnished by a loan company in Hamilton, he showed that farm lands had declined in value in Essex and Lambton, 30 to 40 per cent.; Huron, Bruce and Grey, 40 per cent.; Elgin, Oxford and parts of Middlesex, 20 to 30 per cent.; Wellington and Simcoe, 30 to 40 per cent.; Ontario, Durham and Northumberland, 35 per cent.; Hastings and Prince Edward, 35 to 50 per cent.; Dundas, Stormont and Russell, 25 to 30 per cent.; Lenuox and Frontenac, 40 to 50 per cent. He gave several instances of large depreciations in the rural districts, and showed also that a fall in prices had taken place in the villages, towns and cities.

Then Mr. Gibson reviewed the scandals that have disgraced the present administration and made the name of Canada a by-word in every civilized country. The stealing and extravagances that the Government permitted in connection with the Tay Canal, the Langevin Block, the Curran Bridge, the Kingston graving dock and other public works were alluded to. He reviewed the disgraceful record of the Curran Bridge job, and contrasted the manner of dealing with the person who stole 450 pieces of timber, 12x12 inches square, with the summary punishment meted out to a poor man of Prince Albert, who had been sent to jail for the theft of a cord of firewood.

Recalling the injudicious utterances of the late Minister of Militia at Toronto, he said the position of the Government was such a desperate one that it was no wonder that Mr. Patterson should prefer bullets to ballots. Government apologists, he said, tried to deprecate the importance and standing of Great Britain, but where did the Minister of Finance go for the money to replace that which had been stolen in jobs such as the Curran Bridge? To free trade Britain. In the last 10 years Great Britain had increased her exports $210,000,000, the United States $22,500,000, and Canada $9,000,000. Great Britain had reduced her national debt $450,000,000, while Canada had increased hers by $100,000,000.

Alluding to the Controller of Customs, he said that that gentleman's chief occupation was following a fife and drum band on July 12. A man had been put into the position of Controller of Customs who had never imported a dollar's worth of goods in his life, a man whom nobody would employ at $50 a month to conduct a business, and if he did it would be at a loss. Where was he when the Haldimand election was going on? Away in Washington, getting instructions as to the conduct of his departmental business. Mr Gibson declared that the Liberals were ready for the election when it came, and that when it did come the people would rise up in their might, remove the incapable men who had misgoverned the affairs of the country, and put an efficient government in their places.

The debate was continued on the Opposition side by Hon. L. H. Davies, the Maritime Province leader, who gave a brilliant exposition of the Liberal policy. Upon the Conservative side Messrs. Rosamond and Davin were the speakers.

Prof. McEachren, Chief Veterinary Inspector, was in town and characterizes as absolutely false the sensational report cabled to England that a dangerous disease had been discovered at Montreal among cattle intended for shipment to England. A few cases of "lumpy jaw" had been found at Montreal, and permission to ship or slaughter them in the abattoirs at Montreal was refused. Slaughter of animals affected with "lumpy-jaw" has long been prohibited in Toronto and elsewhere at abattoirs. The disease occurs in Canada, as in every other country in which cattle are found, but is not common in the Dominion, and while it is communicable it is not contagious in the ordinary sense of that term. The Veterinary Inspectors at Montreal rejected 23 animals out of 107, 225 inspected for shipment in 1893, and 59 out of 90,000 inspected in 1894.

The Senate sat for an hour and advanced several measures a stage. The Minister of Agriculture in explaining the bill to amend the Copyright Act said its object was to increase the number of copies deposited with the department of all works, for which a Canadian copyright was applied, from two to three. The reason of this was that Lord Rippon, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, had asked that Canada conform with the custom universal throughout the Empire of forwarding a copy of all works for which an application for copyright is made to the British Museum. The extra copy provided for in the bill was for the British Museum.

Dr. Bourniot, Secretary of Royal Society, to-day received from His Excellency's secretary the following message received in answer to the message of congratulation to Her Majesty on her birthday: "The Queen sincerely thanks the Royal Society of Canada for kind message."

Hon. Dr. Montague has accepted an invitation to attend and address the Pan-American Congress of Religions which is to be held in Toronto in July.

The Secretary of State will probably deliver the Dominion Day address for the Canadian Club at Hamilton.

The position of superintendent of the new Canadian canal at Sault Ste. Marie has been filled by the appointment of Mr. J. C. Boyd of Simcoe. Mr. Boyd is well known throughout Western Ontario as a man of tireless energy, and in his new sphere of labor will doubtless discharge the duties satisfactorily.

In the report of the Postoffice Department some interesting figures are given of the manner in which Toronto has forged to the front as the great distributing point for Canada. During the past year there were delivered in the Queen City 19,904,469 letters, post cards and newspapers, as against 11,572,224 in Montreal. The total number of drop or city letters mailed in Toronto was 3,999,810, as against 3,074,919 in Montreal. Of ordinary letters delivered in Toronto, the number was 8,961,452, and in Montreal 4,059,596. The total expenditure for the Postoffice Department for the past year was $3,517,261, and the revenue $2,809,341, leaving a deficit of $706,920.

On July 1st last there were in existence 8664 postoffices in Canada, an increase of 187. The mail routes were increased by 2240 miles and the annual mail travel by 355,456 miles, the total amount of mail travel being 30,851,178 miles.

Notes.

H. P. Brumell, Assistant Statistician of the Geological Survey, has resigned to take a position with a mining company.

The conduct of two officers of the Customs Department, Messrs. Farrow and Blakney, is to be investigated to-morrow on account of certain charges having been made against them.

The congregation of the Dominion Methodist Church are greatly put out because they have not had assigned to them the minister whom they had invited. Rev. Mr. Sparling has been asked to take the pulpit in succession to Rev. Mr. Benson, but the Stationing Committee has assigned Rev. Thomas Griffiths of Brockville to the Dominion church.

The papers in connection with the Fredericton and St. Mary's bridge matter were presented to the House. The Dominion Government, on its loan of $300,000 to the company, has received all the interest due to the 30th June 1893, amounting to $15,152. The arrears of interest due by the company to June 30th, 1894, amounted to $60,000, nothing having been received since that date.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1895.

THE Budget debate which circles around the deficit of $4,500,000, does not seem to budget—it is still there.

SIR RICHARD on the budget: "I know that the great mass of the people of Canada, and notably the agriculturists, were vastly better off between the years 1873 and 1878 than between the years 1890 and 1895, and I have the strongest grounds for believing that were a fair and honest account struck, were you to place on one side all the evidences that the hon. gentleman has given of accumulated wealth, and on the other side the increase of our debt, to which I have alluded, and the shrinkage in the value of our farms and town properties, it is clear that Canada would come out hundreds of millions of dollars the worst on an honest calculation as a result of the last twelve years."

THE Toronto Globe deduces the following from the escapade of Lieutenant-Governor, of Manitoba, in securing and publishing in connection with Sir Mackenzie Bowell an opinion on the Manitoba school question calculated to embarrass, and arouse opposition to, his own constitutional advisers.

"The Schultz affair is a lesson against renewing the term of a lieutenant-governor. A man must work for the party to obtain such an appointment. To secure a renewal he must earn it in the same way. And his constitutional position of neutrality is not adapted for active party service." The trouble about this proposal is that it is not adequate. Even if the practice of renewing the terms of lieutenant-governors were done away with it would not cut off the means at the disposal of an unscrupulous government-of-the-day for rewarding such partizan services. The case of Mr. Angers is one that shows this. He dismissed his ministers, and though his term was not renewed he was promoted to the Cabinet at Ottawa as a reward for his services, and proving a failure there he is to be further promoted into a judgship.

THE Mail and Empire says: "Jack Frost rivals the N. P., as a bull in the wheat market." This is equivalent to saying that the N.P. caused the recent rise in the price of wheat. If this were the case it is not much to boast of—to have required seventeen years to restore wheat to the price the N. P. had reduced wheat in one short year. In 1878, a year before the N. P. came into operation, at the end of May, the price of wheat in Peterborough was $1.05 to $1.12. A year later, under the booming of the N. P., the prices were as follows: spring wheat, 80c. to 85c.; fall wheat 90c. to 95c. The quotations for wheat in the issue of the Mail (May 28th), in which the above laudation of the N. P. appears, were 94c to 94c. The chief benefit conferred by the N. P. in connection with the price of wheat is that it has saved the use of the $ mark in the printers type font. The $ mark has had in indicating wheat prices, a pretty extensive holiholiday the past 16 years. Seriously the N. P. has no effect whatever on the rise or fall of wheat, but the humbug of the whole affair lies in the advocates of a false fiscal policy claiming for it] effects that are due to an act of Providence in sending frosts or to the manipulations of the speculators.

THE LONG PARLIAMENT.

(Montreal Witness.)

There is to be still another session of the present parliament. Such is the feeling of the country just now that, even though many constituencies have been well fixed at great public expense, yet for the government to appeal to it in a general election would be suicide. This is a consummation that would be rather hailed by a certain number of their followers who have commissions in their pockets and with whom death would be glory—a passage from the militant to the triumphant. But many will have to go back to their constituencies. There are only eleven senatorships vacant, and these, Sir Mackenzie Bowell tell us, are all promised. If these promises are booked there can only be eleven followers so secured, and there may be a dozen more otherwise provided for with collectorships and the like. Such are restive for leave to enter on their inheritance, but those who have to continue in the active force of the army would prefer another session, with its thousand dollars indemnity for the rank and file and much more for the field officers. And then, while there is life there is always the hope of some change, momentary at least, in the ever-changing currents of public sentiment. Times are almost sure to be better, seeing they can hardly be worse, and people invariably hold the government to be the maker of the times. The promise of the National Policy has been notoriously unfulfilled. The prosperity and growth of population have utterly failed to materialise. The result has been the reverse. Fortunately the very worst commercial policy cannot destroy a country so full of resources and of young life as Canada. The chief factors in our prosperity or the lack of it are the weather at home and the prices abroad. If these improve times will improve, and if the times improve people will not be so anxious as they are for change. Such arguments as these can hardly fail to prevail with the government. It will cling to life to the very close of its constitutional period, and this parliament will be remembered as the long parliament.

JUDGE GRESHAM'S FUNERAL.

The Late U.S Secretary to Have a Soldier's Burial.

Washington, May 29.—Walter Quinton Gresham will receive a soldier's burial. Except Gallant John A. Logan of Illinois no other man not of the regular army has ever before been honored by the ordering out of the United States troops to attend his funeral. The preliminary services will take place in the east room of the White House, which has witnessed some memorable obsequies, the last being those of President Harrison's wife, but which has never before been the scene of the funeral services over a Cabinet officer.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, as dean of the corps this evening convened a meeting of the members of the diplomatic corps at his embassy, and they, after adopting suitable resolutions of sympathy on the occasion of the grievous loss which the Government of the United States has sustained, determined to attend the funeral services in a body.

The honorary pallbearers will be: Secretary Lamont, Attorney-General Olney, Secretary Smith, Postmaster-General Wilson, Secretary Herbert, Secretary Morton, Acting-Secretary Uhl, representing the State Department, and Acting Secretary Hamlin, representing Secretary Carlisle. Mr. Carlisle will join the funeral party en route to Chicago.

Secretary Herbert has telegraphed the commandants of all naval stations in the United States to half-mast the colors, and to keep them at half-mast until the final interment of the late Secretary of State. Foreign embassies, legations and consulates have also been instructed to half-mast their flags for 10 days. It is now stated that Secretary Carlisle will join the funeral party at Chicago.

Britain's Sympathy.

London, May 28.—Upon being apprised of the death of Secretary of State Gresham, Lord Kimberley, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, sent a telegram to Sir Julian Pauncefote, British Ambassador to Washington, instructing him to express to President Cleveland the deep sympathy of Her Majesty's Government as well as the sympathy of himself personally.

Toronto's Victory Abroad

London, May 28.—The Torontos played an exhibition game with the Alerts today. Freeman, centre-fielder, made a home run; Carney only pitched two innings for London, but that was sufficient. Sheere took his place and did good work. Generally the Torontos took matters easily. Score:

New Departure in L A W. Racing.

Asbury Park, May 28.—A special sanction was received to-night from George D. Gideon, chairman of the National Racing Board of the L.A.W., giving the Asbury Park wheelmen permission to employ A. A. Zimmerman, professional, as pacemaker in the two-thirds mile class B race at Asbury Park on July 12, on the occasional of the National meet. This is the first time in the history of amateur bicycling that the National officers have given authority to engage a professional as pacemaker. The prize in the race mentioned is a free trip to England and return.

The Toronto Ferry Bicycle Race Association have offered the biggest purse on record for a match race between Zimmerman and Johnson, to take place in July next, on their new track at Hanlan's Point.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Bro. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

SHOT THROUGH THE BODY.

Killed by His Own Revolver in the Hands of a Companion.

Princeton, May 28.—A young Englishman named George Crawford, employed by J. Lowes, a farmer, three miles east of Princeton, in company with George Hess, a lad of 13 years, went fishing on May 24 at Smith's Creek. Having no sinker, Crawford took a ball from his revolver and used it.

On their way home he let young Hess have the revolver, after placing the ball, saying there was no danger, as it was wet. While in Hess' hands the revolver was accidentally discharged. The bullet passed through Crawford's body, and from the effects he died Monday morning.

BRAINED WITH A POKER.

Jealousy the Cause of the Maniwaki Murder.

Maniwaki, Que., May 28.—Miss Jones who was murdered at the Baskatong on Friday morning last, was a quiet and inoffensive girl, 24 years old. Her skull and arm were broken, and her body terribly mutilated. A blood-stained poker was found near by, showing clearly the weapon held in committing the deed. She was alone in the house at the time of the tragedy.

Suspicion points strongly to a married woman living in the vicinity, and who has been a neighbor of Miss Jones for a number of years. Jealousy is the alleged motive for the deed.

HAPPY THOUGHTS.

"Oh, my," exclaimed the lady, as she gave the tramp on the street a dime; "why don't you, at least, wash your hands and face?"

"The police won't have it, mum," he replied; "they'd run me in fer bein' on the street in disguise."

Dandy youth—What the mischief did you hire me a blind horse for?

Livery man (guilelessly)—Didn't you tell me you wanted something out of sight because you were going to take your best girl driving?

Critic—I presume you have some painters of the realistic school here?

Resident — Oh, of course. There's one around to my store now, painting a sign.

Now is the Time.

Get a move on you, get a move on you,
Get a move on you, we say;
Get a move on you, get a move on you,
Get a move on—this is May.

Turnpike Walker—Oh, Willie, Willie, what a hollow mockery you are.

Willie Werk (with dignity)—Hollow, perhaps, Mr. Walker, but not the other.

"I cannot account for it," said the doctor, "but this is a severe case of mal de mer."

"I know it, doctor," said the sick man, "it is all caused by the soprano in the next flat practicing on the high C's."

He—You can tell a woman's character even by the arrangement of the tidies on the chairs in her parlor.

She—But suppose there are no tidies?

He—Then she is considerate.

Cobble—Did you know that the widow Pickett married had four children?

Stone—That's strange. He told me one of his reasons for marrying her was that she was alone in the world.

A Case That Did Not Pay.

It was while I was practicing at Asheville, N.C., a few years ago.

One morning there came into my office an old fellow who had the appearance of a mountaineerr

He was accompanied by his wife, who was totally blind from cataract.

The old fellow said that if I would cure her, or manage to give her just a little sight, he would pay me $200. Said he: "The ole woman's been blind for over 12 years, and ain't of na use to herself nor nobody else, so if you will go ahead and fix her up so she can see again and be of some use to me, why, I will give you the money."

I agreed to accept the case; not without some trepidation, as a fellow-physician had already operated upon one of the eyes, with bad results.

In the course of time, however, I managed to restore the old lady's sight, so that she could see and read quite well and then, after a reasonable lapse of time, I presented the bill.

"I ain't agoing to pay you nothin' on that bill."

"Why?" I asked. "What is the matter?"

"Well," said he, "it's just her. I told you; you will remember, that if you would fix up the old woman so that she would be of some use to me, that I would pay you; but she ain't no more use now than she was before, or as much, for she used to do some work before she could see; but now, she don' do nothing but sit around the house and read novels."

A Doubtful Chance.

No Wish to Intrude.

"He lives!"

As the doctor spoke, the man who but a few moments before had been struck by a cable car and who was now lying prostrate in the rear room of the corner drug store, moved uneasily and slowly opened his eyes and looked wonderingly around him on the faces of the men who had carried him away from the path of death.

"Am I hurt?" he queried vaguely, as he made an effort to move and then sank back again, his face pale from the unusual pain.

"Yes," said the doctor. "Don't you remember you were trying to cross the street and did not see the car behind you? It's a wonder that you were not killed. We were going to take you direct to the hospital, but I thought when you came to you might wish to go home. I think you can be moved now."

A look of great anxiety came over the injured man's face.

"What time is it?" he asked.

The doctor consulted his watch. "It is now," he said, "just a quarter past 5."

"Would it be any harm," said the sufferer, with an expression of deep earnestness, "if I stayed here for an hour or so yet? I don't want to go home just now."

"But you would be much better cared for there," replied the medical man, "and I don't see any reason why you should want to stay here. Come, what difference does it make whether you get home now or an hour from now?"

"It makes a great difference," exclaimed the man on the couch, with a look of intense anguish. "You may not know it, sir," he went on, his voice rising with the excitement, as he clutched the physician by the arm and winced visibly at the thought of what might be his fate, "but my wife is giving an afternoon tea, and I thought I would rather wait until it is over with."—Life.

Was Puzzled.

Mrs. Guff—What might be the matter, Mrs. Luff? Sure, and ye look moighty puzzled.

Mrs. Luff—And I am that, Mrs. Guff. I want to buy a quarter of a pound of tay and a new glass butter-dish, and by this and by that, I don't know whether to buy my tay at the shop where the give away the butter dishes or to purchase my butter dish at the shop where they give away the tay.

There Was No Mistake.

"You aver," said the black-browed bandit, "that you are the celebrated cantatrice, Mlle. Squalkina. Prove it and you are free. Never shall it be said that a Cuttaweezanda would offer an indignity to an opera soprano. It is against all the tenets of the profession."

"How shall I prove my identity?" asked the captive.

"By singing, of course."

"What! Sing in this cave! No bouquets, no steam heat, and not a cent in the box-office? Never!"

"Gentlemen," said the bandit, "it is evident that the lady is what she claims to be. Escort her to the nearest village and set her free."

No Longer Veal.

An English clergyman was preaching in a country church in Scotland. He had as his subject, "The Prodigal Son." "And the prodigal son went away from his poor old father and remained in a far country for years and years and years and his father mourned his absence for years and years. But after years and years he came back to his poor old father, and his poor old father said unto his servants, bring forth the fatted calf which had been kept for my son these years and years." An old farmer in the audience could contain himself no longer. "Yer a leer, it wud hae bin a coo," he exclaimed.—Ram's Horn.

In Sight of the Bonnets.

Mrs. Smith—Our minister is the most forgetful man! What do you suppose he selected for his Easter sermon?

Mrs. Jones—Which one?

Mrs. Smith—That passage, you know, about taking no heed of what you shall eat or drink, or wherewith you shall be clothed.

STRUCK HIM WITH AN AX.

Murder May Result From a Neighbor's Quarrel in Guelph

Guelph, May 28.—Stephen Peer, aged about 40, and Walter Hyde, a young man, reside in houses adjoining each other in Queen-street. Peer forbade Hyde using water from his pump, although Hyde's landlord, who owns both houses, gave him permission. Saturday night, about 7 o'clock, Hyde's father went to the pump for water. Peer interfered, and it is alleged struck him in the face.

Walter Hyde came to his father's assistance, and inflicted serious injuries to Peer. It is thought his skull is fractured. Dr. McKinnon ordered Peer's removal to the Hospital in an ambulance, where he now lies in a serious condition. Hyde was arrested by P.C. Bell. It is said the weapon Hyde used was an ax, as it was found on the spot all covered with blood.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure. Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., Brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., Prostrated by Nervous Headaches--A Victim of the Trouble for Several Years --South American Nervine Effected a Complete Cure.

In their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother, Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario, his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference, and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headaches, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do ft work when this trouble takes hold of them, and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell. The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

Green Goods Circular.

A well-known citizen of Brockville had been receiving green goods circulars. He wrote asking for a sample of the goods and a brand new $1 Canadian bill, good as gold, was sent him. He wrote for more samples of a larger denomination, but the green goods men would not send them. The Brockville citizen says he is open for any more engagements of the kind. This should set the green goods men at rest, when they can be buncoed by a Brockville man!

The People's Store Removed.

Mr. D. O. LeGendre has removed down to 323 George street, two doors from the corner of Charlotte street, where everything has been made neat and pleasant to receive his friends. Prices will be made still lower, in consequence of reduced expenses. During the next six days a special removal sale at greatly reduced prices will be continued. New stock, new store, new styles, low prices.

Manufacture of Milk.

It is a common saying that the pump is often the milk-man's best cow. But some of the farmers over on the other side have discovered something better than water for milk adulteration purposes. A few weeks ago the attention of the Ohio Food and Dairy Commissioner was called to the fact that some "dairyman" of Ashtabula county were making "milk," for sale in cities in the usual way, which contained not over fifty per cent. of milk in its composition. It had become a matter of local notoriety that certain dairymen of that county were supplying double the number of customers which the number of cows they kept would warrant. A detective was sent in that locality, and after long and persistent enquiry, he learned the method of manufacture. A mixture of bicarbonate of soda, nitrate of potash, glycerine, phosphate of soda, chloride of sodium and sugar was boiled until the mixture became of a dark colour. Then to one gallon of milk and one gallon of water two ounces of this mixture were added, and the result was two gallons of apparently pure milk. The compound seems to be harmless, but it is not milk by a good deal. The recipe is sold to dairymen for $5 a copy. It is certain that none of our local dairymen will buy the recipe.

THE BAND IN A NEW PARK.

An Open Air Concert in "Inverlea"—Progress of Work on the Other Parks.

The Fire Brigade Band will give an open air concert in the Nicholls Park, Water street, formerly Inverlea Park, on Friday evening next. The Park and the band stand will be brilliantly lighted with incandescent lamps, and seats are provided for the public, along the margin of the river, which flows, clear and rippling, past the Park front.

The improvements in the sister park, just opposite, across the river, are nearly completed. The bicycle track is in shipshape and open for a test by anyone who may be so inclined. The drives are nearly completed, and before long this beautiful addition to our corporation breathing places will be in perfect order. Water has been secured at this park by tapping the main at Inverlea and carrying a pipe across the river under the bridge. A splendid spring on the western slope of the park furnishes the best possible drinking water. The cricket ground will be supplied with water, as well as other portions of the Park, by the means above mentioned.

The work is also being advanced at Jackson Park (the Quarry.) The dam at the site of the old mill dam on the portion of the park, east of the railway, is nearly completed, and when the water is let in from the brook above will form a lake of some four or five acres.

These parks, when completed will be most delightful places of recreation and will give joy to thousands. Messrs. Hall and McGill, and those associated with them in the work of putting the parks—due to the munificence of the late Mrs. Nicholls—into such excellent condition and making so much of the natural advantages the several sites presented are entitled to great credit.

POLICE COURT HAPPENINGS.

The Grist of Cases of which the Magistrate Disposed.

William Cushion was this morning sentenced to three months in the county gaol on a charge of vagrancy.

Mr. David Doig was fined five dollars for operating a junk shop without a license.

Park Constable Southard had a case before the Magistrate in which he charged Peter Dignault with being drunk and disorderly. On Sunday Dignault's son Joseph was detected by the constable breaking blossoms off the lilac trees in Inverlea Park, and sent his son to warn him to desist, but the Dignault lad only swore at him, and for this he was arrested. Yesterday the father went over to the Nicholls' Park, where Mr. Southard was at work, and abused and threatened him for the course of action which he had pursued toward the son in being instrumental in causing his arrest. Mr. Southard left the park and crossed the river to Inverlea, but Dignault, it appears, followed him keeping up a tirade of abuse. The matter ended by the constable placing the handcuffs on the man and lodging him in the cells. This morning the magistrate imposed a fine of two dollars on Dignault and also assessed the son the same amount.

NORTH SMITH ORANGEMEN.

The Beautiful New Orange Hall Formally Dedicated.

A fine new home for L.O.L. No. 419, North Smith, was erected last summer, and on Her Majesty's Birthday was formally dedicated with the impressive ritual of the Order by Mr. C. W. Sawers, of Peterborough, as Grand Master, assisted by J. Graham Weir as Grand Chaplain, and Mr. Stephen Harrison as Master of Ceremonies. At the conclusion of the ceremony the large company adjourned to an adjoining room, where addresses suitable to the occasion were made by the chairman, Mr. Sawers, Rev. Mr. Macdonald, of Lakefield; Rev. Mr. Jamieson, of Harvey; Mr. Stephen Harrison, W.M., of 419. Last summer the EXAMINER at the time of the formal opening, had a full description of the new hall, which is beautifully situated in a fine grove near Wesley church.

Buyers W. H. Wrighton, Cook, Spence, Cluxton, Hodgson and Fitzgerald were in attendance.

In opening, the President, Mr. Drummond, mentioned the fact that a circular had been issued by the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, calling attention to the necessity of engaging an Inspector for purposes of instruction for the different districts. The fee would be five dollars for two visits to each factory.

Messrs. Cook, Hodgson, Blezard and Stewart all urged on the members the importance of falling in with the idea, in order that the standard of Canadian cheese might be raised to an even greater pitch of excellence.

Mr. T. B. Carlow, Warkworth, ex-President of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, assured the board that the inspectors had done good work all over the country. If they were satisfied with their now, there was no necessity of spending money on inspectors. They could secure three visits from the inspector for $7.

Mr. Sanderson moved that the salesman furnish the names of all factories to the secretary that would be willing to secure the services of the inspector, the secretary to forward the names to Mr. Carlow, the representative of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association.

Mr. Carlaw stated that Tweed, Kingston, Napanee, Madoc, Campbellford and Stirling Cheese Boards paid a sum for an inspector and then collected the amount from the factories.

Mr. Edwards did not approve of this method as when tried before it had resulted in the Board being $20 out at the close of the season.

Mr. G. J. Galvin seconded the motion and strongly urged its adoption on the ground that the employment of an instructor would so raise the grade of the cheese as to secure for it a firm foothold in the English market.

The motion carried.

The bidding was begun by Mr. Fitzgerald, who offered six cents for selections.

Mr. Cluxton raised an eighth and Mr. Fitzgerald increased his bid to 6¼. Mr. Cook took a hand just here and raised to 6⅜. Mr. Fitzgerald bid 6⅜ and Mr. Cook capped the offer by one of 6 11-16. No one seemed inclined to raise the price, and Mr. Cook secured Westwood, Norwood, Daisy D., Ormonde, Oakdale and Melrose Abbey.

Mr. Fitzgerald opened the bidding again at 6⅜ for selections, and no one raising he chose Lakefield, Pine Grove, Fraserville, Peterborough, Benafort, North Smith, Trewern and Otonabee Union. All accepted.

Mr. Wrighton secured Keene, Warminster, Shearer and Warsaw at 6⅜ for May cheese, and 6⅜ for April.

At 6 9-16 Mr. Cook took Central Smith, Lang, Fleetwood and Maple Leaf.

The balance went to Mr. Fitzgerald at 6¼c., Cherry Grove, Missing Link, North Dummer, Bobcaygeon, Lakeview, Ida, Mt. Pleasant, and Young's Point, all accepting.

LAST NIGHT'S PARADE OF THE 57th BATT.

The Battalion Marches out with Both Bands.

Companies Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the Peterborough Rangers turned out last evening, averaging about 15 men to a company, for a march out.

The men taking out uniforms are all of fine physique, and it is evident that the Battalion this year will be quite up to the mark. A sprinkling of graduates from the Military Schools through the ranks has done a great deal towards investing the men with that alertness in cutting away their hands, and in other things also, which taken altogether go so far to make up the ensemble of the efficient volunteer.

Lieut.-Colonel Bell, Adjutant Mason and Majors Edwards and Brennan were all in attendance at the parade and in fact nearly every officer was in his place. Lieut. Vernon McGill making his first appearance since his provisional appointment.

Both the Battalion bands marched out with the men and played alternately. The ambulance corps was also present. The men marched along Murray street to George, to Simcoe to Stewart, to Hunter, to Water, to Murray and back into the drill shed, where an hour or so was put in at squad drill by the companies under their respective officers.

Adjutant Mason read the following orders prior to the men's dismissal:

HEADQUARTERS,
PETERBOROUGH, May 14th, 1895.

Orders by Lieut. Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding the 57th Battalion of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers.

The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions in No. 6 Company:

To be col.-sergt., R. J. Hiller, vice Cocks resigned.

To be sergt., Corporal Charles Mathias, vice Hiller, promoted.

To be corporal, Pte. A. Green, vice Mathias, promoted.

Companies will parade every Thursday evening until further orders.

Captains of companies will return to stores directly after parade all tunics that are too large in order to have them exchanged.

By order,
E. F. MASON, Capt.,
Adj. 57th Battalion.

The marchout drew hundreds down into the heart of the town, and for several hours the streets were even more crowded than on a Saturday evening. It was a great night for the refreshment dishes.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

LOOKOUT COMMITTEE.

We here give a summary of the model Lookout Committee report presented by Mr. T. H. Martin at the union meeting. This is work that is possible and therefore ought to be done in each society.

The committee should be much in prayer, for themselves, for the associates and for the young people of the church who are not members of the society. These prayers should not be general, but for special individuals by each member of the committee. In fact, individual work was strongly impressed upon all throughout the report. The members of this committee were also much in prayer for the juniors—ever ready to lead the older ones into membership in the senior society as well as the older members of the Sunday School.

The plan of each member inviting one each week was adopted by the society and found to increase the attendance very much. The members should act as ushers in the church or at least be in the vestibule to invite strangers to the meetings. On Saturday evenings the members of this committee distributed invitations in the hotels asking the guests to attend the church services on Sunday. The motto of the committee should be "Look in, look up, then look out."

JUNIOR EXECUTIVE.

The members of this committee are requested to meet at the residence of Miss Mann next Tuesday, June 4th, at 8 p.m. Miss Mann will read a paper on "New plans that work well in our society." Afterwards a discussion will take place on this subject.

ST. PAUL'S SOCIETY.

The Temperance and Good Citizenship Committee conducted the service on Monday night, Miss Tillie Hope presiding. Papers were read and short addresses made showing the great need of agressive work along these lines. The latter portion of the meeting was devoted to the consecration service. The executive of this society will meet on Wednesday evening, at 7:30. The Prayer, Social and Lookout will meet next Monday evening at 7:40. Seven new members were added to the list at this meeting.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

Wednesday evening, May 22nd, the Park street Baptist church organized a B. Y.P.U. of Christian Endeavour. At the first meeting nineteen names were enrolled as members. The following officers were elected:

President—Mr. Alfred Plummer.
Vice-Pres—Miss Ina Mowry.
Rec. Sec—Mr. Geo. Benton.
Cor. Sec.—Miss Mattie E. Mann.
Treasurer—Miss Addie Scott.
Organist—Mr. A. L. Grover.
Convenor of Lookout Committee—Miss Maggie Mann.
Convenor of Prayer Meeting Committee—Mr. T. G. Gillespie.

Other committees will be drafted after a constitution has been adopted, one of which is in course of preparation.

MARK STREET SOCIETY.

Monday evening, was held our regular business meeting, president in the chair. The topic was taken by Miss Minnie Hamilton, our worthy secretary, who did it ample justice and brought out many beautiful thoughts on cross-bearing. Then reports were received from different branches of work, which were encouraging. We have had four new members added to our society this month. The meeting closed with the benediction.

CHARLOTTE STREET SOCIETY.

Opening exercises were conducted by the Rev. J. J. Rae, the president, after which Miss Gourd, 2nd vice-president, presided over the meeting. Miss Kennedy gave a good and practical address on "Christ's cross my cross," and the many pointed questions which she gave the Endeavorers was the means of making the topic of the evening one of personal application to each. The whole meeting was novel and interesting.

GEORGE STREET EPWORTH LEAGUE.

The monthly business meeting of this society was held last evening, Miss Finlay presiding. The topic was taken up by Mr. Spence, after which two or three of the members gave thoughts bearing on the topic, and the questions placed on the blackboard at the previous meeting were satisfactorily answered.

Encouraging reports were sent in from the different departments of work, showing that the committees were making efforts to advance the interests of the society. It was decided to adopt the new constitution, copies of which will be procured and distributed among the members. Next Sunday being the first Sunday in June, it was thought appropriate to have the church decorated with flowers.

The meeting then closed in the usual way.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

held their regular consecration meeting on Monday night. The meeting was well attended and much blessing was received. Miss M. Fowler occupied the chair, and the topic—"Christ's Cross Our Cross"—was ably taken by Miss M. Weddel, after which the meeting was open and many took part. We are glad to say that the interest is still growing in our society, as we received three new members and another proposition. On account of the lecture next Monday night the society will hold their meeting on Tuesday night of next week, and as it is a business meeting a large attendance is requested.

MURRAY STREET SOCIETY.

After an interruption of several weeks this society again took up its "Three C" studies on Monday evening. The topic considered was from the Sacred Literature Course and covered incidents from the lives of Charles Spurgeon, Roger Williams Hezekiah Smith and Jas. Manning, who were in their day the exponents of pure evangelical religion, evangelization, soul liberty and education respectively. The study was led by the president in the absence of the pastor, who is in attendance at the Baptist Convention of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec in Toronto.

The pastor and president of the Young People's Society and Bro. L. Croly are delegates to the Young People's session of this convention on Friday evening, 31st inst. The next consecration meeting of this society will be held on Sunday evening, June 2nd, and a business meeting will be held Monday evening, June 3rd, in place of the regular consecration service.

A QUESTION FOR BIBLICAL SCHOLARS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly allow me through your columns to ask this question of our local clergymen?

"Was Mary of Bethany and Mary of Magdala one and the same person?"

From reading the New Testament account one could scarcely fancy such a thing possible. Lazarus' family are represented as people in humble circumstances and it seems incongruous to think of that Mary as owning the precious ointment which could have been sold for much, enclosed in a box whose price was a hundred slaves.

But in speaking of Lazarus and his sister, Tennyson says:

"But he was dead and there he sits,
And He that brought him back is there."

and further on in the same canto:

"She bathes the Saviour's feet
With costly spikenard and with tears.'

As a child I used to wonder in a patronizing way how Tennyson came to make such a mistake, but lately I have been reading "The Light of the World" and in it, it is assumed as a matter of course that these two Marys are one and when Sir Edwin Arnold speaks of the East I stand down.

Mary Magdalen is telling the story and says that while they dwelt at Bethany, her brother died and was raised by our Lord.

I should be very glad of the opinion of anyone who has has one on the subject, but especially that of the Rev. H. Symonds. With thanks for insertion,

May 20th. ENQUIRER.

THE CRANDELLA SMASHES HER PADDLE WHEEL.

Hemmed in by Logs She Runs Into a Pier.

(Lindsay Post.)

An unfortunate accident happened to the Crandella yesterday that caused considerable alarm among those on board. As the steamer was making her way down the river, which was choked with logs belonging to the Rathbun Company, the captain essayed to steer the boat through a narrow passage, thinking that the weight of the hull would shove the logs to one side.

The logs were packed too tightly, however, and the boat struck a pier with such tremendous force that the wheel and a section of the paddle box were knocked into fragments. Naturally enough, excitement ran high for a few minutes.

As it luckily happened, it was not the driving shaft that snapped, and after a short delay, while Rathbun's men were clearing a passage, the boat continued the trip, the Point and Lindsay being made with one wheel thrashing the water into foam.

An accident also overtook the Columbian on the trip home from Port Perry. Something went wrong with the cylinder head, and the boat drifted for some time before the engineer succeeded in repairing the break in a temporary manner to enable him to reach port.

THE PRICE OF COAL.

Why Coal is Higher in Peterborough Than Toronto.

An innocent little paragraph in yesterday's issue jocularly contrasting the price of coal in Toronto and town, is capable of an explanation, which may furnish the solution of a problem that has somewhat puzzled more than one coal consumer. Coal is higher in price in Peterborough than in Toronto, on the same principle that oranges are dearer here than in Florida. A great many factors enter into the prices of a commodity like coal.

The explanation of the difference in figures between Toronto and Peterborough is thus accounted for:—

In the first place, schooner coal can be bought at Oswego 15 cents cheaper than at Buffalo (Peterborough's source of supply), for all rail coal comes from the latter place. In the next place the Toronto coal at $3.36 is grate size and is always 25 cents cheaper than any other of the hard coals in ordinary use.

For the sake of illustration the following little table of the cost of coal, freight etc., from Buffalo to Peterborough is given:—

Price at Buffalo	$3 50
Freight to Peterborough	1 25
Unloading	20
Screening	15
Teaming	20
Total cost of coal in Peterborough	$5 40

The Toronto coal mentioned as contracted for at $3.36 was bought in Oswego at 40 cents less (difference in price between Buffalo and Oswego and between grate and stove coal) per ton than it could be bought at Buffalo; the freight charges per schooner from Oswego to Toronto for coal dumped directly into the Waterworks company's bins was 25 cents. In addition the coal was purchased under exceptional competition between rival coal companies. The deal was a large one, the quantity being 12,000 tons, and the price paid was spot cash, important factors in price reduction. All these elements go to reduce the price of the coal contracted for by the Water Company at $3.36. From this it will be seen that while the retail price of coal in Peterborough is in excess of that in Toronto, the explanation given above accounts for every cent of the difference, and it seems that as a matter of fact the average profits of a ton of coal to Peterborough dealers is less than those to the Toronto dealer.

THE NIGHT-BLOOMING CACTUS.

A Gigantic and Beautiful Bloom Which Flourishes at Los Angeles.

A flower grown out of doors the year round surpasses one which has to spend half its year in an artificially heated room with little sunshine and less oxygen. The superiority of California flowers is no miracle and no accident, but the logical and inevitable result of more favorable surroundings.

The night-bloom cereus is a plant much admired by amateurs in the East, where it is blooming as a social as well as botanical event. It is needless to say, however, that an Eastrn invitation to come and see our cereus bloom means an indoor affair. But it is not so here. Cereus triangularis is one of the most showy of the night-blooming cacti. The branches are triangular, very thick and heavy, with few short spines. Outside, it grows to immense proportions. If planted near a dwelling its great branches flatten themselves against the side of the house, sending out long, pale yellow, adventurous roots on either side, which attach themselves tightly to the wood, until the stems become hardened, when they loosen, turn gray and hang like fringes of string. Plants bloom from cuttings in a few months. The time of blooming is from July until November.

The buds are at first like rough balls. As they increase in size they develop into a gorgeous flower, with a scaly and pale green stem. They begin to open at about 5 o'clock in the evening, and close at 10 in the morning—except on foggy days, when they remain open until the sun comes out. The flowers measure from nine to twelve inches from tip to tip of petals, and twelve inches in length. The sepals are greenish yellow, the broad inner petals fine creamy white, like satin. The stamens lie in the centre like a skein of silken floss, their creamy anthers surrounding a magnificent large, light yellow velvet pistil.

In this country the plants gives no seed unless the flowers are fertilized by hand. When this is done it bears a splendid large fruit of a beautiful deep rose color. The rind is composed of large, pointed scales, tipped with green—the blossom end somewhat resembling that of the pomegranate. It is spherical and measures from seven to eleven inches in circumference. When cut open a pulpy, translucent centre is disclosed dotted with shining black seeds about the size of large pinheads and soft like fig seeds. The pulp is cool, juicy and delicately sweet. It is surounded by a broad band of brilliant carmine about three-eights of an inch wide, which makes a striking contrast and renders it a most picturesque fruit for the table. Cut in halves, sprinkled with sugar and eaten with a spoon from its deep, carmine cup, it is dainty enough for the most fastidious. By some the taste for this fruit might have to be cultivated, as is the case with olives and figs, but it looks good enough to eat—and almost too pretty.—From the Land of Sunshine.

Telephones.

Tricks over the telephone wire have always been popular, and the public is every ready to hear of a sermon preached in one city being heard by a second congregation whose minister has disappointed them in a place in the State; of a metropolitan concert being shared in at quarter prices by an humble audience in a distant village; and of the gay Parisian, who can drop into the theatrophone office and hear what is going on in all the theatres of Paris. As a rule, such exhibitions as these are more curious than really useful, but occasionally they are of the utmost practicability and value. At the last annual staff dinner of the National Telephone Company, at the well-known Holborn restaurant in London, there was great disappointment among the 200 present that the president of the company was lying on a sick-bed at Folkestone. This, however, did not hinder him from saying to the assemblage exactly what he would have said had he been present. A telephone was taken into his room, and over this he spoke directly to the chairman and the reporters, whose heads were fitted with receivers. The speech was afterwards given to the meeting, its reading being listened to by the far-off president, who also heard the applause with which it was received. Finally, the chairman wished him, through the telephone, good sleep, pleasant dreams, and a speedy restoration to health, and bade him good-bye and good-night. There was a wide awake lawyer who, starting for a real estate sale in New Jersey, a few days ago, found, on arriving at his expected destination, that the sale was to be at a town twenty miles off, and the hour at which it was fixed was already at hand. As it was impossible for him to reach the other town in time for the sale, he went to the nearest telephone, and put in his bids over the wire. What is more, he secured the property, following his successful bid by train, and signing the necessary papers.—New York Times.

Snow in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

I have seen four feet of snow fall in eight hours, said Conductor Cobb of the Maine Central, to the Lewiston Journal man, and yet it was so light that you could wade through it almost as easily as you can through water.

It was in the Sierra Nevada Mountains—a sort of frost-like snow that falls in the night, burying everything. Twelve feet away from another man you can just see him, with a sort of halo around him, as though somewhere the sun was shining through the storm. In these storms it is impossible to tell direction or distance. One is simply lost when only a short distance from camp.

In the morning we walked down into town. One man went ahead breaking the snow, which came nearly to his armpits, as he moved through it. He would tread until tired, when he would drop to the rear, and some one else would lead the procession. As we walked into the valley it grew less, and down below in the town there had been no snow, and all the time the sun or the stars had shone. Such a snow goes like the dew—disappears, evaporates.

Hypnotism and Crime.

The Judge (severely)—This poor man says that you, prisoner, hypnotized him into committing the crime. What have you to say for yourself?

Prisoner—He's right, your Honor. Another man hypnotized me into hypnotizing him.—Chicago Record.

He Knew His Business.

"You are the man!" he said as he leaned forward in the street car and pointed his finger to the complacent and self-satisfied looking passenger opposite—"you are the man who predicted last October that we would have a mild winter!"

"Yes, I did," replied the man.

"But we had a terrible winter instead!"

"Yes."

"And you are no prophet."

"No."

"Then why, sir—why did you make such a prediction?"

"As a matter of business. I am in the coal trade, and it was my duty to keep people from running off to Florida to escape a hard winter!"

"But, sir but——"

"Oh! we shall have a long, hot summer, and if you want fly-screens please call around! I'm going into that line for the season!"—Detroit Free Press.

Safe Occupations.

"What are your rates per thousand for accident insurance?" asked a nervous customer as he peered over the desk of the Indubitable Dower Accident Company.

"Depends on your occupation. Do you belong to the preferred class?" asked the clerk.

"What is the preferred class?" asked the nervous customer.

"The preferred class is composed of doctors, lawyers, clergymen and Cuban revolutionists. They never die except of disease and old age;" and he shoved out a blank application.

With a sigh the nervous man turned away. He was night watchman in a Broadway candy store.

Clearing a Mystery Up.

"Hi, there!" cried Dempsey to the crowd in front of the closed bank. "It's no use, b'ys; th' bank is closed toighter nor a dumb mon's mout' at a wake."

"Whoy, Dimpsey," said Callihan, "it's on'y visterday as iver was th' cashier towld me it was on'y a sort av timporary difficulty, an' he wud tek shteps t' clare up th' myshtery."

"An' thot's phwat he did," said Dempsey. "But th' shteps he tuk was towar' Canady, an' be this toime he's in Ogdensburg."

And he went back into his coal office to look at his new bank book with an address on it farther up the street.

Food, when it sours on the stomach, becomes innutritive and unwholesome. It poisons the blood, and both mind and body suffer in consequence. What is needed to restore perfect digestion is a dose or two of Ayer's Pills. They never fail to relieve.

TRADE AND CURRENCY

Trade Supremacy Depends on a Fixed Standard.

BRITISH BANKERS OPPOSE CHANGE

The Present System of Currency Is Suited to the Wants of a Great Commercial Country, and to Depart From It Would Ruin the Trade Credit of the Kingdom.

London, May 29.—At a meeting yesterday of bankers, financiers and other prominent business men who favor the maintenance of the gold standard, Bertram W. Curris, the banker, who presided, read the reply of Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to the memorial recently sent to him by friends of mono-metallism.

After acknowledging the receipt of the memorial, Sir William says: "I have no hesitation in giving on behalf of the Government the reply which you have the right to expect."

He briefly outlines the proceedings of the Brussels Conference and the failure to re-summon it, and continues: "I concur entirely with the opinion expressed in your address, that the experience of well nigh a century has proved that our present system of currency is suited to the wants of this great commercial country, and that to depart from it would be disastrous to the trade credit of the United Kingdom. The continuity of the national policy is more necessary in this than in perhaps any other question. You may rely upon it that Her Majesty's Government will not depart from the course pursued by all the governments that have preceded it, and will not give countenance to any change in the fundamental principles of our monetary system, nor in any discussion in which they may be called upon to take part will they admit any doubt as to their intention firmly to adhere to the single gold standard which you justly regard as essential to our well-being as a commercial nation."

Want a Non-Committal Currency Policy

London, May 29.—The Conservatives and Unionists of the Gold Standard Committee have written letters to Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour, urging the pursuit of a non-committal currency policy in the coming election campaign. The signers declare that upon no conditions will they support a proposal to alter the standard upon a bi-metallic basis.

Commons Must Sit on Derby Day.

London, May 28.—In the House of Commons John William McClure (Conservative) moved at the close of to-day's sitting that the House adjourn until Thursday, in order to permit the members to attend the Derby. The motion was defeated, 221 to 174.

Dissolution Rumors Unfounded.

London, May 28.—The Daily News in an editorial to-morrow referring to the persistent reports of a forthcoming dissolution of Parliament will re-affirm that, as far as the intention and expectations of the Ministry are concerned, there is not the slightest foundation for the rumor.

Hard for Divorcees to Re-Marry.

London, May 28.—In the House of Lords to-day, Lord Halifax's bill to empower church officials to refuse to marry persons who have been divorced passed its second reading.

Inspection of Foreign Meat Wanted.

London, May 28.—The Associated Chambers of Agriculture met and adopted a resolution to the effect that foreign meat imported into Great Britain should be inspected as a safeguard against tuberculosis.

Ship Drowned in a Wreck

Vigo, Spain, May 29.—The French steamer Dom Pedro has been wrecked off Cape Corrobedo. The Dom Pedro was bound from Passages for Carrill. She struck the Bajos Corrobedo at 6 o'clock last evening, when her boilers exploded, sinking her in a few minutes. Part of her crew and passengers were saved, but about 80 persons were drowned.

Havre, May 28.—The Chargeur Reunis, which company owned the wrecked schooner Dom Pedro, has received a despatch stating that 105 persons were drowned.

A Canadian Suicides in Boston

Boston, May 28.—A man on Warren Bridge, across the Charles River, vaulted the railing and disappeared beneath the surface of the water. The suicide's name is Archie Spofford. An identification card stated that notice should be sent to Mrs. L. C. Spofford of Caledon East, Ontario.

SLAIN BY JEALOUSY.

One Quebec Woman Murders Another in Cold Blood.

USED BOTH A POKER AND A KNIFE.

The Victim Found in the Early Morning Mutilated and Within a Few Yards of Her Own Door—A Warrant Issued for the Suspected Murderess.

Gracefield, Que., May 29.—The whole of this section of the country is in a state of excitement over the finding on Friday last of the mutilated remains of Sarah Jones of Baskatong, a short distance from her own home. The scene of the murder is 36 miles distant from Maniwaki on the Desert.

The murdered girl, Miss Jones, kept house for her three brothers and a younger sister. Miss Jones was 24, quiet, respectable, and is described as short and stout, and somewhat deformed by a hump back. She and her brothers lived on one of the best farms in the settlement.

On Friday all the household, save Miss Jones, were away from home, and Miss Jones, fearing to remain all night alone, went to the house of a neighbor named John Laframboise and remained there until morning. She left there next morning for home, and this was the last seen of her alive.

Her remains were found the same forenoon a short distance from her home. Her head was badly bruised, one arm broken, and a stab, as from a knife, was found below the right ear. Her clothing was torn and disarranged and the marks of blood in the vicinity showed that a desperate struggle had taken place. She had apparently not been dead many hours when the body was found.

There is only one person suspected of the murder, and that person is a woman. This woman is the wife of Laframboise. She is the mother of several children, but for some time past has, it is alleged, been jealous of the murdered girl on account of an intimacy which she imagined had arisen between Miss Jones and her husband, by which she believed her husband's affections to have been alienated from her. This is said to be quick-tempered, and her outspoken language with regard to Miss Jones is now recalled. Mrs. Laframboise discovered the body near Jones' house. Not far from the mutilated remains was discovered a poker covered with blood. The shape of a woman's hand was imprinted where it had clasped the bloody weapon.

The brother of the murdered girl has asked for the arrest of Mrs. John Laframboise on suspicion. She was seen with Miss Jones shortly before 6 o'clock the morning of the murder, and was the last one seen near the place, and also first to tell neighbors of the murder. Mrs. Laframboise is reticent in speaking of the affair.

Bailiff Desilliet of Desert has gone up to place any suspicious parties under arrest.

A Mother's Double Crime.

Baltimore, May 28.—Lying in pools of blood in the second story front room of 1713 Aisquith-street, this afternoon, were found the bodies of Mrs. Marion J. Curtain, aged 49, and her 16-year-old daughter Mamie. In the hands of the mother was a razor fresh with the life blood of both. The elder woman had killed her daughter and then committed suicide, with the same death-dealing instrument.

THE EDITOR'S WIFE.

A SUFFERER FROM HEADACHES AND DYSPEPSIA FOR YEARS.

A Frank Statement From Mr. N. Page, Editor of Le Spectateur Hull, Que., in Which he Tells how his Wife Regained Health and Strength.

The editor of Le Spectateur has often been asked whether he thought entire reliance can be placed in the statements appearing each week in the newspapers with reference to cures brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can unhesitatingly say that he believes the half has not been told, and that for each cure that has been made public through the press there are scores of others, no doubt quite as remarkable, of which the general public never hear. Many people shrink from permitting the publication of a statement of their cure and for this reason it is never heard of outside the circle of their acquaintances. We believe this to be all wrong, and think it is a duty those who have recovered health and strength owe to others less fortunate, to make the means of their restoration public. That at all events is the spirit that animates the editor of Le Spectateur in making known, for the good it may do others, the fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have, in his own household, proven worthy of the high praises accorded them elsewhere. Mme. Page was for upwards of seven years an almost constant sufferer from severe headaches, pain in the back and dyspepsia. As a result her appetite was fickle, and she was reduced to a state of great weakness. It was in 1867 that she first began to be troubled, and this condition of affairs continued until 1893. At that time, as a result of having read so much of the cures wrought by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a few boxes were procured, and it was soon observed that she was regaining her old time health. The continued use of the pills for a time had the most beneficial effect. The headaches left, so did the pains in the back, and the stomach was restored to its normal condition, and when she discontinued the Pink Pills it was with a feeling that her health was entirely restored. During the past winter Mme. Page had another somewhat similar attack, but, resorting again to Pink Pills, she was soon on the road to recovery, and we have no hesitancy in commending them as an unequalled blood builder and nerve restorer, having seen their good effects in other cases than the one above noted."

Bicycles Pay Duty Both Ways.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 29.—Several of the Canadian cyclists who are entering in the Martin road race arrived in this city this morning. They had a sad tale of woe to tell. It seems that only yesterday a new provision of the tariff law applying to bicycles went into effect. By its terms a duty of 35 per cent of the listed price of the machine must be paid at the Customs House. Worse still, a duty equally large must be paid on the other side when the wheel is re-imported. Most of the Canadians, rather than submit to any such tax, will endeavor to obtain machines in this country.

Archbishop Langevin Too Verbose.

Montreal, May 28.—Your correspondent learns that one of the leading prelates of the province has advised Archbishop Langevin that His Grace is talking too much and that his threatening speeches are doing much more harm than good to the Manitoba minority.

Have you ever noticed how your system seems to crave special assistance in the spring? Just the help required is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE WHEEL.

(Chicago Post.)

"Jawn," said Mr. Dooley, interrupting his friend, Mr. McKenna, "there's no two ways about it, whin old age comes down on a man he must face it an' take it. I'm not so dam old. Look at Gladstun. I was as good a man at a hurlin' match or a dance whin I was young as any ye know, an' I was captain iv me precint whin it took min to be captains. I'll have ye know that, an' at this minyit I'd resk me chances with most iv th' la-ads that comes in here—me an' th' icepick an' th' policman on th' corner. But I know a thing or two, an' I tell ye sthraight that I've no sympathy f'r Cassidy. I sint him a bottle, but I'll do no more f'r him. th' ol' gazabo!

"How old d'ye think that man is? Ah, gawon! Why, they couldn't dhraft him in th' wa-ar! 'Tis thrue. Mulligan wanted him an' he was a copperhead. 'What f' says he. 'Fight with me frinds Aleck Stephens an' Berryga-ard!' he says. 'I should say not,' he says. They wint afther him hard an' he showed where he'd cut th' finger he'd have to shoot his gun with on th' bredge in th' canal. 'Niver mind,' says they, 'we'll put ye on th' cannon,' they says. 'All ye'll have to do is to scratch a match,' they says. 'Ye have a good leg,' says they, an' they'd 've had him in th' army, but he proved be th' parish priest he was over age. How old would that make him? Iv coorse he's lively f'r his age. Who did he lick? Why, Jawn, if I hadn't been there! I tell ye, Dorney had him down, man alive!

"But annyhow, ye'll admit he's an ol' man, won't ye? He's too ol' to ride wan iv thim bicycles annyhow, an' that's what he's been doin'. I was over talkin' with him on the stoop iv his house whin his boy Hughey come along. He have a good job as shippin' clerk, an' he rides down town in th' mornin' an' home at night with his pants tied to his legs. A better kid niver lived. He come along on th' wheel, an' says Cassidy: 'I think I'll buy me a bicycle,' he says. 'Tis a nice way to get around,' he says. 'I could go out to th' mills on it flyin',' he says. 'Ye could,' says I, 'if ye could get on,' I says. 'Sure,' says he, 'what's to prevent me gettin' on,' he says. 'All ye have to do,' he says, 'is to take a hop, skip an' a jump,' he says, 'an' away ye go,' he says. 'If I had a piece of chewin' gum,' he says, "I'd go at it this minyit." 'Take care,' says I. 'Mike, take care,' I says. 'Ye raymimber th' fall ye got off th' handcar,' I says. 'D'ye mean to dare me?' says he. 'Hughey,' he says, 'fetch her up,' he says. 'Steady,' he says, 'now leggo,' he says, an' before I could say a wurrud to stop him he was off.

'Well, he done all right f'r a ye-ard or two though he looked like a man I seen walk ito th' draw at th' rid bridge wanst whin Casey had it an' I was down helping him to tur-rn it. Thin he begun to yell. 'Martin,' he says. 'Whhat?' says I. 'Sind Hughey here,' he says. 'What d'ye ye want iv him?' I says. Go wan,' I says, 'ye bold man,' I says. 'Ye'er ridin' as though ye an' th' wheel was made in th' same factory,' I says. 'I know it,' says he, an' his voice was gettin' faint, 'but be hivins I can't stop,' he says. An' no more he could. He wint down th' sthreet like th' wind an' th' more he thried to stop th' faster he wint. Th' kids along th' sidewalk stopped their play to look at him. Min got off th' sthreet ca-ars and cheered him. Mulligan, th' big copper, was comin' out iv his house, an Cassidy called to him. 'Mulligan,' he says, 'stop me,' he says. 'Stop yerself,' says Mulligan. 'Fall off,' he says. 'How th' ell' can I fall off whin I'm sittin' on it,' says Cassidy. 'Tilliphone th' man on the bridge,' he says, 'an' see that he keeps it closed,' he says. 'If I can only get to Shtate sthreet I'm all right,' he says. 'Th' buildings'll stop me,' he says. 'Oh my, won't annywan take me off!'

"We followed him up an' took him off a lamp-post at th' southwist corner iv Archey road an' Dearin' shtreet."

"In front of Finucane's Hall!" asked Mr. McKenzie.

"In front iv Finucane's Hall," said Mr. Dooley. "Th' old skate."

HASTINGS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

THE STAR.

Mr. Scriver is making preparations to enlarge the Hastings Star to a seven column paper, and of course our citizens are pleased to know sufficient encouragement has been given him to warrant this change. Mr. Scriver deserves the hearty co-operation of our people. He assumed control of the Star under rather adverse circumstances and has had to work his way along the newspaper field an almost total stranger to the profession. The manner in which he has grappled with his difficulties is a credit to his energy and ability and it is hoped his most sanguine expectations for the future success of the Star may be realized. Shine on!

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

It is gratifying to learn that the prospect for the early introduction of electric light into the village is brightening. Really very little difficulty should stand in the way for the successful accomplishment of such a scheme in Hastings at a moderate cost. We have splendid water power from the dam at Fowid's mill, which cannot be excelled for this purpose, and which could be used at a comparatively small cost as compared to what other towns and villages might have to pay. Mr. Strickland, a representative of the Canadian Electric Company, was in the village last week procuring signers to a petition for the light, and I understand this company has offered to put in a plant and start it for any local company that may be formed to buy it out. The business men of the village are giving good encouragement to the scheme, and I have no doubt that before long a good electric light system will be in operation here.

THE CLARENDON HOUSE.

This popular first class hotel is making preparations for an increased summer's business. Travel both by rail and steamboat is expected to be lively this season. The weekly trips of the Peterborough Navigation Company is expected to increase the number of excursions—the new steamer "City of Peterborough" being favourably spoken of as a fast boat and well equipped for excursions to and from this point. Mr. Spellman's Clarendon House has always been a favourite stopping place for the community. The hotel is well conducted, and capable of accommodating a large number of guests. Its cool and commodious dining room, which has always been well spoken of, is fitted up in first-class style, the table supplied with the choicest delicacies of the season, and managed to please the most fastidious taste. This season the dining room has been enlarged and extended, to provide for the extra crowds that are expected, and it is said that every seat will be required. A new summer hotel register is also to be prepared for the Clarendon House, which should furnish a good advertising medium for our merchants who wish to bring their business before the notice of the large number of guests who will doubtless enroll their names thereon.

COLD SPRINGS—OTONABEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. H. D. Kennedy, formerly of Cold Springs, is home on a visit from Minnesota.

The local society of the Patrons of Industry is in a very flourishing condition. The next meeting will be held on June 7.

The cold weather has done some harm around here, but not so much as elsewhere. Rain is badly needed, however.

On Sunday, June 2nd, Rev. Mr. Rae, of Peterborough, and Dr. Harrison, of Keene, will address Cold Springs Union S. School, in the afternoon at 2.30. It is just seven years since the school was re-organized. On Monday evening tea will be served in a large tent, after which there will be addresses by Revs. Trotter and Rae, of Peterborough, and W. T. Harrison, Esq., M.D., of Keene, music by the Y.M.C.A. boys, etc. Admission 25 cents, children under 12, free. All are cordially invited to be present on both Sunday and Monday.

LIVE LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Thomas Graham started last Friday for Londonderry, Ireland, on a visit to his relatives.

Miss Pettigrew, of Norwood, is the guest of Miss Sherin.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fitzgerald, of Norwood, were in the village on Sunday.

Mr. Walter D. E. Strickland, of Toronto, is spending a few days under the parental roof.

Rev. John McEwan was in the village this week.

Rev. A. C. Reeves and Mr. R. Graham were in Omemee on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. I. Clarke and family leave this week for Fenelon Falls.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock. Preparatory service will be held on Friday afternoon, at which it is expected Rev. R. Hyde, of Warsaw, will preach. On Sabbath evening Rev. A. C. Reeves will take for his subject "The Story of Esther."

The Court of Revision was held on Monday evening in the Town Hall, but no changes were made, the assessment roll being confirmed.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their regular monthly meeting at the house of Mrs. J. C. Sherin to-night (Thursday evening).

Table linens, napkins, towels, sheetings and cretonnes will be found in great variety with R. Graham & Son.

A lawn social will be held at the residence of Mr. John Preston, at North Smith, under the auspices of the North Smith, Presbyterian Sunday school on Tuesday evening, of next week. A good tea will be served and a pleasant programme rendered.

On Monday evening Beresford, L.O.L., No. 122, will meet in the Orange Hall.

On Tuesday evening Clementi Lodge, A. F. and A. M., No. 313, will meet in the Masonic Hall.

Stanly Lodge, True Blues, will meet in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening.

Young Canadians, L.O.L., No. 1385, meets in the S.O.E. Hall on Wednesday evening.

Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., will meet in the Forester's Hall on Thursday evening.

The attractions brought a great number of visitors here to celebrate her Majesty's birthday. St. Paul's picnic was a great success, the particulars of which have already appeared in these columns. The tea and concert under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church was well attended, everyone going away feeling that they had had an excellent tea and listened to a good programme well rendered.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy be ore they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

AGITATION OF BANKRUPT DEBTORS

Kaiser William Determined That Germany Will Not Meddle With Its Currency—Russia Sanctions a Gold Basis—British Press Uphold Harcourt's Declaration.

London, May 29.—The Standard's financial article this morning says that the letter of Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, declaring the Government's purpose to cling to a gold standard currency, is all that could be wished. It will do much to stop the mischievious doctrinaire agitation conducted in sentimental ignorance, or in concert, by men who in many cases want to find an easy way to pay their inconvenient debts. Continuing The Standard says: "As the wail of the bankrupt debtor, bi-metallistsu are now preparing a memorial to Sir William Harcourt."

The Daily News this morning prints an interview with Mr. George Peel, son of the Ex-Speaker, Viscount Peel, who is secretary for the Gold Defense Association. Mr. Peel ascribes the growth of the bi-metallic agitation to the fall of prices, the recovery from which has already set in. This, he says, would tend to diminish the activity of the agitation. As the grandson of the repealer of the Corn Laws, he held strong views on this subject, as he considered bi-metallism a form of protection, its object being to raise prices artificially.

A despatch to The Standard from Berlin says that on the occasion of his adverse criticism of Von Kanitz's grain monopoly scheme, Emperor William is said to have equally strongly depreciated any change in the gold standard. Chancellor Von Hohenlohe agrees with these views, and any report that he has been impressed with the Russian Diet's silver resolution is quite unfounded.

A SCRAPBOOK ORATOR

Dr. Montague Inflicts a Three-Hour Speech.

DR. LANDERKIN'S CUTTING REPLY

The Budget Debate Is Over, a Division Taking Place This Morning—Mr. Casey Closes the Two Weeks' Debate in a Rattling Speech.

Ottawa, May 30.—The Budget debate was concluded in the small hours of this morning, after having occupied 13 days, and lingered on over three weeks. The first speech of the day was delivered by Dr. Montague, who spoke for three hours. His speech was a compilation of scraps and, although his friends are lauding it to the skies, it was really nothing but what any glib-tongued talker could have done with Dr. Montague's scrapbook. What the Doctor deserves credit for is not as a speaker, but as an industrious scrap-gatherer. He spent most of the three hours which he occupied in making charges of inconsistency against various members of the Opposition. His treatment of the trade question or the tariff issue comprised but a very small part of what he had to say. He declared that when the Liberals were in office they made such a record of blundering stupidity and incapacity that they were hurled from power by an indignant electorate, and as long as the electorate remembered that they ever were in power their chances were blue of ever getting into power again. The records of the country since Confederation showed that the Liberal party had been wrong on every great public question on which they ever declared a policy. They never propounded a policy which subsequent events proved to be the proper one. A rapid reference to a number of the towns in Ontario which the Ministers had visited in their tours last fall formed a branch of this exhaustive discourse. Chatham, Wingham, Galt, Petesboro, Listowel, Bowmanville and London were the towns and cities which he called in evidence in behalf of the protective policy. He directed his remarks at the members of the Opposition who came from these places, and was answered by derisive cries and contradictions. In the case of Dr. Macdonald, there was a few moments interruption as a result of the allusion to Wingham. The Secretary of State declared that there was a great growth of manufacturing in Wingham on account of the protective policy. Dr. Macdonald denied this and declared that the town had been obliged to give its money in bonuses to keep them going. He declared also that, whereas between 1873 and 1878 the population of the town increased 1500, it had only increased 200 or 300 between 1881 and 1891. Dr. Montague retorted that Dr. Macdonald made long speeches, and that he belonged to the class of men of whom The London Advertiser said that one smokestack was better than 10 acres of men who talk and talk and talk. The Conservatives cheered for a moment, but stopped when they saw that the Opposition had taken it out of their hands and were applying the remark to the who was consuming the third hour of the day with speaking. The application was persisted in until it settled the Secretary of State, and he told the laughing members opposite that he proposed to talk as long as he wished to.

Dr. Landerkin followed and cleverly availed himself of the openings which had been given for the play of his humor. He began by blandly complimenting the Secretary of State upon his speech. He had listened to it, he said, with great pleasure. The speech was a pleasing one. The voice was mellow (and after a pause) and the matter was mellow also. (Laughter.) The Secretary of State had paid high compliments to Sir John Macdonald, Sir John Thompson and Sir John Abbott, but had forgotten what was due to his leader, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, for he never mentioned to him at all. Were they to live in the past, the Dr. asked with mock indignation, and were the men who now rule the destinies of the country to be ignored? The past Premiers were to be eulogised and the present Premier to be ignored. (Laughter.) What was wanted in this country was a strong united Government, not one divided into factions, one faction refusing to recognise the Premier and to mention his name. But the Premier was not the leader of the Secretary of State. His leader was the Minister of Railways (Mr. Haggart) and of him he spoke frequently during his speech. To see them together reminded him of the heavenly twins. (Laughter.) He had talked about England and Germany, and all those other countries, and told the House how they were going to the dogs because their poor benighted statesmen had not the capacity and the experience of the Secretary of State. (Laughter.) If the Premier were present he would recommend him to send the Secretary of State over to teach the poor benighted heathen of England the principles of political economy. Canada had had four Conservative Governments during the last four years, and there were some new men in the Government, but they were worse than the old ones. The ministers were getting worse as they were getting younger. The Secretary of State put it very nicely when he said that the Conservatives never thought of the head of men they had; it was the principles they looked to. He (Dr. Landerkin) quite agreed with him that they did not look to the calibre of the men they stuck into the Government. Dr. Montague had said that the Liberals had had different platforms.

Ever since he (Dr. Landerkin) had been in the House the Liberals had the same platform. But supposing that Dr. Montague's misrepresentation of the Liberal platform were a true statement of it he would a thousand times rather have it than protection. Protection was unfair. It took money from one man and gave it to another who did not earn it. Protection was not the universal necessity that the Conservatives claimed it to be. It was based upon the mistaken idea that nations should live at commercial enmity with one another. The Secretary of State would have the House to believe that trade was an aggressive thing—that there must be two willing parties to trade. People did not buy or sell unless it was to their advantage to do so. Protection was not aimed so much against foreigners as it was against ourselves. Importers brought in foreign goods because they were demanded here. What nations did in times of war was what governments did in times of peace by means of protection. It was as natural for people to trade as it was for their blood to circulate, and any barrier that was imposed was to their detriment.

Dr. Landerkin dealt with the claim of the Government to credit for the tariff revision, and showed that of the 75 proposed changes 63 items were restored, and that nearly all were placed on the list at an increased rate of duty. Dr. Montague, he said, had claimed that the farmers had saved $200,000 by reason of the protection on wheat. Why had they allowed the sale of wheat last fall at 40 cents a bushel. If wheat went down they were not to blame, but if wheat went up they claimed the credit.

Mr. Casey had the floor. The member for West Elgin did not commence to speak until after midnight, but, prolonged as the debate has been, he was listened to with interested attention throughout. His effort showed a careful investigation and a powerful marshalling of the facts, and indicated that every feature of the trade question had been fully and logically considered by him. He exposed the fallacy of the claim that the National Policy had established industries throughout the country, and showing that many of the smaller industries had been crushed out by high protection that had flourished prior to the accession of the Government. As Mr. Casey put it, the monopolies stood out amongst the ruins of the factories and these were the only signs of prosperity that the N.P. had produced. A notable failure of the N.P. mentioned by Mr. Casey was that in regard to the iron industry, which as yet has made little progress. Mr. Casey said that the Government apologists were exulting every foreign country at the expense of their motherland. England was a free trade country because it was in the interest of that country to adopt that principle. Mr. Casey concluded with a reading of the poem of Canada, which the member for East Assiniboia (Mr. Davin) read before the recent meeting of the Royal Society. Whatever enjoyment that cultured assembly found in the composition, in Parliament it excited only laughter and amusement, as Mr. Casey read it with comments and explanations. There was a chorus of cries for the vote when Mr. Casey sitting down.

The result of the vote was a straight party division, with 71 votes for Mr. Richard Cartwright's revenue tariff amendment and 117 against, the majority being 46. Col. O'Brien voted with the Government and was applauded by the Ministerialists. Mr. McCarthy was not present. It being the first vote cast by Messrs. Geoffrion and McIsaacs, they were heartily applauded by the Liberals when they rose to their feet. Thomas McGreevy, who also put in his first vote since he was expelled, voted with the Government and the Ministerial party welcomed him back to their ranks with rousing cheers and hand-clapping. Mr. Calvin, the Conservative member for Frontenac, voted against the Government. The announcement of the result of the division roused the usual sound of Government cheering.

The Two Manitoba Ministers Drifting Apart on the School Question—Montreal Cheese Men in Favor of Branding.

Montreal, May 30.—The Premier of Manitoba and Attorney-General Sifton are both in the city, and the opinion ground that these gentlemen are gradually drifting apart on the school question. This fact was admitted to your correspondent to-day by a personal friend of Premier Greenway. Hon. Mr. Sifton is credited with the statement that if the Government of Manitoba makes the slightest concession they will all go down before the wrath of the electorate.

The Montreal Butter and Cheese Association have passed a resolution favoring the branding of the date of manufacture on all cheese made in Canada, and will send delegates to Ottawa to impress this view upon the select standing committee of the House of Commons on Friday next.

SUGAR IMPORTATIONS.

The sugar importers must be credited with great prescience, for it is quite evident that they divined in some way that Mr. Foster was about to levy a tax on raw sugar for the ensuing year. This was made plainly apparent in the replies given by the Controller of Customs to questions put by Mr. Edgar. Mr. Edgar asked for a statement of the quantity of raw sugar imported between March 27th and May 2nd, 1894, and between the same dates this year. Mr. Wallace's reply showed that in 1894, 20,538,021 pounds had been imported, while the imports for the corresponding period in 1895 were 35,519,717, or in other words, the importations were more than quadrupled, and it is understood that there is a dispute as to whether 16,000,000 pounds additional were entered in time to be entitled to free admission.

For this remarkable increase in importations there are, says the Globe, but two explanations—the refiners imported with a sure knowledge that a duty was to be placed on raw sugar, or a shrewd guess was made at the Government's intention. A certain knowledge of what was going to happen could only have been obtained in one way, and the country will hesitate to accept any improper explanation for the transaction. It is difficult, on the other hand, to believe that nearly two million dollars would be invested in raw sugar on a remote speculative chance that a duty would be put upon it. It is well known that the trade generally had not even discussed the possibility of the placing of a duty on raw sugar, and it is well known that the change found the great majority of dealers with decidedly low stocks.

If the news was carried by the proverbial "little bird" it deserves to be put in a golden cage, for the intelligence which it carried means profits on the extra importation over and above the normal importation of $325,000, and a corresponding loss to the public coffers. But in addition to the quantity mentioned there are some 16,000,000 pounds in dispute, which, if allowed free entry will increase the loss to the public revenue by $60,000 more. This will materially disturb the Finance Minister's calculations of revenue. The matter is worthy of some investigation or explanation. Who were the fortunate importers?

THEY call it the Budget Debate, but the more proper term seems to be the Deficit Debate.

SIR CHARLES HIBBERT TUPPER has recovered his health sufficiently to resume the occupancy of his place in the House of Commons. It is a pleasure to state that his health is considerably improved.

A POINTER FOR CANADIAN FARMERS.

The Way the Danes Manage the Dairy Industry—Danish Butter.

The latest account of Danish buttermaking is given by R. B. Tweedie, a writer in the May issue of the Fortnightly Review, who starts with [illegible] instant facts that in 1894 England im[illegible],000,000 worth of butter, nearly $[illegible],000,000 of which came from Denmark. It is only within the last twenty years that Denmark has made butter for export, and the strides made in it are not only astonishing but instructive. Danish butter has come to the front because of its intrinsic excellence. The Secretary of the Administration recently astonished the House of Commons with the statement that the butter for the navy "was ordered from abroad because our agriculturists could not hold their own with Danish butter."

In Denmark butter is chiefly made on the co-operative plan. The farmers deliver the milk—or more often merely the cream, properly separated by centrifugal machines—to the butter-making factory, of which there are some hundreds throughout the country. The butter is made on the newest scientific and hygienic principles, and is subject to the most careful inspection before it leaves the factories. Not only is the butter inspected at home, but if any doubt should arise concerning its first class condition when delivered in England, it is analyzed by the agent of the Danish Agricultural Society, who lives in London. In Denmark, cattle, sheep and swine have to undergo a rigid veterinary examination, both before and after they are slaughtered. Before meat can be removed from the slaughter house it must be officially stamped as "first or second-class food."

While the butter factories all over Denmark are worked by the same methods, the State has nothing to do with them beyond arranging competitions and awarding prizes for excellence. The competitions are usually arranged on a notice of twelve hours, so that competitors are obliged to send in the butter they have ready, instead of an extra good roll or two made with especial care for the exhibition. As the result of the application of science and economy, the demand for Danish butter has increased beyond the supply in the world's markets. Danish farmers are growing rich, and their success is an object lesson which our own farmers may well take to heart.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

Court of Revision—Council Meeting—Franchise Granted to the Street Railway.

North Monaghan council meet in town hall Monday as Court of Revision for hearing appeals against assessment roll of 1895.

Present, Messrs. Jos Forester, chairman, McIntosh, Hunter, Johnston and Waterman. There being a few errors and omissions in the roll as presented, it was referred to the assessor for correction and the court adjourned until Thursday, May 30th, to meet at 7 o'clock p.m.

On motion the council resolved into session for the transaction of municipal affairs. The reading of the preceding minutes was deffered until next meeting of council.

The statement of uncollected taxes for 1894 was presented by the township treasurer as follows:

Mrs Corry Smith	$ 2 00
Dennistoun & Stevenson	7 74
Timothy Hurley	2 97
Andrew Smith	2 61
David Tully	12 24
Fred Whatley	1 00
Finbar Hays	1 19
	$30 65

Mr. W. J. Hall appeared petitioning the council for an equivalent for work he was prepared to perform upon road division No. 29.

Mr. J. M. Davidson appeared asking for improvements on that portion of con. 10, between the railways so that he could draw gravel to the eastern portion of his road division.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn for the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Co. presented a by-law and agreement for the consideration of the council, asking for the exclusive franchise to build and operate for twenty years a street railway upon the eastern side of Lock street production, provided the property owners thereon consent thereto.

A communication was received from G. W. Hatton asking that statute labour be expended upon Weller street production.

Moved by Mr. Waterman seconded by Mr. Johnston, that the statement of uncollectable taxes as presented by the collector for 1894 be accepted and that the treasurer is hereby authorised to return the same against the lands in the manner provided by the law.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Waterman and Johnston, that the sum of $25 be given to W. J. Hall to expend on road division No. 29, on condition of his giving an equivalent in work and furnishing in detail a statement of same hereafter to this council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McIntosh, seconded by Mr. Hunter, that this council will pay for one day's work drawing gravel to the ratepayers interested on that portion of the 10th concession from the G. T. R. Ry. to Bennett's, provided each give an equivalent in work, said work to be under the supervision of the pathmaster of road division No. 10, said pathmaster to furnish in detail hereafter a statement of work so expended, to this council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hunter, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, that this council will grant the franchise as petitioned for by the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Company, in accordance with the provisions of the agreement between the said company and the property owners interested and the provisions of the agreement between the said company and this corporation as here produced, a copy of said agreement to be produced and attached to the bylaw upon its adoption by the council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. Hunter, that on condition that the owners of the street known as Weller street production, open the same as a public highway, this council do hereby permit statute labour to be performed thereon, and that Road Division No. 22 is hereby altered, adding said Weller street production thereto.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. Waterman, that Alfred Saunders be refunded his dog tax of 1894, the assessor for that year admitting such to have been entered in error on the roll.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Waterman, seconded by Mr. Johnston, that James Thompson be paid the sum of one dollar, being one-half the cost for cutting ice, etc., in creek at Douglas' bridge, on the Cavan boundary.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McIntosh, seconded by Mr. Johnson, that the collector be paid the sum of $1 as disbursement for postage paid in 1894.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McIntosh, seconded by Mr. Hunter, that each member of this council receive the sum of one dollar for each meeting of this council, either in committee or in sessions, to be paid half yearly.—Carried.

Council adjourned to meet on Thursday, May 30th, at 7.30 p.m.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Miss Daisy Duncan, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with the Misses Huston.

A number of our young people took in the excursion to Haliburton on the Queen's Birthday, and report a jolly time.

There was a very large attendance at the Elmdale Sunday afternoon. We were particularly pleased to see so many of our young men present. Next Sunday the singing will be led by several members of the High Park Band, with their instruments, and we hope to see a large turnout. Let everyone that was present last Sunday come again next Sunday and bring another with them.

On Thursday evening, June 6th, the Royal Templars of Temperance intend holding a lawn social at the residence of Mr. W. J. Tully, 2nd line Smith, when a very interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music, readings, recitations, etc., will be presented. Refreshments will be served during the evening. The High Park brass band will be in attendance and render choice selections. A good time is promised all those who attend. Gates open at 6 o'clock p. m.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

Mr. Mansfield's Residence Destroyed by Fire.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On the 18th inst. the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid was made happy when there was born unto them a son and heir of no ordinary size. His weight was thirteen pounds, which breaks the record in this locality for a number of years at least. What makes the event more pleasing to the parents is that it is the only son surviving out of a family of five children.

Mr. Peter Clark of this place has made preparations for the erection of a well-planned barn, with underground stables, the work of excavation being completed. The contract of erecting and finishing the building is let to his nephew, Mr. John Clark, who is busily engaged in completing the work.

A disastrous fire occurred in Kinmount last Wednesday night about one o'clock, destroying four valuable buildings—a large dwelling house, woodshed and stable belonging to Mr. M. Mansfield, and a dwelling, the property of Mr. M. Barry. Mr. Mansfield was away from home at the time of the accident, the occupants of the house only escaping with their lives; they did not awake until they heard part of the building tumble to the ground. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The heavy frosts which visited this vicinity have done much damage to hay and crops, but the recent rains has greatly improved their appearance. Blossoms on fruit trees are apparently damaged beyond recovery.

As Old as Antiquity.

Either by acquired taint or heredity those old foes Scrofula and Consumption, must be faced generation after generation; but you may meet them with the odds in your favour by the help of Scott's Emulsion.

THE INSOLVENCY BILL

Many Senators Regard It as Obnoxious.

NO DEMAND FOR SUCH A MEASURE

The Provincial Bill Looked Upon As Ample and the Desire for More Legislation Comes Only From Wholesale Houses—The Premier Makes a Statement.

Ottawa, May 29.—The Senate spent the greater part of the afternoon debating whether the insolvency bill should be given second reading. The bill passed the Senate last session after protracted consideration, but was late in reaching the Commons. Sir John Thompson, however, gave the House assurances that the measure as amended by the Senate would be re-introduced this session. In moving the second reading of the bill, this afternoon, Sir Mackenzie Bowell referred to these facts and said the bill was identically the same as that of last session, with the exception that a few incongruities in last year's measure were done away with. There was no change in the principles of the bill.

Senator Scott said he failed to see that there had been any demand for this legislation since last session. The judgment of the Imperial Privy Council declaring that the Ontario Insolvency act was within the purview of the local legislature had given that province a law which differed from the proposed measure only in as much as it had not the provision for the discharging of insolvents and the province of New Brunswick had passed similar legislation. In view of these facts, he saw less necessity for the legislation than there was last session and in addition the machinery for enforcing the local enactments was much less expensive than that required to enforce the proposed law. He was in doubt as to the advisability of seriously considering the bill, unless the Government intended that it should be passed by both Houses of Parliament at the present session.

Senator McInnis, of Hamilton, was in favor of the bill as it would secure the equitable distribution of the assets of insolvents among creditors and provide for the discharge of insolvents, a provision not at present in any of the local enactments. He thought a universal law should be passed to apply to all debtors and was in favor of the measure because he thought it a step in the right direction.

Senators McLellan, Kaulbach, and Primrose having spoken, Senator McCallum wanted to know who asked the Senate to pass this measure? He contended that it was the wholesale merchants who forced their goods upon the people and then asked for legislation to force immediate payment under the penalty of compulsory insolvency. The Insolvency bill of 1875 had been a curse to the country and its repeal in 1880 was heralded with bon fires and general rejoicing. Some Senators might vote for this measure because of their respect for the Premier, but he knew that if they had to obtain the approval of their constituents they would not dare to do so. He warned the Government that if it forced this bill the result would be defeat at the polls at the next elections. The lower House he knew would kill the measure anyway and he appealed to the Government as a favor to withdraw the bill or he would be forced to oppose it at every stage. He then moved a six months' hoist.

Senator Bellerose was opposed to the bill, but would not vote for a six months' hoist on the second reading.

Senator McDonad, of Cape Breton, was opposed to the measure as it would give dishonest merchants a discharge from their just obligations.

Senator Glemow, moved the adjournment of the debate in order to give time for consideration. He was in favor of the bill.

Senator Power held that there was no demand for a Dominion Insolvency law, and said there was general rejoicing when the law of 1875 was repealed. He thought that in view of the fact that the bill was passed by the Senate last year, it should have been introduced in the Lower House this session.

The reason why no petitions have been received against the bill was that everyone thought that it had been decided to drop the measure.

Senator Boulton held that the passage of the bill would preserve the credit of the country abroad, by preventing dishonest persons from escaping liabilities contracted in foreign money markets. Sir Mackenzie Bowell judged from the expressions of opinion given that the Senate was opposed to the bill, but he (Sir M.) was not prepared to admit that the country was of the same mind. He was gratified to hear Senator Scott and others opposed to the Government assert that the reason why they opposed the bill was because the country was in such a healthy condition of prosperity that a general insolvency law was not necessary. The reason why there has been no petitions asking for the passage of the bill this session was because of Sir John Thompson's solemn assurance that the bill would be reintroduced this session. The Government had simply done its duty in bringing down the measure. If he thought for moment that the bill would not be passed in the Lower House he would not press it in the Senate, even if it was favorably received. He was in favor of the English law, before which all men were equal and he made a strong argument of the benefit which would accrue from the enactment of a general insolvency law which would give creditors all over Canada an equal remedy against delinquent debtors, while honest debtors would be given a universal and adequate protection.

The motion of Senator Clemow adjourning the debate was adopted without division.

MAY RENEW THE WAR.

China and Japan May Cross Swords Over Formosa.

London, May 30.—A despatch from Shanghai to The Pall Mall Gazette says there are alarming rumors that a renewal of the fighting between Japan and China is imminent. The Japanese warships at Formosa have been cleared for action, and the French ships at Tamsui are ready for any emergency. In consequence of the rumor that Russia intends to intervene all of the available steamers have been ordered to Tien Tsin with cargoes of rice.

The Daily News correspondent at Berlin telegraphs that there is a belief that the Formosan Republic is a Chinese manoeuvre, backed by France and Russia, to trick Japan out of the fruits of her victory. It is feared it will reopen the war.

The Globe prints a despatch from Shanghai, which says it is reported there that fighting has occurred in Tamsui, on the northwest coast of Formosa. The report, however, is not confirmed.

FEDERATED AUSTRALIA

Constitution to Be Drafted by an Elected Convention.

Melbourne, May 30.—Sir John Madden, acting Governor of Victoria, in the absence of the Earl of Hopetoun, in his message to the Victorian Parliament yesterday, declared that prosperity was rapidly returning. In regard to the Federation, he said the Government would introduce a bill providing for the election by the people of a convention for the purpose of framing a constitution for Federated Australia. Bills would also be introduced providing for a revision of the tariff and to establish the principle of one man one vote. Public economies are also promised.

173 Were Drowned.

San Francisco, May 29.—R. S. Schwerin, superintendent of the Pacific Mail Company, late last night received word that the steamer Colima had been wrecked. Nineteen of those on board were saved. The Colima carried about 40 first cabin passengers and the same number in the crew. It is not yet known how the wreck occurred.

The Colima was commanded by Capt. Taylor, and was an iron vessel of 2000 tons. She was built in 1873, by Roach & Sons, Philadelphia, and was owned by the Pacific Mail Company.

The wreck occurred between Manzanillo and Acapulco.

The Colima carried a very heavy cargo of general merchandise.

The ship was wrecked May 27. A ship's boat containing five of the crew and 14 passengers, arrived at Manzanillo on Tuesday.

Assistant Superintendent Avery of the Pacific Mail Company stated that the Colima carried 102 persons, and only 19 were saved. There were 40 cabin passengers, 37 steerage, 43 Chinese and the crew numbered 72. Most of the cabin passengers were bound through to New York.

Home Rule Still an Issue.

London, May 30.—Speaking yesterday at Newcastle, his parliamentary district, John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland admitted that the Government was hard pressed. There may be sharp difficulties, he said, but while the House of Commons continued to support the Government it would persist and persevere in the policy it had laid down. He added that the Government was thoroughly in earnest in its demand for reforms in the administration of Armenia. It would not be satisfied with mere paper stipulations. Continuing, he said that Home Rule for Ireland was by no means the ghost of a departed hope, but was a substantial reality, as the Tories would find if they should come into power. He was of the opinion that Home Rule must be the primary policy of the Liberals.

News Believed to Be Bogus.

Washington, May 30.—At the Japanese Legation, which has been kept promptly and accurately advised by its Home Government of every move of importance from the outbreak of the war down to the conclusion of peace, nothing has been received to confirm the news from Shanghai that the Japanese warships off Formosa have been cleared for action, and that a renewal of hostilities is imminent. The officials in charge of the cable service of the State Department are also without news, and the story in its present shape is dismissed as another Shanghai fable.

PUBLIC BUSINESS BLOCKED.

Newfoundland's Affairs at a Standstill—No Quorum in the House

St. John's, Nfld., May 29.—The Legislature adjourned again yesterday for want of a quorum. This confirms the popular belief that Secretary Bond's reported loan is a failure. It is reported that Secretary Bond has returned to Montreal, hoping finally to induce the Bank of Montreal to make further financial advances. The proposed retrenchment scheme had not yet been adopted. No public business has been presented in the Legislature as yet, although that body has been sitting spasmodically since January.

BOND'S EFFORTS FUTILE.

He Is Now Convinced Newfoundland Cannot Raise a Loan.

Montreal, May 29.—Hon. Robert Bond is still here, and it is stated to-day that the Newfoundland Secretary is now convinced that it is impossible to secure a loan for the colony either in Canada or the United States.

Moonlight Excursion.

A moonlight excursion down the river under the auspices of the Girls Guild of St. Luke's church will be held on Thursday evening, June 6th, per steamer Daisy and palace barge. The steamer will leave the Peterborough wharf at 8 o'clock p.m., calling at Ashburnham. An entertaining programme will be furnished. Tickets 15 cents.

Home Circle Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the above society was held Monday evening in the Sons of Canada hall, and a goodly number were present—some twenty-five or thirty. Insurance premiums were received and other important business transacted. The night of meeting has been changed to the first Monday of each month instead of the last Monday, therefore the next meeting will be held on Monday evening next, and all those who have not received their insurance papers will not fail to put in an appearance.

Boys and Matches.

Two little boys in Campbellford took it into their heads to have a smoke one day last week, and repaired to the hay-loft of barn on the west side of the river, where they thought they would not be seen. After lighting a match it was thoughtlessly thrown down, and in a few minutes afterwards the blaze shot up from the hay. Fortunately for the owner of the barn, two men happened to be passing by at the time and their attention having been called to the occurrence, they speedily stamped out the fire.

ANOTHER FATAL DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Another boy Missing—It is Feared he Fell in the River.

Unless more care is exercised in watching children when boating on or playing in the vicinity of the treacherous Otonabee, the list of victims which the river will claim this year will even exceed in length the awful death calendar of the previous season.

To-day the town is shocked and horrified by the report that another Peterborough boy lies in a watery grave in the depths of the Otonabee.

Yesterday, Eddie Miller, the fourteen-year-old son of Foreman Miller, of the McDonald Lumber Co., went down to Jubilee on the City of Peterborough. On the return trip he was suddenly missed from the boat, and nothing since has been heard from him.

It is hoped that he may have disembarked at Jubilee Point and been left behind. The boat only stopped at the wharf for a very few minutes, and the boy, if he left the landing place, must certainly have been left behind. The youth's parents are clinging to this one straw for comfort until word is received from Jubilee.

Talent Social.

Remember the Talent Social to-night in the Charlotte street Methodist church under the auspices of Mrs. McBain, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Rae. The following have promised to take part: Rev. S. J. Shorey, Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., Miss Hendren, Lakefield; Miss Hansen, Oshawa; Mrs. Sanderson, Miss Sherin, Mr. King, Mr. Mulligan, Mr. Crane, Y.M.C.A. Octette and the members of the Charlotte street choir. Tickets 15c. Refreshments, ice cream, lemonade and cake extra.

And Echo Answers, Why?

A citizen rises to ask why it is that "cheese is sold at 12½ and 15 cents per pound when the wholesale price is down to 6½ cents; and why beef is dealt out at the butchers' block at 10 and 12½ cents per pound when cattle can be bought from the farmer for three and three and a half cents per pound, live weight? He says that the poor, struggling baker is entangled with the question and sat upon when he puts up his prices, and why not a word be spoken of meat and cheese?" Possibly because beef is scarce, and perhaps because this year's cheese is not on the retail market.

Herbie Sanderson's Body Recovered.

The body of little Herbie Sanderson, who was drowned at the Locks on the 24th, was recovered yesterday afternoon at three o'clock by Lockkeeper Charles Brealy just below the gate. The remains were not at all decomposed the little fellow looked most natural. The funeral took place this afternoon at three o'clock from the residence of the father of the deceased, Mr. R. J. Sanderson, of 144 Rubidge street. The funeral service was performed by Rev. J. J. Rae, and interment took place in the Little Lake Cemetery. Mr. Sanderson is desirous of expressing his gratitude for the help and sympathy extended to him and his family in their bereavement.

The Jones Lock-Wove Fence.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson has had erected around his new brick residence on the corner of Bethune and Sherbrooke streets, a very neat, ornamental and durable wire fence, which makes one of the safest, neatest, cheapest, best lawn, garden, field or stock fences yet introduced. Several other property owners in Peterborough and Ashburnham have also had their properties enclosed with this new fence, among them being Mr. H. Calcutt, who has put it into use on one of his properties on Lake street, south of his brewery. Mr. Walter J. Paterson, of Elizabeth street, Ashburnham, is the sole agent for the County of Peterborough, who will supply all information as to cost, etc. Farmers should see it.

Neat and Tidy.

If there are two things a man likes about his barber more than another, it is neatness and expertness. Nothing counts so quick and inspires more confidence and comfort. Both these virtues are Alf. Haskill's ruling passion. His shop on Simcoe street has the run of the best trade in town. Always planning to keep the lead in scrupulous good order he never "lets up" in his anxiety to please his numerous patrons. If you should have to sit for a moment for your turn—what you don't often have to—there's some pleasure in the waiting. The recent improvements in new wall paper and ceiling effects gives the premises quite a dashing, gold-dollar appearance.

A Terrible Calamity.

A wife recently gave her husband a sealed letter, begging him not to open it until he got to his place of business. When he did so he read: "I am forced to tell you something that I know will trouble you, but it is my duty to do so. I am determined you shall know, let the result be what it may. I have known for a week that it was coming, but kept it to myself until to day, when it has reached a crisis, and I cannot keep it any longer. You must not censure me too harshly, for you must reap the results. I do hope it won't crush you." By this time the cold perspiration stood on his forehead with the fear of some terrible unknown calamity. He turned the page, his hair slowly rising, and read: "Your pants won't hold out much longer. Please call on GOUGH on your way down in the morning and order a new pair." He did it. 1dw

A "DAGO" ON THE WARPATH.

He Tries to Take the Life of a Walking Boss on the I. & B. Ry.

On Monday afternoon last a tragedy was very nearly enacted on the line of Bancroft & Irondale Railway about a mile above Wilberforce.

A construction gang of Italians under Foreman Bateman was working on the embankment and in some way one of the navvies, named Santella, and the foreman became embroiled, and the foreman took occasion to speak sharply to the Italian, who stood about ten feet above him on the bank. In reply the navvy picked up a huge stone, and, hurling it at Mr. Bateman, struck him fair on the forehead, felling him to the ground.

When the foreman staggered to his feet another stone was about to be thrown but the rest of the gang interefered and probably saved his life.

The Italian made his escape to the woods where he remained until yesterday morning, when he walked down to Kinmount and took the train for Fenelon Falls.

County Constable Cochrane traced the man ever to Kinmount and boarded the same train with him. At the Falls the local constable was already in possession of a warrant, and the Italian was placed under arrest. He will be held until it is ascertained to what extent the foreman is injured.

Mr. Bateman is an Englishman of immense stature and strength, and it is thought that he may recover, though a man of less physical power would have been crushed under the weight of the stone.

Mr. J. P. Bryson, D. D. H. C. R., leaves to-day for Ottawa to attend the Provincial High Court of Catholic Order of Foresters. Mr. Bryson is the only Peterborough delegate able to attend, Mr. Richard Gough, who was elected a delegate, being prevented by the extraordinary business developed by the great summer sale of Gough Bros.

THE IDYL WYLD OF 1895.

Under Capable and New Management for the Coming Season—Additional Attractiveness Developed.

By reference to announcement in another column it will be seen that the ever popular summer resort and sporting paradise, Idyl Wyld, will be open to the public for the season on June 1st. The new lessee is Mr. A. B. Spellman, of the Clarendon House, Hastings, known in all the district as a most capable, courteous and successful hotel man, who has mastered the art of catering to the enjoyment and comfort of his guests—genial, whole-souled, obliging. The reputation achieved by the Clarendon under his management will be reflected in the management of the hotel at Idyl Wyld which has been renovated throughout and put into first class condition for summer guests. While the hotel itself, under its new management, will be a guarantee of the comfort of guests, the situation in a beautifully wooded park, with bold shores washed by the clear waters of Rice lake, which teem with fish is a guarantee of the opportunities of enjoyment and sport. While beautifully secluded, Idyl Wyld has the advantage of being in touch with all the conveniences of civilization. The guest may, by virtue of the daily mails, enjoy his daily paper between the brief waits for a "bite," involved in the splendid fishing on the shores of the resort and at almost every point on the lake. There are daily boats, the steamers of the Peterborough Navigation Company furnishing daily and rapid connection by a delightful river route, every mile of which is marked by beautiful, if quiet, and varied, scenery. The hotel rates, considering the excellence of the accommodation, are exceedingly reasonable. Altogether, Idyl Wyld for the season of 1895 presents a fine menu of attractions for those who wish to realise the most delightful recreation and enjoyment.

FAIRMOUNT.

Successful Tea and Entertainment.

Last night a most successful tea and entertainment was held in the Fairmount Methodist church. There was a large attendance and the refreshmen ts provided by the ladies were beyond compare. Rev. Mr. Kilgour, the pastor, occupied the chair, and excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. C. S. McKee, Rev. W. R. Young and Rev. J. J. Rae. The fact that the music was of a very high order is involved in the statement that fifteen members of the choir of the George street Methodist church supplied the musical programme. The evening's entertainment was in every way—enjoyment and financial outcome, especially—a decided success. The party that went from Peterborough had a delightful drive both outward and homeward.

As Well as Ever

After Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cured of a Serious Disease.

"I was suffering from what is known as Bright's disease for five years, and for days at a time I have been unable to straighten myself up. I was in bed for three weeks; during that time I had leeches applied and derived no benefit. Seeing Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised in the papers I decided to try a bottle. I found relief before I had finished taking half of a bottle. I got so much help from taking the first bottle that I decided to try another, and since taking the second bottle I feel as well as ever I did in my life." GEO. MERRETT, Toronto, Ont.

THE BAPTISTS OF TWO PROVINCES

NOW ASSEMBLED IN SESSION IN TORONTO.

Hon. John Dryden Presents the Report of the Senate and Board of Governors—A Most Satisfactory Statement From the Treasurer.

The Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec has got right into the midst of its labours, and is accomplishing the business of its annual meeting with commendable activity. The most important matter which came up yesterday was the report of the Board of Governors and Senate of McMaster University.

When the convention opened at 9 o'clock Chancellor Boyd submitted a communication from the Woman's Missionary Convention regarding work among the Indians of the Northwest. In presenting the communication, Chancellor Boyd expressed his sense of regret that, owing to the sittings of the courts, he was unable to attend the convention as regularly as he desired.

Chancellor Boyd referred to the Indian work, which the communication he had read had brought up, and he gave a short but lucid sketch of mission work in the west since October, 1890, when the ladies had taken it in hand. It was now asked that the convention which had been done, and recommend it to the churches.

There was much discussion on the subject, and at last a resolution was passed "That while recognizing the zeal and devotion of the ladies of Manitoba and Ontario on behalf of the Indians of the Northwest, we now, at the request of the Women's Convention of Ontario, refer this Indian work to a committee with a view to placing it, if desirable, on a more permanent footing, the committee to report on Friday morning."

A communication from Rev. Dr. Shaw, Secretary of the General Conference of the Methodist Church, regarding the desirability of establishing a federal court composed of representatives of the Protestant churches, was read, and the Secretary instructed to acknowledge its receipt. It was decided by a unanimous vote of the convention to hold the next annual meeting in Olivet church, Montreal.

Revs. R. R. Mackay, George Cross, J. R. Coutts, A. N. Frith, and Messrs. I. Wardell, R. McGregor, and R. E. Jamieson, were appointed representatives to the Dominion Alliance.

ON BEHALF OF THE SENATE and Board of Governors, Hon. John Dryden, chairman of the board, read the eighth annual report of McMaster University, which was highly satisfactory. The report stated that this year's enrollment in the different departments showed that there were in theology 39 students, in arts 98, at Woodstock College 121, and at Moulton 114 making a total of 372. The art students were divided as follows according to years: First year, 22; second year, 31; third year, 20; fourth year, 13; partial students, 8. and students from Moulton, 8. During the first term of the year scarcely an hour was lost from lectures by students or professors, through illness or other cause, and the manifold duties of the institution were discharged with a degree of efficiency exceeding that known in any previous year. About the middle of the second term considerable illness prevailed from influenza, both among students and professors. The year had not been surpassed on the whole by any previous one in regularity and earnestness in work, and in the amount and quality of the work done. Two students of theology had died, Mr. A. K. Freeman, of Nova Scotia, and Mr. B. Waugh, of Prince Edward Island. The former was a victim to consumption; the latter was afflicted with suppuration of the kidneys. During the year thirteen art students and five in theology had completed their respective courses. In connection with the

and through other avenues, the students, ministerial and non-ministerial, had been kept reasonably active in Christian work. The report stated that although the present income, lessened by a falling rate of interest and by a lack of increasing attendance at Woodstock and Moulton, was properly a matter of earnest concern, it might fairly be supposed that improvement in commercial affairs would afford some relief in the matter of investments, and especially in that of the attendance at the academic departments. Coupled with these, the practice of careful economy in the conduct of the work would certainly afford substantial grounds for a hopeful outlook.

The year at Woodstock College would in the amount and quality of the work done compare favourably with former sessions. The graduating class of 25 was larger than for some years. Of these, fourteen expected to enter McMaster in the fall for arts, and three for theology. One would go to Toronto University, one to McGill, and one to the School of Practical Science.

At Moulton College the attendance this year had been somewhat smaller than during the previous year, but in other respects it would compare favourably with any year in the history of the college. Of 103 students, 53 were Baptists, 14 Methodists, 10 Presbyterians, 20 Episcopalians, 3 Congregationalists, 1 from the Society of Friends, 1 Unitarian, and 1 Roman Catholic. The graduating class numbered 12.

THE TREASURER'S REPORT

for the financial year was highly satisfactory. The total receipts and disbursement for the year was as follows:

McMaster Hall, — Receipts, $8,686.46; disbursements, $32,154.21; balance of disbursements over receipts, $23,467.75, which was a gain this year over last year of $5,106.18.

Moulton College,—Receipts, $10,032.07; disbursements, $15,344.44; excess of disbursements over receipts, $5,312.57.

Woodstock College,—Receipts, $11,831.48; disbursements, $19,450.37; excess of disbursements, $7,619.39.

The total receipts on endowment account for the year amounted to $33,911.61, and the expenditure to $481.20, leaving a balance of $33,430.41.

An election was then held to fill the four vacancies caused by the members who retire this year. This resulted in the re-election of Rev. Elmore Harris, Rev. E. W. Dadson and Mr. E. Thompson. As the nominee standing fourth did not receive a sufficient number of votes to elect him another ballot to fill up the complement will be taken to-day.

EVENING SESSION.

When the convention met again in the evening the church was crowded to the doors. The chair was occupied by Mr. John Stark, and with him on the platform were Rev. D. Spencer, of St. Thomas, and Rev. Dr. Thomas.

Rev. Charles E. Smith, D.D., of Fredonia, N. Y., was introduced, and spoke a few words of greeting. Before calling on the speakers, the Chairman made a few remarks on the subject of home missions. He said that the denomination now had 197 churches and preaching stations, 97 missionaries, 15,316 persons in attendance every Sunday at these meetings, of which number 8,597 are church members. To these are paid $8,597 by the Mission Board, and $17,876 by the churches, making a total of $26,473. This is an average salary for the missionary of $557.30. Fifteen of the missionaries are paid less than $500, and ten are paid $500. During the year five churches had declared themselves self-sustaining, six had been built, and four had been organized. After these figures, Mr. Stark called upon Rev. J. L. Gilmour of Brockville, to address the convention on the subject of "Church Edifice Work." This address was followed by one, "Canada and its Claims upon the Baptists," by Rev. Jesse Gibson of St. Catharines, and Rev. Dr. Thomas closed with an excellent address on "Baptist Christianity, its Genius and Ministry." In his address Dr. Thomas said that there four chief elements in Baptist Christianity—the evangelical spirit, supreme loyalty to the word of God, untramelled individualism and the missionary spirit. He closed by citing some of the things which Baptistic Christianity had done for the world.

DO YOU EXPECT HER TO BE EVER-SMILING?

The Wife has Some Excuse for Being Tired and Cross as Well as the Husband.

Men are sometimes unreasonable in their demands upon women. A man, fatigued with his day's work and consequently a little cross expects when he reaches home to find his home in spick and span condition, with his every want anticipated and his wife bustling about to look after his comfort, and smiling more than her share to make an average of agreeability with his bad temper. Does he forget that she has had a few things to fatigue her, and ruffle her temper? Does he not forget to make allowance for the fact that she has had to cook the dinner, answer the door bell half a dozen times, and get rid of a gossipy neighbour who has dropped in, to tend a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a two-year-old girl, get two or three elder ones ready for school, to say nothing of cleaning, sweeping, dusting, baking, mending, etc. A woman with all this to contend with, may claim it as a privilege to look and feel tired sometimes, and a little sympathy would not be too much to expect from the man who during the honeymoon would not let her carry as much as a sunshade. The ordinary housewife does not get any too much sympathy from her "liege lord" at best. The "old" woman is all right if she is decently treated, but we could not blame a man for feeling agrieved with the "new" woman if, on his return home, he found her absent, with the baby (if she condescended to have one) dirty, untidy, and crying in convulsions, with the floors unswept, with the last meal dishes still on the table unwashed, and the tramp flies feasting on the broken victuals, while his wife is away from home attending some political meeting or collecting money for the heathen; while the butcher boy is pounding the paint off the doors to collect the bill for meat required to replace that spoiled, while she was attending a women suffrage convention. The womanly woman, and they are, thank heaven, in the vast majority, have our respect and sympathy, while the "new" woman with her uncomfortable fads begets a wide degree of charity for the husband whose boot is prompted to spasmodic action.

BICYCLE BREEZES.

Women on wheels should remember Lot's wife, and never look back.

The Micheaux Club fulfilled its mission to have "society" adopt the wheel.

If at first you don't succeed—in learning to ride the "bike"—try, try again.

He who does not belong to some bicycle club is very far behind the procession.

Champion cyclists explain that they alone are the one's who "stoop to conquer."

In bicycle collisions, it is more or less significant that the wheel is always on top.

"I was never tire—d," said the old style velocipede. "No," said the bike, "because you went on all fours."

Many men believe themselves expert riders because they have expensive wheels.

When two or three bicyclists are gathered together the great question is, "What did yours cost?"

"How very well Miss Jones looks on a wheel!" "Yes, you know it is a healthy machine."

There is neither economy nor satisfaction in a cheap wheel. It invariably breaks down three miles from the nearest town.

It is unwritten law bicyclists should have a piece of the highway—not to keep, of course—but for transient use, only.

"Do you think it good form for married women to ride the bicycle?" "Oh, well, it depends upon their figure, you know."

From earliest ages children were partial to the bicycle, and continually pleaded with mamma to "see the wheel go 'round."

"Do you wear a sweater when you ride your wheel?" "Mercy, no; why, I get so warm I don't need such a thing!"

What looks to be a camera strapped to some wheels is, in reality, a new and quite ingenious kind of lunch box.

On the Isle of Wight, the coast guards use the wheel to make their patrol along the cliffs. They "coast," of course, at every hill.

Before long, manufacturers of bicycles may have to offer prizes for new names. The nomenclature has become very weak.

More people will ride the wheel the coming season than ever. It is first and foremost among the most popular vehicles.

CURIOUS STATISTICS.

The Mikado of Japan is fond of football and can kick a good game.

The latest description of the Chinese Emperor portrays him as "looking about 17, a thin-shouldered, narrow-chested, frail, worn-out boy."

The early ambition of William Black, the novelist, was to be a portrait painter. He reached the goal of his ambition, but by the skilful use of his pen and not by the brush.

Queen Victoria's daily menu is written in French, with the exception of the single item, "roast beef," which is loyally and uncompromisingly English, as befits a national dish.

John Davidson, the poet, says he "got his first chance in London," where he took up his abode in 1890, from Sir Wemyss Reid, who employed him to do reviews for the Speaker.

Warner Miller delivered an oration on "The Influence of Methodism in the Organization and Development of Government" before the Methodist Social Union of Chicago on May 9.

The French sculptor Jules Roulleau died in Paris the other day at the age of 40. In the opinion of many he was at the head of the younger French sculptors. Among his best known works is the statue of Joan of Arc at Chinon, near Tours. At the time of his death he had about finished the monument to the memory of President Carnot for the City of Nolay.

Herod is the latest smirched celebrity of antiquity to have his character whitewashed. A historian named Vickers finds that there is no evidence against him—no contemporary account of the massacre of the infants, no mention of it in Josephus and no reference to any injustice in his imposition of taxes. Like Lucretia Borgia, whose character was washed clean a few years ago, Herod has had to wait a long time for justice.

It was when Henry Harland, editor of the Yellow Book, was a young lawyer that he made his first attempts at literature. In order to gain time for this work he fell into the curious habit of going to bed immediately after dinner and rising at 2 o'clock in the morning. Then, fortified by a cup of black coffee, he would work assiduously with his pen until office time. In that way he wrote his first novel, "As It Was Written."

Professor Victor Horsley, who is a relentless vivisectionist, has won his great reputation as a brain specialist to some extent by the vigorous research he has made into the surgical methods in vogue among prehistoric races. He is a tall, well built man, clean shaven, except for his moustache, with dark brown hair, grey eyes and a well shaped head. His manner is abrupt and seemingly thoughtless and his dexterity with the surgical knife is nothing short of marvellous.

NOONDAY MURDER IN NEW YORK.

A Butler Shot Down at the Door by Two Unknown Assassins

New York, May 29.—Walter Ferdinand Harris, a colored manservant employed by Matthew C. D. Borden, 25 West 56th-street, this city, was called to the door of his employer yesterday and shot down.

The shooting took place at midday. Two men rang the bell of the basement entrance. Harris responded, and as he opened the door one of the men shot him with a heavy calibered revolver. Death was almost instantaneous.

The scene of the killing is in a highly-aristocratic section of the city, the residences of Robert Bonner, the Vanderbilts and Chauncey M. Depew being within a stone's throw.

The kitchenmaid, who was assisting Harris at the work at which he was engaged, was the only witness of the tragedy. She says two men were at the door, but only one, he who fired the shot, entered the vestibule. Harris, she says, partially slammed the door, and one shot passed through the heavy glass. Four shots in all were fired, only one striking Harris. This struck him in the left breast. The other three were found by detectives imbedded in the walls. These may form a clue for the apprehension of the murderers. It is thought that three shots were fired by one man and the fourth by his companion.

The description fo the men furnished by the kitchen-maid and residents of the neighborhood who claim to have seen the men running away from the scene of their crime, is meagre, indeed. The kitchen-maid lost her senses so completely she cannot tell whether the men were white or black.

No one has yet suggested a motive for the deed, though Mr. Bordens thinks they may have been looking for plunder. It was only by mere accident that Harris answered the door bell. Two coroners and almost a score of detectives have been at work on the case since its occurrence, but profess themselves to be entirely at sea, with the fact that Harris was shot forming the extent of their present knowledge of the case. Mr. Borden has offered a reward of $20,000 for the arrest of the murderers.

HE PLAYED MANY PARTS.

But Whisky Landed Him at Last in Jail.

Buffalo, May 29.—An ex-monk who flung away his faith, and became a Baptist minister and then fell into dissipation and evoluted into a thief was in the prisoner's pen at the Police Court this morning. This was James Mullen, formerly of Toronto, who was arrested last night on the charge of petit larceny. His bane, of course, has been whisky, and a few weeks ago he was taken in out of charity by Saloonman P.J. Mulhern, at 256 Michigan-st. Mullen requited by stealnig his bartender's coat, eyeglasses, pin and several boxes of cigars. He also sneaked three rugs from the saloon. He was arrested for this and arraigned in the Police Court this morning.

Debs Surrenders.

Chicago, May 29.—E. V. Debs, who arrived in this city from Terre Haute this morning, called on United States Marshal Arnold this afternoon and delivered himself into the custody of the marshal. The latter told him that he did not expect the mandate from Washington for a week or more, and until he received it the men were at liberty on their bonds. Mr. Debs furnished the marshal his itinerary through Minnesota and North Dakota for the next few days so that he could be telegraphed to return when needed. "I have written to all of the others out of the city," said Debs, "and it is our purpose to come in a body and surrender ourselves and go back to Woodstock jail."

HEAVY OCEAN TRAFFIC.

Atlantic Steamers Will Be Taxed to Their Utmost This Summer.

Montreal, May 29.—The Montreal agents of the Dominion Steamship Company have received advices from Liverpool, indicating heavy passenger traffic to America this summer. The Cunard and White Star liners have all their outward passenger accommodation fully taken for July, August and September. The Labrador, sailing from Liverpool June 15, has already 100 saloon passengers booked for St. Lawrence ports. The homeward list is also large, as the Labrador will take over 100 saloon passengers from this port on Thursday next.

Food, when it sours on the stomach, becomes innutritive and unwholesome. It poisons the blood, and both mind and body suffer in consequence. What is needed to restore perfect digestion is a dose or two of Ayer's Pills. They never fail to relieve.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life, I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George street.

SAD ACCIDENT AT WINDSOR.

Mayor Mason and Two of His Workmen Seriously Injured.

Windsor, May 28.—A serious accident occurred in Mayor Mason's brickyard this forenoon. The main building of his new yard was completed, and the V roof which was being put together was being hauled aloft. David Hook and Henry Freeman were upon the timbers guiding the V. The Mayor climbed up to give directions, when the rope gave way, and the mass of timber came crashing down from a height of 30 feet. The two men were thrown violently to the ground, while the Mayor fell close to the building, almost smothered by the loose timbers. He had escaped broken limbs, but was bleeding from head to foot, having been struck in almost every part of the body. Hook and Freeman are paralyzed from the waist down, and in a dangerous condition.

Killed by a Plow Falling on Him.

Beachville, Ont., May 28.—Harry, the 3-year-old son of James Forden, was killed by a plow falling on him. It is supposed that while the little boy was playing the plow fell, the handle striking him on the chest.

DEPOSED FROM THE MINISTRY.

Rev. R. C. Horner Ruled Out for Infraction of Methodist Discipline.

Smith's Falls, May 29.—The Ministerial session of the Montreal Conference met to-day. The Conference has lost from the active work by transfer Rev. C. O. Johnston, and has gained Rev. J. E. Starr. Rev. T. S. Harirs has resigned, as he is no longer able to subscribe to the doctrinal standards of the Methodist Church. Last year Rev. R. C. Horner was appointe d to Combermere. He refused to go. After trial and conviction he was suspended till this Conference. It was unanimously resolved, that in view of Mr. Horner's violation of the discipline he be deposed from the ministry.

Smuggler Lyons' Bail Estreated.

New York, May 29.—The bond of John T. Lyons, the Montreal druggist, charged with smuggling phenacetine and sulphonal into this country from Canada, was forfeited this morning, as the defendant failed to put in an appearance before U.S. Commissioner Shields when his case was called. Lyons has been out on $2500 bail since his arrest on May 15, when he was arraigned on the charge. A telegram offered in evidence this morning stated that Lyons was seen on the street in Montreal yesterday. Lyons is said to be a wholesale druggist in Montreal who does an extensive business throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Canal Boats Rotting in Idleness.

Buffalo, May 29.—Three hundred canal boats are lying rotting in the water in Buffalo, freight rates having gone so low on grain that the canal boats are unable to make expenses, and most of them are lying idle. The shipments of grain from the West are as heavy as ever this year. The terminal elevator has already handled 3,590,000 bushels of grain this season, and out of this the canal has only three boat loads.

Burglars Terrorize an Old Man.

Erie, Pa., May 29.—Masked robbers forced an entrance to the house of Thomas Maguire last night. Maguire is over 70 years old, and his only companion is a half-witted brother. The old man was roughly handled and bound and then under blood-curdling threats he was forced to reveal the whereabouts of his cash. The burglars secured about $700.

Earthquake in Vermont.

Brattleboro, Vt., May 28.—A distinct shock of earthquake was felt here at about 11.15 o'clock this forenoon. The vibrations seemed to be from west to east, and continued from 10 to 12 seconds, accompanied by a heavy rumbling sound. Residents in several parts of the villages rushed from their homes in great fright. The shock was felt in other parts of the country, and was the heaviest ever known here.

THE HENDERSHOTT MURDER.

Application for a New Trial—The Prisoners Studying the Bible.

Toronto, May 29.—Mr. Norman McDonald, counsel for Duncan Hendershott and W. D. Welter, awaiting execution at St. Thomas on June 18 for the murder of the former's nephew, yesterday made application to Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright for a new trial of the accused.

In the event of a new trial being refused, which is almost certain from the fairness to the prisoners manifested by Chief Justice Meredith, counsel will petition the Minister of Justice for a commutation of the sentence. The condemned men are hopeful that they will receive a new trial, or that their sentence will be commuted to a term of imprisonment. During the past few days they have commenced to read the Bible, devoting a considerable portion of each day to its perusal. They receive a bouquet of flowers from the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. weekly.

The grounds upon which application is made for a new trial are that the evidence was insufficient to convict Hendershott, and that the testimony of Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. French as to statements made by Hendershott was inadmissible.

Shortis Wants Change of Venue

Montreal, May 29.—George S. Foster appeared before Judge Belanger at Beauharnois to-day and asked that Shortis, the Valleyfield assassin, be tried elsewhere than in Beauharnois. He submitted affidavits alleging that Shortis would be in danger of lynch law if the trial took place where the murder was committed. The Crown will oppose a change of venue.

AN EASY PROBLEM.

The Choice of an Inexpensive Spring Hat.

A spring hat is an easy problem this year, and it is not such a very expensive one either, especially if one is ingenious enough to trim it one's self. All necessary accessories known to the milliners' art are offered for sale on the counters in the large shops, and if one has taste in selecting them and skill in combining, a hat is very economically manufactured.

One of the daintest trimmings shown is lace, white and black. The black is usually stiff accordion plaited, mull edged with lace, and is used for the rims of wide hats. White lace is draped, and while it is used in flounces to some extent, is more commonly in solid pieces, caught up here over the crown as well as the brim of the hat. White lace veils are solid for hat trimmings and draped as in the above picture. A single veil with a loop or two of velvet ribbon or a bunch of flowers is sufficient trimming for a hat. Gauze wing-like pieces are sold for trimming to go with lace. The effect is that of the wing of a giant dragon fly, and the dark gauze edged with jet makes a pretty contrast with the white lace.—Philadelphia Record.

Is Ignorance Bliss?

There is a delusion that, with most men, ignorance is woman's greatest charm. A man may not like his wife or his sister to display more knowledge than he himself has, but every man does like intellectual sympathy. The most conservative man's ideal of woman requires above all that she be charming; that she should please, and there is something absurd in the notion that education will interefere with this ideal. But a girl's education is not thrown away, if she should choose to quietly settle down after graduation to be the guide of a home circle. She may be a greater benefactor than one who becomes famous through scientific discovery. The study and practical care of the needs and comforts of a home and the education of children is the highest and grandest opportunity yet afforded to woman. The world may take care of itself, but the home cannot. Let the girl grow naturally, as we do the boy, and give her the benefit of the broadening influence of public spirit and responsibility. Let her have a share in all these widening circles of duty in the home, and then she will be reaching the highest type of womanhood, competent to meet any demands that may be made upon her.—Philadelphia Press.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

A German lover of figures has made the following curious calculations:—

A man smoking a pipe of medium size blows out of his mouth for every time he fills the pipe 700 smoke clouds. If he smokes four pipes a day for twenty years he blows out 30,440,000 smoke clouds.

If two lovers spend four hours together and the lover takes or receives 200 kisses—low calculation—and each kiss lasts ten seconds, in five years' time the lover would have 365,000 kisses, and their lips would have been united for the space of forty-two days and six hours.

If the entire population is considered to be 1,400,000,000 the brains of this number of human beings would weigh 1,922,712 tons, or as much as ninety-six ironclads of the ordinary size.

The air pressure on a person of ordinary size is thirteen and a half tons.

A man of 50 years of age uses in ordinary cases undressed himself 18,250 times, and, of course, dressed himself just as many times.

The Siberian is expected to get off at any hour.

WANTED A GOVERNOR.

New South Wales Sends a Pertinent Cablegram to Lord Ripon.

London, May 28.—Premier Reid of New South Wales has sent to Mr. Samuel, the colonial agent here, the following cable despatch: The Governorship of New South Wales is too important a post to justify protracted delay in filling it. Acquaint Lord Ripon, the Colonial Secretary, that if nobody in the Mother Country is eligible or willing to accept the position, we are quite prepared to suggest a suitable appointment amongst our own people.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it exceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

To Lion Medicine Co., Toronto:—

SIRS,—It is with pleasure I send you the following regarding my case. For some years past I have been doctoring with three different physicians for Blood Trouble and Lame Back, but received only temporary relief. I tried a bottle of your Compound, and it has more than fulfilled its claims. The eruptions on my face have been removed, and the trouble in my back as well, and I feel like a new man. I consider your medicine better than any other for blood and liver troubles, as it has proved so in my case.

CRICKET.

The first eleven of the Peterborough cricket club went to Port Hope yesterday and made a most creditable showing against Trinity College school.

As it was too late for the school to go to bat a second time, the match was decided on the result of the first innings, thus giving the game to Trinity by 17 runs.

The school has not been defeated as yet this year, but if it had not been for the extremely loose fielding of the Peterborough men yesterday they would most certainly have won from Trinity. In the one innings during which the school was at the bat, no less than nine easy catches were missed in the slips—the balls in every instance dropping right into a players hands, only to be muffed in the rankest manner. The poor play in the field also, noticeably, had the result of discouraging the bowlers greatly, as there is small satisfaction in enticing a batsman to step out to raise a ball when one knows perfectly well that even if it falls right into a fielder's hand it will surely be muffed.

The local club has been in the habit of practicing in the nets and consequently knew nothing about the responsibilities devolving on the fielders. It is safe to say that hereafter the nets will not be used unless there are only two, or at the outside, three men at a practice. If there are more players out they will be given an opportunity of learning the art of fielding.

Considering the small amount of practice which the team has had, it is astonishing what a good showing was made, as the school has won from such clubs as Parkdale and East Toronto by big scores this year, Parkdale being beaten by ten wickets.

Mr. R. B. Rogers carried off the honours of the day by going in at the beginning of the innings and carrying out his bat, having played a steady game through the entire innings. The excellent fielding of the School held his score down to 13.

Allison played a steady game throughout, but is capable of better work if he had the opportunities of practice which some of the other players have.

Montgomery and Allison each made hits for three runs.

Hal Burnham's catch of an especially hotly batted ball is worthy of mention.

Stocker twisted his leg after bowling four overs and had to retire.

Mr. Watson refereed the match for the school, which means, as all who have played against the school, know that some very rank decisions were given. Wherever there was a doubt Trinity got the best of it and the school came out ahead in some instances, too, where there was not the shadow of a doubt.

Tucker is a very fast bowler and as this was the first match of the year for Peterborough, some of the batsmen were considerably flurried when they faced him.

In the second innings Allison, Montgomery, Lefevre and Burnham all made hits for three.

The members of the team were most hospitably entertained at the school after the match.

The return match will be played early in June.

A game will be played on the P. A. A. A. grounds Saturday.

Mr. Drope will take an eleven from the Collegiate Institute Saturday to play Mr. Sheldrake's schoolboys in Lakefield. The idea is a good one, as it will awaken an enthusiasm for the good old game amongst the rising generation and the only way to make cricketers is to start them playing as young as possible.

There is a probability of the first eleven going to Orillia for a match on the excursion of June 6th.

THE WHEEL.

M. F. Dirnberger broke the world's record for one-third of a mile, flying start, unpaced, at the Fountain Ferry track, yesterday. He rode the distance in 36 3-5. The former record was held by Arthur Gardiner, who made the distance in 39 1-5 at Waltham.

A meeting of the delegates from the towns interested in the big L. A. W. circuit through Canada will be held in Toronto on June 7th. Mr. George Horkins will represent Peterborough at the meeting.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Council meeting next Monday evening.

Almost everybody was out of town on the 24th of May. Most of the citizens visited Campbellford.

Men are engaged cutting down the trees in Finlay's swamp, making ready for straightening the creek.

The plate glass fronts were put in Mr. P. W. Reynold's new block of stores this week. The work on the buildings is almost completed.

Miss R. Londerville and Miss Lang, of Keene, are visiting friends in Norwood.

Mr. A. Stirtin, who has been in the employ of R. J. Stuart for some time, left for his home in Southampton last week.

Mrs. Chas. Stephenson and Master Charlie are visiting friends in the United States.

A Council of Royal Templars was organized here last week.

We notice a number of improvements on Queen street. Evergreen hedges have replaced the fences between the residences of Mrs. Wm. Finlay, W. P. Plant, A. J. Finlay, S. Girven and A. R. Anderson. Messrs. Finlay and Girven are erecting neat picket fences in front of their residences. Mr. Finlay's lawn has been sodded.

Last Saturday, one of Norwood's oldest citizens passed away in the person of Michael Mullins. Deceased was over 85 years of age and has been in feeble health for some time so that death was not altogether unexpected. He was born in Ireland but has resided the greater part of his life in Norwood. Three sons, Messrs. Morris, Michael and William Mullins and two daughters, Mrs. O. A. Brennan and Mrs. E. Ball, all residing in Brooklyn, are left to mourn his loss. The funeral took place on Monday to the Roman Catholic cemetery, Rev. Father Conway officiating.

The high school concert on the evening of the Queen's Birthday, was very successful, financially and otherwise. Many of those who had driven to Campbellford returned early for the purpose of attending the recitations of Miss Pauline Johnston which delighted the audience, and every number was heartily applauded and encored. The numbers given by local talent were up to the mark, and were well received.

NEWFOUNDLAND GETS A LOAN.

British Capitalists Come to the Colony's Rescue.

Montreal, May 29.—It is quite evident that Canadians have been all along hunting the Road loan up the wrong tree, and that the Newfoundland Financial Secretary's visit to the United States was a blind pure and simple.

It is understood in fact that the Newfoundland loan has been subscribed for in Great Britain, and will be issued by Glyn, Mills, Carvy & Co., one of the foremost banking houses in England. Your correspondent also learns that Martin, Rose & Co. and other firms are interested in the issue.

The loan in question is for $550,000, four per cent., 40 year stock. All this of course is subject to all legal requirements being fulfilled.

It is known that the Montreal agents of the London firm tried to place a part of the loan here, but the influence of the Bank of Montreal was against the deal, which failed to go through.

The Legal Points May Prove Fatal

London, May 29.—Teh Canadian Gazette announces that Newfoundland having failed to obtain a loan in New York, a London syndicate has undertaken to successfully issue in London during June a 4 per cent. loan of £550,000. This is subject, however, to the important condition that all the legal points must be proved to be satisfactory. Experts say that this condition is likely to prove fatal to the project. To-day being Derby day, no further details of the transactions are obtainable.

The Legislature Again Without a Quorum.

St. John's, Nfld., May 29.—The Legislature adjourned to-day for the third time owing to lack of a quorum. It is reported that Colonial Secretary Bond's attempt to procure a loan from American capitalists has collapsed, owing to the intervention of the British Government, which fears the effect of the introduction of American capital in Newfoundland. The Whiteway party is demoralised over the uncertainty.

The documents relative to the confederation conference at Ottawa have been printed. They contain statistics showing the gravity of the colony's present difficulties. Business men are keenly apprehensive of the outcome. Trade is greatly unsettled.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

GOUGH BROS.

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

FRESH GROCERIES.

Not old or shopworn goods, but the choicest of everything received often enough to keep the stock in prime condition.

You'll be Surprised

How cheap we're selling the very things you most need. Good Tea, for instance, at 25c, 35 and 50c—that will go farther and give better satisfaction than any Tea you know of.

BASKATONG MURDER.

Little Evidence Against Mrs. LaFrambroise.

A 4-LB. POKER THE WEAPON USED

Together With an Iron Bolt and a Pocket Knife Which Has Disappeared—The District a Wild One and Sparsely Settled—The Accused in Hull Jail.

Ottawa, May 30.—Fatigued and distressed, Mrs. John LaFramboise, the accused in the Baskatong murder case, arrived in Hull last evening, and with an infant in her arms was placed in jail to await her trial at the Assizes in July. She bears traces on her face and head of the drunken bawl in which she and her husband were on the day Miss Jones was murdered. Her eyes are both blackened by blows she received from her husband.

The Baskatong, where Sarah Jones was murdered, is at the very northern limit of civilization. It is the most northern settlement of white people in the Valley of the Gatineau. None but Indians are found above the Baskatong. The settlement is at the junction of the Baskatong River with the Gatineau, 130 miles from the mouth of the latter stream. The country is very mountainous, and the settlement is on the only section of arable land in the district, a narrow strip lying for about three miles along the valley of the Gatineau River. The half-dozen farms in the locality are poorly cultivated. All the settlers are French-Canadians.

The Baskatong has a record as a disorderly section. There is no school nor church within 30 miles. A priest holds services once a month during summer. This is the only religious service of any kind held.

It has transpired since the coroner's inquest that when Miss Jones' body was found, a pocket knife covered with blood was seen lying on the floor near the body, as well as the poker and large iron bolt. The knife is said to have lain on the floor until Saturday night, the evening before the coroner arrived, but then it disappeared. The knife was used in inflicting the wounds behind the right ear of the murdered girl. The wound is a deep stab. The knife was a common pocket-knife with two blades, and when seen on the floor the large blade was open, and blood had dried on the blade and handle.

The poker was a heavy iron one, weighing about four pounds. The clasp of a narrow hand like that of a woman that had been covered with blood is quite visible on the poker.

The iron bolt is about nine inches long, made of five-eighths inch iron. It is a bolt such as would be used in the construction of a bridge.

At the inquest none of the witnesses had seen blood on Mrs. La Frambroise.

SUPERANNUATIONS.

Attempt To Forestall Mr. McMullen's Bill.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE BILL.

The Changes are Obnoxious and Vigorously Opposed by Mr Laurier—Delay in Bringing Down Returns Provokes Just Censure From the Liberal Benches.

Ottawa, Ont., May 31.—With the thermometer at 90 in the shade, the members of Parliament got down to business again yesterday, relieved to think that the Budget debate is now a matter of history. It was only a few minutes before the House was involved in a discussion of the vexed question of civil service superannuation. Mr. Foster introduced a bill to amend the Superannuation Act and made the following explanation of his purpose. In the first place it would give to the Governor-General in Council, upon the recommendation of the Treasury Board, the authority to declare that the act shall not apply to any of the classes of officials designated in the bill, which it may be considered desirable to exempt from its application. Under this the Government might decrease the classes, but might never increase. In the second place, the old limit of 10 years, which must be served by civil servants before coming upon the fund, was to be increased to 15 years. Thirdly, in the matter of abatement it was proposed to apply to the whole service the rate of 3 1-2 per cent., which, by the act of 1893, was made to operate only upon officers appointed after that date. This rate it had been calculated, would be sufficient with the allowance by the Government of 6 per cent. per annum upon the moneys of the fund in the Government's hands to carry the whole burden of the system.

While it is not customary to discuss bills upon their first reading, this measure was considered by Mr. Laurier of sufficient importance to warrant a fuller explanation. He expressed himself as entirely opposed to the proposed transference to the Governor-in-Council of the power which is at present exercised by Parliament, except upon grave reasons being given. The Finance Minister had given none at all, nor even the shadow of a reason, except the Government's wish.

Mr. McMullen, who has a bill upon the order paper seeking to abolish the superannuation system, lock, stock and barrel, said it was plain that the Finance Minister had been frightened by the force of the agitation in the country. The minister evidently thought he must do something, and this bill was intended to forestall his (Mr. McMullen's) bill. But he would tell the minister that if the Government had not abused the system the opposition to it would not have been made as bitter. The country knew that large numbers of men were walking the towns and cities drawing large sums of money from the Government at a total cost of $270,000 a year and those of $200,000, many of them having been displaced to make way for relatives of the ministers. He asked whether the minister had eliminated the provision of the act, which allowed the Government to add years to the time of service so as to bring unauthorized officials within the system. The old act made ten years the limit, yet everybody knew there were dozens of men to-day upon the fund who had not served that period. He would tell the minister that no half measure would satisfy opinion at this moment. The Finance Minister might just as well consent at once to the abolition of the whole system. He had overloaded the return which he (Mr. McMullen) had voted for so as to delay the second reading of his (Mr. McMullen's) bill.

Mr. Foster: Order, order.

If the minister wanted to keep faith with the House, Mr. McMullen continued, let him hasten that return so that all the information could be before the House upon the second reading of his bill.

Sir Richard Cartwright supported Mr. Laurier's objection to Parliament giving to the Governor-in-Council the power which the bill proposed. The ground of urgency could not be urged for it. If the Government wished to make a substantial reform they might divide the service into two classes. For the allowance of some provision to certain classes of expert and highly skilled officials something might be said, but as to the much larger class who do clerical work, they were better paid than the same classes in any other Government service.

Mr. Foster replied that the principle involved in this bill was already recognized in the Act by the power being given to the Governor-General-in-Council to interpret the application of certain clauses. This was all he would say, but he would be prepared to give more definite reasons upon the second reading.

Mr. Laurier: I hope so. (Hear, hear.)

To Mr. McMullen, Mr. Foster remarked that the return was being prepared with all speed.

Mr. Laurier: The trouble is the Government's speed is so very slow. (Laughter.)

Mr. Foster: Well, we have gone on very well for 18 years.

Mr. McMullin: Well, we want it before the second reading of your bill.

The recent Queen's Birthday honors are still an interesting topic. Dr. Landerkin introduced a bit of diversion by repeating his questions of a couple of days ago. Whether His Excellency the Governor in Council makes any recommendations to the Imperial Government with respect to the conferring of Imperial honors on Canadians? If not, do such recommendations emanate from His Excellency personally?

Mr. Foster replied that Parliament some years ago had anticipated some such thing for information and had supplied each member of the House with a copy of the book, Parliamentary Government in the Colonies, at pages 314 and 315 of which Lord Elgin's despatch to the Duke of Newcastle, the Secretary for the Colonies at that time, would give full information upon the questions asked. He hoped (speaking ironically) it would be found helpful to the hon member.

Mr. Laurier: Lord Elgin laid down many rules which have been discarded by the Government.

Mr. Foster: That has not, I believe, been departed from.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) rose to speak and as discussion is not allowable upon the putting of questions, Mr. Speaker remarked, admonitorily, "Order, order!"

Dr. Landerkin: The question has not been answered.

Mr. Speaker: The hon. members know that there can be no discussion. The question may be asked, but the Government may answer it or not as it chooses.

Mr. Davies asked Mr. Speaker whether members of the Parliament might not ask supplementary questions after the practice in the Imperial Parliament.

Sir Hibbert Tupper: It is a matter of consent.

Mr. Speaker read the authorities upon the point and ruled that the Government might answer a question or decline to do so and there could be no discussion.

Mr. Charlton pointed out that the Government had neither answered the question nor declined to do so. In England it was the practice for the Government to decline to answer questions which for public reasons they did not choose to make replies to. On the present occasion the question had been treated with contempt. (Order, order!)

Mr. Speaker: The hon. member may state his point of order.

Mr. Charlton: My point is that the Government has not answered the question nor declined, but evaded it.

Mr. Speaker thought that the answer, such as it was, must be accepted.

Mr. Laurier: I conceive that you can't put words into the mouths of the Government if they do not want to speak. (Laughter.)

"And so neither the House nor the disappointed aspirants are to be informed where to place the responsibility for the recent knighthoods.

Mr. Wallace, replying to Mr. Casey, said the Government had come to no decision with regard to a board of customs appraisers.

Mr. Mills moved the adjournment of the House to give an opportunity for the discussion of serious charges that be made against the Government. He asserted that it had been guilty of a contempt of the rules of the House in neglecting to bring down returns which had been ordered. He said that more than two years ago the House had passed an order for a return, the object of which was to show the gross inaccuracies of the census. Two sessions passed without the returns having been brought down, and up to the present time it had not made its appearance. The Government had been guilty in this matter of a contempt of an order of the House, and it was becoming a question whether the House had any rights that the Government was bound to respect. He said that if the Government was not disposed to bring down information ordered by the House three sessions ago he would introduce a motion censuring it for neglect of its duty, and place on the shoulders of its supporters the responsibility of pronouncing upon the manner in which it had violated the rights of the people. Dr. Montague's explanation was that he had taken steps to implement his promise that the delayed returns would be prepared as speedily as possible. The returns as to the census, he said, were being prepared with the greatest possible speed.

Sir Richard Cartwright held that it was no answer to tell the House that after a delay of three sessions the Government was hastening returns. It was a disgrace to Parliament, he said, that the Government should be allowed to disregard its orders. The Government should learn that it was the servant of the House. The discussion which followed was taken part in by Mr. Martin, Mr. McMullen, Mr. Fraser, Dr. Macdonald, Mr. Edgar, Mr. Langelier, Mr. Mulock, Mr. Lemieux and Mr. Davin. Mr. Davin took the ground that the House should insist on returns being brought down by the Government.

Mr. Laurier said the Government was bound to obey the order of the House promptly. If it did not it was guilty of a breach of duty and Mr. Mills, though he had taken an extreme course in bringing the matter to the attention of the House, had acted within his rights. When the Speaker had expressed the opinion that the question was one which might more properly have been brought up on a motion to go into committee of supply, the subject was dropped.

MANSLAUGHTER BY PRISONER.

An Ottawa Man Sent For Trial For Killing His Mother.

Ottawa, May 30.—Alexander LaFontaine of Gatineau Point was committed by Recorder Champagne yesterday on the charge of manslaughter. LaFontaine fought frequently with his father while under the influence of liquor, and so frightened his mother that she became unconscious, and after one of these rows she expired. LaFontaine was convicted on the charge of assaulting his father, and was fined $10, or in default three months in the common jail.

River Drivers Drowned.

Little Current, May 30.—The reports telegraphed from Ottawa about an alleged drowning of 33 lumbermen on the Spanish River are gross exaggerations. Two river drivers were drowned while running logs down the stream. This is the only fatality reported, but two other men had an exceedingly narrow escape on the Whitefish a few days ago. They were caught in the current, and were carried over the big falls and through the rapids below. The men escaped with their lives, but were terribly shaken up. The drop in the falls amounts to nine feet.

A SAMPLE OF SUCCESS.

If the boy of the period needed any incentive to struggle for a rise in the world, he has an example of the success achieved by Mr. Gresham, the late Secretary of State of President Cleveland's cabinet. He is what one might call a self-made man in the best sense of that term. He was the son of a poor widowed mother left upon a farm with five small children. He followed the plow and did other farm work by day, and attended school at night. Advancing through his own exertions, he studied law and was admitted to the bar. Taking to politics, he joined the old Whig, and continued on with its successor, the Republican, party, holding a number of local offices. When the war of the rebellion broke out he joined the army and served during the war with credit. Afterwards, he was made U. S. District Judge for Indiana, by President Grant. In President Arthur's Cabinet he for a time filled the office of Postmaster-General and Secretary of the Treasury respectively. But not every boy can achieve such success. He must have it in him or he cannot succeed to the fullest extent. Yet any boy can make a better man by diligent and faithful trying.

THE protectionist journals are very easily convinced. The Ottawa Citizen quotes the large number of squibbs fired by the "kids" on May 24th, as an evidence of national prosperity.

IF Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, who is the new hand at the Grand Trunk wheel, has as much assurance as the F.P. advocates, he will claim last month's improvement in Grand Trunk earnings as due to his improved management.

THE city of Montreal was brought before the "beak" on Wednesday, and was found guilty by the police magistrate of refusing to obey the sanitary laws in connection with the city hall. What would be the outcome of a similar charge against the town of Peterborough?

AMERICANS claim credit for being well informed. In proof of this we find the following in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "Cuba, Newfoundland and Winnipeg, all colonies governed from Europe, are in distress, and either fighting or ready to fight." There's about as much truth in one statement as the other. More ignorance and misstatement could not be compressed into three lines.

IN the budget division in the House Mr. McGreevy voted with the government, and the Mail and Empire must cease being ashamed of a supporter who, though he has "done time" in jail, is not perhaps much worse than some members of the Cabinet. Mr. McGreevy is a government supporter all right—its natural for him to gravitate into the arms of the party that handles the "boodle."

WHILE high tariff journals are gloating over the rise in the price of wheat, they forget to mention two or three points: That, while in line with the operation of the N.P., it benefits the speculators and monopolists, it does not benefit the farmer who, as a rule, has no wheat to sell; and that, while it brings no increase in the wages of mechanics and labourers, it largely increases the price of the bread they have to buy with these same wages. The Toronto News points out that neither the producer nor the consumer gets the benefit of the rise in wheat, the whole profit goes to the middleman.

The cotton industry pays out annually $7,100,000 in wages. Will free trade make you rich?—Mail-Empire.

Let us see. This amount was divided among 8,502 employees, which would mean an average yearly earning of $347 or less than 80 cents a day. Ask these employees the question, "Does protection make you rich?" The Montreal Herald has made the statement, and it has not yet been denied, that last year the Dominion Cotton Company earned over 10 per cent. on the full capital of $3,000,000, notwithstanding the "liberal distribution of wages." As about half this capital is water it is claimed that the earnings on the actual capital were more nearly 25 per cent. than 10 per cent. Protection means one thing to the cotton lord; it has a far different meaning to his employees.

NEWFOUNDLAND will not come to the arms of her big sister Canada, and her future seems to be a reduction to the status of a Crown Colony. Newfoundland has possessed representative Government since 1832 and responsible Government upon the lines of our own system since 1855. In view of present troubles it will be interesting to consider what the nature of her future Government would be should she lose her responsible Government and become a Crown Colony as some suggest. Great Britain has now thirty Crown Colonies, eleven of which have a legislative body partially elected and nineteen in which the legislative body is nominated by the Crown.

ALLY OF NONE, FRIENDLY WITH ALL.

This is Great Britain's Position as Stated by Sir Wm. Harcourt in Answer to Ashmead Bartlett.

London, May 31.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. James F. Hogan asked the Government to state the result of the inquiry into the matter of the imprisonment and subjection to harsh treatment of British subjects in Honolulu. Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said the cases in question were now being examined by the law officers of the Crown, to whom they had been referred.

During the debate on the estimates James G. Weir, Liberal, protested against the excessive salaries paid to officials of the House of Lords, and proposed that a reduction be made in them. The Rt. Hon Sir J. T. Hibbert, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, stated that in the case of the new appointments to office in the House of Lords the salaries were reduced so as to correspond with those paid to officials in the House of Commons.

Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett (Conservative) attacked the foreign policy of the Government. One of the grounds on which he based his attack was that the Government had abandoned Lord Salisbury's policy, which he declared was founded on an entente with Germany, Austria and Italy for co-operation with Russia and France. He especially attacked the Government for assailing the Porte, whose friendship might yet be of enormous value to Great Britain.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated that the Government was acting cordially with Russia and France.

Sir Ellis Bartlett: "Where?"

Sir William Harcourt: "Everywhere. The object of the Government is not to ally Great Britain with any group of powers, but rather to remain friendly with all European and American nations."

In conclusion, Sir William declared that there was not the slightest foundation for the charge that the Government was repelling the friendship of Germany.

Unionist Majority Increased.

Edinburgh, May 31. The Parliamentary election in the West Edinburgh division to fill the vacancy caused by the succession of Viscount Wolmer to the peerage, was held yesterday, and resulted in the choice of Lewis Melvor, Liberal-Unionist, by a vote of 5732 to 3075 cast for the Ministerial candidate. A. O. Murray, the master of Elibank. At the last election Viscount Wolmer Liberal-Unionist, received 5738 votes, and Mr. Buchanan, Gladstonian Home-Ruler, 3216. The Unionist majority in the division is thus increased by 124.

PREMIER REID SUSTAINED.

His Cable to Lord Ripon Endorsed by the House.

Sydney, N.S.W., May 31.—In the Assembly to-day Sir Henry Parkes moved the adjournment of the House in order to call attention to the cable despatch sent a few days ago by Prime Minister Reid to Sir Saul Samuel, Agent-General in London of New South Wales, relative to the vacancy in the governorship of the colony. Prime Minister Reid contended that a governor should be appointed by the Imperial Government at the earliest possible moment, as the double duties imposed on the Hon. Sir Frederick Darley, the Chief Justice, who was also acting Governor, were a great strain upon him. The motion was defeated.

W. G. Gresham Laid to Rest.

Chicago, May 30.—Chicago to-day interred the nation's dead. The funeral train bearing the body of Walter Q. Gresham from the National Capital reached its destination shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon, and with civic and military honors the remains were entombed in a vault at Oakwood Cemetery, there to remain until a final burial place is chosen.

Actress Attempts Suicide.

Chicago, May 31. Mabel Benson Bellow, at one time well known in England as an authoress and actress, attempted suicide last night at No. 103 South Jefferson-street, by cutting her throat. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines on the death of Mr. William Howden, who died April 27th, 1895:

We mourn for one who left our band
To join the hosts above.
We mourn, but God can comfort us,
He is a God of love.

We do not mourn as those who have
No hope to meet in heaven;
Father, he died in peace with God.
His sins were all forgiven.

His sufferings were hard to bear,
But Jesus was his friend;
He helped him bear all patiently—
Was with him to the end.

When his last hours were drawing near,
With eager looks, said he,
His face as bright with happiness—
"See Jesus, O see!"

His voice we never more shall hear,
In singing or in prayer;
Instead of his dear form, we see
A lonely, vacant chair.

We will not mourn, tho' we're left
To suffer here still;
We'll try to live to please our God,
We'll try to do his will.

And when we're called away from earth,
Oh! may we ready be;
And may we say as father said,
"See Jesus, Oh, see, see!"

ROBBING THE FARMER

To Enable Manufacturers To Export Goods.

EVILS OF THE REBATE SYSTEM.

The Canadian Farmer Pays More for Canadian Made Implements Than the Australian Does For the Same Machines—Senator Boulton on the Rebate System.

Ottawa, May 30.—In the Senate today, Mr. Boulton moved for a return showing the loss to the revenue occasioned by the payment of rebates of customs duties on articles exported. Speaking to his motion, he said that the farmers of the Northwest were forced to pay more than they should for their agricultural implements. The Massey-Harris Company, he said, disposed of agricultural machinery in Prussia, Australia, and the Argentine Republic at a lower price than they charged Canadian farmers, thus contributing to the cheaper production of wheat in these countries, to the detriment of the Canadian farmers.

He then launched out into a speech of an hour and a half in favor of the adoption of a free trade policy, which, he contended, would bring about great prosperity. He blamed the Liberal party for forsaking a policy of absolute free trade for one of unrestricted reciprocity, which, he claimed, was totally incompatible with a free trade policy.

Senator Power deprecated the growing practice of the Senators making long speeches, covering ground not specified in the motion before the House. He condemned the policy of granting customs rebates, which he said worked detriment to the Canadian farmer.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell explained that the object of the granting customs rebates on raw materials imported and manufactured for export, was to enable Canadian manufacturers to compete in the markets of the world with United States manufacturers, by allowing them to purchase raw materials at the same price as their American competitors. He failed to see how the Canadian farmer suffered from this arrangement, as in the case of agricultural implements, for instance, the rebate of customs duties barely enabled Canadian manufacturers to compete in foreign markets with manufacturers of the United States. The result in a single instance, that of the Massey-Harris Company during the present year, was that some one thousand agricultural implements were made and exported to Australia and the Argentine Republic, and 126 to Russia, which but for the rebate would have been supplied by American manufacturers. The cost of labor in making the machines and in purchasing a large proportion of the raw materials used was expended in Canada, and benefited Canadian labor.

Senator O'Donoghue of Toronto did not think the rebate injured the Canadian farmer, and it certainly benefited Canadian labor. He contended, however, that the Government, in granting rebates, was departing from its policy of protection.

Senator Boulton asked if the Winnipeg Great Northern Railway, commonly known as the Hudson's Bay Railway, was acting within the law in fixing the point of commencement of its line at Winnipeg, thence northerly.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said the Government did not know whether the company was acting within the law, nor whether it intended building the road at all.

POISONING WAS SUSPECTED

How Was Torrance's Sudden Death at Paisley An Inquest Held, but No Post mortem A Verdict of Apoplexy.

Paisley, Ont. May 31.—Coroner Patterson of Port Elgin opened an inquest here to-night on Rev. William Torrance, whose sudden death Wednesday has aroused suspicions that he was poisoned.

Evidence was given that deceased had formerly taken morphine to ease sciatic pains, but latterly had taken atropine for the same purpose. The reverend gentleman officiated at a funeral the afternoon of his death, and on returning called at the drug store of Mr. D. Bain and partook of a draught of effervescent citrate of magnesia flavored with pineapple. Eight hours later he died in great agony, with symptoms of poisoning, such as vomiting, purging and paralysis.

Drs. Black and Kahlfleisch attended him. The former swore he first thought Mr. Torrance's illness was due to a mistake in the draught given, and the patient made a remark to the same effect. The Doctor said the symptoms would indicate poisoning, but it was possible that same may have been caused by a drink of ice-water when the body was overheated. His impression was that death was due to belladonna or its alkaloids.

Dr. Kahlfleisch swore he thought death was due to apoplexy, together with rupture of a blood vessel in the head. He saw no symptoms of poisoning.

Alex. Kahlfleisch, drug clerk, told of giving the citrate draught. No poisons were kept near the pineapple flavoring used.

Jesse Monkman, another drug clerk, was present when Mr. Torrance died, and heard him say, "I am ruined, this is my last. I am afraid the dose I got at the drug store was poison, or poison in it." Deceased frequently remarked that drugs would finish him some day.

The jury returned a verdict of death from apoplexy. Considerable comment is made upon the coroner holding an inquest without a post mortem examination having been made.

Racing at Epsom.

London, May 30.—The race for the Epsom grand prize of 2000 sovereigns, for 3-year-olds, about one mile and a quarter, was run at Epsom to-day and was won by Mr. Russell's brown colt, Whittier, by Laureate, out of Virginia Thorn; Mr. J. Best's bay colt Powick, by Sarabband, out of Elegance, was second. Powick was the favorite at 30 to 1. Mr. Richard Croker's Montauk did not start in the race for the Hornsey Plate. Mr. M. F. Dwyer's Harry Reed was scratched for the race for the Royal Stakes.

The race for the Great Surrey Breeders' Foal Plate was won by Lord Rosebery's chestnut filly Avillon, by Camellard, out of Myra. Mr. Douglas Baird's bay colt, Symington, by Ayrshire, out of Sipponia, finished second and Mr. A. W. Cox's chestnut filly, Radiata, by Springfield, out of Radiant, was third.

The following are suspended from track-racing in class A, pending investigation as to their standing: J. A. Harley, Petrolia; C. H. Bartholomew, Woodstock; E. B. Miller, Owen Sound, and Stanley A. Allan of Kingston. For competing in class A, after being warned: A. J. Wright of Strathroy is suspended from all track-racing for 30 days.

Additional transfers to class B: W. Devine, Charles Smith, W. B. Smith, St. Thomas; W. W. Blackwell, E. H. Dunbar, Stratford; Clay Manville, A. B. Brown, C. W. Boyer, London; W. H. Dixon, W. K. Livingston, C. Gingreas, Toronto; A. Martineau, Montreal.

A. F. Little, Sarnia, is suspended until June 14 for violation of section 1 of clause 27 of the track rules; T. Bernside, T.B.C., for 20 days for violation of section 4 clause K of general rules. Race promoters, who have an entry blank signed by a rider, who does not appear at their meet, want to notify the board who will suspend any offender. Weidmark of Merrickville and Harold A. Fraser of Brockville are suspended until Sept. 1 for competing in a so-called championship.

A full list of riders who competed in unsanctioned races on the 24th is being prepared. These riders are cautioned that if they compete again they will be black-listed for the season.

Fred Westbrook of Brantford has had his amateur standing as a bicycle rider restored.

Governor Morton Prostrated.

New York, May 31.—At 11 o'clock while Governor Morton was reviewing the parade at the Worth Monument, he was overcome by the heat and dropped down on the platform unconscious. He recovered consciousness shortly afterwards.

Suicide of an Artist's Wife.

New York, May 30.—Malvina de Grim, 47 years old, wife of Baron C. de Grim, the well-known artist, committed suicide this afternoon at her home. Among her hallucinations was one that detectives were watching the house and making notes of all her movements.

The Pope Loses a Law Suit.

Paris, May 30.—The Divisional Court at Mont Didier has condemned the Pope to pay the cost of the litigation over the will of the late Marquise de Plesis-Bellere, who bequeathed her property to His Holiness, excluding her next to kin. The court refused to stay judgment.

Nervous People

And those who are all tired out and have that tired feeling or sick headache can be relieved of all these symptoms by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives nerve, mental and bodily strength and thoroughly purifies the blood. It also creates a good appetite, cures indigestion, heartburn and dyspepsia.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy in action and sure in effect. 25c.

Saturday Will be a Busy Day.

The specialties for Saturday offered by R. H. Kells & Co. are likely to attract crowds of ladies. Prices in the millinery department are to be shattered on that day, and as Kell's millinery is always new, seasonable and high-class, little wonder if shrewd lady buyers come out in "full force and effect" to reap the advantages and make a busy day of it.

Attempted Burglary.

Burglars entered the bottling warehouse of Calcutt's brewery sometime during last night or early this morning, tearing off several iron rods which protect the windows. As yet Mr. Crane, the manager of that department, has missed nothing. Evidently it is the work of tramps as the village is alive with them. Residenters should see that their windows are securely fastened before retiring.

Chemong Park.

At a meeting held Monday, May 27th, of the Chemong Park Company it was decided to purchase the steamer Dawn, owned by S. Purser and run her between Chemong Park and the railroad and also to Hall's bridge. The steamer will start as soon as the railroad runs to the lake and fishing opens. The Dawn was inspected to-day by Messrs. Donnelly and Thompson.

Feel Hot?

Of course you do—but it's your own fault. You want cooler clothing. Don't make yourself miserable sweltering in the heat any longer. No sensible man should resist paying H. LeBrun & Co., the clothiers, a visit, when it is known the extraordinary values they are giving in lightweight summer coats, vests, underwear and shirts. Their choice is immense, their styles right, and their prices about one-half. Stop and take a look at their window display of cool negligee and French cambric shirts, neckwear and other furnishings. Note particularly the great reduction in prices and you'll buy on the spot. Cool clothing is a wonderful help in making you feel comfortable, buoyant and cheerful during the hot weather and will put you in better trim for your work.

THE C. P. R. PICNIC.

It Will Come to Peterborough This Year for Sure.

Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Salisbury, of Smith's Falls, and Mr. McAuley, of Havelock, all three officials of the C. P. R., were in town yesterday and, accompanied by Mr. W. B. Bamford, made a trip to the different parks of the town for the purpose of selecting a suitable spot for the annual picnic of the C.P.R. employees. It was finally decided that the Driving Park was most suited to serve the purposes of the committee, and therefore the big picnic will be held there on June 27th.

There will be sports of all kinds held—open events as well as races for employees only. During the afternoon a lacrosse match will be played between Peterborough and Perth, and there will also probably be a baseball match and bicycle races. Peterborough extends a cordial welcome to the employees of the greatest line on earth. The C. P. R. always makes good time, and the employees it is hoped will make a good time for themselves.

Cigars at a Bargain.

E. B. Clegg has just received 7000 cigars, traveller's samples, all imported goods, and will sell them at wholesale prices and under. E. B. CLEGG, 415 George street.

Piano Tuner.

Mr. George Gumpricht, as a first class piano tuner, is highly recommended by Messrs. Heintzman & Co., and all leading piano dealers. Orders may be left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

A Warning.

Complaint has been made at Police Headquarters relative to the bathing of boys and young men in the river at Inverlea. The police, therefore, prohibit all bathing in the vicinity on pain of arrest.

Young Women's Association.

A pleasant social time was spent in the rooms last evening. The association wishes to thank all those who entertained in the way of recitations and music—vocal and instrumental. We shall have our next social in the open air.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Friday, May 30.—Yesterday was a hot day, going up to 95 in the shade. At this morning's observation the thermometer indicated 70 deg. above zero, with another hot day. Although cloudy there is no prospect of immediate rain, unless a thunder storm.

Early Closing.

An agreement in favour of the closing of fancy goods and stationery houses in town, at 7 o'clock, during the months of June, July and August has been signed by the proprietors of all these establishments and the early closing movement will take effect on Monday, June 3rd.

Never Mind the Hot Weather.

It will not hurt the baby if it is snugly sheltered in one of our cosy canopy-covered baby carriages, you'll see the roses burst out on its cheek. Just received ten new and nobby little rigs to sort up our fast selling lines, at the Peterborough Bookstore. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Foresters' Church Parade.

The members of Courts Peterborough, Little John and Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, will attend divine service on Sunday, 2nd of June next at 3.30 p.m., at the Charlotte street Methodist church, when the Rev. J. J. Rae, will preach the annual sermon. Members of Juvenile Court and visiting brethren are cordially invited.

Death of Judge Dennistoun.

The public of Peterborough will learn with regret of the death of Judge Dennistoun, which sad event took place at his residence 902 Beverly street, Toronto, this afternoon. He has been in a low condition of health for some time; a short time ago he rallied, but his last attack was fatal. The date of the funeral has not been decided.

Playing with Matches.

Fire was noticed about 11 o'clock a. m., yesterday, in an outbuilding belonging to Mr. Joseph Wyatt, Driscoll terrace, Ashburnham. Children playing with matches was supposed to be the cause. A citizen of Peterborough who happened to be passing at the time and noticed the flames, assisted Mr. Wyatt and others in extinguishing them before much damage was done. The property is fully insured with Messrs. Cox & Davis.

Death of Mrs. Kells.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kells went to Lindsay, called thither by the death of Mr. Kells' mother, Mrs. John Kells. The deceased lady, whose maiden name was Anne Thexton, had been in ill health for some years, and her death was not unexpected. She leaves behind her two sons, Mr. R. H. Kells, town, and Mr. John C. Kells, Millbrook.

Suit for Damages.

Mr. Michael O'Brien sued Mr. James Davidson this afternoon in the County Magistrate's court for damages for knocking him down and running over him with his horse last winter. As the suit was based on the ground that Mr. Davidson was driving carelessly, and as this was not proven the plaintiff was non-suited. Mr. Davidson very generously paid Mr. O'Brien's doctor bill at the time of the accident, although he was not in any way to blame for the occurence.

The Band To-night.

To-night the Fire Brigade Band will perform the following programme at Nicholl's Park (Inveries):

March	Maplewood	Lewis
Lancers	Donnybrook Fair	Round
Valse	May Blossom	Hoy
Fantasia	Nautical	Hare
March	Loyal Legion	Sousa
Schottische	Little Alabama Coon	Jacobs
Galop	Four in Hand	Beyer

God Save the Queen.

Next Friday the band will give an evening with Sousa. Those who have not visited this beautiful park will have double attraction, the band and the new park, which is within a few yards of the street railway.

Good Crop Prospects.

Mr. W. H. Wrighton, with an eye to business, took a a long drive through the eastern part of the county, returning last night. He reports that the crops of all kinds are generally excellent—the colour of the growing grain, the best indication of a promising crop being excellent. In all his drive of over fifty miles through the eastern townships he only noticed one field of fall wheat that was anywise off. The farmers Mr. Wrighton met are well pleased with the prospects for the coming season. The crops are, in the section passed through by Mr. Wrighton, ahead of those of last year at the same date. The damage by frost was not very extensive and it is thought the apple crop was not harmed to any extent. The future of the crops, however, depends upon rain, whose want is being felt.

THE TALENT SOCIAL A SUCCESS.

A Very Pleasant Evening's Entertainment.

There was a very fair attendance, not withstanding the warm weather, at the social given by Mrs. McBain, Mrs. Davis and Mr. Rae at the Charlotte street church last evening. The lecture room, tastefully decorated with a profusion of flowers, presented a most pleasing appearance and occasioned most favourable comment.

The first part of the evening was spent in general exchange of social conversation in which it is safe to say all took part and contributed lavishly to the general good feeling. Ice cream, lemonade and cake were freely served and added to the pleasure of the evening.

The programme was then proceeded with. The first number was a well-rendered selection by Y.M.C.A. octette. Then followed a well received quartette by Misses Pollard and Hall, and Messrs Davis and Steers. Miss Hendren, of Lakefield, next sang and captivated the audience by her faithful rendering of "The Lost Chord." Rev. Mr. Young, of George St. church, gave a short address, which was most happy and cordial, and added to the friendly and social character of the entertainment.

Refreshments were again served during a ten minutes intermission, and the second part of the programme was opened by Mrs. Sanderson, who sang an excellent solo to the pleasure of all. An instrumental duet by Messrs. Sherin and King followed, and was well rendered. Miss Hansen, of Oshawa, sang a lullaby song, and her number was among the best. Sweet and full of home-love were the words, and they were well interpreted by the singer.

Rev. S. J. Shorey of Lindsay, a former pastor, gave an address, which was characteristic of the man—strong, earnest and manly. Mr. Shorey is always welcome in Peterborough.

Miss Hendren then gave a sacred number "Consider the Lilies," and again the audience expressed its great pleasure at the superior power of Miss Hendren as a soloist.

The strains of God Save the Queen, in which all joined with unusual heartiness, fittingly closed the first very successful and satisfactory "Talent" Social in the Charlotte street church.

HOODLUMISM RAMPANT.

Two young Men are Attacked Whilst Seeing There Best Girls Home.

Three youths bearing the names of David Arsenault, William O'Donnell and Alex. Hayes, were all up before the magistrate this morning, charged with causing a disturbance by incommoding peaceable passengers.

It appears that Messrs. George Frost and —— Green were escorting a couple of young ladies in the north ward to their residences on Wednesday evening and faction prejudices getting the better of their judgment, a number of young lads made themselves very obnoxious to the two young men mentioned, and even went as far as to throw one of them down.

Arsenault was fined $5 and costs, and the other two were discharged, as the evidence did not go to show that they were present at the time of the fracas.

Hoodlumism has become so prevalent in different parts of the town that the police have determined to take an active hand in subduing it hereafter.

Only a few evenings ago a young man escorted a young lady to her home over in Ashburnham and a rival admirer resolved to "lay for him" behind a lumber pile along the Dickson raceway. He accordingly disguised himself by turning his coat inside out, and concealed himself in his hiding place. Nightwatchman Dudman spotted the lurker, however, and taking him for a firebug routed him out in short order, and was with difficulty dissauded from arresting him. After being shown off the premises, the young man looked up his successful rival and warned him to cease paying attention to the young lady. Surely it would be a short out indeed to the affections of the female sex, if a path could be cleared by brute strength and right of might.

PERSONAL.

James McNabb, roadmaster of Peterborough, was in town last night.

Miss Pauline Scheak, of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. O'Donovan.

Miss May Macfarlane, of Homewood avenue, is spending a few weeks in Orangeville.

The Port Hope Guide says:—Mr. Amys, of the Bank of Toronto, is enjoying a visit from his brother, Mr. Charles Amys.

The Omemee Mirror says:—"The Misses Clara and Dolly Kincaid, of Peterborough, spent the Queen's Birthday with friends in town."

The Lindsay Watchman says: "Miss Katie Greystock of Peterborough spent a few days last week with her friend, Miss Ida Britton.

Mr. Allan Huffman, formerly proprietor of the Oriental, is in town. Mr. Huffman may again enter the hotel business in Peterborough.

Mr. Howard S. Rosevear, an old High School boy, of Port Hope, has been appointed to a chair in Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. G. W. Rose, an old Dummer boy, now attending the Theological Department of Queen's College, Kingston, is spending his holidays in town in the interest of the Chicago "Ram's Horn," a peculiar product of American civilization, a religious comic paper, but withal full of sound truths in agreeable guise.

The Orillia News-Letter says:—Mr. W Brundrett, who was station agent at Orillia some years ago, has resigned charge of the Midland station to start preaching in the interests of Christian Science." Mr. Brundrett was station master in Peterborough for some time and is well known in the vicinity.

Miss Clara Hodgson, who has been in the office of Mr. W. H. Hill, left this morning for Pittsburg, Pa., where she has secured a situation in the head office of the Manhattan Life, Messrs. Horkins & Bard—Mr. W. A. Horkins, formerly of the Manufacturer's Life, here. Miss Hodgson's many friends in town will wish her success in her new sphere. She will be much missed in circles of church work in St. John's. She was a member of the choir and of the Young People's Association, having been the first Vice-President.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives great bodily nerve, mental and digestive strength, simply because it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

The Wabash Railway Trains

running every day in the year between Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City are the finest known to the railway service; they are complete and solid vestibuled from end to end, the entire train being a moving palace of connected apartments, all furnished with the most luxurious elegance and perfection of accommodation known to car builder's art. They include free reclining, palace, sleeping, and dining cars of the latest and best patterns. Call on or write any railway agent for tickets and all information, or address J. A. RICHARDSON, Canadian passenger agent, north-west corner King and Yonge street, Toronto.

YOUNG MILLER NOT DROWNED.

He got off the Boat at Jubilee Point and Went to Visit His Uncle.

Word has been received that Ernie Miller, who was supposed to have been drowned, on Wednesday, is perfectly safe, having left the boat at Jubilee Point and gone to visit his uncle, who lives about a mile further along the river. At the time it was thought strange that the lad could have possibly fallen off the City of Peterborough—as such great precautions are taken to avert the occurring of any such accidents on this trustworthy steamer. The great trust which is placed in the boat is amply evidenced by the fact that she is already engaged for almost every day in June to carry Sunday school excursions on the water.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

To-morrow night the meeting will take the form of a "Conversational." The topic is "The Life of Raiel," and the teacher Sheriff Hall. The song service begins at 8, and will be made interesting by special music.

We are glad also to announce a talk on Sunday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Smith, of Queen's College, Kingston. Dr. Smith has very kindly consented to give a message to men, and his address, with the additional musical attractions, should make an interesting meeting.

Board meets Tuesday evening at seven o'clock.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians

Said She Was Past All Help

and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She is getting strong, walks around, is out doors every day; has no trouble with her throat and no cough, and her heart seems to be all right again. She has a first class appetite. We regard her cure as nothing short of a miracle." W. WYATT, 99 Marion Street, Parkdale, Toronto, Ontario.

BAPTIST HOME MISSION WORK.

GREAT DIFFICULTIES TO BE SURMOUNTED.

Report of Superannuation Committee—Interesting Addresses on the Progress of the Work in Manitoba and Quebec.—Mr. Geo. Matthews Appointed on the Home Mission Board.

Despite the intense heat of yesterday, which made confinement within any room almost intolerable, the Baptist convention at present in session in Toront accomplished a lot of work and satisfactorily cleared off the programme of the day. The proceedings were devoted almost entirely to home missions and the reports, addresses and general discussion were all indicative of an intention on the part of the church to push forward with energy this department of the work.

When the convention met at 9 o'clock the chair was taken by President Dempsey. Rev. I. E. Hill, of Cleveland, and Rev. J. W. Stuart, of Brampton, were introduced to the meeting.

On a ballott being taken Mr. A. A. Ayer, of Montreal, was elected to fill the remaining vacancy of the Board of Governors of McMaster University.

The report of the Board of Publication was then presented and read. It was highly satisfactory from every standpoint. It stated that for the first time in its history the book room showed a profit. The sales for the eight months ending March 31, have been: Credit, $4,867.20; cash, $5,069.10; total, $9,936.30, being $90 in advance of the corresponding months of last year. The greatest possible care and caution had been exercised, the report said, in the purchase of stock, and the amount had been kept as low as was consistent with the requirements of the business. The purchases of the year were $8,186.05, the total stock on hand being $5,052.88, as against $4,786 last year.

A SUMMARY OF THE ASSETS

was given as follows: Accounts, $3,184.71; fixtures, $330.68; stock, $5,052.88; cash, $2,480.79; total, $11,023.06; deduct liabilities of $549.25; balance, $10,478.81. The board had within the last eighteen months published its first copyright work, and had recently also published tracts and similar compilations.

In regard to The Baptist (newspaper) department the report stated that the paper had a larger list this year than for some time, owing, partly no doubt, to the reduction in price, but to a considerable extent to leaving on the list a number of subscribers more than two years in arrear, and to the addition of subscribers from the Northwest Baptist. The total paying list was 5,296.

The report was adopted, and Mr. A. Blue, Rev. W. J. McKay, and Mr. R. D. Warren were appointed on the board.

The report of the Church Edifice Board stated that during the current half-year, three of the churches to which loans had been made had repaid their indebtedness in full—Grande Ligne, Lanark and Chesley. A few, too, had reduced their loans, but some there were which disregarded their promises. The fund at the disposal of the board was about $7,500. The committee thought the fund should be made up to $20,000 in order to fully serve its purpose. During the current half year there had been applications for $2,000, but thus far of $500 had been made.

The report was adopted, and Rev. J. Grant, Rev. J. P. McEwan and Mr. John Stark were appointed on the board. Rev. Ira McKay was also elected on the board in place of Rev. W. H. Cline resigned.

Rev. Dr. Dempsey read the report of the Board on Superannuated Ministers' Fund, which stated that during the last seven months $950 had been paid to annuitants. The capital fund at present, inclusive of the legacy left by Hon. Wm. McMaster was about $21,035. Including Senator McMaster's legacy, it amounted to $31,035. The amount paid to annuitants since 1868 was $43,794.

The report was adopted, and Rev. W. H. Porter, Mr. G. Edwards and Mr. C. Raymond were re-elected on the Board.

During the past six months the Home Mission Board has had the distressing difficulty of constantly looking into and had it not been for the kindness of the Treasurer of the Board, who had borrowed on his own responsibility, the missionaries would have suffered much during that time. The reports also showed that owing to the hard times in the fields, some of the missionaries had to encounter difficulties, because of their salaries not being paid.

Following the report of the Home Mission Board, Rev. J. P. McEwen, the Superintendent of the Board, read a most interesting paper on the "Relative Importance of Home Mission Work." The paper traced the growth and progress of the Baptist Church in Canada. There were in 1826 in Upper and Lower Canada but 45 ministers, with a membership roll of 1,435. From that time until the foundation at Hamilton, in 1851, of the "Regular Baptist Missionary Convention," a period of 23 years, the growth was slow, and at that first convention there was reported a membership of less than 7,000. Organization had soon made its influence felt. In 1865 there was a membership of 8,943, and four years later, 12,078. In 1879 there were 321 churches, with a membership of 27,353. A lull for some years ensued. The offerings for Home Missions had been greatly inadequate, but in 1884 an aggressive policy was adopted, and the membership began to rapidly increase again. Last year it was over 39,000, in Ontario and Quebec. During those years over 100 chapels were erected on mission fields, some 30 churches were organized, and over 8,500 persons baptized. Forty churches or fields had developed into SELF-SUPPORTING ONES.

Within the past twelve months eleven churches had declared themselves self-supporting, yet for the past two years diminished receipts had been reported, and to-day the board found itself in arrears.

The report and Rev. Mr. McEwen's address were favourably discussed by a large number of members. The report was adopted, and Rev. P. C. Parker, Rev. Ira Smith and Mr. G. Matthews were elected members of the board. Mr. Harry L. Stark, who for a number of years has been Treasurer, resigned the position, and Rev. E. Fox was appointed to succed him.

Three short and excellent addresses on Home Mission work closed the afternoon proceedings. Rev. W. J. Stewart's address was "Conserve"; that of Rev. L. S. Hughson on "Conquer," and Rev. C. H. Emerson's "Consolidate."

During the afternoon a message of greeting was received from the Baptists now in convention at Saratoga.

EVENING SESSION.

At the evening session, President Dempsey in the chair, Rev. W. H. Cline, of Paris, read the annual report of the work in Manitoba and the Northwest. The report gave an outline of the work and its conditions in that part of the Dominion. For want af funds promising fields had to be left unoccupied and new fields unopened. The total amount received from all sources during the year was $8,360, of which the Ontario and Quebec convention gave $5,440. A deficit was left of $1,000, which would be increased four months hence by $3,000 unless a special canvass was made. There should be $7,000 sent from Ontario and Quebec this year. Despite all disadvantages, however, the prospects were never so hopeful. Details of the condition of the various stations were then given. There had been over 100 appointments in the Northwest. There were several important fields which should be opened up and other fields strengthened. The Germans and Scandinavians and Icelanders were greatly neglected. The report summed up the needs of the west as follows: More money, more and well equipped pastors, a superintendent who could give all his time to the work in the country, a strong central committee in Ontario and Quebec, carefully chosen representatives for the association.

Rev. G. B. Davis of Sparta followed up the report with an extremely interesting on the Northwest and its needs.

Rev. O. F. Cote, pastor of Sorel, Que., then gave an extremely interesting sketch of his work in that city, the methods pursued by him and the results achieved.

The meeting then adjourned.

LACROSSE.

All the principal players of the Athletics and Peterborsughs are strongly in favour of amalgamating, and it is hoped that the officers will also look on the idea, as the only means of solving the question of how Peterborough can put a winning team in the field this year. The Peterboroughs have already fixed dates for some splendid matches and if the amalgamation is effected immediately, these matches will represent so many victories.

Orillia won from Barrie by a score of six games to two on the 24th. Orillia's team was composed as follows: Blain, goal; Went, point; Armstrong, cover point; O'Connor, Clemins, D. Robins, defence field; Dunn, centre; W. Robins, R. Frost, home field; W. Peard, inside home; D. Tudhope, outside home.

SOME NEW FLOWERS.

THREE FRESH ARRIVALS FROM THE LAND OF THE FAIRIES.

One a Cousin of the Crocus—Another a Flaming Beauty of the Tulip Tribe, and the Third a Dainty Eccentric Very Oddly Checkered.

Only the true flower lover can realize the delight experienced on becoming acquainted with the strange new faces noticed among the old familiar flowers of early spring. When on the lookout for these quaint little strangers, sending up such wonderful beauty from their dry, brown, insignificant, little bulbs, we are sure to encounter them whenever we pass through the park, or among the beauties of suburban gardens. Three new faces have been recently noted:

This flower has a name out of all proportion to the size of the plant. It is a dainty little beauty closely allied to the crocus and requires the same treatment. Each tiny bulb produces a mass of gay purple-red flowers and it brightens the flower garden wonderfully in the early spring. It is especially pretty when a great number of the bulbs are used to edge the tulip, hyacinth or other flower beds.

There seems to be no limit to the handsome varieties of tulips introduced as novelties each season. The parrot tulips, the beautiful double Due Van Thol varieties, the Italian tulips, the By-blooms, the Bizards, etc., make their appearance from year to year until they soon become familiar to the bulb grower, and there would seem to be no [illegible] that could possibly be brought out as a fresh novelty, among these decidedly novel sorts. But the beautiful Tulipa Greigi is attracting especial attention this spring. Its foliage alone would excite general comment without the quaint flowers which seem so unlike any others that belong to the tulip family. The broad, large leaves are variegated with black spots, while the flower, which is very large, is a clear beautiful scarlet with transparent waxy texture. This flaming beauty lights up the tulip bed more than any other variety that has yet been introduced.

At Floral Park, New York, the bulbs that have attracted the most attention during the spring months on account of their peculiar markings, are the Fritillaria Meleagris. These blossoms are not only curiously shaped, but of decidedly odd colors and variegations. The groundwork is of different shades, but they are all regularly and distinctly checkered and have been compared to a piece of calico because of this peculiarity. As these bulbs are very hardy and succeed in any situation, they are sure to become general favorites, especially as they give equal satisfaction in the window garden in winter or for outside blooming in the spring.

English and French Women.

The temps has a correspondent in London who has evidently been most favorably impressed by the charms of the English ladies. Nothing could be more ridiculous, he declares, than the fancy portrait of an Englishwoman, as seen in the minds eye of a Frenchman who knows nothing of England. Musset said "as cold as an Englishwoman," and the French picture her as a creature with enormous feet, a jaw like that of a gorilla, bony hands and a flat neck, wearing a round hat, a green veil, spectacles, a plaid shawl, and loose, ill fitting stockings, falling over boots like those attached to a diver's dress. Such an idea could only have been produced, he declares as hatred of Pitt or the defeat of Waterloo. The gallant correspondent proceeds to compare Englishwomen with Frenchwomen, not at all to the disadvantage of the former. What superficial observers take for coldness in the Englishwoman, he declares, is really calmness, an easy bearing, a bold, grave, confident, and unaffected manner, which excludes coquetry in favor of personal dignity. The London woman, he adds, is brought up in a spirit of independence, which is wanting in French female education. She may appear a little more mannish, perhaps in consequence, but one gets used to this and one finds she is none the less, pretty, or fair, or fresh-colored, or graceful, or tender.—London Daily News.

Making Roads.

The best time for road work is after the spring work has been completed, because the ground is then neither too wet nor too dry, and when dry weather sets in there is no use trying to work roads. Road work in the fall is just as impracticable, because the trace will be muddy until the freeze-up occurs and the following spring will be full of mud holes. For this reason divide townships into roads districts so that the main portion of the labor can be done after the crops are in. Every crew of men preparing roads must have an overseer with them all the time. He must understand his business, and one superintendent cannot properly oversee more than one crew of men.—C. Bonnes.

A Good Paste for Cementing.

ALMOST CRAZY
Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

ROSEBERY'S SECOND DERBY.

Sir Visto, the Premier's Horse, Again a Winner.

London, May 30.—The attraction at Epsom to-day was the 116th running of the Derby, which was won for the second time in succession by Lord Rosebery, whose bay colt, Sir Visto, at 9 to 1 against, this afternoon defeated a field of 14.

The course was hard and dry, and the conditions generally were favorable to an enjoyable day for the people.

The Derby Stakes, of 6000 sovs., by subscription of 50 sovs. each, h. ft., for 3-year-olds; colts to carry 126 lbs, fillies 121 lbs; the nominator of the winner to receive 500 sovs., the owner of the second 300 sovs. and the owner of the third 200 sovs. out of the stakes; about 1 1-2 miles.

Time—2.43 2-5.

The betting: 5 to 1 each against Raconteur and Le Var, 7 to 1 each Laveno and The Owl, 9 to 1 each Sir Visto and Solaro, 12 to 1 each Slow Step and Kirkconnel, 25 to 1 Beckhampton, 33 to 1 Curson, 50 to 1 Villiers, 66 to 1 Galopian and The Brook, and 100 to 1 each Chibiabos and Salvington.

Place betting: 6 to 4 each against Raconteur, Le Var, The Owl and Laveno, 7 to 4 Solaro, 2 to 1 Sir Visto, 2 1-2 to 1 Slow Step, 3 to 1 Kirkconnel, 6 to 1 Beckhampton, 8 to 1 each Curson and Villiers, 12 to 1 each Galopian and The Brook, and 25 to 1 each Chibiabos and Salvington.

The race: After several false breaks they got away to a good start with Laveno in front. Chibiabos, Slow Step and Solaro led LeVar, Beckhampton and The Brook, with Curson, Kirkconnel and Salvington bringing up the rear. After running a quarter of a mile Chibiabos showed in front, followed by Beckhampton, Solaro and Laveno, Slow Step and The Brook, which were ahead of Le Var, The Owl and Villiers being next and Raconteur, and Kirkconnel leading the others. Descending the hill The Brook took command with Beckhampton second, Chibiabos having dropped back beaten. When the horses had straightened out for home Curson moved up and led Solaro, Villiers, Raconteur and Kirkconnel, with Sir Visto next, and closing on the leaders. Within 50 yards of the finish Sir Visto challenged Curson, and after a most exciting finish finally won by three-quarters of a length, Curson beating Kirkconnel half a length for the place, with Solaro fourth.

POTATO DISEASES

POINTERS FOR FARMERS BY PROF. FLETCHER, EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

The Early and late Potato Blight—The Remedy for Overcoming the Evil—How to Make the Mixture and When to Apply It.

There are few diseases of field crops which are the direct cause of more loss to the farmers of Canada than the two blights which have been aptly termed by Prof. L. R. Jones of Vermont, the Early Blight and Late Blight of potatoes. These are usually confounded under the various names "Potato rot," "Potato blight" and Potato rust"; but, as a matter of fact, although somewhat similar in general appearance, they are very distinct, and are due to the attacks of two different vegetable parasites.

1. The Early Blight.—This disease is caused by the fungus Macrosporium solani, E. & M., and shows itself during the months of June and July, when greyish-brown spots appear upon the older leaves. These soon become dry and crisp, and in bad cases the whole leaf is affected, so that nothing is left but the stems, and the tubers stop growing.

The appearance of this disease is well shown in fig. 5.

2. The Late Blight or Potato Rot.—This disease of the potato is due to the attack of a parasitic fungus, known by the name of Phytophthora infestans, D. By. The life history of this enemy is briefly as follows: The fungus passes the winter inside the potato tuber and is planted with it in the spring. As soon as the potato throws out its shoots, the parasite grows wih it, running up through the tissues of the stems, and from about the end of July produces beneath the leaves an abundance of spores, or seed-like bodies. These are exceedingly minute, but are produced in such numbers that they frequently give a frost-like appearance to the under sides of the leaves. When these spores are produced on the leaves, the appearance known as "rust" shows itself in the shape of dark brown spots, as represented in fig. 6, which are caused by the drying up of the tissues, owing to the parasite having used up their contents. From the rust stage all future infection takes place. Some of the spores are carried by the wind, and, falling upon the leaves of other adjacent plants, produce more rust spots, while others falling to the ground are washed beneath the surface, and reaching the forming tubers, produce the rot stage. The wet-rot, as seen in autumn in the tubers, is the form of this disease which is best known; but potato rot is really a dry-rot which kills the tubers, and in autumn the wet-rot follows as a result of decay. In winter the disease occurs in the tubers as patches of hard, whitish, diseased tissue.

In the Ottawa district the rust stage does not generally appear until about the 1st of August, and is the first evidence that blight is present in the field. As a rule, the dark spots appear only on a few leaves at first; but, if the weather be favorable, the disease streads rapidly from spores carried by the wind from these centres of infection, so that a large field may become diseased in a few days, and as a result the crop of potatoes be ruined.

REMEDY.

Careful experiments have shown that if the Bordeaux Mixture is sprayed over the growing potato plants, it will in a large measure hold in check both of the injurious diseases mentioned. For Early Blight the first application should be made early in July, and a second one a fortnight later. For the Potato rot, the first spraying need not be applied before the 1st of August; and two subsequent applications at intervals of two weeks, will generally carry the crop past all danger.

The formula for making the Bordeaux Mixture, which has given the best results in our experiments at Ottawa, is the following:—

Copper sulphate, 6 pounds.
Lime (fresh), 4 pounds.
Water, 45 gallons.

The method of preparing the mixture is described in detail on page 7.

To apply this mixture to the foliage, undoubtedly the best and cheapest way is to use a proper spraying pump and nozzle; but, if these are not on hand, good results which will well repay the trouble, may be obtained by applying the mixture with watering cans supplied with fine roses. There are several different kinds of spraying pumps in the market; perhaps the most convenient for this work is a force pump attached to a barrel on wheels, to be drawn through the field by a horse. Smaller machines, known as Knapsack Sprayers, consist of a reservoir containing a small force pump, which can be carried upon a man's back. Both of these kind of pumps can be purchased for about $10 to $20, and are now for sale by most of our seedsmen. It will be necessary to spray the field two or three times to protect the crop thoroughly. There is no danger of injuring the foliage with the above mixture.

A great advantage of this mixture is that Paris green, the only practical remedy for the Colorado Potato-beetle, can be applied at the same time. To do this, mix from a quarter to half a pound of Paris green with a little water, so as to make a thick paste, and then add it to the 45 gallons of Bordeaux mixture; that is, it is used in exactly the same strength as with plain witer.

These mixtures must be kept constantly stirred while bein used, as both the lime in the Bordeaux mixture and the Paris green sink quickly to the bottom of any mixture if left undisturbed.

The time to apply.—The Bordeaux mixture is a preventive remedy, and the time to apply it in any locality is just before the blights treated of usually appear there, the object being to keep the plants, during the whole of the time they are liable to injury, covered with the fungicidal preparation.

The Early Blight in this part of Canada generally appears at the end of June or early in July. The Late Blight or Potato rot seldom shows itself until August. Therefore, spraying should be begun early in July, and repeated every two weeks at least until the end of August.

Food, when it sours on the stomach, becomes innutritive and unwholesome. It poisons the blood, and both mind and body suffer in consequence. What is needed to restore perfect digestion is a dose or two of Ayer's Pills. They never fail to relieve.

This is to certify that I have suffered from piles for a long time and tried several articles recommended for this complaint, but none of them benefitted me till I tried Chase's Ointment, which has completely cured me.

MRS. JOHN GERRIE.

R. Phillips, jr., Druggist Witness.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines as I knew, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON

ALD. A. F. STAGG, OF BROCKVILLE, ONT.

Restored to Perfect Health by South American Nervine.

Had Tried all the Local Doctors, but Failed to be Benefited.

Visited Massena Springs, but Returned in Despair—To-day Enjoys Perfect Health After Taking Nervine.

ALD. A. F. STAGG, BROCKVILLE, ONT.

A citizen whose influence carries a good premium in the growing town of Brockville is Ald. A. F. Stagg, an extensive stock dealer in that section of the province. For over fifty years he has carried on business in Brockville. The people know the man. How much he has accomplished during this half century in building up the municipality is known to them, and they have been ready to show their appreciation of these labors by making him a town father. Mr. Stagg, however, failed just where so many other men of active and aggressive temperament fail, namely, in exceeding his strength. About two years ago his nervous system became broken and shattered, and he was unable to do work of any kind. This was a serious blow to a man of so active a temperament, and with the volume of business he had on hand. He did, as any one else would do, and which is the natural thing to do, sought the assistance of the local doctors of the place. He tried not only one but all of them. Whatever the trouble was they seemed unable to master it, and did him no good. He went to Kingston, hoping to find greater medical skill in the Limestone City. He was no better off for his trouble. A friend influenced him to visit Massena Springs, it being believed that the peculiar charm that surrounds that spot would have its effect in giving back to Mr. Stagg his lost health. But it was simply a case of history repeating itself everything failed, and he remained home in utter despair, seeing nothing but early death before him. His neighbor, a Mrs. Johnston, who had been using Nervine with great success, recommended him to try a bottle. It cannot be said that he did so with any bright hopes of being benefited. To his great delight, however, he found almost instant relief. After taking several bottles he to-day says, in his own words, that he enjoys perfect health. To those who do not know the particular virtues of South American Nervine all this may sound like a miracle. Here was a man whose condition was known to every one in Brockville, for everyone knew Ald. Stagg, who was completely broken up in health, and whose disease the best medical skill could not relieve, much less remove, and yet a few bottles of this wonderful discovery, Nervine, gives back to him the health that two years previous he had completely lost. This is what Nervine will do in every case. Physicians fail usually because they doctor, as it were, on the surface. Nervine succeeds in every case because it immediately acts upon the nerve centers of the body, from which, as science has unmistakably demonstrated, flows the life blood of the system. When these nerve centers are kept in healthful condition disease that may exist in any part of the body speedily becomes an unknown thing.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. Dobson, 76 years of age, who lives east of the village, left home at 9 a. m., on Tuesday, to drive to Westwood. While crossing the C. P. R. track at Logan's crossing, he was in some way thrown from the rig and seriously hurt. It is supposed that the waggon was struck by an approaching train as it is badly smashed. When Mr. Dobson was discovered he was brought to the Queen's Hotel, here, and Dr. Jeff dressed his wounds. He is in a very low condition at present and his recovery is somewhat doubtful.

A deputation from the Oddfellows and Workman have been canvassing the village for aid in connection with the intended celebration on July 1st. Billy, the old reliable, (I don't mean the goat) was again in the harness in connection therewith.

Rev. Mr. Williams preached a special sermon to the Workmen on Sunday afternoon. A large attendance from both the Order and residents were present and listened to a very interesting and practical discourse.

Mosquitos are very scarce in the village this season, having taken fright at the number of cycles in town.

Last Sunday afternoon a gentleman of "time" from Norwood visited the village, and after viewing the progress of the village, either started to see his girl or get an overcoat, leaving the fiery steed in charge of a village merchant, which change it seems was not appreciated by his steedship, for letting both feet out in the rear, he darted westward, landing finally in the ditch. General upset, shaft broken, etc., late getting home—day's sport ended.

Rev. Dr. McClelland preached a very interesting sermon in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. The subject of the discourse was "Is Life Worth Living?" The doctor certainly made it very clear that certain lives were not worth living if they died in the state they lived in; it would have been better they had never been born. While to others their lives were well worth living, both in this world and the life to come. The church was filled, every seat having all they are allowed to carry. Next Sunday the reverend gentleman announced he would take for his discourse "Is there a Hell—if so, What Then?"

The 12th of July is sure to come—so is the crowd, rain or shine. Everybody and their best girl will be here, and a gala day is expected. Already a committee has waited upon the business people of the village, asking contributions to assist in defraying the expense of decorating the streets. Everyone refusing had to appear before the J.P. REX.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The annual A.O.U.W. service was held in St. John's church last Sunday afternoon. The Campbellford lodge was present, who, with the home lodge, marched in a body from the Oddfellows Hall to the church led by Mr. S. S. Joyce, reeve. Rev. Mr. Williams preached a very interesting and instructive sermon, while the choir rendered some choice anthems. A very large audience was present.

The Misses Barlow and Baker, the enterprising west end dressmakers are going to move their shop to a part of Mrs. Vance's house, where they will be pleased to see the same old customers.

Mr. C. H. Brewster has put an addition to his house. He has also fitted up part of his store as an ice cream parlour.

Mr. John Tolman is erecting on his lot a new house which will be an ornament to the east end.

The erecting of the English church manse is progressing rapidly and is expected to be finished in a few weeks.

Lang Bros. have started their ice cream parlours in operation, where a most delicious dish can be had throughout the season.

A very large number of our citizens, especially the sports, went to Campbellford to celebrate the Queen's birthday. The football team did exceptionally well by beating the Campbellford boys by a score of one to nothing. The town was destitute not a person being visible on the streets. Quite a number took in the excursion to Healey Falls, which was a grand outing, all having an exceedingly enjoyable day.

Mr. Geo. Benor, Campbellford, is in town.

While playing football last Monday evening, Master Alfred Carey had his knee severely sprained and will be confined to the house for a few days.

May is very scarce in town at present.

HARVEY.

Council Meeting.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Harvey Council met at the Town Hall on Monday, May 27th, for Court of Revision and general business. W. Hamilton appealed as over-charged; the court reduced his assessment from $800 to $600. Allan Irwin appealed against his assessment; the court confirmed the assessor's valuation. The roll as revised was passed, and the council proceeded with the general business. Mr. Jas. Purdy's request to be placed on Jas. Ingram's road list was granted. On motion passed, the reeve was instructed by bylaw to sign and seal an agreement for exchange of road allowances between lots 30 and 31, concession 14, for a new road in lieu of the south side of lot 30, concession 14, 66 feet in width. On motion the sum of $200 was apportioned to be expended on roads and bridges in Harvey for 1895—the sum of $100 for North Harvey. A. Dewdney and Chas. McIlmoyle commissioners, to expend the same; the sum of $100 for South Harvey, John Smith to be commissioner to expend the same; the sum of $60 for East Harvey, Thomas Flynn to be commissioner. Accounts passed and orders drawn for payment, viz.—Jas. Richmond, salary as assessor, $40; Cain Bros., for pair of boots for Lancefield, $1.15; Davis & Co., flour for Abbott, $5; S. McIlmoyle, to apply on Lancefield's board bill for 1895, $5. On motion the council adjourned to meet at the clerk's office on the 31st June, 1895.

OTONABEE COUNCIL AND COURT OF REVISION.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Complaint was made to the council that sand was being removed off the road allowance between lots 20 and 21, con. 11, Hunter's pit. On motion of Messrs. Johnston and Weir, that parties, who has removed sand in 1895 to this date, be charged 10c. per load and that no more sand be allowed to be taken and that Mr. Wm. Hunter be appointed to enforce the order and that persons be prohibited from removing sand off any other road allowance in the municipality, unless permission be granted by the council. John Taylor again made application to have his poundage fine refunded. On motion of Messrs. Lancaster and Deyell, request not granted.

The collector presented the following statement of deduction and abatement requesting to have them allowed off the 1894 roll:

Jas Armstrong, charity	$ 78
A McDermott, charity	3 23
Jas. Metcalf, charity	1 20
Patrick Crowley, nothing to distrain charged against the property	41 63
Mrs John Quinlan, nothing to distrain charged against the property	1 20
Jas Steele, nothing to distrain charged against the property	7 23
Henderson estate, nothing to distrain charged against the property	29 44
Agricultural Society, allowed by council	4 29
John Elmhirst, error in assessment	8 28
Henry Esson, dog tax, left the township	1 00
John Fife, dog tax, dog killed	1 00
Fred Fife, dog tax, dog killed	1 00
Geo Gillespie, had no dog	1 00
Andrew Graham, dog tax, dog killed	1 00
David Laurie, dog tax, dog killed	1 00
Peter Walker, dog tax, dog killed	1 00
Joseph Little, dog tax, left township	1 00

On motion of Messrs. Johnston and Lancaster, above was granted and salary ordered to be paid.

A communication was received from the Prisoner's Aid Society, of Toronto, requesting a grant of $6; not granted.

On motion of Messrs. Johnston and Lancaster, a grant of 35c per rod was made for a wire fence on River road near Stewart's School House. Jas. Douglas requested to be allowed to cut trees on road allowance opposite lot 19, con. 6; not granted. The clerk was instructed to get the notices printed and put up prohibiting horses and pigs running at large and officers will be appointed in each polling subdivision to enforce that part of bylaw No. 485. A communication was read from Chief Paudash requesting the council to have the road straightened between lot 7, con. 11 and the Indian reserve. Councillor Weir was appointed to look into the matter and take whatever action he considered necessary. The following accounts were ordered to be paid: R. S. Skinner, drain across road allowance, $3; Patrick Fitzgerald, posts and railing for Hatherly's Hill and cedar for culvert, $9.54; Mrs. R. McIntyre, sweeping council chamber 50c.; Review Printing Co., advertising Court of Revision, $2; Donald K. Cameron, additional cost of drain across road allowance, $1; W. Wedlock, planks for Allandale sidewalks, $81.48, crossings for Keene, $3.86. The following reductions were made at the Court of Revision: J. A. Dickson, lot 4, con. 2 assessed for $6,760 instead of $6,900; Mrs. Peter Gillespie, east half lot 15, con 3, assessed for $3,500 instead of $3,700; J. H. Taylor, west half lot 10, con. 9, $4,300 instead of $4,500; Thos. Slattery, assessed for $6,750 instead of $7,000; John Taylor, assessed for $2,800 instead of $3,000; Wm. Read, assessed for $4,000 instead of $4,200; W. J. Stewart, east half lot 14, con. 15, assessed for $1,900 instead of $2,000. Council and Court of Revision adjourned to 17th June.

CHANDOS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Surprise parties are booming in Chandos. There has been three within a week.

Mrs. Prouty and Miss Graham were the guests of Mrs. A. Post on Saturday.

Messrs. John and Herbie Doxsee left on Monday for the far north.

Bears are numerous this spring.

Rumour says that a certain young man who got left when calling on his lady love, took consolation in climbing a tree. Perhaps he wished to leave the country.

The young lady who is so well supplied with beaux, had better be careful lest we have a murder or a suicide to chronicle.

We understand that the teacher keeps the path through the woods well broken. It may be beautiful in the evening, but will not be available after dark.

BABIES SAVED.

Made Happy, Bright and Strong.

LACTATED FOOD THE LIFE-SAVING AGENT.

During the last few months scores of infants have been saved in Canada. Mothers have written about the wonders accomplished by Lactated Food, and assert that it saved the lives of their children. The saved babies, before using Lactated Food, were puny, weak and sickly, and some had been given up to die.

Lactated Food is doing this grand work every day. When the mother cannot nurse her babe, when the little one's stomach is so weak, that it cannot retain other foods, Lactated Food is always retained and relished.

FAIRWEATHER & CO.,

LEADING HATTERS AND FURRIERS.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparalleled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

GOUGH BROS.

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

NEWFOUNDLAND DEBTS RELIEVED.

The Loan Will Tide It Over the Financial Difficulties.

St. John's, Nfld., May 31.—As stated in these despatches last night, the Newfoundland Government has obtained a loan which will tide the colony over the serious financial difficulties which have been confronting it. The loan was secured on the condition that a policy of drastic retrenchment be pursued, together with a reconstruction of the public service. An expert examination of and report upon the finances of the country will be made. The Government will now have $250,000 above its immediate wants, which will enable it to meet any possible deficits to the end of the year, after which it is expected that the revenue and the money secured through retrenchment will enable the annual expenditures to be met.

There is a general rejoicing over the success of Colonial Secretary Bond in floating the loan. Newfoundland is now safe from confederation with Canada, and also from being relegated to the position of a Crown Colony. Railway work will be re-commenced immediately, and will be prosecuted vigorously. The Government proposes to introduce its plan of retrenchment on Monday.

Emigration continues. The steamer Silva, which sailed to-day, took nearly 100 emigrants, although the fishing season has now opened. The resumption of work on the railway may check the tide, but already the flower of the population has left the colony.

Confederation Still the Better Way.

London, June 1.—The Chronicle says that it rejoices that Newfoundland has succeeded in obtaining a loan. This proves that the colony's finances are less bad than was supposed, and also that she is no longer under compulsion to alter her political status. The paper adds that it still believes that Newfoundland's best interests would be promoted by joining hands with Canada, and expresses the hope that Colonial Secretary Bond is charged to propose an acceptible compromise of the French shore question, which ought to be quietly and amicably settled.

Humiliation for France.

Paris, May 31.—The Gaulois says that on June 23, during the celebration of the opening of the Baltic Sea Canal, at Kiel, the Emperor of Germany will go on board the French warship Hoche, when it will be obligatory upon the commander of the Hoche to hoist the German Imperial Standard, which bears the inscription: "1870."

Buffalo's Fifth From Toronto

Buffalo, May 31. It was a pitchers' battle to-day, and Vickery proved the more effective. The Toronto batsmen could not hit the ball when runs were necessary, except in one instance. Gray and Mara went to first on errors in succession, and Smith lammed the ball square in the face for a homer, scoring three tallies. Two-baggers by Smith, Freeman and Lake and a single brought one run in the sixth and one in the ninth. Gray's curves were easy to solve, and he was touched up for 14 hits, with a total of 19 bases. Attendance 1200. Score:

FOSTER BACKS DOWN

After Slapping Three Ministers in the Face.

LEADER'S POSITION HUMILIATING

Mr. Brodeur's Request for Papers Made Four Years Ago Refused by Caron, Haggart and Tupper, But Finally Promised by Mr. Foster.

Ottawa, Ont. June 1.— The Government yesterday was forced to make a humiliating backdown and three of its members were given a snubbing by their colleague, the leader of the House, that they will not soon forget.

When Mr. Foster moved the House into supply Mr. Brodeur charged the Government with having failed to bring down a return in regard to the dismissal of Postmaster B. Loiselle of Ste Angele de Mounoir in his county, though the Postmaster-General had been ordered to furnish the information four years ago. The minister had given the excuse that the papers had been lost, but Mr. Brodeur stated that he had received information that they were in the hands of the department. More than that, a portion of the papers said to have been lost were produced in a Montreal court two years ago. The Postmaster-General had offered as another excuse for the failure to give the information that the report of the postoffice inspector in the case was of a confidential nature. Sir John Thompson had last session declared that the report should be produced and Mr. Brodeur held that the Postmaster-General had no right to go behind that.

Sir Adolphe Caron said that he had told the member for Rouville when the subject was before the House, that the papers had been transferred from his department to the Secretary of State, when Mr. Chapleau held that office, and were not returned. He had the report of the inspector in his office, but it was a confidential report and would not be produced.

Mr. Laurier regarded the reasons given by Sir Adolphe Caron for his failure to comply with the order of the House, made four years ago, as most extraordinary. The order was made for copies of the documents in his possession, and not for the originals. He had sent the copies to the Secretary of State and they had been lost. What did it matter if the copies had been lost?

Sir Adolphe Caron: I say the originals have been lost.

Mr. Laurier: The Postmaster-General had no business to send the originals to the Secretary of State. He was only ordered by the House to furnish copies of them. If the hon. gentleman has these documents in his department, he has been derelict in his duty. It is a shallow and hollow answer that he has given us.

Mr. Haggart came to the rescue of the sorely distressed Postmaster-General. He took the blame entirely upon himself. He said that when he was Postmaster-General, he sent the original papers to Mr. Chapleau, then Secretary of State, who never returned them.

Mr Bodeur interjected that he had seen the papers in the court in Montreal.

Mr. Haggart replied vehemently that Mr. Brodeur was mistaken. The only papers in the Postoffice Department were the envelope which had served as an exhibit in the case and the inspector's report.

Mr. Haggart made the statement that the Government had the right to refuse to bring down papers of a confidential nature.

Mr Mills entirely dissented from the ground taken by the Minister of Railways. He said that the Government might oppose a motion for papers, but when the order was made the Government had no right to disobey it. In this case the Postoffice Inspector had been charged with a conspiracy to remove the postmaster. The Postmaster-General had set himself up in defiance of the order of the House, and had declared that he would not bring down a document ordered by the House.

Sir Adolphe Caron said that he did not pretend to dispute the order of the House, but an order of the House should not ask him to bring down a confidential document.

Sir Hibbert Tupper said that the practice was that when a general motion was made for a return, a confidential paper was not brought down unless it was specifically mentioned.

Mr. Mills reminded the Minister of Justice that in this case there was a charge of fraud against the Inspector. It was for that reason that his report was wanted.

Mr. Lister said that before the order was passed it was the duty of the Postmaster-General to have refused to produce the Postoffice Inspector's report if he did not intend to bring it down in obedience to the order. It had been agreed by the then Prime Minister that this was a case in which the general practice should not apply, and that the report should be produced. There had been a conspiracy to turn a man out of office and ruin his character. Upon the report of a Postoffice Inspector an official had been dismissed, and now that it had been established that the charges were false the Government refused to restore him to his position and withheld from him the commonest justice that should be given to any man, the right to establish his innocence. Within a hundred miles of Ottawa a postmaster, who was the son of a member of Parliament, had upon the report of a Postoffice Inspector been accused of grave wrong doing. It had been reported by the inspector that letters had been opened in this man's postoffice, and yet he held his position. He was not the real postmaster, but a lawyer practising his profession, and rumor had it that he did not receive the emoluments of the office.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that when cause was shown confidential reports should be produced. When a charge was made against an inspector of such gravity, there was every reason why his report should be brought down. The charges which the Inspector had made against the Postmaster at Ste. Angele de Mounoir, and on which the Postmaster-General had dismissed the official, had been shown to have been wholly unfounded and it was essential that the report on which the Government had taken action should be produced.

Mr. Davies pointed out that the question whether the report should be produced had formed the subject of an hour's discussion last session, and that Sir John Thompson had then held that while in general confidential papers should not be brought down; an exception might be made in the case of a paper that had misled the action of a department. Further than that the House had decided last session that this particular document should be produced. The disobedience of the order was treating the House with marked contempt.

The situation now became so serious that the Leader of the Government found it necessary to take a hand in the discussion. He approved of the position taken by the Minister of Justice that confidential documents should be treated as confidential, but he said that if, as Mr. Davies had stated, a specific motion had been adopted, that a specific report should be brought down, without doubt that report ought to be brought down.

It is scarcely necessary to say that this slap in the face to the Postmaster General, the Minister of Railways and the Minister of Justice was music in the ears of the Opposition members, who had been striving to teach them their duty to the House and to the people.

Mr. McMullen said that the prerogative of the House in the matter of securing information should be invaded by the Government. The House could not afford to allow the Government to sit in judgment upon it as to how far its orders should be obeyed. He expressed the opinion that if the Government would read the orders of the House it would save itself a good deal of trouble.

Mr. Foster then got up and made the recantation of the Government complete. He said that he had made his statement upon the hypothesis that what Mr. Davies had said was correct. He had found that an Order of the House had issue dfor a specific paper. It would therefore be brought down. (Liberal applause.)

Mr. Martin, Mr. Fraser, Mr. Mulock and Mr. Langelier strongly condemned the course of the Postmaster-General and the Government in attempting to ignore the orders of the House.

The Government was mightily relieved when the Opposition finally "let up," and well it might be for a more humiliating backdown was never seen in the House of Commons.

The Committee on Agriculture and Colonization had a lengthy session in the morning, when a deputation of dairymen and dealers in dairy products from eastern Ontario and Quebec were heard. The deputation included the following gentlemen: Joseph P. Redmond, President of the Brockville Dairymen's Board of Trade; R. J. Gilroy, Secretary; O. Bush, M.L.A.; R. J. Jelly, C. H. Smith of Chantery, H. S. Foster of Knowlton, Que., Arthur Hodgson and D.A. Macpherson of Montreal.

Mr. Hudson, of Montreal was the first speaker. He said the interests of the Montreal merchants and the factorymen were identical in everything concerning the cheese trade. With regard to the proposal that the date of make should be branded on all Canadian cheese, which question was the one the deputations were invited to Ottawa to discuss, Mr. Hudson submitted a resolution passed by the cheese shippers of Montreal recently in favor of branding. It would be a handicap or at least a reflection on the Montreal merchants if branding was not adopted.

Joseph P. Redmond of Brockville said the Brockville Dairymen's Board were as a whole opposed to the branding of the date of make, but were in favor of the branding of the locality in which the cheese was made.

Mr. Bush, M.L.A., was strongly opposed to branding of date of make, and contended the farmers were opposed to it too.

Prof. Robertson, the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, in the whole, was opposed to compulsory branding. He said our cheese should be sold on its merits. He seemed to regard the agitation in England for the branding of dates as a scheme to enable the English dealers to cut down prices. If branding legislation was passed, we would pay for it through our noses. He suggested that the question should be laid over for a year to permit of more information as to the public feeling being secured. During the discussion it came out that in certain cases August-made cheese had prior to shipment to England, been branded in Montreal last year as September cheese.

Hon. Mr. Angers, Minister of Agriculture, said the object of Parliament must be to protect the producers, not the shippers or dealers. If we branded cheese as July make we would be giving a written evidence against the farmer. Mr. Angers held that the August-made cheese had, prior to shipments of English dealers in Canada at present, could readily get the dates of make if they were wanted. He called attention to the different climatic conditions in different parts of the country, Ontario, for instance, perhaps making first-class cheese during a month in which a province further west would make an inferior quality.

Before the deputation were received, Mr. Sproule, chairman of the committee, announced that 2500 circular letters had been sent out to the cheese factories throughout the Dominion, asking for an opinion on the branding question. Already 345 replies had been received and opened. Of these, 314 were in favor of branding, 16 were against and 9 were doubtful. The committee will meet next Tuesday to further consider the matter.

A new invention for the dehorning of cattle, and patented by Mr. George Nablo of Fisherville, Ont., has been sent to this city, and is being very highly commended. Mr. Nablo is a leading German in his district, and is a skilled mechanic.

THE RELIGIOUS OPINIONS OF A CANADIAN MAN OF SCIENCE.

I had rather believe all the fables in the Legend, and the Talmud and the Koran than that this universal frame is without "a Mind."—Bacon.

"The materialistic position that there is nothing in the world but matter, force and necessity is as utterly devoid of justification as the most baseless of theological dogmas."—Huxley.

"It cannot be too emphatically insisted on that much dreaded Darwinism leaves the theological belief in a Divine spirit untouched.."—J. A. Symonds.

"It must be allowed that in the present state of our knowledge the adaptations in nature afford a large balance of probability in favour of creation by intelligence."—J. S. Mill.

We are all of us familiar with the expression "the conflict between Science and Religion." We know that since the time when the geologists claimed a period of time for the existence of the world vastly longer than the 6,000 years of Archbishop Ussher, and the theory of the evolution of species appeared to reduce the world to a kind of automatic machine, there has been between men of science and men of faith. At first theologians (with a few notable exceptions, as Charles Kingsley and the late Dean Church) denounced the new doctrines as anti-Scriptural and impious. Then, when the advancing tide of science swept away this position, there came innumerable "reconciliations" of science and faith, which more or less failed to "reconcile." A whole literature grew up around the question as to the meaning of the word "day" in Genesis 1.

On the other hand science became intoxicated with its triumphs and presumed in a highly unscientific way to invade a territory which admittedly did not belong to it, so as to bring down upon itself such rebukes as that contained in the foregoing quotation from Huxley's lay sermons.

The literature of to-day contains not a few indications that this conflict of science and faith is drawing to a close and that theology is prepared to sit at the feet of science when she deals with the things of nature, and that science will hearken to the voice of theology when she deals with the things of the spirit, and amongst those signs, perhaps, there is none more reassuring than that delineated in a little book recently placed upon the shelves of the Public Library, entitled the posthumously published work of George J. Romanes, who, dying at the early age of forty-six, was well known as one of the leading, if not the very first, authority in certain fields of evolutionary science.

The religious history of George Romanes is embraced in three periods — those of childhood, youth, and mature manhood.

It was no formal faith that he imbibed from the early lessons of childhood. After he had lost it he could still speak of "the glory of that creed which once was mine." It was only in response to what he believed to be the truth, whose servant he ever strove to continue, that he gradually gave up article by article the whole of childhood's faith, until he professed himself a pure agnostic.

This was the second, or youthful stage, of his religious career—one remarkably common amongst thoughtful men, and even women, in our day. But his agnosticism was never marred by any of the too frequent exhibitions of contempt for beliefs, which have sustained countless thousands in the hard struggle of life. He tells us that when he contemplated the difference between the "glory of that creed which once was mine, and the lonely mystery of existence as I have found it, I shall ever feel it impossible to avoid the sharpest pang of which my nature is susceptible."

His agnosticism was based upon the conviction, (not unnatural to a rejoicing in the consciousness of its own powers), that the revelation of the reign of law destroyed the old arguments of Causation and Design, and that it rendered the central doctrines of Christianity impossible because irrational.. All of these positions were abandoned in the period of maturity.

Materialism says, "Allowance—to assume the eternity of Matter, and I can construct a theory of the Universe without the intervention of Mind." To which it is replied, even allowing such an assumption, you have still to account for Force. The world is in constant motion. Motion implies Force. Further, it is indubitable that the universe exhibits order and adaptation of means to ends. The assumption of Matter and Force does not enable us to answer the question why the moving atoms ever shaped themselves into the universe. If I take a bag of letters and continue to scatter them through an indefinite period of time, I am sure they will never make a poem or a text. But I can so ARRANGE THEM that they shall spell out whatever I desire.

Thus, when we think most deeply upon the origin of things, we are convinced that the unaided human mind must either cease to think or must postulate not only Matter, but Force and Mind, and these three are so intricately connected that we may entitle them the "Trinity of Nature."

It was along the lines of such thought that Romanes advanced to the full faith of a matured mind and spirit. In 1885, he said, "The is steadily leading us to the conclusion that there is no Motion without Mind, i.e., that Mind is as universal as Force itself, and that it is at least not unscientific to assert that Mind and Matter and Force are but different aspects of the one universal Being."

Later on he came to see that the doctrine of evolution did not overthrow, but only changed the form of the time-honoured arguments from the necessity of postulating a First Cause, and of admitting that in nature's wonderful display of adaptation of means to ends, she clearly witnesses to a Designing Mind, an Architect of the Universe. So at last he wrote, adopting a famous saying of Lord Bacon's, "If a little knowledge of physiology, and a little knowledge of pyschology dispose men to atheism, a deeper knowledge of both will lead men back to some form of religion, which, if it be more vague, may also be more worthy than that of earlier days."

When Romanes came to examine the arguments in favour of the special revelation of Christianity he was struck with the favourable results of the rigid application of these methods of criticism which many have found so alarming. Space only permits a few short quotations, but these will sufficiently show the trend of thought by which this conviction was brought to his mind. He was struck with the fact that the Gospels contain no doctrines which the subsequent has had to discount. "Contrast Jesus Christ in this respect with other thinkers of antiquity. Read Plato's dialogues and see how enormous is the contrast with the Gospels, in respect of errors of all kinds, reaching even to absurdity in respect of reason, and to sayings shocking to the moral sense." Again, referring to the argument that the excellence of Christianity is an argument in favour of its truth, he says, "Only to a man wholly destitute of spiritual perception can it be that Christianity should fail to appear the greatest exhibition of the beautiful, the sublime, and of all else that appeals to our spiritual nature, which has ever been known on earth."

Of the doctrines of Regeneration and of Conversion, and of the Resurrection, he says that "they appear to be either sufficiently demonstrated by experience" (the two former) "or at least come into conflict with no known laws of nature" (the last). The plan of Revelation appeared to him to be in striking correspondence with the plan of Nature, for in it we find a gradual unfolding of the knowledge of God. Revelation is seen to be progressive in character.

Concerning the Incarnation, he said, that if it be urged against it that it is opposed to common sense, the answer is, "so it ought to be, if true, for common sense is merely a rough register of common experience, but the Incarnation cannot have been a common event;" and lastly, "Why stumble over the doctrine of the Trinity—especially as man himself is a triune being of body, mind and spirit. The unquestionable union of these no less unquestionably distinct orders of being in man is known as a fact of experience, but is unintelligible by any process of logic or reason, as is the alleged tri-unity of God."

The value of such a spiritual history as this lies in the fact that there was no abandonment of interest in scientific questions, or retractation of scientific views, nor is there any reason to suppose that Romanes was at any time during his career actuated by motives other than the disinterested pursuit of truth. Neither wealth nor honour depended upon either his rejection or acceptance of what he believed to be true, and so he was led into the light and life of a strong, intelligent, manly faith, and died at last in full communion with the Church of England.

"Through the night, of doubt and sorrow,"

MANY REFORMS SUGGESTED.

Close of the Baptist Convention—Resolution Respecting the Manitoba School Question.

Toronto, June 1.—The Baptist convention closed last night.

Among other business transacted the convention adopted the following recommendation: That the members of the societies associated with this convention use their influence to promote a better classification of prisoners in our county jails; the formation of homes for destitute poor; the re-organization of the Boys' Reformatory and the Girls' Refuge; the establishment of a home for inebriates, and that the proposed reformatory for first offenders be stationed near some large town or city.

It was also resolved that, while heartily sympathising with the desire of the Methodist General Conference to establish a federal interdenominational court, the polity of the Congregational Church rendered it impossible for them to centralise power in any one of our representatives to act authoritatively in the relation indicated; but that if it were possible to assist in any way without a violation of principle they should gladly do so.

The convention also resolved to record a protest against the attempt of the Federal Government to make us, as citizens, parties to a distinct violation of the principle of the separation between Church and State, for which Baptists have throughout their history contended; which principle precludes the State from granting public funds to any institution, Protestant or Catholic, under sectarian control.

Most Pronounced Symptoms of Heart Disease and how to secure Relief in 30 Minutes.

The most pronounced symptoms of heart disease are palpitation or fluttering of the heart, shortness of breath, spells at night, making it necessary to sit up in bed to breathe, swelling of feet or ankles, say the most eminent authorities, is one of the surest signs of a diseased heart. Nightmare is a common symptom, spells of hunger or exhaustion. It is estimated that 60 per cent. of all cases of dropsy come from heart disease. The brain may be congested, causing headache, dizziness or vertigo. In short, whenever the heart flutters it tires out easily, aches or palpitates, it is diseased, and nothing will give such perfect relief or so speedily effect a cure as Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. It has saved thousands of lives, and yours may be counted among the number if its use is begun at once.

This remedy absolutely never fails to give perfect relief in 30 minutes, and it is as harmless as the purest milk. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

Political Shuffleboard at Washington.

Washington, June 1.—Speculation in the Legislative departments as to Mr. Gresham's successor has developed a Cabinet slate which transfers Attorney-General Olney to the State Department, the Postmaster-General to the Department of Justice, and Acting Secretary Uhl to be the Postmaster-General. These, of course, are simply speculations, but they may be given out as feelers.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterborough, you must remember this when you get a cigar direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold traveller's imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out those samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

DAVID DOIG

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Cures Mr. James McCord, of Prescott, Ont.

Before Using the Compound He Was Unable to Obtain Sleep Owing To Pains in Head and Stomach.

A noted physician asserts that dyspepsia is the bane of our modern civilization. This assertion, unfortunately, is too true, for it is well known that over three fourths of our Canadian people suffer from some form of stomach derangement that must develop into serious and distressing ailments, unless the utmost vigilance and care is exercised.

This modern curse of our refined and boasted civilization is brought on by a vast variety of causes; the following are amongst the commonest: Nervousness, despondency, exhaustion of the vital powers, want of exercise, sedentary habits too long continued mental application, irregularities in diet, late hours and excesses of various kinds.

The terrible results show themselves quickly. Distress after eating, headaches bloating, pain in pit of stomach, rising of food, want of appetite, coated tongue, bad taste, sluggish and torpid bowels. Prudence and wisdom should direct all dyspeptic sufferers to that fountain of health, Paine's Celery Compound, where sufferers are sure to find a cure, and banish forever their load of miseries and pains. Thousands in the past have found a new life, and now enjoy the full pleasure of perfect digestion, sweet sleep and rest, and sound bodily health, after using Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. Jas. McCord, of Prescott, Ont., whose portrait appears above, recently sent the following testimony:

"For over five years I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia, and have used a great variety of medicine, without any benefits or good results. I was advised to use your Paine's Celery Compound, and now, having just about finished three bottles, I feel it my duty to announce to the public the great benefits I have received. For over a year I was unable to sleep at night, owing to pains in my head and stomach, and my appetite was gone; now, I can sleep well, and I am always ready for my meals, thanks to your Paine's Celery Compound. I cannot recommend it too highly to those suffering from dyspepsia."

INDIAN RIVER.

From our Own Correspondent.)

On Saturday evening, 27th inst, an interesting game of football was played at Indian River between the Indian River team and a team from "Dwyer's Corners," more familiarly known as the East End. There was over two hundred spectators on the ground. The readers of the EXAMINER have no doubt noticed in last week's issue an item from Caughnawaga that these teams played a draw on the 11th. The game of course was a draw, but how did they play? They all played a defence game, nos trying to score, but only to keep the opposite side from scoring. However, on the return matchthey had a lot of better material on and hence tried to do or die.

Play was called at 4.15 and the game lasted one hour and a half. During the first half time the home team kicked up hill and against a strong wind. The ball was kept rolling from one end of the field to the other, but was kept more on the East End goals. During this time the home team did some brilliant work and brought forth shouts of applause from the spectators. When the time was within two minutes of being up, the ball for the first time was shot for the Indian River flags, and the goal keeper by being a little excited, got the ball through, thus scoring first game for East End, and was loudly applauded by their many sympathizers among the spectators. Half time being up both teams changed grounds, but nothing happened of consequence unless an occasional collision. Time was now up all but twelve minutes and the home team had not yet scored, though they made many a well directed shot, but was always stopped by the goal keeper Walton, who by his excellent playing saved his team from a severe drubbing. Play now became exciting, and within eight minutes of time being up Walsh, for the home team, sent the ball between the flags. During the last three minutes, by another well directed shot, the ball was sent between the uprights and time was now up. The score stood 2 to 1 in favour of Indian River. M. Guerin refereed the game to the entire satisfaction of both sides.

The home team with but few exceptions played a rattling game. For the visitors Walton, Barry, Quinlan and Calder played a strong game. One of the east end men was severely injured by being thrown against the fence.

To purify, vitalize and enrich the blood and give nerve, bodily and digestive strength, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Recent Rise Has Made Many Wealthy.

ONE MAN MAKES A MILLION DOLLARS

Montreal Grain and Flour Men Benefit by the Increased Price—A List of the Individual Increases. W. W. Ogilvie, the Miller the Luckiest of the Lot

Montreal, June 1.—There are happy faces on 'Change these days, and your correspondent has been enabled to give the names of the men who have made their pile in the recent rise in flour and grain. It is no secret that the chief of Canadian millers, Mr. W. W. Ogilvie, has made more than a round million, while his neighbors, the Lake of the Woods people, Mr. Robert Meighen being the central figure, count their profits at $500,000.

Hugh McLellan had with others lost heavily in the past, but it is believed that his recent deals netted him a profit of $150,000 at least.

Bob Esdaile and his friend William Stewart of the Kingston Forwarding Company did not clear less sthan $75,000 each, while Alex. McFee, in his wheat and corn deals, made not less than $100,000.

A. G. McFaan had a good deal of wheat on the American market when the rise came, and those who know, say he came out $100,000 ahead.

Crane & Baird have likewise, so rumors say, cleared at least $100,000, and all believe Harry Raphael to be from $75,000 to $100,000 richer to-day than he was two months ago.

Jake Hunsicker has made from $50,000 to $75,000 in flour if he has made a cent. Adam Thompson and Ewan McLennan are brokers, with a personal deal thrown in at times, and their profits on the transactions of the last few weeks are estimated by careful members of the corn exchange at not less than $50,000 each.

Jim Carruthers has cleared from $75,000 to $100,000 and Robert Peddie's profits on wheat, corn, and rye will exceed $75,000, and may possibly reach $100,000.

James Campbell, a dealer, and Ed. Craig, a broker, have each made from $10,000 to $50,000 and are happy as the day is long.

Ex-Mayor McShane, who besides being a dignified member of the Corn Exchange, is called "The People's Jimmy" outside counts his profits at $50,000.

J. L. Smith & Son had a big lot of flour on hand when the rise struck the town, and consequently made $75,000.

Edgar Judge has made $50,000 on flour, and Geo. McLean & Co. about the same amount in coarse grains, while the profits of R. E. Wight, a broker, are placed all the way from $40,000 to $50,000.

Besides these splendid results hardware dealers, dry-goods men, wholesale grocers, oil merchants, etc., have all taken a hand with more or less success. It is safe to say, in fact, that many of them have cleared from $10,000 to $300,000, and the profits made by outsiders will foot up to half a million.

A good deal of money went out of Montreal during the last three years, but it will be seen from above that three or four million dollars have come back.

Hon. Thomas Greenway will not go to Ottawa previous to his return to Manitoba. Attorney-General Sifton has gone to New York, and the Premier will leave for Toronto to-morrow morning. His stay in the Queen City will depend upon the state of his health, as Premier Greenway is anything but a well man, having taken cold since his arrival in Montreal.

The Department of Justice is going to throw good money after bad, as Chief Detective Sherwood obtained leave at the Police Court to-day to prosecute Contractor St. Louis on a charge of falsely obtaining $140,000 in connection with the Curran bridge construction. Action is taken under section 595 of the Criminal Code, which permits the prosecution to carry the case to the Queen's Bench, irrespective of the magistrate's decision.

When Hon. J. A. Ouimet took office the opposition to the Minister of Public Works was promoted in Laval by J.O. Pellard, advocate of Montreal. The former spoke very severely of Mr. Pellerd, and was reported in The Star. Pellard entered an action for libel, and although the jury found that the report was perfectly correct they condemned the paper to pay $150 to the plaintiff. To-day the Court of Review confirmed the judgment, and The Star says it will go to appeal.

South American Kidney Cure Cures Kidney Disease Speedily and Effectively.

It is remarkable that those who suffer from kidney disease grow impatient of those medicines that are slow in their cure. Who enjoys pain? The beauty of South American Kidney Cure is that it relieves the sufferer almost instantaneously. What sick one does not know the delight that comes when pain is relieved? Kidney cure, as a plain matter of fact, relieves the most distressing kidney and bladder troubles in six hours. It is hard to say anything more for it. Who wants more said for it? Sold by H. S. Jersey Cream.

There's luxury in the very words, and the public will be pleased to be informed that Messrs. Long Bros., the well-known caterers, have made arrangements of a special character with Mr. Z. Burnham, of Otonabee, for a regular supply of cream from his fine Jersey herd. Long Bros. are in a position to supply customers with any desired quantity of pure, rich Jersey cream. This is a boon which will sure to be appreciated. Strawberries are in sight, and the highest ideal of epicurean enjoyment is strawberries and cream—especially Jersey cream, such as Long Bros. can supply. 1d

Feel Hot?

Of course you do—but it's your own fault. You want cooler clothing. Don't make yourself miserable sweltering in the heat any longer. No sensible man should resist paying H. LeBrun & Co., the clothiers, a visit, when it is known the extraordinary values they are giving in lightweight summer coats, vests, underwear and shirts. Their choice is immense, their styles right, and their prices about one-half. Step and take a look at their window display of cool negligee and French cambric shirts, neckwear and other furnishings. Note particularly the great reduction in prices and you'll buy on the spot. Cool clothing is a wonderful help in making you feel comfortable, buoyant and cheerful during the hot weather and will put you in better trim for your work.

RECEIVED HIS MAJORITY.

Captain Brennan Takes a Step Upwards in His Military Rank.

Dr. Brennan, this morning, received official notice of being gazetted as Major in the 57th Battalion, and it is quite within the bounds to say that a more popular or satisfactory appointment could not have been made.

The doctor was born in Peterborough in September, 1861, and in 1879 enlisted as a private in No. 5 company, then located in Norwood under the command of Captain Grover. He was promoted to be a corporal in June of the following year, and entered camp as a sergeant in September.

In February, 1882, the subject of this sketch was appointed, provisionally, to a lieutenancy in the same company, succeeding R. E. Birdsall. In the following June he went to Kingston and took a special course at "B" Battery and was successful in taking a first-class "A" certificate, receiving a percentage of 90, than which higher is never given. Confirmation of his appointment as lieutenant was gazetted in August, 1882, and during '82 and '83 Lieut. Brennan attended camp with No. 5 Company.

In 1885 the Riel trouble broke out and the young lieutenant offering his services he was attached to "G" Company in the Midland Division, comprised of the men and officers of the 57th Battalion. Throughout the campaign the Lieutenant was at his post with his comrades, and on his return home in July, he was presented with a silver medal by the Norwood village council, as a mark of appreciation of his services in the Northwest. One of the Northwest service medals was also received by the doctor.

In 1886 he came to Peterborough to reside, and in the following year succeeded Captain Cooper in command of No. 6 Company, at the head of which he had remained ever since as one of the most popular captains in the Battalion.

Captain Brennan by his assiduous attention to duty, has worked his company up to a high pitch of perfection, and turns it over to his successor as the company which ranks highest in efficiency in the blue books of 1895.

WEDDED AT CAMBORNE.

Marriage of John Hull Esq., J.P., Lakefield, and Miss Emma R. Cullis, of Camborne.

On Wednesday, May 29th, the residence of Richard Cullis, Esq., Camborne, Northumberland county, was the scene of an interesting wedding. Rev. S. T. Bartlett, of Cobourg, joined in marriage John Hull, of Lakefield, and Elma R. Cullis, daughter of Richard Cullis. The ceremony, which was celebrated in the presence of a select company of the immediate friends of the contracting parties, was followed by a sumptuous wedding dejeuner, and this by the customary congratulations. The numerous and beautiful wedding presents were evidence of the popularity enjoyed by the bride. The EXAMINER extends its most cordial congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hull, and wishes for them many happy years of wedded life.

Challenge Accepted.

Mr. R. Dolan wishes to accept through the EXAMINER Mr. J. Murphy's challenge to compete with him at the hop, step and jump for a wager of $25 a side.

Never Mind the Hot Weather.

It will not hurt the baby if it is snugly sheltered in one of our cosy canopy-covered baby carriages, you'll see the roses burst out on its cheek. Just received ten new and nobby little rigs to sort up our fast selling lines, at the Peterborough Bookstore. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Saturday, May 30.—No abatement of the awful heat. Yesterday went, morning 70 degrees, noon 88, and at night 75 deg. At this morning's observation the self-registering thermometer indicated 63 deg. above zero, with no appearance of a change.

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto,

Canada's leading hair goods artist, will be at the Grand Central Hotel on Tuesday, 4th June, with a full line of ladies and gents wigs, toupees, bangs, waves, switches, etc. We would advise all who require the Professor's services not to fail to call on him on the above date, as this will be his last visit this season.

The Exterior Beautified.

The firm of J. J. Turner & Co. have just placed in position a number of awnings for the Oriental Hotel, enhancing its appearance to no inconsiderable extent. The workmanship on the awnings is first-class in every respect and the order for them was filled with despatch which characterizes the firm. 1d

Sale of Furniture.

Mr. John Rose, who is leaving town, has instructed Mr. Haggart, auctioneer, to sell by public auction at his residence, 65 Park street, on Monday, June 3rd, commencing at one o'clock, the whole of his household furniture, etc. This will be a good opportunity to pick up some bargains and to sort up with useful prices of furniture. 1d

Young Women's Association.

Miss Mark will address the meeting this evening, following the long service which will begin at 8 o'clock. A welcome to all young women.

Regular meeting of the board of management will be held on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, instead of the afternoon at the usual hour. A full attendance is requested.

Foresters, Attention!

The annual sermon to the Canadian Order of Foresters of Peterborough will be preached to-morrow afternoon in the Charlotte Street church, at 3.45 o'clock, by the Rev. J. J. Rae. Members of Courts Peterborough, Little John, Langton, Young Peterborough, and visiting brethren are requested to meet at the Foresters Hall, Simcoe street, at 3.15 to parade to the church.

THE LATE JUDGE DENNISTOUN.

A Distinguished Citizen Called to His Rest—A Brief Sketch of His Life.

In yesterday's impression the death of Judge Dennistoun, for over fifty years a very highly respected resident of Peterborough, was announced as having taken place in Toronto on Friday afternoon, May 31st. The deceased gentleman was so long so widely and so favourably known that a brief sketch of his life will not only be read with interest, but is due to the memory of a citizen who was for so long a time a prominent figure and so much distinguished for qualities of person character and mind.

Robert Denniston was the fourth son of James Dennistoun, of Dennistoun, and was born on the 18th day of January, 1815. He spent his early childhood at the beautiful family residence of Camis Eskan, Dumbartonshire, Scotland, which had been in the possession of his ancestors for nearly six hundred years. He was educated in private and was intended for a mercantile life, with which object in view, he spent three years in a counting house in Glasgow. The death of his father in June, 1834, caused by a fall from his horse when riding home from church, completely changed the course of his life. As a younger son, his portion was small, and he turned his attention to Upper Canada, the new Colony of Great Britain, which in those early days tempted many gentlemen of small means to try their fortunes in the far west. Accordingly in October, 1834, the subject of this brief sketch sailed from Liverpool, and reached Peterborough in the month of December. In the following March he purchased five hundred acres of land on Cameron Lake, in the township of Fenelon, and settled on it. In 1837 he was appointed a Justice of the Peace, for the times were troublous and rumours of rebellion and strife were everywhere predominant. On the 24th of December, 1839, he married Maxwell, daughter of Major Hamilton, who predeceased him, in November last, after fifty-four years of married life together. Their eldest child, afterwards James Frederick Dennistoun, Q. C., was born in October, 1841. By 1844 Judge Dennistoun had cleared about one hundred acres with his own hand, and had become satisfied that if he continued to live as a farmer in the back woods he would have no chance of educating his children or of pushing them on in the world. He therefore, in February, 1844, when twenty-nine years of age, entered the office of Mr. G. S. Boulton, Cobourg, as a student-at-law, and for three years resided in Cobourg with his family. He finished his legal studies in the office of D. B. Reid, Q. C., and was enrolled as a Solicitor and Attorney in February, 1849. In June following, he was called to the Bar. He then opened an office in Peterborough and was soon in possession of a prosperous business, which he conducted until July, 1866, when he was appointed County Judge. On the 26th of June, 1867, he received his patent as a Queen's Counsel and in July of the same year was elected a Bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada. For eighteen years Judge Dennistoun administered the affairs of justice for the county of Peterborough with eminent judicial fairness and discretion, but in February, 1886, when still a strong man in body and mind, he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never completely recovered. He was then granted the usual pension allowed to county judges and retired from the bench. Although Mr. Dennistoun was not a trained soldier, he took an active interest in the early militia of the country, holding a captain's commission in the Fifth Durham Battalion and afterwards acting as Lieutenant-Colonel of the Fifth Peterborough Battalion of militia. These battalions existed for the most part on paper and were assembled annually for roll call. In the year 1856 Mr. Dennistoun built his residence in the town of Peterborough for many years known as Inverlea, and continued to reside there until the end of May, 1868, when it was sold. He then removed to Toronto, where he has continued to reside ever since. Eighteen children, grand children and great grand children survive him.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon, June 3rd, at 3 p. m. from the residence of Mrs. J. F. Dennistoun.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

The Devotional Chapter of the Guild and the Chancel Association enjoyed a very pleasant evening at Mrs. Peck's on Thursday last. Miss Burt, who leaves for England in a few weeks, tendered her resignation as secretary-treasurer, and on motion of Mrs. Symonds, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Miss Burt for her past services. Miss Edith Bysh was unanimously elected to fill the vacant office, and Miss Meade and Dora Speers were elected members of the Chapter.

The all engrossing subject of church unity, is especially appropriate to Whit Sunday, (to-morrow), when we celebrate the birthday of the Christian Church, on the day of Pentecost. The Archbishop of Canterbury has for the second time addressed the clergy of this province on the subject. His words are, "When we consider the terrible separations of the past, the occasions which gave rise to them, the hardness and uncharitableness which have ensued, their multiplication, the undesirable hindrances which they present to the conversion of the world, and its attraction to our Lord's teaching and discipleship, and when we now see so many communions and confessions, at home and abroad and in America, moved to desire and to seek Christian unity, who can doubt that this change is of the Lord? I earnestly trust that in our churches as last year the prayer for unity may be most devoutly offered in the services of Whit Sunday, and that a constant prayer for such unity as may be Christ's will ascend from many hearts."

The Rev. H. Symonds will preach two sermons on the unity of the church, the first on the "Proverbial Ideal of a World Wide Society," to-morrow evening, and the second on the "Present Movement in Favour of Unity," on Sunday evening next, June 9th.

SPRINGVILLE.

(From an Occasional Correspondent.)

Number five company of the 46th Battalion, East Durham volunteers will go into brigade camp at Kingston, on June 18th, and will be officered as follows:—Captain, T. J. Johnston in command; Captain James D. Thornton, 45th battalion (attached) acting Lieutenant; John Clarke, 2nd Lieutenant; No. 1 section, Sergt., T. R. Johnston; No. 2 Sergt., J. France; No. 3 Sergt., J. Thompson; No. 4 Sergt., F. Boding.

This company has always been looked upon as one of the best in the eastern district, and we are confident that under such an efficient staff of officers will give a good account of itself this year. The corps is filling up fast, but there is room for a few recruits, and any young man wishing to have a military training, coupled with a pleasant outing, cannot do better than hand in his name to Lieut. Clarke, Springville P. O. Terms, 50c. per day and board.

RECORD OF A RAILWAY RUN.

FROM PETERBOROUGH TO WINNIPEG.

Wayside Notes of a Trip From the First Town of the East to the First City of the West.

Friday, May 24th.

While England's Sovereign is to-day enjoying her seventy-sixth birthday in excellent health, and the British people throughout the colonies are celebrating the event with loyal earnestness and enthusiasm, the writer boarded the C.P.R. at Peterborough for a run to Winnipeg. During the reign of our beloved Sovereign the nation has increased in material prosperity, and in no part of the Empire is it more noticeable than in the beautiful Province of Ontario. The progress in this province has been very marked in all that tends to enoble mankind, and in this advancement the influence of the Queen of the Realm has been strongly felt. She has well earned the love of her own people and the respect and admiration of the nations, and in no matter what direction you turn, as you glide swiftly along, the British emblem is flying in honour of her who sits upon the throne and in token of fidelity to the British constitution.

After a delay of a couple of hours at the Queen City, the G.T.R. northern Branch was boarded at 12.20, and after a run through the northern portion of the province, the principal places through which we passed being Allandale, Barrie, Orillia, Gravenhurst, Bracebridge, Huntsville, Emsdale, (where connection is made with the Canada Atlantic Railway, we reached North Bay at 10 o'clock, in the evening, one hour late.

The principal places through which our journey lay this afternoon are all so familiar to the readers of the EXAMINER that a description of them would be a needless waste of paper. Throughout the day the sun shone its brightest and the landscape looked beautiful in nature's verdant garb.

NORTH BAY

is distinguished, apart from its scenic beauties and natural resources, as being the hard-won county town of the Nipissing District. It will be remembered that there was a fierce local fight over the question of a site. The popular vote resulted in North Bay being selected by a majority of about 160. Mattawa, the rival town, declared that the expenditure of money had contributed to the result. However, the investigation that took place did not alter the situation and North Bay is still the county town and among the other attractions the citizens can offer outsiders, is the convenient facility presented of getting into gaol. But North Bay has other claims to distinction. It is a bright and breezy town on the main line to the Pacific coast by the C. P. R. and is situated on the north shore of Lake Nipissing, a fine body of water about forty miles long and eighteen wide, which receives the drainage of a large area, which is poured into it from the north by Sturgeon river, etc., and on the south by the South river. The outlet of this lake is by a perfect maze of channels, known as the French river. North Bay is also a railway centre, being a divisional point and possesses repair shops, etc. It's population is about two thousand. On the occasion of our visit the town presented a busy appearance and its citizens enjoying a display of twenty-fourth fireworks. Its forty odd shops seem to do a good trade for these times and its five churches indicate that its morality is well looked after. Several former residents of Peterborough have their homes here and all are apparently prospering and speak hopefully of the future. Lumbering is the chief industry of this district. The people of North Bay claim that it affords the best fishing sport on the line of the C. P. R. and it should be a good place for fish stories for the country in its vicinity is thickly splashed with beautiful rock-bound lakes. The elevation here above Lake Ontario is four hundred and twenty feet. Connection is made here with the Northern and Northwestern division of the Grand Trunk Railway, which brings Toronto and Southern Ontario in close touch with Nipissing and Algoma. It is in fact a run of only about 10 hours from Toronto to North Bay. What a contrast with the times, still fresh in the memory of middle-aged men, when the then backwoods of Upper Canada, say 50 miles from Toronto, could only be reached from the ocean by weeks of slow and laborious travel. In the immediate vicinity of North Bay, more particularly in the Township of Widdifield, there is a much of which, convenient to the railway, is being taken up by squatters. There will soon be under construction a line from North Bay, projected northwards, until the shores of that great inland sea, Hudson's Bay, shall be reached. The line is already located for a considerable distance. It will strike the northeastern arm of Lake Temagami and the northwesterly arm of Lake Temiscaming and will proceed northward by the best available route. It will pass through a country in which there are some rough places, but it is stated that it will not be of difficult construction. The company has been granted bonuses by the Governments of the Dominion and Ontario. The point it is intended to reach is Moose Factory, an old Hudson's Bay trading place, situated upon an island in the mouth or estuary of the Moose river. This will be a very important line. Even as a colonization road only, it would open up an immense country, the resources of which are probably as great as those of any equal area in the Province. It would, besides, put Ontario in contact with the rich fisheries and whaling and sealing industries of Hudson's Bay. There are known to be extensive deposits of coal—brown and black lignite at many places between Lake Abbitibbe and the Hudson bay. Pieces of anthracite have been found along the rivers south of James' Bay, but so far no mine has been located. The known deposits of iron are of great wealth. Porcelain clay or kaolin, of the finest quality is found. The timber in that region is mainly white pine, black and yellow birch, and there is a large extent of spruce and tamarac. The James' Bay district is said to be the richest mineral region in the Dominion, perhaps on the continent. The distance between James Bay and the Canadian Pacific at North Bay is about 350 miles. But admiring North Bay and its possibilities will not speed the traveller to Winnipeg, the object of the present journey. Boarding the C. P. R. express that has rushed through about three hundred and fifty miles of space from Montreal since morning, one finds himself snugly esconced in the sybarite coaches of the C. P. R. sleeper, and off for Winnipeg. On we whirl, with the forest-clad and rocky region black with the shadows of night on one hand, and on the other the pearly waters of Nipissing reflecting the twinkling stars. For about fifteen miles after leaving North Bay the line of rails skirts the lake shore. At Meadowville we leave the lake, turn and plunge through the stumps of "the forest primeval," with the directness almost of the crow's flight, the next point of interest being

CONSIDERABLE AREA OF ARABLE LAND,

STURGEON FALLS.

This brisk little village was also for a time a candidate for the county town-ship, and with some reason, for it is a live little place, with more good arable land in its vicinity than any other region in the district, and with a good water power. The land in this neighbourhood is good, and a fine farming district surrounds the village of Sturgeon Falls. All kinds of grain grow and do well, as do farm products of nearly every kind. Wheat is little grown, not because it will not ripen, but because there is no mill in the district to grind it, and because of the very low prices it brings. Crossing directly over the Falls we proceed through a wild range of rocks, lakes and swamps, weird and lonely in the night. There is nothing worthy of particular note till we reach Sudbury, the centre of perhaps the richest nickel deposits in the world. Sudbury is at the westernmost limit of the Nipissing district. It has a population of about 1,700 or 1,800. It contains four churches, Roman Catholic, Anglican, Presbyterian and Methodist. The first mentioned was that built last year by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor under the supervision of Mr. Richard Sheehy, Peterborough, and is a handsome structure erected to take the place of one destroyed by fire. Sudbury has arrived at the dignity of a weekly newspaper, and has its share of the conveniences of civilised life in the shape of a bank agency, etc. Sudbury is at the "parting of the ways." Here a branch leaves the main line, and plunges through the rich wild lands of Algoma to the well-known "Soo." Sudbury is situated only a few miles from the celebrated "Blezard" nickel mine, situated in the township of Blezard, named in honour of the genial and popular member for East Peterborough, Mr. Thos. Blezard, M. P.P. Some deposits of copper, silver, gold and nickel of immense value have been found, and the two mines here are being worked. From discoveries which have been made at various points it appears probable that a belt of extends from the shore of Lake Huron northeastward through the Sudbury district and onward for several hundred miles, giving reasons for expectations that this region will become one of the greatest copper and nickel producing countries in the world. Copper is found in considerable quantities along the Sault line of the Canadian Pacific, around Sudbury Junction, in the townships of Drury, Denison, Graham, Waters, Snider McKim and Blezard, on the west side of Wahnapitae lake, near the north end of Lady Evelyn lake, on Montreal river, on Blanche river, near Abbitibbe lake, and as far as the north end of Lake Mistassini in Quebec.

Rich finds of gold have been made in this district, in Denison—the Vermilion mine—in adjacent townships southwest of Sudbury, also on th south and east shores of Lake Wahnapitae.

When we leave Sudbury we take a wide sweep northward of Lake Superior. This is a wild region, and doubtless under the rocky road-bed over which we speed there are uncounted stores of mineral wealth, and the scenery at points is grandly beautiful. The Nipissing District bounds Algoma on the east, and extends northward to the limits of the province on Hudson's Bay and the Albany river. It includes the Temiscaming settlement. Some twenty-five miles from Sudbury, at Onaping, one gets a glimpse of the falls of the Vermillion river, and the dawning day brings to view splendid scenes, veiled with the mellow haze of the morning. On sweeps the iron horse into Algoma, mile upon mile of lonely expanse, rock ribbed and tree dotted. When Dog Lake is reached the travelled tourist points out to his more stay-at-home fellow passenger, another "parting of the ways," the back bone of this part of the continent, the dividing line of the waters that flow south to Lake Superior, and those that flow north into Hudson Bay. When we strike the vicinity of Heron Bay we get some evidence of the terrible obstacles that nature placed in the way of building the C.P.R., in the shape of immense rock cuttings, through granite promontories that shoulder their adamantine mass towards the waters on the north shore of Lake Superior. Following deep cuttings in the heart of the rock are viaducts and tunnels. The scenery along here and where the roadbed is hewen from the face of the granite cliffs that bestle over the deep blue waters of Lake Superior, the eye catches glimpses of the most magnificent body of fresh water in the world. As we sweep onward we pass through beautifully diversified scenery, encountering nothing of particular importance except the flashing view of silver streams that pour into Lake Superior, and are alive, so it is said, with "speckled beauties," which fisherman, with legal training or proclivities say reach a weight of six pounds. White fish and lake trout are said to be abundant in this region. A splendid bridge spans the Nipigon River. Just beyond Nipigon rises a gigantic cliff of red rock and the track has to make a detour about its base.

In the evening we reach Port Arthur, on the west shore of Thunder Bay, and the home of Mr. James Conmee, M.P.P., for Algoma West, who boarded the train at Schraiber, with a very strong invitation to stay off at Nipigon and have a few days fishing guaranteeing to break the record of all previous fishing parties on the Nipigon River.

The name Algoma is commonly applied to all that large territory stretching from a little west of Sudbury to the Lake of the Woods, and from the Great Lakes, including the Manitoulin Islands, etc., to the Albany river, one of the principal affluents of Hudson's Bay.

Port Arthur is a town of between three and four thousand of a population. Algoma and Nipissing together form a territory of immense size. It is larger than almost any of the United States, larger that the New England States with New York added; larger than any European country except Russia, and larger than a half dozen of the smaller European states put together. It is a region of considerable diversity of climate, of bountiful summer rains and moderate summer heat. The thousands of lakes are giving up constantly of their moisture to the air. As a dairy and stock raising county, Algoma and Nipissing possess advantages that are absolutely unrivaled. The prime requisites for profitable stock raising are:—Cheap land, good water, cheap building material, and cheap food, a healthy country and a mild climate. Algoma and Nipissing possess all these to a remarkable degree. The land can be had for free grants. The excellence and abundance of the water and the cheapness of building material should materially assist in developing these two large tracts of territory.

Straight away from Port Arthur is Fort William, a town rapidly approaching the former and which is the Northwest terminus of the splendid line of the C. P. R. steel steamers.

FORT WILLIAM

derives importance from being the eastern terminus of the Eastern Division of the C. P. R. The excellent sport in this vicinity makes Fort William a favourite resort for tourists.

Behind the basaltic front of Thunder Cape, is situated the well known silver islet mine. The famous grain elevators at Fort William are a sight worth seeing. The town also possesses a fine hotel, erected under the direction of the C. P. R. At Port Arthur the west bound traveller will lose his reckoning if he neglects to set his watch to correspond with centra' standard time, which practically begins at this place. At Fort William the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western Railway branches off. The general character of the country between Fort William and Winnipeg is wild and in a state of nature, though we pass through several what may be termed small villages. The face of the country is broken with numerous rapid rivers and clear lakes, but a redeeming feature of its wilder character is the abundance of mineral and timber wealth. As we pass Murillo attention is called to the magnificent Kakabeka Falls, four miles distant, which, we are told, have a deeper plunge than Niagara, though, of course, with a lesser volume of water. En passant it may be remarked that Sir Garnet Wolseley led a military expedition in 1870 from Fort William over this then difficult route. At Eagle river we encounter two splendid waterfalls, one on either side of the railway line. From this Point to Rat Portage the track passes through a very broken country. The scenery is sublime in its grandeur, with rocky basins inclosing crystal lakes almost always in sight.

Rat Portage is an important town, the outlet of the Lake of the Woods region and the principal town in the Rainy River District. "The Rainy River District" is the name applied to that part of Western Algoma, bounded on the south by Minnesota, and east by the height of land west of Lake Superior. It gets its name from the Rainy River, between Ontario and the United States. The area of the district is almost 22,500 square miles, and it is estimated to contain about 600,000 acres of good agricultural land, principally in the valley of the Rainy river. This river runs for about 80 miles through a rich alluvial tract. Nearly all the land fronting on the river on the Canadian side is suitable for settlement. The arable area runs back from the river some ten to twenty miles, the soil being clay and clay loam, with a little gravel and sand. There are occasional swamps, timbered with tamarac, spruce and cedar, that require some surface draining before they are fit for agriculture. The whole of this tract is remarkably free from stones and rocks. The climate is similar to that which is experienced in the older settled districts of Ontario, and there is said to be no difference in the winters as far as healthfulness and pleasantness are concerned. The snowfall is not deep, and the sleighing can be counted upon as good from December to March. Vegetation is extremely luxuriant in the Rainy River valley. All the cereal and grass crops common to Ontario are grown here, and all the garden crops flourish. There is a great deal of red and white pine. Lumbering operations are being carried on on a very large scale, and there are well equipped sawmills on Rainy river and Rainy lake, also at Rat Portage, Norman and Keewatin. As the Province of Manitoba draws its principal supply of pine from this quarter an extensive business is carried on.

Rat Portage has a population of about 2,000, two newspapers and a pushing spirit and is growing rapidly. The prodigious water power at the northern outlet of the Lake of the Woods, which is now developed by arrangement between the Keewatin Milling and Manufacturing Company and the Ontario Government will add to the prosperity of Rat Portage, as well as Keewatin and Norman. The two last named places are situated near at hand. At the town of Keewatin is the establishment of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, the largest flour mill in Canada, with a capacity af 2,000 barrels a day. A barrel factory, with an output of a thousand barrels a day, and elevators, one of which will hold 400,000 bushels, are some of the allied industries. Keewatin's population is about 1,500. Norman is situated midway between Keewatin and Rat Portage. The water power available here is enormous, and there are excellent openings for factories of all kinds. The population is about 800. All of these places are becoming

FAVOURABLY KNOWN AS SUMMER RESORTS

Fort Francis is the principal settlement on Rainy River. It is an ancient fort or post, of the Hudson Bay Company, and is delightfully situated on a strip of land near the outlet of Rainy Lake, immediately below the falls, and between the lake and the head of navigation on the river. The appearance of the woods on either bank of the river near here is described as quite park-like, the tall trees standing far apart and having the natural outlines of those grown in the open. The town has a saw mill and several flourishing stores and industries and the population is increasing.

From Keewatin until we reach the Whitemouth saw mills nothing of any special interests attracts the tourist, and from this latter place the landscape softens and begins to take on the level placid character of the prairie. A few miles run and the express roars across a long stretch of iron bridge at St. Boniface, and Winnipeg, the metropolis of the Northwest, is reached on Sunday evening, after a rapid ride of almost three days and two nights duration.

Incorporated with 2,000 of a population in 1873, this thriving prairie city now numbers about 35,000 inhabitants. Little need be said of Winnipeg, but mention must be made of the pleasure of the trip over the great trans-continental railway, the luxurious comfort of the appliances, of the magnificent coaches and the well supplied dining cars, and the unfailing and unvarying courtesy and obliging bearing of the train officials from the humblest to the most responsible. Especially in the summer season, a trip from Peterborough to Winnipeg, or intervening points, with its ever changing panorama of magnificent scenery, is a perpetual delight.

TIDINGS FROM AMOSA WOOD HOSPITAL.

Mr. Smith Cured of Chronic Rheumatism by South American Rheumatic Cure—The Great Rheumatic Remedy Again Conquers Where Doctors Had Failed.

Mr. J. E. Smith, of Amosa Wood Hospital, St. Thomas, Ont.:—"For a long time I was afflicted with very bad rheumatic pains, and they became so intense that life to me was a misery. I saw the South American Cure advertised and determined on giving it a trial, and procured a bottle from R. J. Old, druggist, of St. Thomas. Before taking one half the bottle I found the greatest relief, but kept on taking it, using in all four bottles. I used that quantity to give the medicine a fair trial, although I had no sign of an ache or pain after taking the second bottle. I can strongly recommend this remedy to all sufferers from rheumatism. I feel confident it will do for them what it did for me. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

A MEDICINE THAT WILL REPAIR THE RAVAGES OF TIME.

An Old Lady in St. John's, Que., Tells How it Restored Her to Health and Vigor—Rejuvenates the Blood and Nerves.

From Franco-Canadien, St. John's, Que.

Long are the battles which youth can wage against disease, but when age has burdened one's shoulders the fight is an unequal one, and the victim all too frequently succumbs to the grim reaper. When, however, the battle for life results in success it is fitting that the means which restored health and strength should be made public for the benefit of other sufferers. In the city of St. John's lives Mrs. Mary Wood, beloved by her family and esteemed by all who know her. Mrs. Wood is now in her 66th year, and for several years past has been a sufferer from weakness and general debility, but is now, happily, again restored to health and strength. To a reporter of Le Franco-Canadien, Mrs. Wood gave an account of her illness and restoration to health. She said that her blood had become watery, she was subject to nervous prostration, severe headaches and loss of appetite. She tried doctors and many drugs without finding any improvement in her condition, which was rather becoming steadily worse, and reducing her to a state of mental and physical prostration which threatened to speedily terminate her existence. Having read much concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Mrs. Wood at last determined to give them a trial and procured a supply from Mr. Gustave Boulanger, druggist. Under other treatment Mrs. Wood had been growing worse, but soon after beginning the use of Pink Pills, to the agreeable surprise of herself and family, a radical change for the better was noticed and with the continued use of the pills she soon regained her old time health and vigour, and despite her years can take any part of the household work. She says that she always keeps Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house and still uses them occasionally as a tonic, and always with the best results. She says that she believes she owes her life to Dr. Williams' wonderful medicine, and never loses an opportunity to recommend them to her friends.

The experience of years has proved that there is absolutely no disease due to a vitiated condition of the blood or shattered nerves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not promptly cure, and those who are suffering from such troubles would avoid much misery and save money by promptly resorting to this treatment. Get the genuine Pink Pills every time and do not be persuaded to take an imitation or some other remedy from a dealer, for the sake of the extra profit to himself, who may say it is "just as good." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure when other medicines fail.

CHATELLE HANGED.

The Murderer of Jessie Keith Expiates His Crime.

Stratford, Ont., May 31.—At three minutes past eight o'clock this morning Amedee Chatelle was executed for the foul murder of little Jessie Keith, near Listowel last October.

Chatelle walked to the scaffold with great nerve, but was very pale. Mr. Keith, father of the murdered girl, witnessed the execution. There were only 25 persons present. The body hung for a quarter of an hour. Chatelle ate a hearty breakfast, consisting of four poached eggs, coffee, and drank a glass of brandy. He had slept well.

Father Downey, his spiritual adviser, engaged in prayer with the condemned man for three-quarters of an hour in his cell, before the jail officials, headed by the sheriff, started for the scaffold with Chatelle. Upon arrival at the place of execution, Radcliffe, the hangman, tied his legs, and at 7.55 the condemned man partook of the sacrament. He expressed no desire to speak, nor was he asked to do so. The executioner pulled the black cap down, and adjusted the noose, and, as Father Downey repeated, "Thy will be done," Chatelle's body shot upwards and downward, and in a few minutes life was extinct.

WASTE OF BRITISH CAPITAL.

Sir Charles Dilke Objects to Money Spent in Uganda

London, June 1.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Charles Dilke declared that the Government was spending money in Uganda contrary to the wishes of the House.

All the British expeditions into the interior of Africa, he said, were wild-goose chases, and he moved to reduce the vote for inter-African expenditure.

Sir Edward Grey, Under Foreign Secretary, denied that the Government was expending money in the manner alleged by Dilke. Sir Charles Dilke's motion was defeated by 79 to 27. Sir Edward Grey announced that on June 10 he would introduce a bill to prohibit sealing at certain periods in Behring Sea and adjacent waters.

LEFT HER CHILDREN AND A NOTE.

A Toronto Junction Woman Elopes With a Married Man.

Toronto, June 1.—Richard McLean of St. Clare-avenue, Toronto Junction, eloped Wednesday night with Mrs. Stevens, wife of Alfred Stevens of Edmond-street. Both men worked in the Queen City flour mill, and while his wife was away visiting, McLean had boarded with Stevens. Wednesday morning McLean called upon Stevens at the mill and bade him good-bye, stating that he intended removing to the States. Stevens suspected something wrong on going home to dinner, as he had noticed the intimacy between McLean and his wife, and about 2 o'clock left his work and went home again. Everything was apparently all right, however, and he again returned to work. When he arrived home about 6 o'clock, he found that his wife had departed, and his little daughter told him she had gone with McLean. Mrs. Stevens left behind four children, the youngest aged two and the eldest ten. McLean's wife has one child. Both McLean and Mrs. Stevens are about 35 years of age. It is believed they have gone to Buffalo.

The woman left a letter behind expressing her intention of going with McLean.

Rev. Wm Torrance of Paisley Dies From a Ruptured Blood Vessel.

Paisley, Ont., May 29.—To-day Rev. William Torrance conducted a funeral at from 2 to 4 o'clock, but was not feeling very well, one and then a second doctor was called in, but to no avail, as he passed away about 7 o'clock. The bursting of a blood vessel is supposed to be the cause of death.

THE BASKATONG MURDER.

Mrs. Laframboise Under Arrest—Coroner's Jury Find Her Guilty.

Mantwaki, Que., May 29.—Bailiff Desillets has reached here from Baskatong, having under arrest Mrs. Laframboise, accused of murdering the Jones girl last Friday morning.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict warranting her arrest. She will be taken to Hull this afternoon and the preliminary trial will take place to-morrow before Judge Champagne. It appears the woman had been heard to say, she would kill the Jones girl, and after a drunken row, in which Mrs. Laframboise took part, the murder was done.

China Must Pacify Formosa.

Washington, May 29.—The Japanese Legation is still without information regarding the reported troubles in Formosa. The officials say that an uprising of any character can be speedily quelled whenever the Japanese Government chooses to act. One reason assigned for Japan's lack of action is that the island may not have been as yet formally ceded to Japan. It is thought probable that Japan will look to China to quell the rebellion on the ground that by the terms of the treaty of peace a cession of the island was to be made to Japan and that the cession cannot properly follow so long as Formosa's internal affairs are in an unsettled condition.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure. Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
C. L. KILMER.

Ayer's Pills

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use.

For Stomach

and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled. When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach,

Liver, or Bowels,

my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and NEWFOUNDLAND LOAN A SUCCESS.

A Portion of the Issue Subscribed For in Canada—French-Canadian Catholics and Imperial Honors.

Montreal, May 31.—Cables to-day confirm the despatch sent last evening relative to the success of the Newfoundland loan, which is now an accomplished fact. Your correspondent is authorised to state that the total amount has been underwritten, and consequently Glyn, Mills, Curry & Co. now feel justified in placing the issue on the market. The stock, as before stated, is for £550,000, bearing interest at four per cent. for forty years, but the issue price, according to latest cable advices, has not yet been fixed. The firms of Morton, Rose & Co. and Coutts & Co. have been associated with Glyn, Mills, Curry & Co. to place the issue, notwithstanding the cable to The Star of this evening. It is also said that, in spite of rumors to the contrary, a block of £75,000 has been taken in Canada.

Saturday's Official Gazette will contain notice of application for incorporation of the Dominion Cold Storage Co. (limited), capital stock being $300,000. The head office of the concern will be in Montreal.

There is a good deal of talk in French Conservative circles over an article in Le Courrier du Canada, edited by Hon. Thomas Chapais, son-in-law of Sir Hector Langevin. The paper strongly criticises the recent Imperial honors, and says ex-Premier DeBoucherville had far more claims to a title than Sir Henry Joly De Lotbiniere. In fact, concludes Le Courrier, the French-Canadian Catholic element has been passed over this time completely.

Some time since James Norris, grain speculator, brought a criminal action against the members of the late brokerage firm of Meredith & O'Brien, charging them with obtaining $10,000 under false pretences. Judge Desmoyers held to-day that the charge was not justified, and dismissed the case.

Hancock's Post, composed of Canadians who served in the Northern army during the war of secession, drove to Mount Royal to-day, and decorated the graves of several of their late comrades. H. G. St. Pierre, Q.C., who was once an American soldier, delivered an address.

Comment On the C. P. R. Statement.

London, May 30.—The Westminster Gazette, in an article commenting on Canadian Pacific statement, expresses doubt that such a reduction in the outlay as indicated can be made without trading upon the capital account to some extent.

Wales Accepts the Chancellorship

London, May 30.—The Prince of Wales has written accepting the nomination of Chancellor of the newly formed Welsh University. He says that if he is elected he will foster the important work to the utmost.

GRESHAM'S FUNERAL.

An Imposing Military Pageant in Washington.

Washington, May 29.—The funeral of Secretary Gresham to-day was an imposing military pageant, amid bright sunshine and attended by President Cleveland, the Cabinet and the colony of diplomats. The ceremonies were held from the White House. The floral tributes were beautiful.

A Bomb Found in Rome.

Rome, May 30.—A bomb was found this morning in the poor quarter of the city, where the agitation in favor of the Socialist deputy De Felice, was the strongest throughout the recent political campaign. The bomb was charged with gunpowder and chlorate of potash, which were connected with a vial of nitric acid. The police believe that an unsuccessful attempt to explode the bomb was made on Sunday while the polling was in progress.

Orton Defeats Conneff.

Bayonne, N.J., May 30.—The principal event at the games of the New Jersey A.C. here to-day was the special one-mile scratch race, in which were entered T.P. Conneff, the holder of the amateur record, and G. W. Orton of the University of Pennsylvania, the intercollegiate champion. Orton won. Time 4.24 2-5. The college team relay race, distance one mile, between Yale, Harvard, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania, was won by Yale. Time 3.22 4-5.

In the one-mile run, scratch, which was won by G. W. Orton, University of Pennsylvania, T. P. Conneff, New York A.C., second; Andy Walsh, X.A.C., 3; T. McMahon, M.A.C., 4. Orton went to the front at the start, with Conneff second, Clough lying third and McMahon whipping in. Entering the second lap Conneff took the lead from Orton, and so they ran until entering the far side in the last lap, when Orton went up to Conneff, who made a desperate effort to shake him off, but the plucky inter-collegiate Canadian would not be denied, and passing Conneff, won by four yards, fifteen between second and third.

EXPELLED FOR MARRYING.

The Minister's Offence Was Marrying Without Permission.

Hamilton, May 30. — The Rev. Amos F. Parsons of Cathcart, in the Woodstock district of the Hamilton Conference was expelled by an almost unanimous vote of the Hamilton Conference now in session. The formal charge against him was that of marrying without permission of the Conference.

It is alleged that the excuse he gave for marrying without consent was to save the girl's honor. This statement could not be verified, however, as the session was held behind closed doors, and the delegates refused to talk about the case outside.

WOUND ROUND A SHAFT.

Frightful Death of a 14-Year Old Lad in North York

Toronto, June 1. — Verner White, aged 14, son of Mr. Robert White of Nobleton, North York, was engaged in placing a strap around a shaft in his father's mill on Wednesday afternoon, when in some unaccountable manner he got caught on the shaft. The governor belt broke, and, as a result, the shaft revolved at a tremendous rate. Young White was wound round and round the shaft, his body being mutilated in a horrible manner. Mr. White and his son Archie, who were working a short distance away, proceeded to repair the belt, and it was then they first became aware of the awful tragedy. The boy, of course, was dead, almost every bone in his body being broken.

ATTACKED UNAWARES

Bedouins Fire Upon Foreign Officials.

BRITISH VICE-CONSUL MURDERED

The British Consul, Russian Consul and a French Official Dangerously Wounded by Bedouins—British Warships Sent to Demand Reparation From Turkey.

London, June 1.—A despatch from Constantinople to The Pall Mall Gazette says: Reports have been received here that the Turkish police recently forced an entrance into the residence of the British, Russian and French delegates at Moosh for the purpose of arresting a servant. The police had repeatedly, on previous occasions, insulted the servants of the delegates and otherwise made themselves offensive.

Supposed to Be Bedouins.

Constantinople, June 1.—A party of men, supposed to have been Bedouins, recently attacked in the vicinity of Jeddah, Syria, the British Consul and Vice-Consul, the Russian Consul and the French Consular Secretary. The British Vice-Consul was shot dead, the Russian Consul seriously wounded and the French Secretary slightly wounded.

Details of the Outrage.

Jeddah, May 31.—Further details of the attack by Bedouins upon the Foreign Consular party yesterday have been made public. The party had gone out for a stroll and in the course of the evening had stopped to rest at a point half a mile from the town. While resting they were surrounded and fired upon from a distance of four yards.

Abdur Razsack, the British Vice-Consul, who was also Consul for Norway and Sweden, was so badly wounded that he died in a few minutes. W. S. Richards, the British Consul, was severely wounded in the arm and back. M. Brandt, the Russian Consul, and M. d'Orville, Secretary of the French Consulate, received dangerous wounds in their faces, and doubts are expressed as to their recovery. The body of Abdur Razsack shows that he was stabbed as well as shot.

Fifteen arrests have been made.

Warships at Jeddah

Three British warships have been ordered to Jeddah with instructions to protect the lives of foreigners and to investigate the killing of the British Vice-Consul and the wounding of the other consular officers.

The War Renewed

London, May 31.—A despatch to The Times from Hong Kong says: The Japanese landed at Kelong, Formosa, May 30, and fighting began May 31.

A despatch from Shanghai says the Japanese have landed on Palm Island, north of Kelong, Formosa, where they met with determined and powerful resistance. The Japanese, however, gradually drove the Chinese defenders of the Island back, and the fighting was at last account still in progress.

The steamer Martha, belonging to Tang, the rebel governor of Formosa, but sailing under the German flag, is reported to have returned to China after having landed men and munitions of war sent to Formosa by Chang-i-Chitung, the Viceroy, of Nanking.

Russia Intriguing in Corea.

London, May 31.—The Daily News publishes a despatch from Vienna stating that the Corean Prime Minister has negotiated a treaty with the Russian Ambassador by the terms of which Russia will give Corea protection in certain emergencies, without, however, claiming suzerainty. The King, the despatch adds, has not sanctioned the treaty, and Japan threatens to recall her minister at Seoul if he does sanction it. The treaty, it is said, contains two secret clauses that will be withheld until the whole convention is sanctioned.

LA SAGESSE WON THE OAKS.

Sir John Miller's Filly Defeated a Field of Fourteen.

London, June 1.—Epsom Downs presented a brilliant appearance yesterday, the crowds being attracted by the running of the Oaks, the event of importance at Epsom second only to the Derby. A heavy thunderstorm last night greatly relieved the sultriness of the temperature. The rain improved the course. The Prince of Wales remained at Epsom over last night, but none of the Royal ladies attended the races to-day. Lord Rosebery and a large party of guests occupied a number of Durdan's coaches, which were drawn up alongside the course. The toilets of the ladies were conspicuously beautiful and the luncheon of which the party partook was very elaborate. Richard Croker, who was within the enclosure, attracted a great deal of attention. Willie Simms, the American jockey, who was also conspicuous, thus commented on the attendance at the Derby: "There was a bigger free crowd than you would see in America, but I have seen a larger paying one there at many a smaller gathering."

Among the distinguished spectators were the Duke of Cambridge, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and Gotha, the Duke of Devonshire, Right Hon. Henry Chaplin, M.P., and Lord Cadogan. The race resulted in a most exciting finish and was won by Sir J. Miller's bay filly La Sagesse.

The Oaks Stakes of 4500 sovs., by subscription of 50 sovs. each, h ft; for 3-year-old fillies, to carry 126 lbs. each; about 1 1-2 miles.

Time 2.48 2-5.

The betting was 8 to 1 against Ella Tweed, 14 to 1 against Penkridge, 33 to 1 against Gas, 16 to 1 against Flore, 20 to 1 against Galeottia, 7 to 1 against Choice, 25 to 1 against Silverhill, 50 to to 1 against Saintfield, 33 to 1 against Garter Queen, 3 to 1 against Auruga, 25 to 1 against Nighean, 20 to 1 against Float, 10 to 1Z against Saintly, 12 to 1 against La Sagesse and 5 to 1 against Melancholia.

The horses got away at the first attempt, Silver Hill, at a slow pace, cutting out the running followed by Nighean Float and Garter Queen, who were followed by Auriga, Flore, Gas and La Sagesse, with Saintly and Saintfield last. Passing "Sherwoods," Silver Hill was cantering in front of Nighean, Auriga and Garter Queen. Gas was close behind Garter Queen and was followed by La Sagasse and Float, who were in front of Galeottia and Flore by a few yards. Galeottia gradually drew ahead, closely followed by Auriga, Garter Queen, Gas and Silver Hill. Saintly and Choice were last.

At the top of the hill Garter Queen obtained second place and Auriga third. Entering the straight Garleottia was closel yfollowed by Garter Queen, Flore and Penkridge, the positions having changed on the ascent. At the distance Flore and Peukridge lost their places and La Sagesse, becoming the third horse, made a gallant effort, drew to the front opposite Tattersalls and won by a length and a half, Galeottia being a length and a half ahead of Penkridge.

Disease is cured not by magical incantations, but by medical science. Hence it is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures, and that it proves so eminently successful. It is a skillfully prepared and strictly scientific blood-purifier and tonic, the only one admitted at the World's Fair.

CANNOT EASILY FOOL HIM.

Mr. W. S. Smith, Editor of the Toronto Evening News, Knew What he was Writing When he Penned a Good Word for Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Remedy.

Professional men have been strong in their recommendation of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder as a remedy for cold in the head and catarrhal troubles. We have already published in these columns warm words of endorsement from leading clergymen and professors in the educational institutions of the country. One thing be sure of, that it is not an easy matter to fool the newspaper man. He sees a good deal of the inside of life. This fact gives value to the words of endorsement of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, recently penned by Mr. W. S. Smith, the well-known editor of The Evening News. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

Steamers Collide on Lake Huron

Alpena, Mich., June 1.—The steamers Norman and Jack were in collision in a dense fog near Middle Island, Lake Huron, last night. The Norman sank, carrying down with her the steward's wife, a watchman and a deck hand. The Jack was afloat at last accounts, but in a badly damaged condition. Her captain, mates and engineer refused to leave her, and are still on the boat. The balance of the Jack's crew and that of the Norman took to the lifeboats, and were picked up by the steam-barge Sicken, and landed here.

The Jack is new, and was built and owned by the Calvin Company of Garden Island, near Kingston. She is valued at $60,000. She is the steamer which carried away the gates of the Welland Canal a couple of weeks ago on her first trip on the lakes.

Windy Time in Nebraska

Chapman, Neb., June 1.—A cyclone struck near here yesterday and demolished everything in its path. The house of A. Bailor was blown to pieces. Mrs. Bailor and two children were fatally injured.

Prostrations at Pittsburg

Pittsburg, June 1.—Yesterday and today more cases of sunstroke and prostrations from the heat were reported than are usual in the warmest days of midsummer. The workmen employed in the iron mills suffer greatly and a number have been prostrated.

Second Day at Hamilton.

Hamilton, June 1.—The second day of Hamilton Jockey Club races. Weather fine and sultry. Track hard and fast.

First race, Bantan Purse, for 3-year-olds and upwards, 5 1-2 furlongs—Radiator 1, Rosewood 2, Martello 3. Archieve, The Piper, Lou D., Meg Dinmont also ran.

Second race, the Canadian Handicap, for 3-year-olds and upwards, foaled in Canada; 1 1-4 miles—Foam 1, Long Bend 2, Joe Miller 3, Lockinvar also ran.

Third race, the Haddo Purse, for 3-year-olds and upwards; 1 3-8 miles: Victorious 1, Logan 2, Lookout 3.

Fourth race, Farmers' race, 3-4 mile: Meg Dinmont, Delaware, Grey Maude, Mickey Free, Mollie H., Butcher Boy, Canarads, Romeo, in order named.

Fifth race, the Cocktail Steeplechase, about 3 miles—Dodo 1, Venue 2, Ruth 3. Everett and George C also ran.

Sixth race, Cradle Handicap, for 2-year-olds; 5 1-2 furlongs—Roundsman 1, Florence Col. 2.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

MONTAGUE'S MOUTH HIS FORTUNE

Dr Landerkin's Able Reply to the Assailant of Sir Richard Cartwright—The Vapid Generalities used as "Arguments" Against the Liberal Policy of Tariff for Revenue Only.

Ottawa, June 3.—There was one feature of the budget debate which must have impressed the newspaper-reading public, and that was the careful avoidance by the Government apologists of the consideration of the merits of the old policy of commercial restriction upon which the Conservative party will appeal to the country. They contented themselves with a general denial of its baneful effects and a few of the threadbare phrases which have done duty in its behalf for many years, but they advanced no original arguments in its justification appropriate to the altered conditions of the time. In place of defending their policy they paid the Opposition the compliment of abusing them and recognized the strength and soundness of the Liberal platform of tariff for revenue only by endeavoring to prove that it does not mean what its terms imply. No better exemplification of the truth of this statement could have been afforded than the speech of the Secretary of State, which was not a justification of the National Policy, but a tirade against the Liberal party and its leaders. He ransacked the political scrap books of decades, in search of material with which to besmirch and discredit his opponents, but the result, as given to the House, showed that his industry had been but scantly rewarded. Personalities had much to do with the effort of the Demosthenes of Dunnville, and it was only to be expected that such a powerful antagonist as Sir Richard Cartwright should come in for a share of his abuse. Dr. Montague made much of the fact that Sir Richard had to face opposition in the party convention in South Oxford, and, to make a point, he was under the necessity of quoting the following paragraph from a newspaper published at Aylmer, Que.:

"An enthusiastic Liberal of Montreal said the other day: If the Lord would only lie Sir Richard Cartwright on a bed of sickness for the next six months, nothing in the Dominion or out of it could prevent the Liberal party getting into power."

Dr. Montague made the assertion that the Liberal policy was not a tariff for revenue only—the policy that the Liberal party has proclaimed—but free trade as it is in England. This he followed up with an attempt to discredit the institutions of Great Britain, and to prove that for want of protection the greatness of the Mother Land is vanishing. Dr. Landerkin took the Secretary of State and his colleagues to task in these words:

"The hon. gentleman told us of the decay of England, and I think it is about time that the Cabinet ministers of this Government should give up their fusillades against Great Britain. What nonsense to speak about the decay of Britain! Sir, she is the mistress of the world. She is the land above all other lands that has proclaimed liberty of speech, liberty of the press, liberty of the subject, the liberty of Parliament and the liberty of Congress. It is from her that we have learned our liberty, and so we on this side of the House value our connection with England and with the empire. We do not believe in gentlemen opposite, who say: If this system of protection is bad for British connection, so much the worse for British connection. That kind of loyalty is not our loyalty. The Minister of Justice, the Secretary of State, the member for East Hastings (Mr. Northrup) and several other Conservative members, have made a tirade against the institutions of England in this House. I hurl back their accusations at them, and I tell them that England is a good example for this country to follow. When they tell us that England is going to the dogs they know better. They know that England still leads and that she will ever lead as long as British statesmen are true to the principles of liberty and freedom."

Had not the Secretary of State made an uncalled-for personal attack upon the member for South Oxford, Dr. Landerkin would not have been under the necessity of replying to him on that score. But as it was he was justified in quoting a candid opinion of Dr. Montague expressed by E. E. Sheppard of Saturday Night, who is not only a Conservative, but who ran as a Conservative candidate in Haldimand a few years ago. This is what Mr. Sheppard said of the man who attacked Sir Richard Cartwright:

The Manitoba school question continues to be the burning spot on the much-hardened flesh of the electorate of Canada. There is no startlingly new phase of it excepting the election of Dr. Montague in Haldimand. His election is certainly a well-deserved tribute to his popularity, not to his principles, for he has none. His personality is exceedingly attractive to an audience composed of those who would rather listen than reason, and the belief that he is more than an average man lasts with those who never inquire, after listening, as to what they have brought away with them. Notoriously he is oratorical without being educational, eloquent mostly in the devising of statements that are misleading, courageous mostly when he has a majority of supporters, and up to date has shown his bravery of character almost entirely in doing wrong rather than in advocating right.

He is an evidence that it is easier for electors to follow men than principles. The elector of Haldimand is not, perhaps, aware that he has made his fight on other people's money. There is no man in the Ottawa Ministry who has been a more subservient political hack than Dr. Montague. Everywhere he has been the paid spouter, the tap through which the wind of the Ottawa Ministry has been squirted, and if any of his enthusiastic friends ever pause to examine the situation, they will notice that all his oratorical periods are paid for by some one who puts up his money in order to gain an advantage that the people of Canada, intelligently considering the question, would not grant. It is neither politic nor prudent, perhaps, to reflect upon this class of politician. He is omnipresent, because he has a pass or his railway fare is paid; his powers of convincing the public are not hindered by thoughts of a neglected business or an ungrasped opportunity, yet he is the most dangerous quantity that could be injected into the already tainted blood of Canadian politics. If men of this sort are to be our rulers, we have a right to a . ourselves, how must we expect to be ruled? Is mouth to be chosen in preference to principles?

Are audacity and indomitable cheek to be preferred to political virtue? Is facility in changing one's attitude to be applauded, as we would laugh at and approve of the antics of the clown in a circus? It has been Dr. Montague's good fortune to escape by his suave manner and exceeding good-fellowship the criticism of people who neither believe in him as a statesman nor approve of him as anything but a county heeler. It is quite possible that he may reach the highest niche in Canadian politics, for he has certainly proved himself able and willing to adopt any device necessary to hoodwink, mislead or betray those who prize the capacity of the mouth rather than loyalty and goodness of heart. That a man can be elected who is such a political hanger-on, while the issue was one of supreme importance to Canada, marks an epoch in our history which thoughtful men should pause and consider.

It was 2 o'clock on Thursday morning, when the three weeks' debate ended. That the Liberals had the better of the argument, though not of the vote, is generally admitted. The division was upon Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment, declaring for a revenue tariff, and it resulted in a majority of only 46 for the Government. A feature of the division was the defection of Mr. Hiram Calvin, the Conservative member for Frontenac, who voted against the Government's policy of protection, and for a revenue tariff. Hon. Thomas McGreevy gave his first Conservative vote since his "rehabilitation," and the ministerialists cheered him. The sincerity of the effort of a portion of the Conservative press to repudiate McGreevy may be judged by the following note addressed to him:

(Private.)

House of Commons.

To Thomas McGreevy, Esq., M.P.:

Dear Sir,—The vote on the Budget debate will be taken on Monday night or Tuesday at the latest. Kindly be within hail call. By order,

ADRIEN DESROCHERS,

May 16, 1895. Per the Whips.

Col. O'Brien, who has declared his hostility to the Government and its policy, voted with the majority.

It has been almost decided that the formal opening of the Sault Ste Marie Canal shall take place on June 18, and in connection therewith the Minister of Railways and Canals contemplates a big demonstration to signalize the completion of this important enterprise.

Mr. Haggart has accordingly asked the members of the Opposition in the House if they will join in it. There is no doubt but they will consent to do so. Whatever differences of opinion exist between the Government and the Opposition in regard to the manner of the construction of the work, there never have been two opinions as to the necessity of building the canal. The Opposition, therefore, need have no hesitation in taking part in the demonstration, although the Patron element in the House object to any lavish expenditure for purposes of this character. It is not intended to make any large expenditure for the affair, and therefore the day has been selected when Parliament will not be sitting, namely, Corpus Christi. A special train will carry the members of Parliament and representatives of the press from Ottawa and return. Luncheon will be served at the canal. Speeches will be delivered, and the opening will be of a character in keeping with the national importance of the work.

The canal had cost Canada $2,823,498 on Oct. 1 last, and will probably come to four millions when everything is completed. It gives a channel of 20 feet depth of water throughout from Superior to Huron. The big lock is 900 feet long by 60 wide.

THE CONSUL WANTONLY KILLED

Turkey Disclaims Responsibility for the Bedouins' Action.

London, June 2.—Isaac H. Ford cables: The outrage at Jeddah on the consuls of England, France and Russia is a very serious affair. Eight Bedouin assassins fired into the consular party, deliberately, wantonly. The British consul was dangerously wounded, and the Vice-Consul was murdered outright; the other consuls were injured more or less seriously. The Admiralty promptly ordered three vessels of the Mediterranean fleet to Jeddah, which is the port for Mecca. Turkey claims sovereignty over Jeddah, but its authority is weak in Arabia.

While the crime was committed nominally under the Turkish flag, responsibility for it will be disclaimed. It is not probable Arab sympathies for the Turks as oppressors of the Armenians have anything to do with the outrage, but the incident may increase the anti-Turkish feeling in England, especially as several gross affronts have been offered by the police in Moosh to the British, French and Russian delegates of the Armenian Commission, and their servants have been attacked. The Porte is still dwadling over the reply to the proposals of the powers on questions of Armenian reforms. The movement of the British fleet from Alexandria to Beyrout, Syria, apparently indicates a more determined stand by the Government; but public opinion in England supports only languidly the agitation against Turkey.

British Squadron at Beyrout.

Constantinople, June 2.—Up to midnight Saturday the Porte had not replied to the proposals submitted by Great Britain, France and Russia, for reforming the Turkish administration of Armenia. The situation continues strained. The ordering of a British squadron to Beyrout has impressed the Turkish political personages.

JOY IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

The New Loan Gives an Impulse to Business

St. John's, Nfld., June 2.—Reports from the country towns show general satisfaction at the obtaining of the loan. The people rejoice at the preservation of autonomy and the collapse of the proposal of a Crown colony. The Whitewaylite supporters here were preparing a reception for Colonial Secretary Bond, but he has gone to England to conclude the loan negotiations, so the demonstration has been postponed. The effect of the loan is already seen in trade. Businessmen announce an increase in orders to-day. Stocks are being ordered from abroad, and everything betokens a vigorous rebound towards prosperity.

A disease, supposed to be malignant typhoid fever, is ravaging the French fishermen on the west coast of the island. It has spread to residents, and many deaths have occurred. The Government has taken steps to isolate the cases and prevent a further spread of the disease.

Colonial Secretary Bond's success has set on foot a scheme to run him for the Premiership to replace Sir William Whiteway. Mr. Bond leads the Radical element of the Whiteway Administration.

FRED JEWELL'S DEATH.

Well-Known Traveler and Former Newspaper Man Suddenly Succumbs.

Toronto, June 3.—F. J. Jewell, 220 Crawford-street, traveler for Messrs. Gwatkin & Son, printers' supplies, was taken suddenly ill at the Wellington Hotel, Guelph, on Friday evening last, and after being taken to the General Hospital of that city died at midnight.

Mrs. Jewell was summoned by telegraph, but before she could arrive her husband was dead. An inquest was held, and adjourned till to-day, but the body will in the meantime arrive this morning, en route to Colborne, where the burial takes place.

Mr. Jewell had been more or less connected with newspaper work for many years. He was editor of The Northumberland Enterprise in 1881, and afterwards The Stayner Sun and Glengarry News. He had been for three years with Gwatkin & Son. In 1884 he married Miss Maggie Wesley of Belleville. Deceased was 38 years of age, and leaves a widow, but no children.

CONTEMPT OF PARLIAMENT.

The long lease of power enjoyed by Conservative governments in Canada has emboldened them to pursue a course which has ended in their refusing to obey the orders of parliament itself to produce papers, because the production of the papers is calculated to injure the Conservative party. It needed a long and strenuous debate in the House on Friday to convince the Government that it would have to obey the order of parliament which it had on false pretences disobeyed for over two years. It has become a regular practice, says the Montreal Witness, of the government to promise to bring down documents and never do so if inconvenient or damaging to itself ,to fulfil its pledges. Half a dozen times this session the Opposition has had to inquire for and re-demand papers and documents which the government promised to bring down during the last two or three sessions. Conservative governments long in office have come to feel that they are masters of the country and parliament and that nothing serious is likely to result from their disposition to consult their own convenience and their own convenience only. Of ocurse, the subserviency of the government supporters, many of whom have government appointments to senatorships or collectorships or superintendencies or bursarships in their pockets as rewards for loyalty to the government, is easily accounted for, but none the less does their betrayal of the independence of parliament weaken and injure our responsible government.

DR. MONTAGUE says that the Liberals when in office before made a record for blundering, stupidity and incapacity. No doubt. They had no Onderdonk hauls, no Quebec Harbour steals, no Esquimalt dock raids, no Tay Canal, no Edward Cochrane selling appointments, no Curran Bridge, no Caraquet railway. Nor did their leader regard loquacity as the only qualification for the holding of high office. The Liberals undoubtedly, judged by the present standards, were slow and absurdly stupid in failing to appreciate the opportunities which the possession of office opened to them and their friends.

THE PRICES FOR GRAIN.

The recent advance in the prices of nearly all Canadian cereals is having an important effect on country remittances. This week is considered an important one by the wholesale dry goods people on account of the fact that it closed the month, and that next week a considerable amount of paper becomes due. The indications are that this paper will be well met. Already money is coming in better from the country trade, both for payment on Accounts and paper becoming due on the fourth of the month. The remittances at this time are better than for the corresponding period last pear, and the prospects are that the percentage of renewals on notes will be much smaller. The improvement in this respect is largely owing to the better prices now being obtained for cereals. Prices current for wheat and coarse grains show a remarkable advance in the past few weeks. Two months ago Ontario winter wheat was selling at country points at 67½c.; Friday it sold on the Northern at $1.02. Oats were quoted two months ago at 33½c., now they are held at 41c. outside, and some sellers are unwilling to sell for less than 45c. Rye sold then at 47c., now it is quoted at 65c. Peas that were worth 58c. then bring 63c. now, and barley which a few weeks ago sold at 46c. to 49c. would command as high as 52c. to 55c. to-day. Flour is also dearer, straight roller showing an advance of $1.75 per barrel, compared with the price that obtained for this grade a couple of months ago. All this has a very important bearing on the general business of the country, and the only drawback, as mentioned before, is the fact that the stocks of grains are so small. A great part of this advance in prices came before the recent advance in prices in the United Stated markets, so that it must be largely attributed to the small stocks of grain in Canada. A great deal of wheat was fed to stock in Canada the past year owing to the low prices that could be obtained for it last fall and winter. This fact was pointed out in the Globe some months ago, and when it came to be realised that the feeding of wheat to hogs and other stock would really make a large hole in the stocks of the country the large millers began to buy, and prices went rapidly up.

For one dollar, you may buy a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which, if taken in time, and according to directions, may save a great many dollars in doctors' bills, and thus exemplify the truth of the old maxim, "Prevention is better than cure."

THE FROST AND THE CROPS.

A bulletin issued by the Ontario department of Agriculture says that the frosts which occurred from May 13th to May 21st, were exceedingly severe in nearly all parts of the Province as well as in the adjoining States. The inland and higher sections suffered exceedingly; a narrow slip along Lake Erie and Ontario was more fortunate, especially where sheltered by higher land. Extensive damage has been done to the more tender fruits, early vegetables and nut-bearing trees. In the Lake Erie counties grapes and strawberries have been much injured, except on Pelee Island. Orchards and vineyards near the lakes have suffered less than others. Cherries have been somewhat severly injured, pears and peaches not so much, apples promise a good crop. In the Niagara District grapes, cherries, small fruits, plums, peaches, pears and apples were affected in the order named—grapes most, apples least. In the Lake Huron, Georgian Bay and West Midland Counties the damage was more general. On the whole the grape crop is a failure, except in a few favoured localities; small fruits, peaches, plums and pears will be scanty, cherries decidedly so. Apples promise a fair yield except in the Huron region.

Fall wheat seems to have come through many tribulations — drought in the fall, a January thaw flooding low places and forming ice, and finally the May frosts, which, however, injured it less than they injured the spring grains. So far the crop has been remarkably free from insect pests. Barley, oats and peas were hurt by the frost, but in the case of spring wheat much of the crop was not far enough advanced to be injured.

Farm labourers, as a rule are not scarce, and wages continue to fall. Servant girls for the farm are in demand.

THE LATE MICHAEL MULLINS.

Norwood Register.

One of the earliest settlers of the township of Asphodel passed away on Saturday last in the person of Michael Mullins. The deceased was a native of Ireland, and came with his parents to Canada in 1825. At that time Peterborough county was a huge forest and very sparsely settled. Along with thirty-seven other families they were granted a portion of land by the crown and supplied with some implements and tools with which to hew out a home for themselves. After following the plow for a number of years Mr. Mullins moved into Norwood and built the hotel known as the Brennan House, then called the Norwood House. He afterwards disposed of this property to Mr. Brennan and spent his remaining years in retirement. He was married twice. His first wife was Bridget Leahy and the second Ann Murphy, both of whom are deceased. Four children survive him, viz., Maurice, Michael, William H. and Mrs. E Ball, all of whom reside in Brooklyn, N. Y. The remains were conveyed to St. Paul's church, where requiem high mass was conducted by the venerable pastor, Rev. Father Conway, after which the large cortege proceeded to the R. C. cemetery, Asphodel, where the body was laid to rest. Deceased was in his 86th year. His daughter and three sons from Brooklyn and other relatives from a distance were present at the funeral.

CROWDED TROLLEYS COLLIDE.

Motorman Injured, But the 200 Passengers Escape.

Preston, June 3.—Friday night as a trolley car was coming down the hill near the power house, with a motor and two trailers crowded with people, a collision took place. The cars were badly damaged, but none of the two hundred passengers were injured seriously. Motorman Jenkins, however, was less fortunate. His leg was broken and his face badly cut with flying splinters. He stuck to his post till the crash came.

TWO TROLLEY ACCIDENTS IN MONTREAL

An Old Man Injured—Seven Injured in a Collision

Montreal, June 3.—There was a big smash-up in West Mount, when a Street Railway trailer jumped the track and was run into by a car from the opposite direction. Conductor Lemay, Mrs. Long, John Grosse, a laborer, Fred Morris, the Misses O'Neill, Violet Kearns and several others were quite seriously injured, but it is believed all will recover, although Grosse is in a critical condition.

A little later in the evening a deaf and dumb man named Simeon Petit attempted to board a car going at a high rate of speed, and being thrown under the wheels received severe injuries, but the doctors think he may recover.

TROLLEY CARS IN A CRASH.

One Man Badly Hurt and Many Frightened and Bruised.

New York, June 2.—A trolley car of the Brooklyn Heights Company crashed into another yesterday afternoon, at Washington and Flushing-avenues. Both were filled with passengers who were frightened and bruised. Only one man was badly hurt. He is James Connolly, of No. 13 Navy-street, and was cut about the head. His left arm was broken. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

15 Injured by a Car Upsetting.

Syracuse, N.Y., une 2.—A trolley car full of pleasure seekers on their way to Onondago Lake jumped the tracks and rolled down an embankment at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Out of 20 passengers only five escaped without injury. The car was going at a high rate of speed, and in going down the embankment tore loose from the trucks and rolled completely over, landing on its roof in the puddle of water.

Fell From a Log to Death.

Ottawa, June 3.—Cecil Hawken, the 7-year-old son of ex-Ald. Jos. Hawken, was drowned in the Ottawa River at New Edinburgh yesterday afternoon. The boy was playing on some logs when he fell in.

Drowned in Desjardins Canal.

Hamilton, June 3.—Saturday afternoon Charles Grant, aged 16, while bathing in Desjardins Canal, was drowned.

Two Drownings From La Bourgogne.

New York, June 3.—The captain of the steamer La Bourgogne which arrived here this morning, reports that on May 27 John Lawrence, aged 26, an American saloon passenger fell overboard while attempting to recover his hat. The vessel was at once stopped and a boat lowered, but no trace of him could be found. On the 31st Guillard fell overboard and was drowned.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

Old Mr. Dobson Badly Injured Near Havelock.

A serious runaway occurred just east of the long crossing, between Norwood and Havelock, about noon on Monday. Mr. Dobson, an old man residing near Havelock, was coming to Norwood for some peas and potatoes and in descending the hill east of the crossing, his horses became frightened and ran away.

Messrs. Durling and McLachlan happened along shortly afterwards and picked up his hat at the foot of the hill. A little farther on they found the old man lying beside the road. He appeared to be very seriously injured and was unable to answer any of their questions as to how the accident occurred.

He managed to tell them that his name was Dobson. The wagon and horses were found near the crossing, the wagon being smashed. The unfortunate man was taken to the Queen's Hotel, Havelock, and Dr. Jeff was called in, who pronounced his injuries very serious, and owing to his advanced years the doctor thought his recovery doubtful. His wounds were dressed and in the evening he was conveyed to his home.

Babies in Summer!

A babe cannot get well and strong when the tissues and powers of the physical system are being starved to death. Poor and faulty food is the cause of many a child's sickness and death.

When the infant cannot be nourished by pure and healthy mother's milk during the hot months of summer, Lactated Food is the best substitute in the world, and is recommended by over 20,000 physicians on this continent.

Poorly fed babies die off in the heat of summer; it is impossible to raise them on the common prepared foods. On the other hand, it is well known to physicians that Lactated Food fed babies grow vigorous and healthy, and easily resist every prevailing summer complaint.

UNIONISTS CONFIDENT

That They Will Oust the Rosebery Governmet.

THEY LOOK FOR A CLEAN SWEEP

But the Liberals Will Not Vacate Office Just to Please Their Opponents—Unionists Counting Their Cabinet Chickens Already—The Ameer's Son a Social Anxiety.

London, June 3.—The decision arrived at by the Cabinet to resolutely continue Government Bills in the House of Commons until autumn, no matter how small the Liberal majority may be, is evidently due to the desperate position of the party through its unpreparedness for a general election. The latest report of the Executive Committee of the Liberal Federation shows that there are still from 60 to 70 constituencies that have hitherto been contested by the Liberals that are without suitable candidates. There are plenty of men offering to stand, but they would require the aid of the party purse, and they lack the local influence or general reputation that would give their candidacy a chance of success. A drain upon the funds of the party is inevitable, and the wealthy Liberals are again subscribing freely.

The baronetcies just conferred on Messrs. Brunner, Dale and Dunne, and the knighthoods conferred on Messrs., Furnish, Lees and Pullar, all of whom are commercial magnates, have their first reason in the large sums each had contributed to the support of the party. The weakness of the Liberals does not lie so much in the scarcity of money as in the lack of good men to make a fight in the constituencies. This weakness threatens to overwhelm the party in disaster at the elections, which are believed by many to be close at hand.

The members of the Government think that delay will enable them to better consolidate their forces. The business of the House of Commons has been so arranged for after the Whitsuntide holidays that the Local Veto bill, the stumbling stone in the pathway of the Government, will be thrown back until the end of July. If the supporters of the Local Veto measure persist in putting it in the front rank, a general party conference will be summoned to decide upon the course to be followed. The Unionists are eager to force dissolution of the House. They talk of moving a vote of want of confidence in the Government as soon as the House resumes business, but the Tories, continuing confident o fthe defeat of the Government on the Local Veto bill, are willing to wait until July before they attempt to overthrow the Ministry.

The Liberals will enter the electoral campaign expecting to be defeated. The Unionists, who feel assured of a majority in the next House, are already discussing the composition of the next Cabinet. It is almost certain that there will be startling changes from the last Unionist Ministry. The members of the Carlton Club are dead against the Rt. Hon. George J. Goschen again holding the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer, and insist that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach be appointed to the post. Mr. Goschen's old colleagues want him to go to the House of Lords, but political burial does not suit him. He declares that he is not rich enough to take a Peerage. Hitherto it has been supposed that he was among the wealthiest members of the Liberal-Unionist party. It transpires that the income from the firm of Fruhling & Goschen is distributed among numerous proprietors. Mr. Goschen is also required to provide for a large family, and consequently he does not feel able to maintain the dignity of a peerage.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, leader of the Liberal-Unionists, also aims to become Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Conservatives desire that he should take the post of Secretary of State for War. They want a man in that office who is strong enough to tackle the question of Duke of Cambridge's retention of the Commandership-in-chief of Her Majesty's forces. It is a mistake to suppose that the Conservatives favor the Duke of Cambridge. The old Tories have old time notions on this subject, but the young Conservatives, reflecting the feeling of the army, strongly resent the Duke's continuance in the post. They would abolish the position, thus depriving the Duke of Connaught or other members of the Royal Family of a chance of obtaining the hereditary right to be Chief Commander of the Army.

Nasrulla Khan, the second son of the Ameer of Afghanistan, who is now visiting England, is not a social success. When he makes visits accompanied by some of the members of his suite, he becomes a social anxiety. The natives of the party live in barbaric style at Dorchester House. They sleep on mattresses placed on the floor, and cover themselves with rugs, declining to use the more comfortable beds. The English officials who are superintending the party had to correct their habits of pocketing the silver-plate from the tables of their entertainers, a habit which occasioned considerable more or les adverse comment during their stay in India, but which, it appears, they were then allowed to follow if they could escape the observants of their hosts.

THE BASKATONG MURDER.

It Is Now Thought Mrs. La Framboise Had Assistance in the Crime.

Hull, Que., June 3.—The presumption that Mrs. LaFramboise did not murder Sarah Jones at Baskatong single-handed is fast ripening into certainty. The brother of the accused woman could not be found to testify at the inquest, but was arrested Saturday and his evidence taken by a magistrate. He swore that he and another witness, one Asselin, were passing the Jones' on the morning of the murder when they heard a cry and looking in the direction of the house saw Mrs. LaFramboise with an ax in her hand, threatening to break in the door. Mrs. LaFramboise shouted to her brother to come and help her. Both he and Asselin went on without paying any attention to her. His evidence is discredited by the Crown. The case will come up for hearing at a special court to be held immediately after the Midsummer holidays.

WHEN BILL AGAIN HR. ST. LOUIS

The Connolly's Disposo of Their Richelieu Stock at a Good Profit.

Montreal, June 3.—There is a good deal of comment just now over Messrs. Nicholas and Michael Connolly's handsome profits in their Richelieu & Ontario Company's deal, yet no one grudges these enterprising and hard-working gentlemen their good luck. The Connolly Bros. a year or two since purchased 5000 shares of Richelieu at $55, and controlled matters generally. By their energy and good judgment they put the company on its feet, and it is now understood that they have about all sold out at $95, clearing in the transaction not less than $120,000. They are now on the outlook for new worlds to conquer.

In connection with the latest proceedings taken against Emanuel St. Louis, the Curren bridge contractor, and in which case a true bill was found by the grand jury, Saturday afternoon, a curious incident has up to now escaped public attention. When Judge Desnoyers' elaborate decision had been prepared and handed to the press, it was noticed that the judgment wound up by the statement that there was nothing to prevent the Government from bringing the case before the Grand Jury, if the plaintiffs see fit to do so. It appears, however, that this clause had been omitted at a subsequent date, and the judgment as read in court made no reference to the powers of the Crown, consequently the surprise of the defendant was very great when the action against him was renewed.

Murdered and the Corpse Fired

San Francisco, June 2.—Miss Nellie Harrington, 35 years old, who lived in an upstairs flat at 1017 Ellis street, was found murdered in her room yesterday afternoon with her clothes on fire. There were stab wounds all over her body and on her face, and her jaw was broken. The lower part of her body was badly burned, but her face had escaped the flames.

Six Outsiders Hurt in a Duel

Petersburg, Ind., June 2.—Two brothers named Debal became involved in a quarrel and began shooting at each other with shot-guns, which resulted in six bystanders being injured. J. Hawkins had both eyes shot out, and a portion of a charge of shot entered his abdomen. He cannot recover.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

Good Times Returning.

New York, May 31.—Reports to Bradstreets' from manufacturing industries in 75 cities east of the Rocky Mountains show that more than 128 important manufacturing concerns started up between April 1 and a week ago, by reason of which 52,000 employees have secured work. But the additional and significant fact is found in the report that wages of no fewer than 178,000 industrial employes have been advanced within this period an average of 10 per cent., of whom 6-7 received the advance without striking. The tendency of prices this week is again upward.

Peterborough Post Office.

From the annual report of the Postmaster General it is learned that the revenue of the Peterborough postoffice is as follows:—Gross postal revenue, $10,861.49; money orders issued, 6,023; amount of same, $54,082.08; total amount of money orders paid $60,871.28; total commission received from the public, $479.55; total money order business, $114,903.36; compensation paid to postmaster on money order business, $161.25; salary, $3,800; forward allowance, $420.00.

Electric Light for Hastings.

It is a settled fact, the contract being signed by the corporation and the Canadian General Electric Co., of Peterborough on Wednesday evening. It is to be operated by 1st of July. The system will be an Edison three wire, direct current capable of supplying current for arc or incandescent, etc., and motors. The town puts in eight 1,200 candle power arc lights at a cost of $350 per annum, being at a lower rate than usual, owing to the water power being supplied very reasonably by Mr. W. Fowlds. This will be another attraction for 1st July, and add to the attraction of the event, "Opening of Fair and Athletic Grounds."—Star.

Feel Hot?

Of course you do—but it's your own fault. You want cooler clothing. Don't make yourself miserable sweltering in the heat any longer. No sensible man should resist paying H. LeBrun & Co., the clothiers, a visit, when it is known the extraordinary values they are giving in lightweight summer coats, vests, underwear and shirts. Their choice is immense, their style right, and their prices about one-half. Stop and take a look at their window display of cool negligee and French cambric shirts, neckwear and other furnishings. Note particularly the great reductions in prices and you'll buy on the spot. Cool clothing is a wonderful help in making you feel comfortable, buoyant and cheerful during the hot weather and will put you in better trim for your work.

Death of Mr. R. H. Howard.

The funeral of the late R. H. Howard, of the firm of Howard & Co., wholesale merchants, Toronto, took place on Saturday. Mr. Howard had many warm friends in Peterborough, who learned with timely regret of his death, after several months' illness. Mr. Howard was laid at rest with Masonic honours, and among those who attended the funeral was Mr. H. Rush, who acted as one of the pall-bearers. Deceased was a charter member of Ashley Lodge A. F. and A. M. Deceased was aged 59 years.

Belleville Sun Trade Edition.

The trade edition of the Belleville Sun, published last Friday, is a splendid specimen of the typographical art and of newspaper business enterprise. It is beautifully printed on fine calendered paper, and consists of 26 pages, with cover beautifully illustrated by sections of Belleville's scenery, public buildings and business houses. The exceptionally well written contents are descriptive of the city generally, its beauties, which are many, its commercial advantages, etc., and sketches of scores of the most prominent business enterprises. These latter sketches are generally illustrated with finely-printed, half tone portraits of the proprietors. Altogether the trade edition of the Belleville Sun is a great credit to the Sun Publishing Company as well as to the city, whose appreciation of high-class journalism makes such a venture justifiable. The Sun—long may it shine. Congratulations on its splendid trade edition.

It Pays to be Honest.

One would have thought that the success of Canada's persistent efforts to develop her cheese trade with Great Britain would have suggested the necessity of a like zealous care as to the quality of the consignments of other produce. Our columns—and notably the recent letter from Prof. Sheldon as to the shipments of Canadian apples—suggest otherwise. Neglect always retaliates upon the country of origin sooner or later. On this point the Quebec commissioners report that they attended an English fruit sale by an auctioneer, and noticed that he never sold a lot without first emptying a barrel or case before the purchasers. If it is seen that the inside of the barrel does not contain fruit of uniform quality and size, the fact is bound to have an injurious effect upon the sale. "English importers," they very sensibly add, "are never deceived with impunity. Exporters who sell as good that which is of interior quality, or who mix bad with good articles, run the risk of having their goods rejected in future on the English market.—Canadian Gazette, London, England.

REV. J. J. RAE SPEAKS TO THE FORESTERS.

THE MEMBERS OF THE CANADIAN ORDER

Attend Divine Worship in the Charlotte Street Church Yesterday—A Large Number Present—The Sermon.

Fully two hundred members of the local Courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters attended divine service in the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday, and listened to an intensely interesting sermon delivered by Rev. J. J. Rae, such as few other than he can preach, possessing, as he does, the happy faculty of being able to enlarge on just such facts, as are of the greatest interest to members of the fraternal societies.

The took as his text the words:

"Whosoever shall seek to save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life shall preserve it."—St. Luke, xvii, 33.

The underlying principle to every truly successful life was sacrifice for good—for good to others and to self. The world has claims upon them—each man had claims upon his fellow-man—how were they to discharge these claims? This was the question of the day, as it had been the question of the past, and would be the question the future must answer. What was Christ's answer? It cannot be better secured than by analysing this answer to the disciples on the way to Emmaus, as they questioned on the reality of the cross, "Ought not Christ to have suffered these things." All true benefit to mankind had been wrought out in obedience to an "ought," even if that obedience led up the gory heights of sacrifice. But how was this principle, this willingness to suffer for others good to be administered? Paul's answer is decisive, "All ye are Brethren." Bound to God as sons they were brothers indeed and through the holy cords of this kinship they were to send the of helpfulness. This demanded on the part of the individual the highest possible manhood and in proportion to that degree of attainment should be man's usefulness be measured. This may be looked at from three standpoints. First, in the relation to the life that now was. To live to highest benefit they must have high aims, lofty ideals, for they were never better than the standards they set for themselves. The broad, unselfish, generous man is the best man in the world. They must take all possible helps to this end. If there be a power in prayer, if there be a virtue in the atonement of Christ. If there be a merit in all of these should be readily grasped by the man that would make the best of life. The temporal things must be used to the greatest advantage. Their friends, their incomes, their pleasures, their sorrows, their honours, all should be made tributary to the one great end, the husbanding their resources for the life that now was. But it might be said, was not this putting too much stress on the present life? Could they put too much stress upon it? Where did life begin if not here? And where could it be developed if not here? This was the domain where man became a friend, a helper, a brother, a Christian; and if not here, then not at all. He who devoted himself for the blessing of the world here was the man who losing his life shall save it, and he who failed so to do, saving his life shall lose it. Secondly, in relation to the legacy at life's close. "A good name is better than great riches." The grandest legacy that a man could leave was the record of a great and noble life. It crystalised itself into every other life, and by constant transmigration

LIFTED THE AGES HIGHER.

It was a monument that would not crumble, a record that could not be effaced. The preacher dwelt upon the life of leading men and women that had left their impress on the world for good. Men all having lost their lives had saved them. Third, in relation to the life to come. They were not built to stay here. They were living in two worlds. What should the next one be to them when they left this forever? What babes they were at the thought of eternity, and yet the man who in obedience to a great purpose, had conquered self and lived to bless the world had raised himself by that conquest and blessing until he stood with his hand upon the latch of the eternal, and face to face with God.

In concluding, Mr. Rae said: "Men of the Canadian Order of Foresters, believing, as you do, in the ministry of helpfulness, in the fraternity of sympathy and good will which are the characteristics of your order, be men indeed. Let the principles for which you are banded together inspire you to greatest manhood. Live great lives. Take the great example, and ultimately when you shall pass from the lower court of earth 'twill be to the higher court of heaven, where assured against all loss, and insured of eternal gain, having lost your lives ye shall have saved them unto life eternal.

During the service, Messrs. A. L. Davis and Steers and Misses M. Pollard and F. Hall rendered very admirably a quartette.

Upon returning to the court rooms a resolution was moved by Brothers A. Clegg and R. Thornton, thanking Rev. Mr. Rae for his eloquent and able address, the members of the choir for their services and the trustees for the use of the church. The resolution was unanimously carried as was one moved by Brothers F. J. Jameson and Wm. Isaacs thanking the junior members for their large attendance.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

Miss Hansen sang "The Holy City" in St. Paul's church yesterday by special request, and in the rendition of this beautiful composition quite supassed herself, handling her voice in a manner most perfect.

Yesterday being Penticost Sunday it was observed with special solemnities at St. Peter's Cathedral. The services of the day began with mass at 8 o'clock. This was followed by mass and confirmation at 9 o'clock. At that hour a procession of candidates formed at the Convent and marched to the church. There were altogether 190 candidates, about 125 girls and the remainder boys. The boys marched first preceded by the banneret of the Sacred Heart, and the girls by the banneret of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. Mass was sung by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, who had prepared the class, and the holy rite of confirmation was performed by His Lordship, who in his address spoke of the significance of the solemn ceremony, with special reference to the descent of the Holy Ghost on the day of Penticost. His Lordship also exacted from all a pledge to perform their evening devotions, and to attend mass every Sunday, when possible. In addition he exacted from the boys a pledge to abstain from intoxicating drinks till they were twenty-one years of age, and strongly urged them to renew their bond of abstinence at that age. This is in accordance with a practice agreed upon by the bishops generally. The ceremony was a very impressive one.

REV. DR. SMITH AT ST. ANDREW'S.

Anniversary Services Conducted There Yesterday.

TWO ELOQUENT SERMONS DELIVERED DURING THE DAY.

Large Congregations in Attendance to to Hear the Distinguished Divine From Kingston—Excellent Programme of Music Rendered During the day by the Members of the Choir.

Rev. Dr. Smith, of Kingston, delivered two very impressive sermons at the anniversary services which were held morning and evening in St. Andrew's church, yesterday.

The reverend gentleman is a clear and forcible speaker and the points in his sermons were made so distinctly as to borne home to each individual of the very large congregations in attendance.

In the evening, the doctor took as the text for his sermon, the words "In that last day, the great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, if any man thirst, let him come unto Me and drink."—St. John vii chap., 37th verse.

This text contained far more than appeared on the surface, the speaker explained, as it appeared to contain something of reproof in it.

The words were spoken on the last day of the Feast of the Tabernacles, when the large concourse of people gathered together in Jerusalem were engaged in drawing water from the well, and after with it, pouring it upon the sacrifices on the altar. It was the great day of Atonement amongst the Jews. On this last great day, after spending the several previous ones in doing most extraordinary things, the Jews at the feast were engaged in the performance of the most extravagant observances. Why was this done? What was the probable reason for resorting to these practices at the close of the great week of atonement? The people were probably in earnest, as when extravagant things are done in connection with any religion the participants are generally found to be most earnest. It might be noticed that many when engaged in prayer would wring their hands in their fervency, and not content with kneeling would prostrate themselves and cry aloud, as if the Lord did not hear well.

Our object in worship was to please God and to satisfy the claims of an enlightened conscience. Now, who would suppose that these extravagant observances in the way of prostration and crying aloud was either going to please God or satisfy the claims of conscience.

It was just so with the Jews on

THE DAY OF ATONEMENT.

After spending seven days in religious ceremonies, they had probably neglected the most essential things which had brought them together. Like stupid children they had forgotten the errand upon which they had come.

God might have said to them in reproof "Do you think these things please me, will they cleanse your souls from sin or satisfy an enlightened conscience." Seeing, however, that they were anxious to please him in their fluency He merely called aloud and said, "If any man thirst let him come unto Me," meaning that all who were truly desirous of serving Him should cast aside those foolish observances and come unto the fountain, here to quench their thirst and be cleansed of their sins.

This is the great invitation of our Lord, "If any man thirst let him come unto Me and drink."

There were two parts to the invitation:
1. If any man thirst.
2. Let him come, let the thirsty man come, unto Me and drink.

You hear of a great feast being given and you hear all are invited on this great occasion, and you wonder if you will also be bidden to partake. This is to know. Many things are taken for granted in the Christian church, in a slipshod fashion, but I want all to look at this question now, said he, as though it was quite new, had just been pronounced in fact. Who are invited? Have we not an answer in the words, "Everyone that thirsts, come ye to the waters." Again, "Whosoever will let him take the waters of life," and "If any man thirst let him come unto me and drink." By these words we see that none are excluded. The grand invitation takes in all, at least, that is what the Bible would lead us to believe, but there are some things to be looked into.

When the disciples were sent out with the invitation they were told to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. This was the great commission. Surely there could be no mistake about it. It was distinct enough, one would think, to be be understood by all. Yet the people it was intended for changed and twisted its import. The Jews, the seed of Abraham, thought that they were the only ones of the world who were to be saved, and at the time the great commission was uttered never dreamt for a moment that it was as well as themselves, else they would have torn the Lord in pieces. But the Apostles understood and went their way to the Gentiles. In later years when it was seen that others than the Jews were to be ministered unto Jesus was persecuted because He actually contemplated admitting the despised Gentiles to the holiest privileges of the church.

Let me call attention, said he, for a moment to Christ's own commission, "The Son of Man is come into the world to seek and to save that which was lost."

From whom do we learn the most about Jesus? Not from the high priests, who were afraid of being supplanted. Not from the great Cæsar, who trembled for his throne, when he heard the Great King had come, but from other classes entirely for He went about doing good not only to respectable people, but to others as well.

Respectable people, continued the Doctor, how nice that words sounds and how we all like to dwell on it. How we like to attable people go, where the members draw tend a church where only the most respectup to the door

IN THEIR FINE CARRIAGES.

I wonder, queried he, if there was a church in existence where all the poor people saved by the Lord, when upon earth, attended, how many of us would care to go there? Very few, I venture to say, Take for example the lost woman who crept in at the door at the feast of Nazareth. One of those poor creatures who had broken the covenant with her Maker and fallen so low that she was looked down upon by all. She fell at the feet of the Saviour and washed them with her tears. The disciples and those present thought that Jesus was was not what He assumed to be since He could not discover the vile character of the woman. But none can fall so low that they cannot be saved, and the woman was saved.

For information concerning Jesus we could go to this poor woman, or to the Roman centurion to whom He showed His might, or to the multitude which was fed with the loaves and fishes, or to the terrified disciples on the tempestuous Sea of Galilee, were calmed at a word.

Dr. Smith then dwelt for some time on the great characteristic of the human race — non-contentment. If a man made five or ten thousand dollars he wanted twenty-five, then a hundred, then a million. He would know no rest. He was always striving for more. No matter what he attained he was never content. This was evidently a disease affecting the whole human race, and the Psalmist had evidently struck the key note, when he said "My soul thirsteth for God, the living God." The soul was always athirst, always groping for the unknown. Never satisfied because it could not realize what it sought. It was the love of God for which it was groping all unknown to itself and its thirst could only be quenched and satisfied at the foot of the throne.

The Jews on their Day of Atonement did extravagant things, they knew not what they wanted, but they were in earnest, and strove to satisfy their cravings by what they thought were most fervent observances. The Lord discerned that for which they sought and cried aloud, "If any man thirst, let him come unto Me and drink." They were all athrist, as are we, and unless the Saviour is sought we shall go through life with this feeling of discontent ever with us.

The Doctor closed his address with a most eloquent appeal to the congregation to take the Saviour at His word and quench their thirst at His feet.

Excellent music was furnished by the choir during the day, the following programme being followed:—

LACROSSE.

The Campbellford Gazette in commenting on the lacrosse matches in that town on the 24th, says:—"The most exciting matches of the day came on next, Peterboroughs and Athletics, of Peterborough, and winners vs. Campbellford.

The Peterborough clubs played a very fast though not very brilliant game. Each team evidently intended to win but both could not be victors. The Athletics proved the stronger. At the end of one hour's play the score stood 4—0 in their favour. The Peterboroughs were much lighter than their opponents and although as good stick handlers, were deficient in team play.

The Athletic-Campbellford match was the one of most interest to the people of Campbellford. Little hope was entertained that our boys would stand a show, and the result was a surprise. Although the home team was defeated 1-0 their performance was very creditable. Had not the Campbellford boys been playing in the hardest luck, the medals would undoubtedly be now in their possession. No less than three times Campbellford missed splendid chances to score. The good game put up by the home club will go far to awaken an interest amongst our citizens in our national game.

All lacrossists are urged to attend a meeting at the Palace Restaurant to-night in order to talk over the question of the amalgamation of the Peterboroughs and the Athletics. It is desired that there be a full attendance of the members in order that there may be a fair discussion of both sides of the question.

The committee in charge of the C. P. R. picnic on the 27th, in the Driving Park, has authorized the secretary of the Peterboroughs to make a match with the Perth team for that date. A $35 trophy will be offered.

In the event of there being no amalgation between the Athletics and Peterboroughs, the former club will play at Beaverton on the 6th.

The Peterborough Juniors will probably have a match with the Orillia Juniors on the 6th in that town.

CRICKET.

The Veterans and Colts came together in a match on Saturday afternoon. The Colts went to bat first and sent in Vernon McGill and Geo. K. Martin. Martin was bowled for three by Stocker, and Drope took McGill's stumps for eight. Mac. Poussette and Terrill made quite a stand, piling up eighty-six runs between them, Terrill making 36 and Poussette carrying his bat for 51. Edmonds, of the Electric Works, made his initial appearance on the grounds. He is a splendid fielder and gives great promise as a batsman. Sawers and Ferguson showed up well in the field.

For the Veterans Stocker made eleven before McGill took his wicket, and W. J. Drope ran up a score of between twenty and thirty. Mr. Wm. Hartley also did well at the bat. The victory went to the colts.

In the Old Boys match against Trinity College School, on Saturday, Mr. R. B. Rogers carried his bat for 13, making the top score for the Old Boys. Mr. N. St. C. Gurd also contributed to the score.

In a match with Trinity against Varsity on Thursday last Mr. Perry Goldsmith and Mr. Dave Rogers made the big scores of the day, making over eighty runs between them.

THE WHEEL.

The wheelmen of Hastings have organized a club, called it the Excelsiors, and elected these officers:

Hon. President—John Quigley.
President—H. A. Wilson.
1st Vice-President—H. W. Fowlds.
2nd Vice-President—Geo. Hill.
3rd Vice-President—J. J. English.
Secretary—O. M. Alger.
Treasurer—Walter Fowlds.
Captain—H. Lombar.

The club will join the C.W.A.

Mr. Robert McCormick, of Belleville, is of an inventive turn of mind. His latest product is a sole leather bicycle tire. It is made on the clincher style and is shown inflated with a G. & J. tube. The smooth side of the leather is turned inwards, leaving a splendid gripping surface on the outside. There can be no doubt that the tire will wear well in dry weather and the maker is now engaged on a composition to make it waterproof. If he succeeds in this he will have revolutionised the manufacture of tires, as the cost of material is only a little over half the price of rubber and the weight is only about half that of the ordinary tires.

QUOITING.

The trustees of the Nicholls' estate have offered to lay out a quoiting ground in Inverlea Park if the local experts organize and form a club. This generous offer ought to be closed with at once, and organization immediately effected. Peterborough possesses some crack players at this old game, and if once they had a common ground upon which to meet some great contests would result.

CHEMONG PARK HOTEL AND SUMMER HOTEL.

Now Fully Open for the Season of 1895—Prospects Good for a Busy Season.

This popular summer resort is now fully open for the reception of guests for the season of 1895. The prospects for a successful season's business is good. In addition to other private engagements which have already been made ahead, a party of fifteen American gentlemen have engaged rooms for the 15th, who are to remain for an indefinite season and enjoy the sport which the opening of the fishing season in Chemong Lake and its tributary waters afford.

The park is now free to all excursion parties, public or private. The healthy situation, overlooking Chemong Lake, the clear bracing air, freedom from mosquitoes and other similar pests, makes this spot a welcome place for cool, quiet and restful recreation.

Chemong Park boasts of one of the best boat liveries in Ontario—skiffs, canoes and sailing boats can be hired for any period during the season, and parties are assured of the most careful attention from Johnny Pope, well known for years past in connection with this resort.

The commodious dancing platform on the grounds near the lake shore is one of the comports and attractions of the park, and attached to which Mr. Alex. Elliott, of the Palace Grocery, town, will again keep a well-arranged general store for the convenience of cottagers, guests of the hotel, picnic parties and excursion parties.

The pleasure steamer Dawn will run during the summer to and from the park and the railway station for the convenience of patrons of the hotel and park, and will also be available for private picnic and fishing parties all over the lakes.

The Chemong branch of the G.T.R. will be opened in a few days for the summer travel. An omnibus connection will also be run between the park and town, leaving the Grand Central Hotel twice a day.

About thirty cottagers will be camped at the park this summer.

Acting through the blood, Hood's Sarsaparilla not only cures scrofula, salt rheum, etc., but gives health and vigor to the whole body.

DR. SMITH.

A Pioneer in the Work of the Young Men's Christian Association.

It is not often that the fellows have the privilege of hearing so strong a talk as that given by Rev. Dr. Smith, yesterday afternoon. His theme was "Protection and Conquest," and in a very earnest talk he told of some experiences of his early manhood.

He said:—"Several years ago, while walking along one of the streets of Chicago with a friend, a man was pointed out to me and his history told. It was the old story that might be told of so many young men to-day.

Alone in Chicago; only a boarding house and a cold room to stay in at nights, no companions, no place to go, but hold there! Some places are open and you will be welcomed, the saloons, beer gardens, theatres, dance halls, pool rooms, etc. These are open every night in the week and are bright and lively. The young man soon makes friends here, but his employers seeing his company have no further use for him now, oh! so fast, down, down he goes until he stands at the brink of the grave and eternity, the wreck of manhood. In young manhood I spent some time in Cincinnati and there realised what it meant to be alone in a city and just what temptation was.

The reverend gentleman went on to tell of a revival in Cincinnati and of a "Society of Religious Enquiry" being organized in answer to a need felt for strength to resist temptation. The different members of the society, their meeting places in the unfrequented part of a depot yard, in a lumber yard, and for some time in the study of one of the pastors, and the progress of the society were touched on. So far the doors of the society were open to members of one church only, but finally they were thrown open to members of all, evangelical denomination and the name changed to the Cincinnati Young Men's Christian Association.

The work done by that Association and the real good accomplished was marvellous, said the doctor. The Association was for "protection" against falling into sin, and for the "conquest" of evil habits.

In closing the Dr. touchingly referred to his own conversion through that society, and held up to those present the Jesus Christ of the Bible and His great love, which is the same yesterday, to-day and forever. It was certainly a pleasure and a rare treat to hear experience and advice from such a man as Dr. Smith, and the fellows will not soon forget him and his earnest talk.

The association organized in '48 at Cincinnati was one of the first in America and has since grown until in '91 a new home was given to Cincinnati's young men, which cost $200,000. The work done by these associations throughout the land is of untold value to church, community and home and Peterborough should not be behind in providing a home for her young men and throwing about them healthful and helpful influences.

POLICE COURT.

A Long Session Held This Morning by the Magistrate.

Arthur Sherwood, Robt. Baker and Wm Hall were each mulcted in the sum of $4.48 for allowing their cows to run at large.

Fred McCormick, Geo. Hayes, Wm. Wheeler and Wm. Ellis were all up before the magistrate this morning charged with complicity in causing the disturbance last week in the North Ward, when a couple of young men were mobbed while escorting two young ladies to their homes. The two former were fined $5 each, Wheeler and Ellis clearing themselves of having a hand in the affair.

In the case of Robt. Scriber, charged with the larceny of a canoe from Mr. Geo. Moncrief, the prisoner was discharged, as he brought witnesses to prove that he had been given permission to try the canoe, it being for sale.

Old Mrs. Sanford, charged with vagrancy, was "sent up" for six months.

Disease is cured not by magical incantations, but by medical science. Hence it is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures, and that it proves so eminently successful. It is a skillfully prepared and strictly scientific blood-purifier and tonic, the only one admitted at the World's Fair.

OUR ACQUAINTANCES.

A DISSERTATION ON INTRODUCTIONS, FORMAL AND OTHERWISE.

Sitting on People's Laps, Etc.—Is a Gentleman High Up in a Balloon Who Saves the Life of a Lady Who Has Been Blown Sky High by an Explosion Entitled to Speak to Her Without an Introduction.

Somebody, once upon a time, made a law that no two people should know each other unless some other person willed it so. The introduction was invented way back in prehistoric ages.

We have no authentic proof that Eve went through the little formula: "Mr. Serpent, my husband, Adam," but she, no doubt, made the two gentlemen acquainted with each other by a few tactful words.

We cling to this costume with great persistence. The story of the two survivors of a wreck, who were cast ashore upon a desert island, of which they were the sole inhabitants, and who didn't speak to each other because they hadn't been introduced, is founded on fact.

Now, while it is a very good thing to know a person's name and to feel that some mutual friend vouches for his respectability, the ceremony is not absolutely necessary to a pleasant acquaintanceship.

Conventional laws are made by the people called the majority, who unconsciously afford an extra pleasure to the people called the minority, in giving them something that they can amuse themselves by breaking. Everything you see, has its uses. What a lot of pleasure we should miss if the world were to become the unconventional Utopia which some writers yearn for! There will be no fun in wearing bloomers when skirts are out of fashion!

It is the prolonged, strained effort with which we cling to this Rock of Ages—the introduction—which makes it so enjoyable to drop off once in a while. I have noticed that the majority of people one is introduced to in a thoroughly respectable and conventional fashion, are not people whom one has any wild and consuming desire to know. The natural perversity of human nature makes a young man indifferent as the charms of the nice girl whom his mother introduces him to, and rabid in his exertions to manufacture some accident by which he may get an interview with the sewing unattainable young woman whom he sees setting out the millinery window.

A young man not long ago was strolling up Broadway and chanced to look into one of those exclusive-looking windows, where a very small and haughty concession is made to the public in the shape of a tiny but weird bonnet and a daring creation called a cape. Through the open curtains at the back of this display he saw the forms of young women. It was probably these rather than the millinery that attracted him. They were good-looking young women (young women with a tendency to millinery are apt to be, I have noticed), but they were not any better looking than the young women whom he met in society, for he was one of that inner brotherhood. But the charm for him lay in the fact that they were not the prescribed article. We none of us appreciate the prescribed article.

Struck by the eighteen-inch waist of one of these hat-hourls, he sent a note into the establishment addressed "To the young lady with satin sleeves," asking her to come out and meet him that evening, and naming a rendezvous. The best-laid schemes of mice and men are, however, subject to be upset by hallboys. It happened that there were in the establishment two young women with satin sleeves—one good-looking and frivolous, the other plain and, like Caesar's wife, "above suspicion."

The hallboy gave the note to the plain girl. If there are two courses open to a hallboy you may always count on him to take the wrong one.

What followed bears out the philosophy of that French cynic who remarked that it is the women who are not tempted that do not fall.

The plain young woman went out to meet the young man. I hate to give it away, but that's what she did. You see you cannot even depend upon a stub nose, sterling worth and a blameless past.

She had never done such a thing before, and she dressed very quietly and kept the whole matter wrapped in a mystery. Out to the rendezvous she went, and up and down she walked, waiting for the young man who had been struck by her beauty to come and claim her. Minutes dragged by; a quarter of an hour, half and hour—he didn't come. Three-quarters of an hour—no man. All that time he was walking up and down the opposite side of the street waiting for his charmer, who, blissfully unconscious, was at home, strumming waltzes. The young man noticed the girl walking up and down the street, but except the fact that she was not the right one, paid no particular attention to her. He thought it rather strange that there should be a girl kept waiting, to—that was all.

Finally they both went their respective ways—the man disappointed, the woman mortified. However, conscious virtue feels that it is above suspicion and she comforted herself with the fact that no one knew she had "got left."

The young man tried again, this time giving a more detailed description of her whom he wanted, and at last got an interview with the girl he admired. He described his former disappointment and how he had waited and waited and saw a girl waiting, too. The 18-inch-waisted young woman put two and two together and questioned the hallboy. All was then discovered. The plain young woman was no longer above suspicion. It was evident that it had been want of opportunity and not want of inclination that had kept her in the rigid path of extreme propriety.

The young man, in relating this adventure to me, remarked that when the unattainable becomes attainable, it is not all that one expects. He said that the girl with the satin sleeves—the right one—proved rather stupid, and in regard to the plain girl that he feared the mistake of the letter had forever thrown an idol from its pedestal.

This remark made me think what a fund of interest—if one could only find out—could be found in the unconventionalities of the usually conventional.

In regard to chance or accidental acquaintances, the unwritten laws concerning them are peculiar. For instance, an ocean steamer is always considered a legitimate place for making friends without introductions, the very first day of the trip, too. But you may meet people every day for three weeks in a restaurant, and it would be an outrage to civilization to exchange ideas on the oysters, soup or coffee with them. Knocking a girl over three times on the ice and picking her up a respective number of times is apparently considered equivalent to an introduction, and yet people encounter each other in a space of some three inches more dressed in the primary articles of attire, in a Pullman car, and never as much as say 'good morning."

Crowds at public street parades are good surroundings for the seeker after unconventional acquaintances. Nothing of the kind is practicable in a picture gallery. There is a marked laxity of etiquette on Fall River and Sandy Island pleasure boats, but the social law of a Hudson River steamer is uncompromising and rigid. Nothing less than a woman overboard would be any excuse for a man speaking first unless formally introduced.

A man may knock a woman's hat on one side, sit on her lap twice and apologize profusely going around the 14th street curves on a Broadway cable car, but he may not presume on this intimacy. On the other hand, the fact that some third person mumbled a couple of names, which neither person heard, gives one of the persons named the right to call upon the other person.

The clerk in the drug store who licks the stamp because the woman's veil is down, thus rendering her a valuable and human service, is not recognized by her on the street, and yet the person who has the nerve to preach a three-quarters of an hour sermon gets a bow from his weary listeners afterward.

And if we do not break through the barrier of conventionality and become friendly with some unlikely dressed parson, who comes to us without credentials, how stealthily we do it, and how we apologize for the irregularity of the affair to our friends!

"I met him without an introduction," confesses the young woman, turning pale.

"Dreadful," gasps Mrs. Grundy. "Never tell any one my dear.

For it is a deadly sin to make a friend of one of the opposite sex who has not been personally recommended.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

Toronto. C. L. KELMER.

HYGIENIC CYCLING.

When You Go Wheeling Never Wear Close-Fitting Stays—A Physician's Suggestions.

A Philadelphia physician offers the following counsel of women who will a-wheeling go.

"Every other woman one meets," he says, "owns or is saving for the purchase of a safety, exercise on which there is none better to be found. The wheel takes its rider into the open air, where American women can scarcely spend too much time and any one will notice, to their honor, how erect these petticoated cyclists sit in their saddles, a direct reproach to their hump-shouldered brethren. But there is another side to this picture. It is beginners particularly who are tempted to forget the virtue of taking things easy and in their excited interest make the first mistakes.

"No woman, however strong or eager to learn, should take a cycle lesson over a half hour long, and she should stop frequently in her course of it to rest and pull some long breaths. The girl who is not very strong and the least bit uncertain as to the cause of her weakness will be the happier and better for asking a physician's advice before putting her foot to the pedal. In ninety-nine case out of a hundred he will send her at once to the cycle school.

"It is the anemic, weak-lunged, narrow-chested, dyspeptic woman whom the bicycle is a very tonic, but she, if having no directions from a doctor, must follow common sense in her practice, and if in the first lesson of a half hour seems to have exhausted her strength, should cut it in half, taking 15 minutes twice in one day and a cracker and a few spoonfuls of sherry when the exercise is over. If possible learn to ride in one of the good cycle schools where one learns in half the usual time and the instructor shows a would-be wheelwoman how to use her strength on the pedals so as to save her the muscular effort a poorly taught person puts forth.

"A great deal has been said as to what constitutes the dress graceful and convenient for cycling, but little as to the dress healthful. Now, whether a woman chooses to wear trousers, a short skirt or a long one, let her be sure not to have her stays tight, and if she is slendor and can afford the extra expenditure, use a buttoned corded waist or a pair of short riding corsets in place of the long, heavily boned stays of daily use. There is no gain of grace or beauty in a small waist for bicycling, but much danger to heart and digestion from a tightly-laced body when wheeling. A woman who rides much in summer ought to wear with her lose stays the thinnest of wool undervests, which absorbs the moisture of the body, prevents one from taking cold and is the coolest, lightest garment for wear under a percale skirt waist.

"Never when wheeling garter your stockings with elastic bands above the knee. Use long elastic hose supporters, fastened to the bottom of the corset, and strap under your saddle, when setting out for anything like a lengthy ride, a little case, holding a vial of brandy, a skein of black sewing silk, a needle, a wee pair of scissors, a square of court plaster and a small bottle of ammonia.

"Never get on your wheel until a half hour after eating, and never wheel steadily for more than 30 minutes at a time. Slacken speed and roll along slowly for a bit before resuming a smart pace. Two hours is the longest regular daily exercise even a strong woman should take on her safety, and she who cycles by a doctor's orders may take an hour every other day, preferably in the morning, and a half hour after breakfast for steady exercise, drinking a little milk and eating a biscuit when the work is over."

To Carry Mails on Steam Tricycles.

W. P. Miller of this city received a telegram this morning announcing that he was the successful bidder for the mail route between Ukiah and Harris. Harris is ninety miles north. Mr. Miller's bid of $7,777 was over $100 less than the other bidders'. Mr. Miller is disposing of all his old stage lines now and will give his whole attention to the Ukiah and Harris route. He has placed an order for two six-horse-power gasoline tricycles, which he will use instead of horses. Mr. Miller says the trieycles work finely. He expects to have them here soon. Mr. Miller's contract runs for three years. This is the only stage line in the United States which will be run by steam tricycles, and the experiment will be watched with interest all over the country. They will have room for passengers and mail and will have a speed of from three to twelve miles per hour. The route these machines will be placed on will give them a thorough test, as there is a great deal of mountain road to travel.—San Francisco Examiner.

Perfect Unicycle at Last.

Promises galore have been made from time to time that some great man would shortly introduce a cycle that would revolutionise the world in point of speed; these have never been kept and the people in general, cyclers in particular, have learned to view with an eye of distrust any such statement.

But at last a unicycle has appeared which has been put to the crucial test, and although it is not as yet perfect, it has one thing in its favor, i. e., it has been ridden, and speedily and safely as well.

The machine emanated in the brain of E. N. Highly of Somersworth, N. H., who shared the genius of most inventors, inasmuch as "the idea popped into his head." To a man up a tree "the idea" looks as if it were a good one.

The machine in its crude state is 7 feet 3 inches high, and weighs 54 pounds. Aliminium enters largely into its composition; this metal if fortified by the introduction of a few hickory spokes and whatever steel is requisite for sprocket, wheels, chain and cranks. The rider sits in a circle 42 inches in diameter; tangent spokes radiate from the boundaries of this inner circle to the exterior aluminium rim, which is shod with pneumatic tires.

Facing the saddle is a pair of common handle bars by which the unique vehicle is guided. The motive power is supplied by a series of chain gears attached to friction pulleys which revolve in the inner circle. A peculiar feature of the apparatus is the fact that by removing the saddle, which can be readily done, it practically disables the machine, and thus prevents usuage or possible theft by others.

"If a brick weighs 3 pounds and half a brick, what is the true weight of the brick?"

This is a question which I have propounded to many of my friends, and, strange as it may seem, nearly all of them have been sadly puzzled as to its solution.

The reply one generally gives is 4½ pounds. So getting Euclid's first and third oxioms.

The answer of course, is 6 pounds.—London Answers.

BICYCLES IN 1895.

They are Very Light and It is a Question If They Will Stand the Strain.

So far as weight is concerned the tendency of bicycle construction in this country is in the direction of constant and steady reduction. We are loud in praise of ourselves for this, but when this year of grace has expired and light weight machines have been given their first thorough general test we apprehend there will be about as much wailing as there now is manifestation of happiness. We do not deny that bicycles weighing 32 pounds and under can be ridden upon the road, but we contend that such machines will not last as long as slumsier, heavier, but more substantially constructed machines which we have put away. Bicycles weighing 20 pounds will stand plenty of punishment upon the boulevards and choice country roads; but country roads as countrymen know them, and as they are occasionally revealed to city-bred wheelmen with a turn for travel, will wreck in one season's use the finest light weight bicycle which was ever built, crystallize the tubing in its frame, weaken its vital parts and leave it not worth riding and barely worth trading at the end of the year. And if those who have used light weight bicycles over rough country roads will but confess the truth their words will stand the same interpretation which finds expression above. This year numbers of heavy old bicycles are being traded for light new models, and it is the singular testimony of dealers who take such machines in exchange that they are, so far as their vital parts are concerned, almost without blemish, notwithstanding the fact that they have been in service for years. Will the possessors of this year's bicycles be able to extort as fair a testimonial from the dealer three or four years hence? We trow not.—Cycling Life.

Selecting a Bicycle.

Next to the watch there is nothing that has to be taken on trust more than a bicycle. Like a cheap watch a cheap wheel can be made to imitate a first-class article, so that only an expert can tell which is which. The mischief of it is that whereas the average man is willing to admit that he doesn't know all about a watch simply by looking at the case, and is content to take the dealer's advice, the man who buys a bicycle generally had a firm conviction that he knows it all.

In nine times out of ten when we hear of a man who has taken up wheeling only to drop it again like a bar of hot iron, we can be certain that he has bought a wheel that was too big or too little, or too something or other that it ought not to have been. Had he consulted a friend and also a reliable dealer and selected a wheel, as he would a house to live in, he would not have become discouraged in the first month and renounced bicycling forever. To be sure, some dealers sell bicycles as they would potatoes, but intelligent dealers can be found and are worth looking for. Let them pick you a bicycle that will fit you in height, gear, frame and saddle, and you will be satisfied and suited without going through a round of costly experiments. You don't wear clothes that don't fit you—then why a bicycle?—Exchange.

NO SUCH THING AS OLD AGE

To those who use South American Nervine

A Lady of 80 Years Permanently Cured by this Wonderful Medicine.

Three Doctors said "Old Age was Her Complaint" and Gave Her Up—Three Bottles of Nervine Gave Relief—Twelve Bottles Cured Absolutely.

MRS. JOHN DINWOODY, Flesherton, Ont.

Wordsworth speaks of "An old age serene and bright, and lovely as a Lapland night." And elsewhere this same writer talks of "An old age, beautiful and free." These are conditions that come to the man or woman, though their years may border close on to a century, when in the enjoyment of good health. In fact it is difficult to think of some of the old men and women on the stage of life to-day as old people, there seems to be such a perennial youthfulness about their every movement and act.

Does someone tell us that cases like this must be the exception and not the rule with those who have approached to or gone beyond the allotted three score years and ten? Not so, if they have become acquainted with the virtues contained in South American Nervine. Before us in this sketch is the picture of Mrs. John Dinwoody, of Flesherton, Ont., a resident of that town for forty years. No person in the town and country side around is perhaps better known than this lady, and none more highly esteemed. Three years ago it was her sad lot to loose a daughter who had been all the world to her. The shock sustained by this event completely broke up the system of Mrs. Dinwoody. She supposed her end had come. She doctored for one year with three doctors, and they gave her case up, saying that it was one of old age and no one, nor any medicine could do her good. Made of the kind of stuff that gives beauty to age at any time she did not despair. She was influenced to try Nervine. She took three bottles, and this was sufficient to show her that her end was not yet. From these she obtained relief. She persevered, and in all took twelve bottles of the medicine, with the result that she is to-day completely cured of that breaking-up of the system that threatened her three years ago.

There is nothing wonderful in the fact that Mrs. Dinwoody would proclaim to the thousands of old people throughout this broad land, that with old age does not necessarily come decline, decrepitude and disease. Why should we not live into the eighties and nineties, and cross the border of the century?

South American Nervine, whether the person be young or old, gets at the nerve centers, and when they are kept in proper condition the system is as well able to withstand disease at eighty as at thirty. With this prospect in view who would not live to an old age and enjoy the pleasures of family, friends and society, and take a part in watching the marvelous progress and developments of these closing days of a wonderful century, which marks as not the least of its wonderful discoveries, the discovery of South American Nervine.

PETERBORO MYSTERY

Was Daniel Scollie's Death Caused By Accident?

THE BODY HAS BEEN EXHUMED.

His Headless Corpse Found in a Burning Building in Otonabee 15 Months Ago Persistent Rumors Have Caused the Attorney-General's Department to Investigate

For the last week or so, Provincial Detective John Murray has been in the vicinity of Peterborough quietly working up a case, the magnitude of which is hardly as yet realized. The EXAMINER has been in full possession of the facts of the case for some time, but forebore publishing them in deference to the wishes of the local authorities, who represented that the ends of justice would be defeated if any publicity were given the affair. Notwithstanding their urgent requests for secrecy in regard to the matter, when the arm of the law was about to be raised to strike, the reporter of an outside paper is allowed to gather the facts and make premature of them.

Was David Scollie, an old man of Otonabee Township murdered, his head cut off and secreted and the house in which he lived fired, in order to destroy the evidence of the greater crime, to get possession of the old man's farm, and to realise the insurance which had been placed on the house and its contents?

It was in order to either establish the truth of the suspicions entertained by a large number of the residents of Otonabee or to set at rest the rumors that Chief Provincial Detective John Murray and a posse of surgeons from this city and the town of Peterboro visited the cemetery in Otonabee Township Saturday and exhumed the remains of Scollie, whose charred body was dug from the ruins of a fire which destroyed the house of Thomas Grey on the 11th concession of that township on the morning of Feb. 23, 1894. It was with the Grey family that Scollie lived.

Chief Murray has had many intricate cases to unravel during the past few months, but it is doubtful if he has had a more difficult case than that which he is at present engaged on.

In several respects the death of Scollie resembled the alleged murder of Willie Wells by the Hyams twins. The coroner accepted the tragedy as an accident, and the public, while entertaining suspicions, kept their opinions to themselves, and a year or more passed by without the authorities being communicated with. Finally those familiar with the circumstances became less guarded in their talk. A tinge of doubt spread itself over the whole community, and the suspicions which by the sequence of events had gathered strength in every mind were openly expressed and the Attorney-General's Department was communicated with.

While the evidence so far known to the public is not sufficient to warrant the apprehension of any person on the charge of murder, yet Detective Murray, who has given the matter his earnest and best attention for more than a fortnight past, has many facts in his possession, which he declines to divulge.

On Feb. 23, 1894, there lived on the 11th concession of the Township of Otonabee, County of Peterboro, six miles from the town of Peterboro, a man of 67 years of age, named Daniel Scollie. Scollie was a bachelor and lived alone on a small farm, of which he was the owner. He worked for a time with John W. Weir, a highly respected and prominent farmer of the township. With him worked Thomas Grey, who, about seven years previously, came out with his wife and family from Ireland. Scollie and Grey being brought in contact with each other while employed at Weir's farm, became personal friends. In addition to the small farm which he owned, Scollie, who was of a very frugal nature, possessed a sum of money, which he had loaned out to different parties. The old man had one sister, but she had her own household to look after, and finally Scollie suggested to Grey, or the suggestion may have come from Grey in the first place, that Scollie should go to live with the Greys, the old man entering into an agreement to deed the farm to the Greys, provided they kept him for the balance of his natural life. The agreement was drawn up and subscribed to, and Scollie went to live with the Greys.

After he had resided there about a year, the Greys became dissatisfied with the bargain that they had entered into. Scollie was an able-bodied and vigorous man, and, so far as any person could judge, was liable to live for 15 or 20 years. The Greys finally told him that the probability was that he would live so long that the small farm which he had deeded would not half pay his keep. Scollie said he was willing to cancel the agreement and pay the Greys a reasonable sum for boarding him up to that time, and provided they deeded the farm back to him.

The Greys demanded $1300 for the keep of Scollie. The old man was naturally indignant, as he thought the amount was exorbitant, and declined to pay it. A lawyer was then called in, but he gave the Greys no encouragement, and told them that they had better stick to their bargain and keep the old man until he died, and so things remained.

A short time afterwards the old man Scollie met with a peculiar accident. A flower pot on the window upstairs in the house in which he lived with the Greys fell and struck him on the head, inflicting very painful injuries. The neighbors took charge of Scollie until he recovered. The Greys explained the accident by stating that one of the children had been playing with the flower pot and accidentally let it fall. This explanation was accepted by the neighbors, although they thought it strange that Mrs. Grey did not attend to the injured man, considering that he was residing in the house with her, but allowed the neighbors to do so.

On February 23 the house occupied by the Greys took fire. Grey was away from home at the time. Mrs. Grey ran to the house of Grey's brother-in-law, a man named McGregor, 200 or 300 yards distant, and gave the alarm, although in doing so she passed several other houses. When McGregor arrived only the lower portion of the house was in flames. McGregor inquired where the children were, and whether old man Scollie had been got out. Mrs. Grey replied that she had rescued the children with great difficulty and that she had called to Scollie several times, but that he had not responded. She explained that Scollie was in the habit of reading in bed, had probably fallen asleep, and the lamp had exploded, and thus caused the fire.

McGregor attempted to enter the house to rescue Scollie, but as the stairs and the whole of the lower flat were in flames he was driven back. The house was burned down.

Next morning a search of the ruins was made, and the body of Scollie was found. The old man had been in the habit of sleeping in a bedroom in the front part of the house, and it was this portion of the house that was on fire when McGregor arrived and that burned down first. Scollie's body, however, was found in the rear portion, on the ground floor, the floor above having collapsed and carried the body down with it.

It was generally supposed at the time that Scollie had left his bed and laid down on a sofa near the coal stove in the other portion of the house. Among those present when the body was dug out was Mr. John G. Weir.

Considerable surprise was manifested at the time that the head of the old man was missing, particularly as the trunk showed little signs of having been reached by the fire.

The body was attired in underclothes and there was a blanket wrapped around it, and neither the blanket nor the underclothes were at all burned. The straw mattress upon which the deceased was lying was not burned at all. Neither did the body of the dead man show any signs of the flames, the hair on the breast not having even been singed.

A thorough search of the ruins was made, but no trace whatever of the head could be discovered.

A coroner's inquest was held, and a verdict of accidental death returned. The body of Scollie was interred in the Protestant Cemetery on the Otonabee River, a short distance from the scene of his death.

So things remained, although the fact that the furniture in the house was insured for $200 and the house itself for $300, considerably more than the neighbors thought the Greys were justified in putting on the property and effects, caused some talk.

The Greys rebuilt on the property, and subsequently sold the farm and left for the United States. The suspicions which had been engendered did not die out, however, and finally, after more than a year, the attention of the Attorney-General's Department was called to the matter.

Realising the importance of the case, Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright despatched Chief Provincial Detective John Murray to Otonabee to make investigations. After inquiring into all the circumstances he, on Saturday last, visited the Otonabee cemetery with Dr. John Caven, professor of pathology in Toronto University, Dr. Alexander Primrose, assistant professor of anatomy at Toronto University, and Drs. Holliday and Bomber of Peterboro. The body of Scollie was exhumed with the object of ascertaining whether the head of the deceased had been cut off with a sharp instrument, or burned off in the fire, in order to substantiate or refute the theory entertained in the neighborhood that the old man had first been killed, his head cut off and secreted, and then fire kindled, which destroyed the dwelling.

Owing to the condition of the corpse it was impossible for the doctors to tell, as the result of the hurried post mortem examination made on Saturday, whether the head had been cut off or burned off by fire. Portions of the spinal vertebrae were, however, removed, and taken charge of by the surgeons, after which the body was re-interred. A careful examination will be made of the portions removed and a report presented to the Attorney-General within the next few days.

It is possible that the outcome will be to establish that the death of Scollie was purely accidental, and that no blame attaches to any person connected therewith, but, in view of the many sensational rumors which are current in Otonabee in connection with this remarkable case, Mr. Cartwright is to be commended for sending an efficient officer to the scene to enquire into all the circumstances in connection with the matter, and endeavoring to remove any stigma of guilt which the neighborhood may attach to parties whose names have been coupled with this tragedy.

AN 8-YEAR-OLD MURDERER.

Made a Playmate Hold Up His Hands, Then Shot Him Dead

Buffalo, N.Y., June 3.—Saturday afternoon Charlie Victor, aged 8, invited Fred Holdermiller into the Victor House to play tag. Freddie consented, and when the boys had got into the house Charlie went into a room, picked up a loaded shot-gun, commanded "hands up," and immediately discharged the weapon. Freddie dropped to the floor dead. The parents of the dead boy say that there was some ill-feeling between the lads, and that the deed was for revenge. The boy Victor asserts that he did not intend to kill his companion, but that he only wanted to frighten him.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

DR. LANDERKIN MOVES FOR PAPERS

But the Papers Will Not Be Brought Down, the Excuse Being That the Case Is Still Under Investigation —The Prohibition Report Not Yet Finished

Ottawa, June 4.—Almost immediately after prayers yesterday the Secretary of State arose and asked leave to lay upon the table "a return ordered by the House on March 13, 1893." There was nothing which to the stranger or the galleries would have seemed to warrant applause with which this simple ceremony was received. But the Opposition, catching the date, received the long-delayed papers like the "House is accustomed to welcome a belated member who seeks to slip unobserved into a progressing division." "The triumph of perseverance," said Mr. Mills. The Secretary of State smiled back and said, "The perseverance of the saints." But this bit of "work meet for repentance" by the Government was followed by a reminder of their shortcoming in another direction.

Mr. Flint asked his question, often repeated, as to when the report of the prohibition commission would be printed. He wanted to know in connection with his prohibition resolutions. He received the usual reply that enquiries would be made.

A few minutes later the departmental outrage which resulted in almost ruining the fishing business of the Noble brothers, a firm of standing and respectability, which has been in existence between 30 and 40 years and which has invested about $50,000, was brought to the attention of the House by Dr. Landerkin. The Government in this case refused point-blank to bring down the papers, on the pretext that the case is now under investigation, and a spirited discussion was the result.

Dr. Landerkin asked this question of the Government: Whether His Excellency, in lately making recommendations to the Imperial authorities for Imperial honors, has acted on his own motion or on the advice of his minister?

Mr. Foster replied evasively: It is presumed that His Excellency acted in accordance with the well-established practice in his recommendations.

While Dr. Landerkin was arraigning the Government for its tyrannical treatment of the Noble Bros., Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, who is responsible for the great wrong done, sat in his place and regarded the member for South Grey with an amused smile. The doctor moved for a return of the papers in reference to the withdrawal of the fishery license and the seizure of the property of the firm. Dr. Landerkin prefaced what he said with the statement that he is not acquainted with the Noble Bros., that he has never seen them, nor has he had any communication with them. He was moved, he said, to ask for the information by what he had seen in the press and by the evidence taken by the commission. Then he proceeded to tell a story which put Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper and his fishery overseer, T. H. Elliott, in exceedingly bad light. The Noble Bros. have been engaged in the fishing business on Georgian Bay for between 30 and 40 years, and have invested $50,000 in their plant. During all this time they have so carefully observed the fishing regulations that they never have been successfully charged with violating the law. They applied early in 1894 in the same manner that they had done in former years for their license and forwarded the fee of $480 with the application. Having no intimation from the Department that the license would be refused they proceeded to the fishing grounds and commenced operations, taking it for granted that the license would be sent along in due course. Other fishermen, as had been their habit for years, also commenced work without licenses. While the Noble Bros. were pursuing their calling the fishery officer swooped down upon them and seized four tugs and nine skiffs. The strange part of it was that while the Nobles were doing as 30 or 40 other fishermen the officer did not molest the others at all. The officer would not allow the firm to lift their nets, and thereby caused them a large additional loss. Some of the skiffs were sold and the tugs were tied up. Not only were the Nobles put to great loss by being deprived of their property, but a large number of men who had been engaged by them for the season were thrown out of employment. The leading papers of Toronto and of the district in which the outrage occurred took the matter up, and were unanimous in the opinion that the spirit of the law having been observed by the firm, the commissioner was appointed to enquire in excess of the offence committed. A commissioner was appointed to enquire as to the method adopted to prevent the sale of the remaining seized property, and the Nobles only received two days' notice, which did not give them time enough to get their witnesses together. Before that commission Charles Noble estimated the loss of his firm by the Government action at $25,000. The Nobles gave a bond of $7000 for the release of the seized property, pending a further investigation. When they went to look after their property this spring they found their four tugs in very bad condition, two compasses, valued at $50, and several small articles being missing. Two of the small boats that had not been sold were detained at French River, and the Customs' officer there refused to surrender them without an order. Afterwards his house was burned, and the rigging of the boats was destroyed. The officer had allowed the seized boats into the hands of other persons for trade purposes.

Dr. Landerkin in severe terms condemned the Department for the course that it had pursued, and he quoted from The Algoma Pioneer some strong language in regard to it. After seeing the facts as given in The Globe, The Pioneer was moved to remark that the Minister of Marine was a shallow-pated fool, Elliott, the overseer, a knave, his witnesses purjurers, the convicting magistrate an ass, Wilmot a lunatic, and Noble Bros. the victims of a foul conspiracy. When Dr. Landerkin mentioned that this paper was the organ of the member for Algoma, Mr. MacDonnell jumped to his feet prepared to do something desperate. His overwrought feelings found vent when he "repudiated" The Pioneer. Dr. Landerkin reminded Mr. MacDonnell that The Pioneer had been saying nice things about him during the present session, but that gentleman's only response was a reiteration of the "repudiation."

Mr. Costigan, who replaced Sir Charles Tupper as Minister of Marine and Fisheries, took the position that it would be improper to deal with the papers pending the re-hearing of the case.

Mr. Laurier said that he could not agree with the reasons given by Mr. Costigan for refusing to bring down the papers. The question was a broader one than the Noble case. Parliament had before it the administration of the Department of Marine and the interests of the whole fishing industry of the country.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper sought to justify the harsh treatment meted out to the Nobles on the ground that they had a bad record. He spoke of them as poachers and systematic violaters of the law. He moved an amendment eliminating from the motion the demand for papers of a confidential nature.

Mr. Lister condemned the Minister for prejudicing the case of the Nobles, when that case would in course of time come before him as the court of last resort.

Mc Macdonnell of Algoma supported the Minister of Justice in the stand he had taken.

Col. O'Brien, while commending the late Minister of Marine and Fisheries, thought his course in this matter was excessively severe. He opposed the amendment, as he thought the papers should be laid before the House.

Dr. Sproule defended the action of the Minister of Justice on all points.

Dr. Landerkin said that he had not been moved to take action by the Nobles. He had only desired to know whether an offence which carried a fine of $5 justified the department in seizing property worth $8000 or $10,000. The Minister had made serious charges against the Nobles, but when asked on what warrant he accused them he refused to bring down the papers.

Sir James Grant expressed his entire satisfaction with the statement made by the Minister of Justice.

Mr. McMullen said that it was evident that in years past there had been a great laxity in the administration of the fishery laws. Apparently the late Minister's predecessor (Mr. Foster) had failed in the performance of his duty. The case was but another evidence of the incapacity of the Ministers to perform the duties of their offices. Dr. Sproule had recognized this when he had appealed from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to the Premier.

The amendment was carried "on division." The papers will not be brought down.

SALUTED THEN SHOT.

A Spanish General Murdered by an Insane Major.

Madrid, June 3.—Major Clavijo, an infantry officer, walked into the office of General Primervia, whom he saluted. As he dropped his hand after touching his cap Major Clavijo drew a revolver and fired two shots at the general, both of which took effect. General Primervia fell to the floor, mortally wounded. General Aymerich struck the assassin down with his sabre. It is believed Clavijo is insane.

BRITISH CROPS POOR.

Spring Grain Reported to Be Very Backward.

London, June 3.—The Times prints a gloomy review of English crop prospects. It says that much of the spring grain is no further advanced than generally in the middle of April. the fruit crop, it appears, has also suffered from the drought in Kent. The situation in France is favorable. The outlook for the hay crop is satisfactory. In rye there is generally a light crop and the average yield of wheat is expected.

PEOPLE PANIC STRICKEN.

A Fatal Epidemic Raging at N. F. Points Without Medical Assistance.

Halifax, N.S., June 3.—A report from St. John's, Nfld., says that at Port au Port and Bat St. George the people are panic stricken over a disease that has broken out near by. The epidemic originated on Red Island, among French fishermen, and has now spread to the mainland. Rev Father O'Rourke is stricken, having contracted the disease during his administration to the sufferers at Port au Port. There is no doctor resident there, and people do not know what the disease is.

WASHED A FREIGHT TRAIN AWAY.

Railroad Tracks Torn and Twisted by the Bursting of a Lake.

Curtis Lake, Neb., June 4.—The damage by the bursting of Curtis Lake will be very heavy. The Burlington and Missouri Railway was dashed aside. Four of the five yard tracks, in addition to the main line, were torn and twisted and a train of freight cars swung into the flood and went swimming down stream. Reports coming from the farms below, all tell one story, that of ruin and desolation and loss of live stock.

OILBOAT STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

The Tank Exploded and the Vessel Was Burned at Sea.

Nassau, N.P., June 4.—The tank barque Carrie E. Long, Capt. Rolf, from Philadelphia, May 6, for Havana, with a cargo of crude petroleum and acids, was struck by lightning on the night of May 21. The oil tank exploded and the vessel was burned to the water's edge. Capt. Rolf, Mate Esbrough and Seamen Cameron and Hosten leaped overboard and were drowned. Second Mate Stanley and five seamen were rescued.

OBJECT TO ECONOMY.

Whitewayites at Loggerheads Over the Retrenchment Scheme.

St. John's, Nfld., June 3.—There was no quorum in the Legislature to-day. It is understood that the House is waiting to receive Colonial Secretary Bond's report by mail respecting the loan arrangements and the nature and scope of the retrenchments required to meet the exigencies of the situation in order to satisfy the syndicate which will float the loan. There is much difficulty among the Whiteway members owing to the retrenchment demands. Many of them refuse to support the suggested economies.

$200,000 Duties Will Not Be Refunded.

Washington, June 3.—Treasury officials are gratified by the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court that the new tariff law took effect Aug. 28, 1894, the day of its promulgation, and not Aug. 1, the date named in the body of the act. This simplifies matters, as all the collections have been made on the basis now sustained by the court's decision. Had the court held otherwise, protests of numerous importers, involving about $900,000 in amount, who claimed that the new law took effect Aug. 1, would have had to be acted upon and refunds made.

Given Up as Lost.

New York, June 3.—The schooner Nettie Langdon, Capt. Bagley, which sailed from Jacksonville on April 14, with 225,000 feet of lumber and two passengers, bound for Perth Amboy, has not been heard from since she sailed. Her agents have given her up as lost.

SUNDAY LABOR AT GRIMSBY.

W. J. Waugh Declares It a Desecration of the Sabbath.

Hamilton, June 3.—A notice of motion was given by W. J. Waugh, at the Methodist Conference, which declares the employment of men and the collection of fees at Grimsby Park on Sundays to be a violation and desecration of the Lord's day, and calls for an immediate stop to be put to it. As the Park is owned and run by leading Methodist clergymen and laymen the resolution will likely be opposed and cause a heated debate.

Cordage Company Again Embarrassed.

New York, June 3.—It is announced that John I. Waterbury, president of the Manhattan Trust Company, and W. E. Strong of Work, Strong & Co, have been appointed receivers of the United States Cordage Company. The property is to be reorganized as soon as possible and the security-holders will again be heavily assessed the second time in a year.

Canadian Judgments Against U.S. Citizens.

Washington, June 3.—The Supreme Court has rendered an opinion in the case of Samuel J. Ritchie v. James D. and George D. McMullen. This is a foreign judgment case coming from Canada. Suit was brought in Canada to enforce a contract and judgment entered against the McMullens, defendants. This was appealed and the decision of the court is in effect that the English and Canadian courts give full effect to the judgment of an American court against citizens of Canada and Great Britain; therefore, the courts of the United States are bound to reciprocate. The judgment of the court below is affirmed.

Composition of Italy's New Parliament.

Rome, June 3.—The triumph of the Radicals in Milan in the recent elections has made a strong impression in political circles. The results of the election are: Ministerialists, 336; Opposition, 155; doubtful, 17: The Opposition is made up of 98 Constitutionalists, 40 Radicals and 17 Socialists.

Diamonds Dutiable Under the Wilson Bill.

New York, June 3.—One of the most important decisions handed down by the United States Circuit Court, affecting the provisions of the Wilson Tariff bill, as it relates to the duties on diamonds was handed down to-day by Judge Townsend, and in it the judge reverses the stand taken by the Board of General Appraisers, and holds that diamonds, cut but not set, are not to be admitted free of duty, but are taxable at the rate of 25 per cent. ad valorem.

First Canadian Sealer to Leave.

Victoria, B.C., June 3.—The sealer San Jose is the first of Victoria's fleet to prepare for Behring Sea. She took out her hunting license Saturday and will sail shortly for the Behring Sea.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life, I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 360 George street.

THE FARMERS' COUNCIL AND THE FARMERS' SOCIETIES.

The County Council of Peterborough will meet on June 18th, and it is more than probable that the West Riding Agricultural Society will apply for a substantial grant to assist the society in carrying out its plans for the promotion of the farmers' interests, and one would think the council in duty bound to make a liberal grant for the purpose named. A substantial grant of, say, $300 would not be any appreciable addition to the taxes of the farmers, while it would be a great advantage to the society as a society and would all return in the shape of prizes, and many thousand more, to the farmers of the riding. The county has in the past made small grants to the East and West Riding Societies, but there seems to be no reason why the past grants should not be quadrupled. Counties less wealthy and less important than Peterborough make liberal grants, and set a worthy example to Peterborough. For instance, Victoria County Council makes, of its own accord without any solicitation or begging or coaxing, a yearly grant of $200 to each of its two societies, with a reserve grant to each in case of unfavourable weather, of $200 additional. We have before pointed out in these columns that other counties made generous grants at their January sessions. Wentworth county voted $400 to each of its societies, Grey county, $750; Frontenac, $600; Bruce, $400; Brant, $700; Lanark, $350, and so on throughout the province. The town of Peterborough has made a grant as high as $300, and the merchants and business men make liberal donations to the prize lists, and certainly it is to be expected that a council of farmers, representing a county of farmers, will be supported in a liberal policy. The Government of Ontario has been liberal in its grants to riding societies in the past, but they certainly can't be expected to do it all. They can be expected to do no more than generously help those who show themselves willing to help themselves.

A society of farmers, existing for the benefit of farmers, has certainly a strong claim upon the county council, representing exclusively constituencies composed of farmers. The benefit of a society to the county town is only incidental, while the benefit to the farmers is both incidental and direct. The vast bulk of the prize money goes directly into the pockets of the farmers, while the advantages arising from agricultural exhibitions is also for the benefit of the farmers almost exclusively. Who can count the benefits to the stock of the county through the medium of Agricultural Societies? Who can estimate the part contributed by Agricultural Societies in making Peterborough county the leading cheese producing county of Canada? Without cheese the farmer would have been millions of dollars worse off than he is now. Then, is not a society that has had a large share in bringing about such results worthy of substantial encouragement? We hope the County Council will re-consider its action of last January and make a liberal grant to the riding Agricultural Societies.

LAKEHURST.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The weather for the last few days has been excessively hot, but the crops are the better of it. As a general thing the crops are looking well hereabouts.

Miss Maude Boate is at present visiting friends at Fowler's Corners, Emily township.

Miss Nettie Weir, teacher of Nogie's creek school, spent the 24th at the home of her parents.

On Sunday morning last, the funeral sermon of the late Miss Emma Barcroft was preached by Rev. W. H. Fulford in the Bethel church. There was a good attendance. Text,—Jeremiah 12—5.

The last few days a party of "smarties," or probably they deem themselves such, have been practising some petty persecutions upon our friend and neighbour, Mr. W. A. Boate. When he went out in the morning he found that a good portion of his fences had been deliberately pulled down and the cattle in his crop. This is not the first, nor yet the second time that this kind of work has been done, and the parties had better take warning that they do not go too far. The parties are known and if not careful they may land in the "stone jug" and be boarded at the expense of the public.

To have perfect health you must have pure blood, and the best way to have pure blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

NEEDS CASTIGATION.

Nicaragua Again Trying to Annoy Britain.

ON THE MOSQUITO ARBITRATION

The Little Republic Wants to Place Its Own Construction on the Agreement and Drag the U. S. Into the Squabble and to Its Defence.

Washington, June 3.—Fresh trouble between Nicaragua and Great Britain is anticipated in Central America, according to private advices received from that country this morning. It is claimed in Nicaragua that, notwithstanding the explicit assurances given by Lord Kimberley to Ambassador Bayard, and laid before Congress by President Cleveland in December last, that the "formal incorporation of the inhabitants of the Mosquito region with the rest of Nicaragua" was regarded by Great Britain as "the best and most complete solution of all doubt or qualification respecting the full sovereignty of Nicaragua over the entire coast," it is asserted that there is now a disposition to dispute this settlement, on the ground that the Indians were coerced into it.

The agreement made by Nicaragua to pay the $75,000 indemnity demanded by Great Britain was coupled, it appears, with an understanding that the remaining matters in dispute between the two countries should be settled by arbitration. The Nicaraguan Government, it is said, will ask that the third member of the commission, the other members being representatives of Great Britain and Nicaragua respectively, shall be a citizen of the United States. No arrangements, so far as can be learned, have yet been reached as to the time and place of holding the commission, but it will not long be delayed.

Great Britain's ultimatum expressly stipulated that the third member of the proposed commission could "not be a citizen of any American state." The Nicaraguans construed this to be a reflection upon the United States. The British ambassador at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, promptly repudiated this construction, and contended that the term "American state" was used in English diplomacy to mean the Latin-American countries to the south of the United States. If the British Foreign Office shall uphold Sir Julian's interpretation Nicaragua claims that no objection can be made to the selection of an American on the commission.

Constantinople, June 3.—The Porte denies that anything has happened at Beyrout, and declares that the visit of the British fleet to that port is made in connection with its ordinary evolutions.

TORNADO AT PICTON.

Summer Cottages at Cornwall Point Blown Into the Bay.

Picton, Ont., June 4.—A tornado of wind and hail, lasting 15 minutes, passed over the northern portion of this county yesterday. Three schooners in Big Bay were stripped of their canvas. At Cornwall Point, a summer resort, all the cottages are more or less damaged, one cottage and a large boat-house being blown into the bay and floated away. Crops are greatly damaged with the hail.

SNOW AND HEAVY RAIN

Western Kansas Under Water—Snowdrifts in Colorado.

Denver, Col., June 3.—Western Kansas is under water and opinions differ as to the real damage or value of such a visitation at this time, although the best authorities believe the results will be beneficial. Washouts are reported at all points west and far into Colorado, making travel highly hazardous at night. A hail storm followed the rain sweeping off the first cut of Alfalfa and destroying the berry crop. Two feet of snow is reported from Grand Junction.

First Rain in Months.

Omaha, June 3.—All parts of the state report good rains. A despatch from Nelson, Neb., states that Saturday night's rain is the first Nicholls County has experienced for months.

$3000 Loss in Kincardine.

Kincardine, June 3.—A fire to-day destroyed Laird's barber shop, Denning & Clark's large frame block, and a building owned by the McPherson estate. The loss is over $3000, with about $1,500 insurance. The individual losses: H. Denning, $1000, with $500 insurance; S. H. Laird, $700, partly insured; A. C. Washburn, $500, partly insured; B. Coombe, $50, insured; H. Clark, $400, fully insured. Col. Scott suffered considerable loss owing to damage by water and removal; no insurance. John Durnion loses all his furniture and household effects; no insurance.

Another Blaze at Simcoe.

Simcoe, June 3.—The town was visited with another fire yesterday morning. A carpenter shop belonging to Mr. Geo. Willson was destroyed. It was insured for $150. The residence of Mr. Frank Sutton was also destroyed. Insured for $400.

Sir Julian Pauncefote's Vacation.

Washington, June 4. — Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, leaves Tuesday for his summer vacation in Great Britain. He will return to Washington in time for the conference in October as to the claims of the Canadian sealers for seizures in Behring Sea.

BASEBALL BAT VS. EYE.

Affray at Brantford Between Two Boys That May Be Fatal.

Brantford, June 3.—On Saturday a probably fatal affray took place at the Institution for the Blind. Some of the boys having partial sight were playing baseball, when Thos. Rennick, aged 15, and Robt. Fyle, aged 16, got into a dispute. Rennick struck Fyle three times with his fist and Fyle then struck Rennick on the head with a bat. He has since been unconscious and is not expected to recover.

Rennick was an orphan, and was sent here by the city of Toronto. He has no friends so far as known.

Japs Defeat Formosan Rebels.

London, June 3.—A despatch from Tokyo to the Central News says: A despatch from Formosa, via Cagoshima, states that a portion of the Japanese Imperial Guards landed at Lotr on May 29, and immediately engaged a large body of rebels. Many of the latter were killed, but the latter lost no men. The guards advanced to Shanshotai. The remainder of the troops, with the ammunition of the expedition, were landed May 31.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

What Magnificent Testimony!

"Paine's Celery Compound Produced Miraculous Results and Banished My Troubles."

This Strong Statement is Made by Mr. Ambrose Budd, of Shanty Bay, Ont.

Victory after victory: a continued and unbroken march of triumphs over disease and suffering marks the fame of Paine's Celery Compound in every land where it is used to battle with sickness.

In Canada alone, tens of thousands who were once dyspeptics and who bore awful loads of pain and agony, now thank heaven that they enjoy health, strength, sleep, appetite and digestive vigor brought to them by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

This wonderful medicine—the greatest product of medical science—has reached the top round of the ladder of fame as a cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulence, heartburn, gastric cramp, and the numberless evils that make life miserable through imperfect digestive vigor.

No medicine in the world but Paine's Celery Compound can effectually reach the hard and difficult cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. This statement is borne out by the testimony of Mr. Ambrose Budd, who says:—

"For the benefit of sufferers I gladly give my experience with Paine's Celery Compound. After suffering with dyspepsia for thirty-five years, and meeting with many failures with other medicines, I decided to use Paine's Celery Compound, having heard of so many cures effected by it. The Compound, after I used it for a time, produced miraculous results and banished my troubles.

"From a condition of helplessness—being unable to sleep or eat—I now feel well and strong. I am astonished at the results, as my trouble was an old and chronic one. I have recommended Paine's Celery Compound to some of my neighbours, and in every case it has given satisfaction. I will always strongly recommend its use when I have opportunity."

THE HYAMS AGAIN.

Both Sides Already Preparing For the Second Trial.

AN OFFICER SPECIALLY DETAILED

The College Life of the Hyams Boys to Be Enquired Into—The Next Trial Likely to Surpass in Interest That of Last Month—A Trip to Heidelberg, Germany.

Toronto, June 4. — The second trial of the Hyams brothers at the Fall Assizes for the murder of Willie Wells promises to surpass in interest that of a fortnight ago. It is understood that the Crown authorities have already detailed an officer on the case, whose duties will be confined to following up the matter in an endeavor to supply any missing links that may exist, and also to enquire into the antecedents and movements on the day of the tragedy of the witnesses for the defence.

Mr. T. W. Horn, who, it is generally conceded, was responsible for the failure of the jury to agree at the last trial, and who, as solicitor for the prisoners, was mainly instrumental in working up the defence, will sail via steamer Germanic on Wednesday for Heidelberg, Germany, to enquire into the life of the twins while attending college there. Mr. Horn has been retained to watch the interests of the accused until the conclusion of the second trial. The twins, it will be remembered, spent four years at College in Heidelberg, prior to opening an office in New York, from which city they fled to Canada, forfeiting their bail.

MAY BE CHARGED WITH MURDER.

The Aged Victim of the Assault in Toronto Dies in Jail.

Toronto, June 4.—Mary Atkinson, the old lady who was brutally assaulted Wednesday night last in the Queen's Park by William Broom and Frank Smith, ex-Kingston convicts, died at the county jail yesterday. An inquest will be held at the jail this morning and if it proves, as the authorities and jail physician believe, that her death was due to the injuries inflicted upon her by these men, the charge of criminal assault already preferred against them will be changed to one of murder. The section of the criminal code which bears upon this case reads: "If two or more persons go out to commit a felony with intent, that personal violence shall be used in its committal, and such violence is used and causes death, then they are all guilty of murder, even although death was not intended."

Broom and Smith had been committed to stand their trial for assault, their aged victim being sent to the jail hospital where she could be cared for by the Crown during the summer. Since her admission to the hospital, she showed no signs of improvement, but on Sunday took a decided change for the worse. Governor Green communicated with County Crown Attorney Curry, and the latter took her ante-mortem statement. She died at 11.30 a.m. yesterday.

When first taken in charge Mrs. Atkinson told the matron at Police Headquarters that her home was in Brampton, where she had lived for more than 40 years. She was in the 76th year of her age. Both men have bad records. Broom has served three terms in jail, two terms in the Central Prison, and two terms in Kingston Penitentiary. Smith was once a guest of Warden Massie, and has also served two terms in Kingston.

Child Murder in Hamilton.

Hamilton, June 3.—The police are looking for a young unmarried woman, who is supposed to be the mother of the dead two-months-old child found on the mountain side last night. Chief Smith is of the opinion that the child was murdered.

DOINGS IN MONTREAL.

Annual Meeting of the Bank of Montreal—Murderer Edwards Adjudged Insane.

Montreal, June 4.—Annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal took place yesterday, Sir Donald Smith presiding. His address breathed hope for the future. He said that from 1880 to 1895 the stocks of the Bank of England had increased 28, the London and Counties Bank 24, the London and Westminster 12, while the stocks of the Bank of Montreal had increased 79 per cent. Sir Donald said he saw signs of returning prosperity, yet the future of Canada depended on the settlement of the great Northwest, and a well-directed system of immigration was most desirable. He also deprecated the policy of building railways where they were not required, and before the country was able to support them. The old directorate was re-elected.

Vice-President Shaughnessy has issued a circular announcing that Mr. G. M. Bosworth of Toronto will have charge of all matters connected with the company's freight traffic during the absence of Mr. George Olds, General Traffic Manager, who is going to the south of England, and will not return till July.

D. H. Mertinago, Captain of the Imperial Russian Navy, and attached to the Russian Legation at Washington, is now in Canada.

Edwards, who killed his sister at Outremont a few weeks ago, has been adjudged insane, and will be sent to Verdun Lunatic Asylum.

WHERE ARE THE PIETSEL CHILDREN?

Philadelphia Detective Here in Search of the Family of a Man Alleged to Have Been Murdered.

Toronto, June 4.—A detective from Philadelphia is in the city in search of the three children of a man named Pietsel, who is alleged to have been murdered for the sake of the insurance on his life. The alleged murderer is Harmon Midgetts, alias H. H. Holmes, who last week pleaded guilty to defrauding the Fidelity Mutual Life Association out of $10,000 by pretending that Pietsel died as the result of an accident. The authorities will try to prove that Midgetts killed Pietsel, his three grandchildren and the Misses Hale of Fort Worth, Texas, whom he met in Chicago.

Mrs. Pietsel is in prison, as it was supposed she was in some way mixed up in the insurance fraud. It is not likely, however, that the case against her will be pressed. Last October she placed her three children in the custody of Midgetts in St. Louis and has not since heard of them. It is feared that the three children are dead, although Midgetts protests that they are alive.

It now becomes a matter of great interest to the prisoners to produce these children, whose names were Alice or Ettie, aged 14 years; Nellie, 11 years, and Howard, 9 years. Detectives, under the direction of the District Attorney are bending their efforts to locate them if they are alive. It is known that in October they traveled with Midgetts from Indianapolis to Detroit, and thence to Toronto. Here all clue of them is lost, except that based on a statement made by Midgetts within the last few days. He says he took them to Niagara Falls, there turned them over to Miss Minnie Williams, who took them to London, and that they are now with her in that city.

Minnie Williams lived with Midgetts in Chicago in 1893, and at her request her sister went to Chicago from Fort Worth. Both women have completely dropped out of sight, and it is hinted by the prosecution that Midgetts is responsible for their disappearance.

There is no longer any doubt that the corpse found in the Hollowhill-street house, in Philadelphia, last September was that of B. F. Pietsel, who there carried on an agency for inventors. Midgetts, the authorities claim, they can prove, was the last person seen with Pietsel while he was alive. Midgetts first claimed that the body was that of a corpse substituted for Pietsel. He said Pietsel had committed suicide. When the remains were found the body had been burned with carbolic acid, and it was at first supposed that an explosion of the acid had caused death. The authorities believe that it was a case of murder.

VICE-ROYALTY AT HAMILTON.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen Spend a Busy Afternoon

Hamilton, June 3.—Lord and Lady Aberdeen, accompanied by Lady Thompson and Captain Ferguson, A.D.C., arrived in the city this afternoon from Toronto and were received by Adam Brown, vice-president of the Dominion Boys' Brigade, and Lieut.-Col. Moore, representing Lieut.-Col. Gibson, A.D.C. The ladies of the Y.W.C.A. were represented by Mesdames Livingstone, Freed and Copp, who were introduced by Mr. Brown. Their Excellencies entered A. G. Ramsay's carriage and were driven to the court house escorted by a guard of honor, consisting of six members of the Hamilton Bicycle Club, under the command of Captain J. G. Gauld. At 4 o'clock Lord Aberdeen reviewed the Boys' Brigade at Dundurn.

The reception at the station was not very imposing, none being present but the people mentioned. Captain Gauld presented Lady Aberdeen with a basket of roses.

Appreciative Florists.

The sanctum staff of the EXAMINER has reason to thank the appreciative æstheticism of Messrs. Jordan Bros., the enterprising florists, for the present of a beautiful potted flower in bloom to decorate the sanctum table. It was accompanied by a beautiful shower bouquet of carnations, fragrant as a garden of spices. In addition to the reward that will come hereafter to a firm who thus, as it were, scatters flowers by the wayside of newspaper life—especially dusty under the present system of street waterings—Messrs. Jordan Bros. have the most cordial thanks of the staff. If the flowers so kindly contributed are a sample—and no doubt they are—of the contents of Jordan Bros.' green houses, it is no wonder that their floral goods stand so high in public estimation.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. ANDREW'S.

Rev. Dr. Smith Lectures on "Boys I Have Known"—The Musical Programme.

It was unquestionably warm last night, but in spite of the intense heat a large audience welcomed Rev. Dr. Smith at St. Andrew's church, where he delivered his ever-popular lecture on "Boys I Have Known," with which many have been delighted in Peterborough before.

A musical programme of rare excellence was opened by the rendering of a full chorus by the choir entitled "O Praise the Mighty God,"—Emerson, Mrs. Jones taking the solo parts with her pure soprano voice with great effect. Mrs. Jones also sang the solos in Gilbert's chorus, "Arise, Shine," which was given by the choir in an exceptionally pleasing manner, the attack and general harmony giving evidence of the most conscientious work under that able instructor, Mr. G. W. Mulligan.

The quartette "Saviour, when night Involves the sky" was well handled by Mrs. Jones, Miss Fowler, Mr. Jones and Mr. Mulligan, the phrasing being particulary noticeable.

At the close of Dr. Smith's lecture, which was so much appreciated by all, a vote of thanks to him was moved and enthusiastically carried on motion of Mr. E. B. Edwards and Dr. Fife.

Refreshments were served at the close of what proved a most enjoyable evening.

A LAMP EXPLODED

In Mr. F.W. Taylor's Residence on Saturday Evening.

On Saturday evening a conflagration was narrowly averted in the residence on Charlotte street occupied by Mr. F. W. Taylor and owned by Mr. J. R. Stratton.

It seems that one of the domestics in the house is from the country and not being used to electric lights is naturally timid concerning them and prefers to use a lamp. On the evening in question the curtains and carpet in the maid's room were discovered to be in flames, caused, it is thought, by an explosion.

The domestic showed herself to be possessed of great presence of mind, as she quickly brought a bath tub of water from the nursery and with a liberal application of the soap suds extinguished the blaze, though not before she had been somewhat scorched herself, her hands and dress being slightly burned.

The damage amounts to about fifty dollars and is covered by insurance.

Benefits of Making Things Known.

The benefit of advertising—in the EXAMINER, especially,—are well illustrated by a letter received by Miss Rudkins from Mrs. Lynch, Cache Bay, Nipissing, inclosing an order from the price list printed in Miss Rudkins' dry goods advertisement in the EXAMINER. Three things at least are essential to the judicious use of printers' ink—advertise good goods, keep what you advertise, and advertise in a good, live paper, like the EXAMINER.

Hon. Mr. Dryden's Departure.

Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, will leave to-morrow on a ten days' trip for Algoma to inspect the new Experimental Farm, near Wabagoon Lake. About 100 acres of the farm are now under crop, and Mr. Dryden intends to make a thorough inspection and lay his plans for the erection of buildings, procuring of stock, etc. After looking over the farm he intends to explore the immediate vicinity, going a considerable distance down the Wabagoon River by canoe and tramping through the woods. He will likely pay a visit to Winnipeg before returning.

THE DIOCESE OF PETERBOROUGH

Bishop O'Connor's Recent Visit—The Orphanage at Fort William—Arrangements made for Rebuilding—Other Interesting Notes.

As mentioned in the EXAMINER, his Lordship Bishop O'Connor returned on Saturday from a visit of a month's duration to the northern portion of his diocese, which stretches a distance of eleven hundred miles westward of Trenton, its easternmost limit. It will be remembered that on Holy Thursday the orphanage and church at Fort William were destroyed by fire, involving a loss of about seven thousand dollars and rendering seventy Indian orphans, for the time, homeless. His Lordship took the first opportunity that presented to visit this portion of his diocese to make arrangements for rebuilding the burnt structures. Accordingly he set out on the 6th of May. En route he gave his attention incidentally to other matters. After a short stay at North Bay he made a stop at Sudbury, and admired the fine new church erected last year and with which the parishoners, as they have good reason to be, are well pleased. A halt was also made at Chapleau and an inspection made of the church improvements at that place. At Port Arthur the rite of confirmation was administered to thirty-nine candidates, a large number, considering the

and the fact that a confirmation service was held only two years ago. The improvements of the higher civilization have invaded the far north in the shape of an electric railway which runs from Port Arthur to Fort William, which has been in operation for two years, and carries passengers seven miles for the trifling sum of five cents. This is somewhat of a reflection upon the enterprise of Peterborough, which with a track already laid almost to Chemong, has not yet compassed the achievement of having electric cars running between town and the charming summer resort—a route that would yield dollars to dimes compared with the Port Arthur-Fort William route.

His Lordship next visited the Indian Mission, situated on the south side of the Kaministiqua river, between New and Old Fort William. The rite of confirmation was administered to forty candidates—twenty-three Indians and seventeen whites. At the mission where the church and orphanage was burned the Bishop found the seven sisters making the best of their misfortune. The school house (the old council house of the Indians) was used as a temporary orphanage while an old outbuilding had been converted into a dormitory. Of the sixty or seventy children that only twenty-three are at present in temporary residence. Those who had any relatives, when made homeless, were sent back to them temporarily, and others were adopted by parties in Fort William and vicinity. The Bishop made arrangements for the erection of a new orphanage. The contract was let and the new orphanage will be completed in about four months. The contract for the new brick church was also given. One feature in connection with the construction of the orphanage was the interest the Indians took in its erection. On an appeal for assistance the Indians held a council, no whites being present, even the mission priest was excluded, and they voted from their funds in the hands of the Government the sum of $2,500 to assist in the erection of the orphanage and church—$1,000 to the church and $1,500 to the orphanage. The Indians seem to appreciate the paternal interest their good bishop takes in their welfare and be cordially thanked them for the liberality they had shown. At this mission the Indians make very successful efforts at tilling the soil and are in raising potatoes.

On his return his Lordship called at Massey, on the "Soo" line and at Webwood and made arrangements for enlarging the church, the church at Massey having just been completed. A call was made at Sturgeon Falls in connection with the presbytery. In this vicinity is the site of the colonization scheme of Father Paradis, for the repatriation of French Canadians in Michigan. Already sixty persons have settled, all of them with means to start in life in their new Canadian home, and others are coming.

Up in this northern region there are only two seasons—summer and winter. When the Bishop left Fort William on Monday week, the little pools of water from the rain that had fallen the Saturday previous were covered with ice. His Lordship on his arrival home could not complain of the warmth of his greeting, either on the part of his flock in Peterborough and the citizens generally or on the part of the clerk of the weather.

A PRETTY JUNE WEDDING

Celebration of the Conway-Claringbold Nuptials Early This Morning.

The chimes in St. John's pealed out merrily this morning, as Mr. William E. Conway, manager for the Grafton Co's. local branch, led Miss Eliza Claringbold to the marriage altar.

The bride was handsomely gowned in cream silk, the bodice being prettily trimmed with ribbons and the skirt plain. She carried a large and fragrant bouquet of roses and entered the church upon the arm of her father, Mr. H. P. Clarinbold, of Sandhurst, who gave her away.

The bridesmaid, Miss Beatrice Claringbold, was daintily attired in white Henrietta, trimmed with ribbon, and carried a bouquet of carnations. Miss Beatrice is a sister of the bride's.

Mr. Conway was supported by his brother, Mr. Richard Conway, of Dundas.

The sweet little maid of honour was Miss Claringhold's neice, Miss Daisy Mills, who was charmingly dressed in pink silk Bengaline, lavishly trimmed with laces and ribbon. Miss Daisy carried a pretty bouquet of flowers and was accompanied by her brother, Master Bruce Mills, who officiated as page, and looked very interesting indeed in his little evening suit with vest and deep collar of cream cashmere.

The ceremony was pereformed by the rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, assisted by the Rev. C. B. Kenrick, in the presence of a large number of the friends of the young couple, who gathered in the church to witness the interesting event.

The wedding breakfast was served at the residence of Mr. Joseph Mills, Homewood avenue, where the bride has lived for some time, Mrs. Mills being her sister.

Carpet was laid from the church door to the carriages and also from Mr. Mills' residence to the street.

Amongst the many handsome and costly presents which were received, was a silver tray from the members of the firm of Grafton & Co., and also a mantel clock from Mr. Conway's old fellow-employees with the firm in Dundas.

Mr. and Mrs. Conway left on the 11.45 G. T. R. train for the west, and upon their return will reside at No. 356 Stewart street, where Mrs. Conway will be at home to her friends after June 16th.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

THE COUNCIL SAT UNTIL MIDNIGHT.

A BIG OATMEAL MILL TO BE ESTABLISHED HERE.

The Street Railway Company Wish to Tear Up the Rails on the Extension Running Down to the Electric Works from Charlotte Street—A Belt Line Out to Jackson Park Talked of.

At the meeting of the Town Council, last evening, with the Mayor in the chair, there were present Messrs. Cahill, Sproule, Best, Denne, Mills, Dawson, Clinkscale, Sawers, Stone, Brady and Mason.

THE FOLLOWING COMMUNICATIONS were received and disposed of as appended.

From Louis Beauregard and five others, asking for an extension of the sidewalk on Parnell street, which was left unfinished two years ago.

Referred to the Streets and Bridges Committee.

From W. H. Meldrum, stating: "The farmers in the county are going out of wheat growing and entering more largely upon the growing of peas and oats, and as a good peas and oatmeal mill would be quite a boon both to the farmers and the town, making a constant and reliable market for these grains all the year round, a good market being one of the essentials of a progressive town. Looking at the situation as above, why has Peterborough no oatmeal mill? For some time I have been in negotiation with an oatmeal miller of means, C. B. McAllister, of Pembroke, endeavouring to induce him to locate in Peterborough and throw in his lot with mine in the manufacture of flour, oatmeal, as well as split peas and pot barley. We have so far arranged terms that, on the condition of your honourable body granting exemption of taxes for the next year on the plant and power used in the manufacture of such, the deal will go through, the signing of the articles depending entirely on the action your honourable body sees fit to take in the matter to-night. Former councils have shown their public spirit and municipal foresight by granting similar favours to other manufactories in the town when they proposed extending their business and I, on behalf of Mr. MAllister and myself, respectfully ask your consideration of our petition. We ask no exemption on the buildings, simply the power and plant."

Received and dealt with later on.

From David Doig, stating that he had been unjustly dealt with in being obliged to take out a license, while others in the same business as himself were not required to do so.

Mr. Dawson verified Mr. Doig's statement in regard to the matter, stating that he knew of half a dozen others dealing also in iron, etc.

Mr. Stone also thought the wrong should be remedied.

Referred to the License Committee.

From the Young Men's Catholic Association requesting the remission of taxes.

Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Francis White, requesting a remission of taxes.

Referred to the Court of Revision.

From John Russel, applying for the position of foreman under the street Inspector.

Referred to the Committee on Appointment.

From Hartley & McMartin, asking the terms of a license for bringing a riding gallery to town and requesting permission to erect it on Central Park.

Received.

On motion of Councillor Denne

A DEPUTATION,

which was present from the Children's Aid Society, was heard.

Rev. J. J. Rae was the first spokesman. He paid a great compliment to the effective manner in which the charity of the town had been dispensed during the past year. Indiscriminate charity was often an discriminate curse. "We had come," he thought, "to that point of civilization, where charity did not merely support a man, but was administered in a way to develop his energies and to awake him to a sense of what was required of him." Mr. Rae explained very fully the objects of the Children's Aid Society, in which it rescued the children of the vicious and placed them in an atmosphere where they could not be affected by the life of their parents. In connection with the organization in Peterborough much effective work had been done. The expenditure last year exceeded the receipts by forty dollars. The estimates for next year amounted to one hundred and twenty dollars. This left $160 to be shouldered by the Society. In closing Mr. Rae asked the council to grant $100 towards the expenses necessary to support the Society.

Rev. J. C. Davidson in addressing the council stated that the deputation did not come as a begging committee, but appeared for the purpose of making a plain statement to the members, and if they approved of the manner in which the society was doing its work they asked for a sign of their approval through the medium of the town check book. The society had done its best, but if the council did not back it up in its work it would have to be discontinued, and the agent relieved of his duties. He asked the council to make the grant direct to the society, or if that might not be, to refer the matter to the Charity Committee, with not only power to act, but bidding them act.

Councillor Sawers took umbrage at this last remark, and enquired why the Charity Committee should be bidden to act. He asked if this committee had ever refused to act at any time, that it should be used in this manner. He thought there was a resolution passed some time ago empowering the Charity Committee to deal with all such matters.

Rev. Mr. Davidson pointed out that he intended no reflection on the committee by his remarks regarding the necessity of bidding them act. He simply thought that perhaps they would not feel authorized to act unless bidden to do so.

Before resuming his seat Mr. Davidson brought up the matter of the establishment of a county poor house. He had the privilege of holding services in the gaol on Sundays, and week after week had the fact brought home to him that there were many very poor but respectable men confined in the gaol whose only crime lay in the fact that they were poor, yet they were coupled in

WITH VICIOUS CRIMINALS.

The fault, he stated, lay altogether with the town council. as year after year the county council had signified its willingness to meet the representatives of the town to discuss the matter.

Rev. Mr. Rae was allowed permission to speak again and in reference to the work of the Children's Aid Society stated that it was the appointed guardian under the law of neglected children and was forced to enquire into and take up the cases that came under its notice. It was not so with the council, which could interfere or not as it chose.

The mayor recommended to the council that the grant be given as requested. He thought that the sum asked should be given to the society direct and not through the Charity Committee, as the society went more fully into the cases than the committee could or was empowered to do by law.

Councillors Stone and Brady moved that the grant of $100 be given.

Councillors Sproule and Sawers also spoke in favour of

THE GRANT BEING GIVEN.

Councillor Dawson moved that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee.

Councillor Cahill insisted on the resolution being turned up bearing on the question of the Charity Committee and the Children's Aid Society. Upon the motion being found it was seen that the committee had full power to deal with the matter, and Councillor Cahill moved that the question be turned over to the committee.

Councillor Sawers stated that he preferred that the council assume the responsibility of making the grant, and on motion of Messrs. Stone and Brady, the sum asked was granted.

On motion of Councillors Dawson and Clinkscale Mr. Richard Hall was granted a hearing.

Mr. Hall stated that

would be completed in about four weeks and the trustees were most anxious that the citizens be afforded additional facilities for gaining access to the grounds. He therefore asked the Street Railway Company to extend its line from Charlotte street, north on Park street to McDonel, and east along McDonel to George.

Councillor Sproule opposed the idea of the Council interfering in the matter. He did not see why the members should try to coerce the Street Railway Company into adopting any particular line of action. The north end of the town was receiving too much attention altogether in his opinion.

Councillor Best inquired of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, who was present, whether if the motion spoken of was passed, it would interfere with the extension south to the river.

Mr. Bradburn said it would not.

Mr. Stone thought the street railway had a most valuable franchise. It was a monopoly and if the company saw there was money in running out to Jackson Park they would do so.

Mr. Poussette asked to be heard and stated that if Mr. Stone was referred to, he would find there was not very much money in it. There was one portion of the line which did not pay expenses and that was the spur running from Charlotte street down to the Electric Works. He would like the council to pass a resolution authorising the company to tear up the rails on this extension and if this was done there would not be any trouble about running the line up Park street to McDonel. The company was losing money on this part of the line and realized now that the construction of an electric railway in Peterborough was premature. If the line had not been put into operation until this year, it would have been soon enough, but circumstances had forced the hand of the company and caused it to build against its inclination.

Councillor Best didn't think the council had any power to grant such authorization to the company.

Mr. Poussette explained that as the contract was drawn between the council and the Street Railway Company that it could be easily altered if both parties were willing.

Mr. Cahill thought that it would be most unjust and unfair for the company to tear up these rails. If they had the legal right to do so, well and good, but if they had not he would see that they took no action. The council was inclined to be most lenient with the company, but would most at pulling up any of the tracks. Property had been raised in value along Park street south by the building of the line, and that portion of the town had been built up. It would be most unjust to the property holders to depreciate the value of their real estate by depriving them of the benefits of the Street Railway.

On motion of Councillors Mills and Brady the request of Mr. Hall was granted, and the company requested to extend its line in the direction stated.

On motion of Councillors Stone and Sawers, the grant of $200 to the Peterborough Bicycle Club was rescinded.

In reference to the matter Councillor Stone stated that if it had not been for the willingness of the councillors to rescind the grant that a motion would have been made in the courts to restrain the treasurer from paying over the money.

Mr. Fred. Foote, representing a deputation from the Sons of England, asked the council to assist the local lodge in entertaining the citizens on the First of July. A Sons of England excursion was being run into town from Toronto and would bring fully 2000 people into the town. A programme of sports would be run off, but if the town made a grant the money would be expended in a free display of fireworks.

Mr. Wm. Taylor stated that it was the first time the Sons of England had ever appeared before the council asking aid in any way and he hoped a would be granted to assist in the endeavour to keep the citizens at home on Dominion Day.

Mr. Harry Long thought it was a great pity that nothing was ever done to keep the citizens in town on public holidays, but this year the Sons of England were going to try to have a grand celebration with a public display of fireworks at night. Any money given by the Council would be used to defray the expense of this part of the programme.

The Mayor was greatly in favour of making a grant. He was glad to see that a movement was being inaugurated towards keeping the citizens at home.

Mr. Stone wanted to know what would be done when the Sons of Ireland, the Sons of Canada and the Sisters of Rebecca came asking for grants?

Mr. Dawson followed in the same line, stating that the town could of giving grants to every society.

Mr. Foote stated that the whole of any grant given would be spent in the making of a public display of some nature.

The following motion was out and carried on resolution of Councillors Sproule and Denne:

"That a grant of $150 be made towards purchasing a display of fireworks, exhibition free, to the citizens on July 1st, 1895, and that the matter be placed in the hands of a committee of Sons of England to carry out."

The report was adopted on motion of Councillor Cahill, chairman of the committee.

Through its chairman, Councillor Mills, recommended the purchase of 100 maps of the bird's-eye view of the town.

THE PRINTING COMMITTEE

Councillors Stone and Mason moved that 400 of the maps be purchased.

Carried.

Mr. Denne rose to complain of the manner in which the street watering was done by James Montgomery, one of the corporation employees. Everyone was grumbling about the matter. The man, too, he stated, was most uncivil. He saw him run into a buggy on the market a few days ago through gross carelessness. The buggy was smashed, and the town would have to foot the bill. He had reproved the man for the action and had been treated to a torrent of profanity and abuse in return. Councillors Sproule and Best had witnessed the affair and could vouch for what he said. The farmers on the market were grumbling about the discourtesy of the man also, and he thought that the corporation should get rid of so disobliging an employee.

Councillor Sproule had been called a —— fool by the man for interfering when Montgomery was off the market if they were in his way. The affair would have been settled in the police court but for the influence brought to bear upon him.

Councillor Dawson didn't think the corporation employees should have to knuckle down to councillors who were anxious to show their authority. He knew of other cases where Mr. Sproule had tried to exercise authority as a councillor.

Councillor Sproule stated in reply that any one who had ever told such a thing had lied deliberately. He meant just what he said. He never tried to exercise any authority and always respected himself. If he did not respect himself he would not expect to be respected by others.

Mr. Best stated that complaints were made day after day about the street watering. Montgomery, he understood, put his horses into the stable at about half past ten o'clock and left them there until one. He also had noticed the discourtesy of the man and spoken to him about it. He had warned him to do better or someone would be found to fill his place. Several of the councillors had stated that the district was so large that the man could not cover it all in a day. This had also been said about the northern and southern districts. It was true that those but at the same time five new stand pipes had been erected and the men had not nearly as far to go for their water.

The Street and Bridge Committee will deal with the Montgomery matter, but Mr. Brady says the Fire, Water and Light Committee will have something to say in the matter too.

Councillors Stone and Sproule moved that the C.P.R. be requested to move their freight sheds on Wolfe street, as at present property owned by Messrs. Green and Harper was completely cut off from the street.

Carried.

Mr. Meldrum, in speaking regarding his communication, stated that Prescott offered a bonus of $3,000, or a building and two and a half acres of land and exemption for the business. He, himself, offered a half interest in his present business to Mr. McAllister to induce him to come to Peterborough. The documents were all ready to be signed if the council granted exemption on the new machinery for nine years. The introduction of the new mill into the town would create a splendid local market for oats, about fifteen more able bodied men would be employed and the cooperage trade in Peterborough would be revived, as a great number of barrels would be required.

Councillor Denne was of the opinion if the new mill was opened that the

in oatmeal, etc., would be cut to pieces, as the citizens would prefer to buy direct from the mill, as they could get better prices there.

Mr. Meldrum stated in answer that his trade was almost entirely a wholesale one. He never solicited a retail customer, though if one came to the mill he couldn't very well refuse to sell. He preferred selling to the storekeepers and allowing them to retail the meal, but even when in rare cases he sold retail he did not cut the price. In the last eleven months he had only sold 467 pounds of flour at retail.

On motion of Messrs. Dawson and Clinkscale the request was granted on the following division:

Yeas,—Councillors Cahill, Best, Dawson, Clinkscale, Sawers, Mason and Brady.—7.

Nays,—Councillors Sproule, Denne and Mills.—3.

As a notice of motion Councillors Sproule and Denne handed in the following resolution:

"That a sum of money not exceeding $200 be appropriated for the purpose of erecting free bathing houses for the people, at a suitable place or places, and that the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to select the site or sites, and have the work executed at once, and that the mover be added to the committee for this purpose."

Councillor Cahill read the following resolution as a notice of motion:

"That a special committee be appointed consisting of Councillors Sproule, Denne, Clinkscale, Stone and Dawson, for the purpose of securing a suitable place for bathing purposes, with power to expend a sum not to exceed one hundred dollars. Also that said committee be authorized to deal with the municipality of Ashburnham in reference to fire protection, and that the committee report to this council."

Councillor Sproule gave notice that he would move for the preparation of a bylaw to enforce the cleaning of chimneys.

He explained that the brigade was being constantly called out to fires occasioned by dirty chimneys, and that valuable property was often endangered by the fact that chimneys were seldom, if ever, cleaned.

HIS FIRST PARACHUTE DROP.

A Point of View Different From That of the Terrestial Observer.

The great balloon which was to bear me on my first journey into the azure heights, and from which I was to make my maiden leap with a prachute, was tugging at it moorings upon the broad lawn. I confess that it was with some nervousness I took my seat in the little car beside Joseph Norcross, a skilled aeronaut, who had from dizzy heights made many and many a flight earthward through the air. With this same balloon he had during the past year safely made sixty-seven ascensions, and had at each time sucessfully descended with the parachute. So why should I fear?

Norcross smilingly welcomed me, and as he gave the order to cast loose the line and the men on the ground released the great aerial traveller, I felt myself afloat in a little boat upon an ether sea. There was no sudden jolt or jar about it, so cleverly was the release effected. Putting my head over the side of the car, I looked below and was surprised, for, apparently, we were not ascending, but the great world, with all her glory of green and gold, was dropping from us away down into space. I looked in pleased amazement upon the wonderful panorama presented as the earth kept receding. Norcross smiled.

Then I gazed upward at the great birdlike balion soaring triumphantly on. Again I looked down, and the houses and barns seemed to crouch closes to the ground and the villages to cluster together. Streams and lakes at last looked like mere threads of blots of silver. Away in the north the range of mountains looked an emerald wall, while that dark blur on the earth below was the thriving and populous county seat. We were far from the world. Suddenly we were in a cold, drizzly rain, and the earth was shut from view. I inquiringly looked at Norcross.

"We have entered the clouds," was his smilingly explanation, "and we are not yet a mile high."

In five minutes we emerged into beautiful sunshine. Beneath us lay a heavy bank of fog burnished by the ardent afternoon sunlight, but the earth for a time was not within sight. Suddenly through a rift in the clouds I caught a glimpse of it far, far below. So distant was it that only here and there could an object on its surface be discerned. Truly, we were getting well up in the world. The thought at once attracted my serious attention to the balloon. Suppose it should spring a leak or collapse, what would be the fate of the daring sky travellers? Or, on the other hand, if the valve line failed to operate, would we go on upward forever? The thought disturbed me not a little. The aeronaut surmised what was passing in my mind, smiled genially, and said:

"I have made a thousand ascensions unharmed. From what height would you like to leap?"

"Make it about 1,000 feet." I replied, determinedly.

"All right," Norcross responded, as he scanned the aerometer and promptly pulled open the valve, preparatory to descending.

Placing my hand out over the side of the car the rush of cold air against my downturned palm indicated that we were again swiftly journeying earthward. Soon we were enveloped in the fog of the cloudbank for a minute or two, and then emerged with the distant earth in view. The glance at it from my perch there away up near the clouds only increased my nervousness.

"Look up! Look up!" exclaimed the aeronaut, "or you'll lose your nerve."

A glance downward when descending with the parachute might, I knew, turn my hair white or bring on a stroke of paralysis, as it had done in the case of some other men.

"Twenty-five hundred feet from here to the ground," exclaimed the smiling Norcross. "Get ready."

He then bound round my body under the arms a stout rope, the other end of which was secured to the trapeze bar in my hand, which bar in turn was attached to the parachute that hung at the bottom of the car.

It was now rapidly approaching the time when I should make the leap of my life, and, grasping the guy ropes of the car, I stood upon the seat in readiness, while Norcross gave me his final instructions.

"Leap as far out into the air as possible and the tightening of the trapeze line will release the parachute, which will open its fifteen-foot spread in a second or two," he said; "then, all you've got to do is to look up and hang on."

"Twelve hundred feet," shouted Norcross. I tightened my grasp on the trapeze bar, looked steadfastly upward, and awaited the word to leap. It was the most trying time of my life, but I was determined to make the jump.

"Go!" suddenly exclaimed the aeronaut. Closing my eyes, I made a great leap out into space, and could feel myself rapidly shooting downward. Then the trapeze line tautened with a slight jerk that indicated the release of the closed parachute, and I looked up just in time to catch a fleeting glimpse of Norcross's smiling face peering over the side of the car far above me. But the parachute did not open. The seconds passed into a minute, and then into three, four, five minutes. Would the parachute never open? Must I be dashed to death on the ground 1,000 feet below?

Suddenly there came a sharp click from above, and my speed perceptibly slackened. Ah, the perechute had opened! My life was saved! with an intense feeling of satisfaction I felt myself deliberately descending, and, looking about, though not directly beneath me, took in the scenic beauties of my journey on every hand. But there came over me a great fear. Suppose in my descent I should strike the top of a church steeple, or one of the many chimneys with which that section of the country abounded. Common sense, however, came to my rescue.

Norcross, I felt convinced, knew his business, and had the balloon directly over a clear space when I made the leap, so where was the sense of such foolish fears and baseless apprehensions.

Finally I mastered courage and looked directly below. The earth was approaching rapidly. The fences, trees, houses, and barns became more and more clearly outlined, and roofs seemed to rise directly out of the ground. Horses, cattle, and men rose rapidly from pigmy proportions to their normal size. I saw that I would land in a broad pasture field about half a mile from where we had ascended, and there was not a chimney, roof, or tree within 100 yards. There was nothing to fear.

I saw a crowd of men and boys hastening toward the field to welcome me. Then, a few seconds afterward, to my delight, my feet struck the ground, and the most thrilling journey of my life was ended.

Calmly I folded the parachute and then looked up for the baloon. I saw it gracefully sinking to the earth in an adjoining field, and a few minutes later had the satisfaction of receiving the hearty congratulations of the aeronaut, who told me, to my great surprise, that the parachute opened within three seconds after I leaped.—Philadelphia Times.

Where Life is Long.

It has often been asserted that abnormal longevity is more common among the Russians than any other European nation. From an official report collated from local registers, it now appears the government of Kieff takes the first place in this respect.

During last year it is officially stated there were fourteen centenarian deaths registered in that government. In the City of Kieff one man died aged 119 years, while within the suburban district two women died aged respectively 102 and 104 years.

In Breditcheff two men reached the ages of 101 and 114 years, respectively. In Vassilkoff another patriarch died in his 115th year.

In the same district there died a Jewess aged 105; in Svenigorodka, a man of 110 years; in Tarastscha another of 115; in Uman two men aged respectively 106 and 102 years; in Radomytzel a Jew aged 107 and a Christian aged 103; and lastly a man of 105 years died at Tcherkassy.

Here are fourteen persons, dying within the same year and within the limits of one district, whose united ages amount to 1489 years. According to the Saratoff journals, there is still living in the government an ancient veteran of the First Napoleon's army, formerly Lieutenant Savin, and since 1812 known as Nicolai Alexandrovitch Savin, who has celebrated 126 birthdays.

Had Not Endorsed the Check.

"Excuse me, madam," said the paying-teller, "but you have not endorsed this check. If you will write your name on the back of it, it will be all right. "Oh, of course," said the little woman. "I had forgotten." Then she endorsed the check: "Sincerely yours, Janette Hicksworthy."—Harper's Bazaar.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it suceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

THE COMPOSING ROOM

THE CHANGES BROUGHT ABOUT BY TYPESETTING MACHINES.

The Craftsman Who Superseded the Scribe in Turn Forced Aside by the Modern Operator.

When Gutenberg invented the art of printing from movable type in the early part of the fifteenth century, there were not lacking persons so strongly imbued with superstition as to denounce the art as a new trap set by the Evil One for the destruction of souls, and this in spite of the fact that the first work successfully produced from the printers' hands was a Latin Bible.

The mysteries of the craft in those days were unfolded only to those of high station, and the individuals who were lucky enough to have the secrets imparted to them were looked upon with envy by their less fortunate brethern. The scribe, up to that time the official maker of books, was relegated to the rear, and in his stead appeared the individual—at that time a man of science, later a craftsman, and in our own day called a tradesman—known as the compositor. For more than four centuries the onward march of progress, strewn with the shattered remains of antique systems, left the mode of placing type in position for printing untouched, and then came—a simple improvement? Oh, no; a crushing revolution!

OLD TIME SCENES.

The composing room of a morning newspaper presented a much different appearance ten years ago from that of to-day. Copy was lifted in those days about two o'clock in the afternoon, and from that hour to the moment of going to press the scene was one of life and animation. The printers, their eyes covered with brown shades, sitting on high stools in front of the case of type, their nimble fingers transferring the little pieces of metal with great accuracy to the iron composing stick, where in themselves a picturesque sight.

About one hundred and fifty men, usually of many nationalities, from the Russian to the West Indian mulatto, were necessary in a morning newspaper composing room at that time. The dapper graduate of a city printing office could be seen side by side with the Bohemian "tourist," or tramp printer, stories of travel always won him a welcome in any party of printers. The verdant product of the country newspaper was also in evidence, as well as the "panhandler," or chronic borrower, whose time was devoted almost exclusively to printing newspapers in barrooms.

Work was begun daily under the direction of the copy cutter and the chairman, the latter a compositor elected by the printers to represent them in all disputes concerning their work. The chairman took to the copy desk a box filled with ivory balls, each having a number engraved on it. After shaking the box well the copy cutter drew a ball and announced the number of it aloud. The man working on the frame of the corresponding number would be entitled to "first out," or the best piece of "phat" on the desk. The copy was always turned face downward. The men followed according to their numbers and took the uppermost "take," and you could tell by the expression on an individual's face whether he had fared well or not.

When every one had taken copy the chairman called "Time," and a hundred and fifty hands reached almost simultaneously and the box containing the first letter on the copy, and the paper was under way.

THE LATE RUSH.

The end of a busy night was interesting. The copy, on account of the lateness of the hour, would be cut into three or four line "takes," the compositors being frequently called upon to "make even," that is, to space out his words to fill the last line even at the end. To the uninitiated everything would seem disorder. The men making up the different pages would, from time to time, call for the matter they needed.

"Who has seven of yachts?" would be heard, and then the compositor correcting the required galley would reply by announcing his number.

"Pass it up," and "Pull slugs" would follow in rapid succession, and in less time than it takes to relate the "make-up" requiring that particular galley would have it by his side, corrected or not, and would lose no time in placing it in its proper position in the page. Frequently press of time would necessitate the "railroading" of thirty to fifty galleys for the first edition, the term "railroad" being applied to all matter inserted without correction.

The rushing to and fro of the compositors, first to the desk for copy, back to their frames, and then, when finished with the "take," over to the "bank" to deposit it—the bank being a long grooved table, slanted sufficiently to prevent the type from falling; the cries of the "bankman" and "make-up" for missing matter, the scurrying up and down of galley boys; the busy attitudes of the various editors, the foreman and his assistant, as well as the din created by the hammering down of the type to make it perfectly even, and the rattle of the little tables on which the pages were made up as they were rushed into the sterotyping department all made the scene one of seeming chaos.

Suddenly the din ceases and everything becomes comparatively quiet. All the busy workers of a moment previous are chatting and laughing as if they know not the meaning of the word "rush." The tension is over—the paper has gone to press.

A GREAT CHANGE.

Since the advent of the typesetting machine much of the bustle incident to getting the paper to press on time has been obviated. Only about one-third the number formerly employed is necessary, a skilled machine compositor being able to set from three to five times as much type as a first-class hand compositor. The machine in general use is known as the Linotype, so called because it casts type in lines. It was invented by a jeweller named Mergenthaler, and it is a wonderful piece of mechanism. It is manipulated by means of a keyboard.

The operator touches a key and a brass matrix or die drops into a little grooved channel in full view of the workman. One after another are brought down until a bell rings, notifying the operator that the line is almost full. He presses a lever, which brings the line of matrices into contact with the hot metal, and in a few seconds the thing is done. The matrices are being distributed to their proper places, and a solid bar or line of dazzling white metal appears in a little opening to the left of the operator.

The compositors of the various newspapers all received instruction in the manipulation of the linotype, but a large percentage of those more than thirty-five years old failed to acquire the speed necessary to entitle them to classification as average operators.

CONTRAST IN THE MEN.

The contrast between the careless attire and prodigal habits of the machine operators is marked. The latter are neatly dressed, bright, active and of steady habits and their general appearance would sugest a large class of students rather than newspaper compositors. The typesetting machine has proved itself a strong temperance advocate, and though the printer first laughed at it and afterwards opposed it bitterly, declaring forcibly that its failure was inevitable, yet, aside from those who lost their situations through its introduction there is not a man employed in a newspaper composing room who will not be benefited ultimately, for the nature of the work now demands a clear head and attention to the laws of health, which must certainly elevate the printers as a body to that position in social life to which their intelligence entitles them and their spendthrift habits so long prevented their attaining.

As for the newspaper proprietor, the benefits he derives are manifold. The paper is handled with greater ease; it is impossible to "pi," or break up, the type late at night through haste or carelessness; cutting small "takes" is no longer necessary late at night, and the appearance of the paper is improved because "plugging" or wide spacing is not permitted; the type always appears new, and, above all, full justice is now done the excellent service to the fullest extent in publication, which was utterly impracticable under the slow and antiquated system of hand composition.

And so the great magician, Progress, hat at last stepped within the mysterious precincts of the composing room, and, with a wave of his powerful wand, transformed the apearance of everything. He has sumoned the new printer to the helm, and the old printer in consequence passes from the scene of his former usefulness, perhaps to death, surely to oblivion.—New York Herald.

MONEY AND EFFORT.

Both Are Wasted in the North Polar Explorations.

It is announced that Mrs. Peary, wife of the Arctic explorer, is about to begin a course of lectures for the purpose of aiding in raising a fund wherewith to defray the cost of bringing her husband from the far north. These relief expeditions have come to be a regular part of Arctic exploration. Under certain conditions subscriptions would come in rapidly, but in the present it does not appear that anything is required beyond what was expected when Peary set sail for the north pole. Therefore it would seem to have been the part of prudence for him to have made provision for his return. Apparently he did nothing of the kind, raising just enough money to equip his expedition for its outward journey and trusting his return to the generosity and humanity of the public. Doubtless he felt assured that he would not be left to die in his Arctic quarters, and so started off with no definite idea of how his return was to be secured, under stress of circumstances. No doubt Lieutenant Peary is in earnest in his work and concerned quite as much for science as for fame. But that fact should not lead him to bury himself in the Arctic regions without hope of safety except through an appropriation forced by the popular unwillingness to permit suffering which can be relieved. Folly should not be thus mingled with scientific enthusiasm. If the explorer's friends promised to send a party for his relief they should have long since provided the means. Their waiting until the last moment appears too much like an endeavor to trade upon popular sympathy. The people are not averse to contributing to laudable enterprises, but they prefer to do it under less compelling circumstances. Of course, Lieutenant Peary will be brought back. The confidence of himself and his friends that he will not be allowed to suffer through need of money is not misplaced, but it is probable that he will be told not to repeat the experiment. The general opinion is that Arctic exploration is not worth what it costs in cash and in hardship, and those who undertake it hereafter must learn to foot their own bills.

For one dollar, you may buy a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which, if taken in time, and according to directions, may save a great many dollars in doctors' bills, and thus exemplify the truth of the old maxim, "Prevention is better than cure."

This is to certify that I have suffered from piles for a long time and tried several articles recommended for this complaint, but none of them benefitted me till I tried Chase's Ointment, which has completely cured me.

MRS. JOHN GERRIE.

R. Phillips, jr., Druggist Witness.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. CRICKET.

W. G. Grace is still at it. When the last mail left England he was playing for Gloucestershire against Kent, and had been in all day, scoring 210 and being not out at the end of the day. He batted from 12.20 till stumps were drawn. Cambridge University was playing Surrey the same day, and the University men were in the field all day long, Surrey scoring 500 for the loss of seven wickets. Abel and Holland put on 306 for the third wicket.

RANGE AND RIFLE.

The first of the league and monthly matches took place at the range on Thursday last and on account of the high wind and extremely hot weather the scoring was not so high as in the first match of last year. With beads of prespiration running into his eyes and dropping off the end of his nose, it is very difficult for the rifleman to draw a bead on the bull's eye. The following is the score:—

	200.	500.	600.	Total.

LACROSSE.

All lacrossists are urged to turn out for practice at the Driving Park every evening between now and the date of the Orillia match.

At a meeting held in the Palace Restaurant last evening, an amalgamation was effected between the Peterborough and Athletic lacrosse teams of the town. The Peterboroughs, it is understood, will disband, join the Athletics and practice on the Riverside Park. The management remains in the hands of the Athletic officials but the Peterboroughs will have Mr. W.E. Loch as a representative on the management committee which is composed of himself, Mr. Carese LeBrun and Dr. McGrath. Two teams will be sent out of town on the 6th of June. One will go to fulfil the engagement of the Peterboroughs with the Orillias, and the other will go to Beaverton for a game.

The Junior Orillias play the Junior Peterboroughs here on June 10th.

THE ANNUAL OUTING.

The 57th Will Decide To-Night Where they Will Go on Dominion Day.

After drill this evening the members of the 57th Battalion will be asked to decide just where they will spend their outing. The officers will lay the facts of the case before their men, and a vote will be taken. It is altogether likely that Picton will be the spot chosen, and if so, the route will be to Trenton or Belleville by rail, and thence by boat through the beautiful Bay of Quinte to Picton. The choice will lay between Barrie and the former town, as some very encouraging letters have been received from Barrie.

The Picton Gazette says in reference to the matter:

"There is a probability that the 57th Peterborough Battalion of Infantry will visit Picton on or about the 1st of July, for a couple of days outing, providing they can be accommodated with suitable camping grounds. The matter is under consideration by the battalion, and the choice lies between Belleville, Brockville, Barrie and Picton. There should be no difficulty in providing suitable camping accommodation, and we have no doubt the officers of the 16th battalion will exert themselves to provide the necessary grounds, should the battalion finally decide to choose Picton as the place for the proposed outing. The agricultural grounds would be very suitable and convenient to town, with water and electric light. A ball in the crystal palace and a sail down our beautiful bay are already talked of. Picton possesses so many interesting features that it is certain the 57th in coming to Picton will have one of the pleasantest outings in the history of the battalion."

Late this afternoon Lt. Col. Bell received a telegram from the town clerk of Picton as follows: "The corporation of the town of Picton in council assembled instructed me to invite your Battalion to make Picton your headquarters for your summer's outing. Water and electric light provision ample and free.

EMILY.

Serious Accident to Mr. S. Dyell.

On Thursday of last week Mr. S. Dyell, an old and highly respected resident of Emily, met with an accident which may have serious consequences. Mrs. Barrie of Peterborough, with her daughter, was visiting Mr. Dyell, and the latter wishing to drive them to a relative's, used the team that has taken such successful part in the drawing contests at the Central Exhibitions here. At Boate's church a drove of cattle was met, and this frightening the horses the vehicle was upset. The ladies were not much injured, but Mr. Dyell sustained a fracture of the thigh and a broken leg, besides being severely bruised on that side of the body, and receiving, it is feared, internal injuries. At his advanced age—75 years—these injuries will, it is feared, be hard for his physical strength to overcome. Later reports state that Mr. Dyell is in a very serious condition and little hope is entertained of his recovery.

DIED FROM THE HEAT.

Numerous Victims of the Hot Weather—Three Deaths in Hamilton One at Niagara Falls.

Hamilton, June 4.—The intense heat here has been responsible for deaths.

Thomas Downs died 20 minutes after being sunstruck.

Cornelius Crean, who was sunstruck on Saturday, died yesterday.

John B. Croy is also dead, the cause being fatty degeneration of the heart, superinduced by the heat. Mr. Croy was unusually well on Friday. The doctor, however, warned his friends that if the great heat lasted he could not live. He was 32.

A Prize Fighter Knocked Out by the Sun.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., June 4.—Dennis Hurley, a lightweight prize fighter, yesterday afternoon walked to the top of the Lewiston Mountain for exercise. On Main-street he fell, picked himself up, and again fell. A third time he went down and laid in the road until picked up and carried to his home. This morning he died suddenly.

Four Drownings at Boston.

Boston, June 4.—Yesterady four lives were sacrificed in the pursuit of pleasure. With his wife and children and several friends looking at him, John S[illegible] sank to his death in the Curtis creek. Walter C. Brown, aged 17, was drowned at Ferry Bar. He had a cramp. William S. Bowers, aged 22, was drowned at Spring Gardens. Christian Jansen, aged 15, was drowned while bathing at Gwynn Oak Park.

Farmer's Son Lost While Bathing.

Millbrook, June 4.—Ephraim Clarke, aged 21, son of a farmer six miles from here, was drowned while bathing yesterday in the millpond.

At Belleville.

Belleville, June 4.—Joseph Colkeen was drowned in Park's creek, Tyendinaga, Saturday.

Burst Open by a Hydrant Stream

Glenwood Springs, Col., June 4.—While William Simpson was in company with a crowd of young men in the swimming pool, they undertook to outdo each other in foolhardy acts. Finally Simpson undertook to sit on the nozzle from which the water shoots with a velocity of 120 pounds to the inch, with the result that the water burst him open.

An Elmira Convict Makes a Desperate Attempt at Suicide.

Elmira, N.Y., June 3.—M. V. Strit, condemned to suffer death by electrocution at Auburn Prison during the week beginning July 21, for the murder of his wife and sister-in-law, made a determined effort to take his life this morning. He wrenched off the handle of a tin drinking cup and, bending it into the shape of a knife, made several attempts to cut his throat. Failing in this he jabbed it into his neck on the right side near the jugular vein, and succeeded in making an ugly wound. Strit was put in irons while the wound was sewed up. He made frequent attempts to tear open the gash with his fingers. The wound is very close to the jugular vein, but will not result seriously.

Farmer's Wife Takes Poison

St. Thomas, June 3.—Mrs. Libbie Badgley, wife of Mr. John Badgley, farmer, Township of Yarmouth, near New Sarum, committed suicide yesterday by taking rough on rats. It is said she brooded over a misstep made before marriage.

Self-Cremation While Insane.

Ellsworth, Ks., June 4.—Mrs. Wm. Irwin of Freeport, Ill., committed suicide last night in a shocking manner. She was insane, but eluded the vigilance of her watchers and stole into the cellar. There she saturated her clothing with gasoline and applied a match. When found she was enveloped in flames, and died a few minutes later in intense agony.

Tramped 11,000 Miles in Three Years.

Chicago, June 3.—Louis Budinich of Lussino, Austro-Hungary, and Anton Bemo of Buda Pesth set out on foot from Buenos Ayres, Aug. 7, 1892. Yesterday afternoon they arrived in this city, having walked the entire distance, over 11,000 miles, from Buenos Ayres to Chicago. This city is the destination they decided upon when they left Buenos Ayres, nearly three years ago, with the idea of exploring the South American countries on foot for the purpose of compiling an accurate account of those countries and their people.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

Mr. Charlton the Butt of Tory Malignancy.

ENLISTED AND THEN REPUDIATED

Mr. Charlton Refutes Attacks Made Upon Him for Securing Free Entry of Canadian Lumber Into the United States—Farmers Not Making Money on Dear Wheat.

Ottawa, June 5.—Shortly after the House was called to order yesterday the division bells rang through the lobbies and members' rooms. Mr. Foster had moved that the order of proceedings be changed so that one of the days which now belongs to the measures which private members have in charge shall be given up to Government business. The motion was met by the request from Mr. Laurier that the House be informed what legislation the Government had yet to bring down, and especially with reference to the Hudson's Bay Railway grant what course was to be taken. With regard to this latter, he reminded the House that it was three months since the order-in-council had been passed, and six weeks since the session had opened, and the Government should therefore have come to some decision. To this Mr. Foster had replied that he would satisfy the curiosity of the leader of the Opposition with reference to one matter, and tell the House that no proposition involving legislation would be introduced this year with reference to the Chignecto Railway. He announced further, that all the important ordinary legislation was on the order paper. But as for the Hudson Bay Railway "he was not in a position to definitely say what particular course the Government would recommend to the House."

That this reply, so characteristic of the Government's indefiniteness and vacillation, should not have satisfied Mr. Laurier was not extraordinary. He was greatly disappointed with the answer, he told the leader of the House. They knew now that no legislation was proposed with reference to the Chignecto Railway, but the leader of the House should have let the House know what it was intended to do with the Hudson's Bay Railway. Until he did so, Mr. Laurier said he was not disposed to break the rules of the House. This it was that set the bells ringing and caused the variation of an open vote. It was a straight party division, except that Col. O'Brien voted with the Opposition, the majority being 32.

Mr. Charlton took occasion, upon the calling of the orders of the day, to make a statement in refutation of the attacks which members of the Government, Conservatives and the Conservative press have made upon him with reference to the negotiations out of which which was evolved the free admission of Canadian lumber into the United States markets. He explained that last session, when the charge was made in Parliament, that he was a traitor because of his part in the arrangement of the free lumber clauses of the Wilson bill, that measure was pending and might have been prejudiced if he had made public at that time certain facts in his exoneration which now, however, he might make use of. He felt, he said, a deep sense of injury by reason of the attack which had been made against him. The Secretary of State had at a meeting in his constituency at Tilsonburg told his constituents that no other constituency could be found which would disgrace itself by returning him to Parliament. These attacks were his apology, he said, for occupying the time of the House.

Mr. Charlton reviewed the history of the whole question and showed that in all his connection with the negotiations he had acted in the interests of Canada. He pointed out that when a deputation of Michigan lumbermen went to Washington to ask that if the Canadian duty on boom sticks and chains were not result from a maintenance of the boom the Canadian Government availed itself of his intercession. The Government employed him to communicate with the Michigan delegation at Washington to avert the consequences that would removed a duty be placed on Canadian sawn lumber entering the United States, duty. At the instance of Hon. E. H. Bronson, Mr. J. R. Booth and himself the Government had consented to allow the duty to remain in abeyance, but whenever the Wilson bill was passed and the advantages which it conferred in respect to Canadian lumber were secured, the Government proceeded to impose the boom duty again. He was not aware that the Michigan delegation had received an assurance from the State Department at Washington that the re-imposition of this duty would be regarded as an export duty, and that the advantages conferred by the Wilson bill would be swept away with one stroke of the pen. Yet after the service he had rendered the Government, and after the Government had invited his assistance, it had condemned him, its orators and its press had rung the changes on him as a Yankee, an annexationist, a traitor. He had accepted a reduction of $1 a thousand on lumber upon the abolition of the export duty on logs and that was an arrangement he had initiated and negotiated. He accepted the provisions of the Wilson bill, which was made law in February, 1894, with all the advantages attached to them, and accepted them thankfully. It set aside its boom duty in May, 1894, for fear it would lose these protections which had been secured at Washington when the Wilson bill was being negotiated, and yet the man who had been instrumental in getting these advantages was called a traitor. It sacrificed the boom duty, knowing that it was necessary to save free lumber, yet its followers could not forego the opportunity of putting the knife into a hated political rival. It had asked his services to avert the threatened action of the Michigan lumber delegation at Washington, and there were Government telegrams dated May 14, 1894, of which he had copies, dictated by himself to secure the result which the Government sought, viz.: the averting of the disaster which would have been the result of the Michigan men putting a stop to the free lumber provision. He claimed that he had been instrumental in securing the advantages, yet he had been persecuted by the Government, maligned and traduced by its followers. This course was unfair, petty and malignant.

Mr. Bennett, the member for East Simcoe, repeated the attack that he made upon Mr. Charlton last session. While he appreciated the services he had rendered the Government, he condemned him for having, as he said, acted antagonistically to Canadian interests when the Wilson bill was about to be passed. Mr. Bennett ascribed to a letter which he said Mr. Charlton had written to Secretary Carlisle the incorporation of the clause in the Wilson bill making the admission of lumber to the United States free contingent upon the absence of an export duty on Canadian logs.

During the protracted discussion which followed this statement Mr. Charlton was violently attacked by the Controller of Customs and other members of the Government side of the House. One member went back 30 years in Mr. Charlton's life by bringing up a letter which he was said to have written then to prove that he was disloyal to Canada.

Mr. Casey said that a deliberate and organised attempt was being made to persuade the farmers of Canada that because of the increase of the price of wheat, they were making money, and that there was a large stock yet in their hands. He quoted a despatch from Montreal, published in The Toronto World, showing the enormous profits the grain speculators had made out of the rise in the price of wheat and flour. The list of lucky ones follows: Mr. W. W. Ogilvie $1,000,000, Robert Meighen $500,000, Hugh McLennan $150,000, Bob Esdaile $75,000, Alex McFie $75,000, Crane & Baird $100,000, A. C. McBean $100,000, Harry Raphael $75,000, Luke Hunsicker $50,000, Adam Thompson $50,000, Ewan McLennan $50,000, Jim Carruthers $75,000, Robert Peddie $75,000, James Campbell $40,000, Ed Craig $40,000, J. McShane $50,000, J. L. Smith & Son $75,000, Edgar Judge $50,000, George McBean & Co. $50 000, R.E.Wright $40,000, outsiders $500,000. Total $3,220,000.

This, Mr. Casey said, showed that it was not the farmers that had made the money, but the speculators. He explained that the statement of Mr. Ogilvie, read in the House last week by Dr. Montague, that there is a store of wheat remaining in the hands of the farmers of 1,500,000 bushels, by saying that the dealers having unloaded are now anxious to bear the market, and Dr. Montague had acted as their agent. The fact that such enormous profits had been made proved that no such amount of wheat remains in the possession of the Canadian farmers.

During the past three months the Experimental Farm hands have been busily engaged sending out samples of seed grain to farmers. To supply the 20,039 samples sent out this spring has required 39 tons of material. The samples have consisted of: Wheat, 3251; oats, 10,259; barley, 4639; peas, 2125; corn, 1707; potatoes, 4647. These have been distributed by provinces as follows: Ontario, 5814; Quebec, 14,200; New Brunswick, 1637; Prince Edward Island, 785; Nova Scotia, 2169; British Columbia, 155; Manitoba, 497; Northwest Territories, 692.

With each of these samples a circular has been sent, containing instructions as to the particulars to be observed and reported on in making these tests. In addition to the three-pound samples referred to, there have been distributed in one-pound bags 966 samples of new varieties of cross-bred wheat, and 105 of hybrid barleys. These have been sent to some of those farmers in the different provinces of the Dominion who have made careful reports on former tests, and who take a special interest in experimental work in agriculture.

In the botanical division a distribution of packages of small samples of grasses has been made; 120 of such packages have been sent out in response to special application, each containing samples of 12 varieties. A further distribution of young forest trees, poplar and willow cuttings, etc., has also been made; 983 packages having been sent out in response to requests received.

These have gone chiefly to those districts in the Northwest where trees are scarce. A further distribution of useful varieties of grain and young forest trees has also been made this season at each of the branch farms.

At a meting of the Public Accounts Committee to-day, it was arranged between Sir Hibbert Tupper and Mr. Davies that Mr. F. M. Hamel, Assistant Engineer of Public Works, should appear before the committee at its next meeting, and explain why it was that he failed for two years in giving an account to the Government of certain moneys of the Department which he had in his possession.

Mr. Miall, Commissioner of Inland Revenue, appeared before the committee and was asked to explain why it was that there were $96,342 of arrears due the Department. Efforts, he said, had been made to collect the arrears. Some of the debts were current in 1875. The cullers' dues amounted to $40,000. The Department of Justice had given instructions for the amounts to be collected. Mr. Miall was of the opinion that the law firms had collected the money and had failed so far to account for the same. He mentioned the names of a couple of firms, but he promised to look over the whole records and make an accurate statement to the committee at its next meeting.

Mr. Somerville, Brant, moved that Dr. Benson of the Dominion Methodist Church appear before the committee to be examined in regard to the amount he received for immigration work. The motion was carried.

It was brought out on examination of Lieut.-Col. Macpherson, Director of Stores, that J. B. Mills, M.P., Annapolis, owed the Department of Militia $994.69 for rent for ordnance property at Annapolis. The rent of the property was £34 10s. per annum. The only sums paid since 1886 by Mr. Mills were $83.96 and $96.87. Nothing was paid since 1888. Mr. Mills' name had been sent to the Department of Justice with a view to having the money collected.

Hon. A. M. Ross, ex-Treasurer of Ontario; H. F. Machin, Deputy Treasurer of Quebec, and G. W. Dickieson, Dominion Book-keeper, are sitting in conference to-day at the Finance Department, looking over the accounts in dispute between the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec and the Dominion.

Methodist Ministers and the Book Room.

Hamilton, June 5.—In the Methodist Conference Rev. Dr. Briggs of Toronto book steward, fired a bomb by announcing that members of the conference were hundreds and thousands of dollars behind in their accounts with the book-room. He intimated that unless some of them settled up right speedily action would have to be brought in the courts. Some of the ministers expressed the opinion that Dr. Briggs had no right to bring such a thing up at the conference.

Dr. Briggs replied by stating that a minister then on the floor of the house owed $400. He had been dunned for it, and had written a reply stating that he would remember the account in his will.

Toronto Markets

Toronto, June 5.—Flour, quiet, straight rollers quoted at $4.75 to $4.85, Toronto freights.

Bran—Business in bran quiet and prices $13 to $14, Toronto freights. Shorts unchanged at $17.

Wheat—The wheat market continues firm under limited offerings. The best white and red are still held at $1.02 outside, but the weakness of Chicago to-day makes buyers cautious. Manitoba is dull, with $1.05 to $1.06 the nominal quotations west.

Barley—The market is dull, with little stock offering. Prices nominal, at 52c to 55c outside.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices steady. White is quoted at 39c to 40c outside, and 43c on track.

Peas — The demand is fair and prices steady, 63c outside.

Rye—Business quiet, with limited offerings. Cars are now worth 62c to 64c, outside.

Buckwheat—There is nothing doing and prices are purely nominal.

Pretty for the Table.

The electric candle is in great request for the lighting and decoration of dining and other tables. An ingenious device for lighting the candle is provided by placing small pads under the tablecloth and taking the current from them by means of two pin points in the base of the candlestick. The candles, of course, are extinguished on being taken from the table, and are re-lighted when they are placed in the proper position. They are so arranged that the bulb and glass imitation of a wax candle can be removed, when the candlestick can be used for any ordinary candle. When used with shades of colored silk the electric candle makes one of the prettiest additions to a dinner-table that it is possible to imagine.

TOWNSHIP OF OTONABEE S. S. WORK.

Annual Convention.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual convention of the township of Otonabee has been arranged for Tuesday, June 25th, in the new S. S. Hall, opposite Stewart's school house, on the 16th concession of Otonabee.

There will be an afternoon session at 2.30, and an evening session at 7.30, to both of which the public, especially those interested in S. S. work, are cordially invited.

In the afternoon, there will be a report from each school in the township. In past years there has been much room for improvement in this line. Each superintendent is requested to see that a report of his school is given, either by himself or some other member of the school. If there should be a case where this is impossible, please send to the president, on before June 21st, a written report of matters of interest in connection with your school for the past year.

Mrs. Duncan, Provincial Primary Secretary, Dr. Harrison, of Keene, Rev. J. J. Rae and Rev. A. MacWilliams, of Peterborough, and other able S. S. workers have promised to take part. Among the subjects to be discussed are:—The Home Class Department, Normal Work, The Relation of the Y. P. S. C. E. to Sunday School Work, and primary work. Please come prepared to discuss these subjects, to ask and answer questions—not merely to listen to what the leader has to say.

God has blessed our labours in the past in this township, and by prayer and consecrated effort we hope to be enabled to do even much greater things in the future.

Let each school be well represented at this convention. In the meantime let us pray for its success, and do all we can to make it even more successful than our former similar gatherings.

It is proposed that the time between the close of the afternoon session and the opening of the evening session be spent at the hall in social intercourse. Of this, fuller particulars will be announced later.

Fraternally yours in S. S. work,
M. W. MATCHETT,
President Otonabee S. S. Association.

LIVE LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Rev. R. Hyde, of Warsaw, preached the preparatory sermon in the Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon of last week.

Mr. R. J. Munro was called to Campbellford last week owing to the serious illness of his mother.

Rev. A. R. McDonald was in Toronto last week attending the annual convention of the Baptists of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bell, of Toronto, are spending a few days at their cottage at Stony Lake.

Mr. W. M. Graham is in Brantford this week attending the annual audit of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Mr. G. A. Strickland left last week for a trip to England to visit his mother who is ill.

Mr. John Leonard, of Paisley, is visiting friends in this neighbourhood.

Mrs. W. M. Graham and Miss Nelson go to Bobcaygeon this week to attend the semi-annual Presbyterial meeting of the W.F.M.S.

Next Sunday evening Rev. W. Limbert will preach the annual sermon to Exeter Lodge S. O. E. in the Methodist church. The brethren will assemble in their lodge room and proceed from there in a body to the church. Service will commence at 7 o'clock sharp.

RUNAWAY.—On Monday morning of last week while Mr. Richard Darling was driving out of the village his horse became frightened at a bicycle, which suddenly passed them, and ran away. They had not gone far when they were turned into the ditch, upsetting the rig, it falling on Mr. Darling. The horses were caught before going very far. The wagon was found to be considerably smashed up, and Mr. Darling was bruised and cut about the face.

Messrs. Thomas Church and Patrick Murphy, of Peterborough, came up to Lakefield for a little excursion, and while here engaged in noisy and blasphemous conduct, for which they were given lodgings in Castle Doldge. In the morning they appeared before Reeve Casement and were fined $3.50 each, which was paid.

Rev. J. J. Rae, of Peterborough, delivered a lecture in the Methodist church to a large audience, on the subject of "Mind Your Own Business."

MATRIMONY.—Two couples were made happy last week, the grooms being Messrs. John Hull and John Hendren.

WIDEAWAKE WESTWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Court Westwood, I. O. F., No. 708, assisted by visiting brethren from neighbouring courts, will attend divine service in the Presbyterian church, Westwood, on Sunday evening, June 16th. The Foresters will meet at their hall at 5.30, and march in a body to the church, where divine service will be conducted by Rev. J. R. Peake, who is a member of Westwood Court. Divine service will begin at 6.30. A very large attendance of Foresters is expected.

Mr. R. C. Humphries, cheesemaker at Cherry Grove factory, Smith, spent Sunday at home.

A horse belonging to Mr. Jas. Cameron, jr., was accidentally shot while pasturing in the field last Saturday. It is supposed some boys were rifle-practising, and a stray bullet struck the horse killing him. Practising with rifles should be strictly prohibited, unless in a place where there is no danger whatever, as life is much endangered otherwise.

On May 25th, the wife of Philip Elmhirst, jr., of a son.

The Presbyterian Christian Endeavour Society under the able presidency of Mr. Andrew Cameron, is doing excellent work, increasing in numbers, interest and general improvement every way. In a short time the society purpose having some able and energetic worker from a distance to lecture.

The Rev. Mr. Andrew, pastor in the Presbyterian church here, preached an instructive and eloquent sermon from St. John, 3, 16, last Sunday, and although the weather was exceedingly warm, he was listened to with marked pleasure and attention. Mr. Andrews, although up in the "seventies" has still his old time vigour in the pulpit.

G.T.R. CONSPIRACY CASE.

Two New Indictments Laid Before the Grand Jury.

Montreal, June 5.—Startling revelations have been made during the past few days in the G.T.R. conductors' case of alleged conspiracy to defraud the company by the "knocking down" of fares on the Montreal and Toronto division, which will lead to the arrest of others who, it is said, are implicated in the case.

On the jury disagreeing in March a complete report of the case was forwarded to the Attorney-General. To-day instructions were received from that gentleman by the Crown authorities, instructing them to lay indictments against Fred Pominville and Lewis for also conspiring to defraud the Grand Trunk Railway Co. The former, it will be remembered, who is a porter in the Belmoral Hotel, gave evidence in the last trial in defence of the accused conductors. Lewis was employed at the Queen's, and when he heard of the arrest of the four conductors he skipped out. Since then he has been located, and will be arrested along with Pominville and others. The indictments were placed before the grand jury at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon. Considerable evidence has been secured, and it has been intimated that interesting developments are expected. Stone, the conductor who "jumped" his bail, is said to be in California.

MRS. MACK ON TRIAL.

The Bogus Stamp Swindler Under Examination at Buffalo.

Buffalo, June 5.—Mrs. Mary T. Mack, alias Mrs. McMillan, charged with being an accomplice in the bogus stamp swindle, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Fairchild this morning. Mrs. Mack was represented by Mr. N. W. Norton. William De Wees, manager of the Chicago Addressing Co. of Chicago, testified to having seen an advertisement from the Canadian Novelty Supply Co., offering stamps for sale. He ordered a package, which were seised by Capt. Porter.

Porter testified that prisoner's name was Mrs. Tiasa McMillan, and that she lived in Chicago. The witness said he seized seven packages of stamps shipped from Buffalo, which were produced in evidence. He also swore that letters written to receivers of stamps from the Canadian Novelty and Supply Co. were in Mrs. Mack's handwriting. He testified Mrs. Mack admitted having written the letters in Hamilton.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Balmer of Oakville Celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of Their Marriage.

Oakville, June 5.—One of the best known residences in the Halton district is the fine old home of "Ferniehurst," Oakville, named after the famous old castellated mansion at Jedburgh, Scotland, which was the home for generations of the Balmer family and the birthplace of Mr. Robert Balmer of this place. Yesterday "Ferniehurst" here was en fete, the occasion being the celebration of the golden wedding of Mr and Mrs. Balmer, who are among the town's oldest citizens and the early pioneers of the district. Almost 100 members of the family, relatives and near friends, assembled to do honor to the occasion. These included one son, two daughters at home, four married daughters and 12 grandchildren, the sons-in-laws being these: Dr. Cochrane of Brantford, Capt. McGiffin of Toronto, Sheriff Watt of Brantford and Andrew Pattullo of The Sentinel-Review, Woodstock, with a number of the oldest and best known of Oakville's citizens.

An illuminated address was presented on behalf of the members of the family accompanied by a silk purse well filled with gold. Many friends present and about showed their esteem by letters, telegrams and gifts. Mayor Mariatt spoke for the corporation of Oakville, of which Mr. Balmer has been clerk since it became a town. He was previously clerk of the then Township of Trafalgar. Besides being one of the oldest and best known magistrates of the district, and filling other offices of trust, Mr. Balmer has been for nearly fifty years postmaster here, a record surpassed by few in the public service. It is safe to say that no man in this part of the country enjoys a larger share of public confidence, filling other offices of trust, Mr. Balmer He and his esteemed wife are so closely connected with the leading families of the country and so intimately associated with its whole history that their golden wedding has been an event of more than ordinary interest. In addition to those present hundreds, here and elsewhere, will join in wishing the bridegroom and bride of fifty years ago many more years of a useful and happy life.

THIRD TIME IN 200 YEARS.

Ladies Admitted to the Theological Seminary of Montreal

Montreal, June 5.—The Lieutenant-Governor and Madame Chapleau were royally received yesterday at the Montreal College. For the third time in 200 years ladies entered the theological department of the seminary, the other occasions being the visits of the Princess Louise and Lady Monk. British flags floated everywhere to-day, and the 400 French students sang God Save the Queen as the Governor and party left the college.

The Montreal and Toronto long-distance telephone line will be completed towards the end of September. Three large gangs are now at work between here and Kingston, and two beyond. The distance of the Montreal and Toronto telephone line will be about 400 miles, which is the heaviest line in Canada.

WILFUL MURDER.

Broom and Smith Brutally Murdered Old Mary Atkinson.

Toronto, June 5. — A verdict of wilful murder was returned yesterday against the men Broom and Smith by the jury empanelled by Coroner Pickering to enquire into the cause of the death of Mary Atkinson, who died at the jail on Sunday.

The report of Drs. Primrose and Waddy, who conducted the post-mortem, showed the assault to have been a most brutal one. The body of the old lady was horribly bruised and torn, and death was undoubtedly due to the shock and exhaustion caused by the assault.

Broom and Smith will be arraigned this morning and asked to plead to the charge of murder.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

A SWINDLER CAUGHT

He Raised Money by Raising Postoffice Orders.

CAPTURED BY A DECOY LETTER

His Name is E. J. Wingard and He is an Englishman and Something of a Swell—He Confessed His Guilt and Pleaded Hard Luck.

Ottawa, June 5.—Inspector Barker of the Toronto postal division, arrived in Ottawa at 6 o'clock yesterday, and within two hours he had in the toils F. J. Winyard, a handsome young Englishman, six feet in height, who forged and raised a postoffice money order at Brampton two days ago. The arrest was the result of a clever piece of detective work. The manner in which Winyard raised an order for 20 cents to $100, and swindled E. F. Webster, the Toronto ticket agent, out of that amount.

From Brampton Winyard went on to Ottawa, and put up at the Pacific Hotel, near the C.P.R. depot. Once there he bought six postoffice orders for amounts under one dollar, payable at different places. These he raised, making them payable for $100 each on the Bank of Montreal. He sent five of them to the head office in Montreal, and asked that cheques be sent back instead. The bank, according to the papers found in his possession, replied that they did not do business that way. He replied, asking for letters of credit. The bank then told him to cash the orders at the local agency in Ottawa. Winyard, becoming alarmed, exchanged his orders for $100 each, making them payable to different parties. He forwarded two of them to the Imperial Bank, Toronto, and asked for cheques by return mail.

The bank officials, who had read of the Brampton affair in The World, notified Inspector Barker of the Toronto authorities, who immediately went to Ottawa. A decoy letter was placed in the postoffice at Ottawa.

When Winyard presented himself at the general delivery wicket, shortly after 8 o'clock, he received the letter and was arrested by Inspector O'Leary when leaving the building. He confessed his guilt, and said the trick was an old one in England.

The prisoner is a bowling swell, and takes his position very coolly. In his valise was found a complete outfit for obliterating and changing postal orders. His supplies included chemicals and a spirit lamp. When arrested he only had a few dollars. Asked for an explanation, he said he had played in hard luck at the Woodbine races. The prisoner will be arraigned to-morrow, and meanwhile is reposing in the Ottawa police station.

LORD ABERDEEN AT MILTON.

His Excellency Lays a Corner Stone, Receives Numerous Addresses and Holds a Public Reception.

Milton, June 4.—The corner-stone of the new Grace church (Anglican) was laid here to-day by His Excellency Lord Aberdeen, who, with Lady Aberdeen, arrived by special train from Toronto shortly after 1 p.m. An address of welcome was presented at the C.P.R. station by Mayor McCollom and the Town Council, after which the Vice-Regal party drove for luncheon to the residence of Judge McGibbon and met His Lordship the Bishop of Niagara and a few prominent residents of this neighborhood, including Judge and Mrs. Snider, Canon Worrell of Oakville, Rev. F. T. Mignot, incumbent of Grace Church, and Mrs. Mignot.

A very large crowd assembled to witness the laying of the corner-stone, which took place at about 3.30, and was followed by a short speech from His Excellency. The Vice-Regal party was then conveyed in carriages to the Town Hall, where the Bishop of Niagara presented an address on behalf of the rural deanery of Halton, to which His Excellency replied, expressing his hearty approval of the loyal sentiments contained in the address, and the sympathy and friendly spirit displayed towards other religious bodies.

An address from the County Council of Halton was then presented by Dr. Webster, warden, expressing the loyalty of the people of the county and their gratification that Lord and Lady Aberdeen were continuing in Canada the philanthropic and patriotic good works which they carried on during His Excellency's administration in Ireland to the great advantage of that country.

His Excellency, in his reply, said that he was greatly pleased with the agricultural aspects of this part of Canada, remarking that, as he was sometime of a farmer himself, he took a special interest in agriculture. He said that he hoped to be able ere long to pay other visits to rural districts in Ontario.

After the presentation of the addresses, Lord and Lady Aberdeen held a reception in the Town Hall, at which a number of Haltonians were presented. The Vice-Regal party took their train for the east at about 6 p.m.

LINEMEN FIGHT WITH CLIMBERS

Serious Riot Among Trolley Men at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 5.—There was a riot by employes of the Second-avenue and Highland and Homestead Electric Railways at Eighth and the Borough-line Homestead, this afternoon. A dispute arose over the construction of the trolley wire connections. There were from 25 to 30 men in each gang, several of whom had climbers on their feet, and the most severe injuries came from successful efforts to spike each other. Some received horrible gashes in their limbs and bodies. The entire police force of Homestead were summoned and restored order. The tracks of both roads are blocked with cars. The rioting is likely to be resumed at any moment. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the principals.

$25,000 FOR LIBEL.

The New York World Mulct in Heaviest Damages on Record.

New York, June 4.—One of the largest verdicts ever rendered against a newspaper in a libel suit in this country was that found to-day in the Supreme Court against The World for $25,000 damages. The action was brought by William L. Paine, a lawyer, who resided in Wilkes-Barre, Penn. The World published a story that Mr. Paine had eloped with the wife of a friend, married her and after squandering her money had deserted her. The fact was that Mrs. Lee obtained a divorce from her husband about four months prior to the time of her marriage to Mr. Paine.

HE TOOK SOMETHING.

The Physician Merely Wanted to Show Him That He Appreciated a Good Joke.

The other morning as a belated member of the Owl Club was steering home he passed the house of a well-known physician.

The vestibule of this residence was open, and on its side was an acoustic tube, underneath which was the inscription: "Whistle for Dr. Potts."

Not wishing to be disobliging about so small a matter, the Owl stumbled up the steps, and, steadying himself against the wall, blew into the pipe with all the strength of his lungs.

The physician who was awakened by the penetrant shrill whistle near his head, arose, and, after wondering at the singular odor of whisky in the room, groped his way to the tube and shouted: "Well?"

"Glad to know you're well," was the reply, "but being a doctor, I s'pose you can keep well at cost price, can't you?"

"What did you want?" said the man of pills, not caring to joke in the airy nothing of his nightgown.

"Well," said the Owl, after a few minutes' meditation. "Oh, by the way, are you young Potts or old Potts?"

"I am Dr. Potts. There is no young Potts."

"Not dead, I hope?"

"There never was any. I have no son."

"Then you are young Potts and old Potts, too. Dear, dear, how singular."

"What do you want?" snapped the doctor.

"You know old Mrs. Pevine, who lives in the next block?"

"Yes. Is she sick? What's the matter?"

"Do you know her nephew, too—Bill Briggs?"

"Yes. Well?"

"Well, he went up to Bridgeport shooting this morning, and——"

"And he had an accident? Hold up a minute. I'll be right down."

"No, he's all right; but he got sixty-two ducks—eighteen of 'em mallards. I thought you might like to hear of it."

"I say," come down from the exasperated M.D., "that's a jolly good joke my friend. Won't you take something?"

"What?" said the surprised humorist, pausing for breath.

"Why take something. Take this."

And before the disgusted funny man could withdraw his mouth, a hasty compound mixture of ink, ipecac and assafetida squirted from the pipe and deluged him from head to foot, about a pint monopolizing his shirt front and collar.

And while he danced frantically around, sponging himself off with his handkerchief and swearing like a pirate in the last act, he could hear an angel voice from above sweetly murmur:

"Have some more? No? Well, good night. Come again soon, you funny dog, you. Bye-bye." — Louisville Medical News.

A New Cycle.

Last week a number of Toronto people were surprised by the appearance on our streets of what appeared a single bicycle with two riders. It was a double machine, but the riders, instead of sitting one behind the other in tandem style, sat beside one another, much in the same way as on the old sociable tricycle. The machine is the invention of a Mr. Weaver of Hamilton, who has it in Toronto last week exhibiting it to the manufacturers with the purpose of selling the patent. Our illustration will enable the reader to readily understand the construction of the machine, though many cannot understand how two riders of unequal weight will be able to manage it. The weight of the riders does not appear to make any material difference, and, in fact, Mr. Will Hyslop rode the wheel alone. The only particular advantage we see in it is that the riders can more easily carry on conversation, but against this are the disadvantages of greater space required for passing other vehicles and the much wider circle cut in turning round.—Cycling.

Are you all tired out, do you have that tired feeling or sick headache? You can be relieved of all these by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Bicycle Force.

A French scientist has recently made some experiments which show the amount of force developed by some of the bicycle experts in a hard race. Windle and Zimmerman have maintained for two minutes a speed to continue which required the expenditure of energy representing two thirds of one-horse power. For six seconds they were able to exert the astonishing force of one and a fourth horse power. This is equivalent to raising a weight of 188 pounds one yard high in a second. This is a conservative estimate, owing to the inefficiency of the coefficients of power used in making the calculations.

Experiments are also being made to determine the force exerted by the different sports. These results will be of use for training as a hygienic data. One of the discoveries made during the calculation of the force exercised by bicyclists is that at high speeds the work of a bicyclist in covering a specified distance is as great as that of a man running the same distance. At a moderate speed a runner undergoes three times the labor of a bicyclist, but the higher the speed the nearer the exertions are equalized.

If She Only Knows.

"Are you satisfied," urged the philanthropist, "to have one-half of the world not know how the other half lives?"

"That depends," rejoined the woman, calmly, "on which half I am in."

Of course if her curiosity were to be baffled, she had rather she were dead.—Detroit Tribune.

A Trip Down the River.

Court Zion C.O.F., of Otonabee, held its annual excursion yesterday down the river. The boat left at about 8 o'clock in the morning and reached Jubilee at noon, where dinner was partaken of, after which the party exsurted on to Idle Wyld, where the rest of the day was spent and an interesting programme of sports run off. The Italian orchestra was present during the day and furnished most acceptable music.

A Gorgeous Barber Pole.

Mr. Joseph Mitchell, of Hunter street, is the possessor of the barber pole par excellence of the town. It is a gorgeously striped affair in blue and white, surmounted by a golden ball of over a foot in diameter. The whole is mounted on a large red granite pedestal and stands about eight or ten feet high. It is worthy of the great amount of attention it is receiving. The pole was turned at J. R. Donell's planing mill and decorated by Cook, Mitchell and Cook, the Artistic Triplets.

Sudden Death.

Word was received in town last evening, of the sudden and most unexpected death of Miss Lizzie Dean, daughter of Dr. Dean, of Brighton, and neice of the late Marcus Dean, of Bridgenorth. Miss Dean was in her twenty-first year, was a gold medalist and matriculant from "The Abbey," Toronto, and was considered the most promising student ever graduating from that institution. She was the possessor of many endearing charms, and was universally beloved by all with whom she came in contact. Mrs. Samuel Clegg, of Peterborough, and Miss Dean, of Bridgenorth, both cousins of the deceased, are in attendance at the funeral in Brighton, to-day.

Local Legal.

Cowan vs. Allen.—Moss Q. C. and R. R. Hall, (Peterborough), for plaintiff and defendant, Albert W. Cowan, appealed from an order of Robertson, J. in court dismissing their appeal from a ruling and certificate of the Local Master at Cobourg upon a reference to him for the administration of the estate of Alexander Cowan, deceased, holding that upon the construction of the will of James Cowan, deceased, Alexander Cowan took under the will of his father, James Cowan, an absolute estate in fee simple in certain lands, and that an absolute estate in fee simple survived to the estate of Alexander Cowan subject to certain charges. The appellants contend that upon the death of Alexander Cowan they became the owners of the lands in question, upon the construction of the will of James Cowan. Shepley, Q.C., for the defendant, W. F. Allen, the administrator of the estate of Alexander Cowan, and W. R. Riddle for the defendant, Jean Cowan, the widow, opposed the appeal. Judgment reserved.

THE DAVID SCOLLIE CASE.

No New Developments—Crown Action Awaits the Medical Reports.

In spite of the sensational and "fake" reports that are published by Toronto papers, the EXAMINER is informed that there are no new developments in connection with the David Scollie sensation. It is understood that the crown action will be delayed till the report of the Toronto and local doctors upon the post mortem examination of the exhumed remains is received. The interests of justice will not be imperilled by waiting the deliberate action of the authorities who have the case in hand, and will neither be hastened nor hindered by the sensational and improbable yarns that are being circulated and published. When any reliable information touching the tragedy of winter before last is forthcoming, it will be promptly placed before the readers of the EXAMINER. No good purpose is served by loading up the public with stories that in their wild improbability rival the achievements of Baron Munchausen.

THE CONFIRMATION CLASS OF ST. JOHN'S.

It was Entertained Last Evening at the Rectory.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's, entertained the members of the large class which was recently confirmed, at the rectory last evening.

The spacious verandahs were enclosed with bright and attractive hangings, and illuminated with Japanese and Chinese lanterns, suspended from the ceilings and tastefully arranged around the pillars.

The rectory probably never presented so lively an appearance before, as the steps and terraces were most liberally dotted with charming young ladies attired in their pretty white confirmation robes.

The evening was passed most pleasantly through the medium of social conversation and vocal and instrumental music. The members of the class were presented with their certificates of confirmation before dispersing.

Light refreshments were served during what proved to be a most enjoyable evening.

A SOCIETY WEDDING.

St Luke's Filled to the Doors by the Many Friends of the Bride.

A most interesting social event took place this morning in Ashburnham, when the pretty little church of St Luke's was the scene of the solemnization of the marriage of Mr. Geo. H. Barnard, barrister, of Victoria, B. C., and Miss Ethel Burnham Rogers, eldest daughter of Col. H. C. Rogers, Postmaster.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, looking charming in her bridal robes of pearl ivory duchess satin, richly trimmed with point lace. The bride also wore the usual bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms. She wore as her sole ornament a star of pearls and diamonds, the gift of her father, and carried a most handsome shower bouquet of roses.

At the sanctuary steps the bride was met by the groom, and the impressive Church of England marriage ceremony

WAS PERFORMED BY THE RECTOR,

Rev. Herbert Symonds, assisted by his curate, Rev. Mr. Hedley.

The three bridesmaids, Miss Helen Burnham, Miss Florence Burritt and Miss Annie Dennistoun, looked very picturesque indeed in their pretty costumes of white crepon artistically trimmed with yellow ribbons and white chiffon. Trilby hats of white chiffon ornamented with yellow roses and lace were worn and each carried a large bouquet of handsome yellow roses.

The groomsman was Mr. D'Arcy Martin, of Hamilton.

Messrs. David and Guy Rogers, brothers of the bride, the Messrs. Caddy, Mr. Lefevre and Mr. Percy Rogers, of Grafton, were the ushers who escorted the guests to their seats and manipulated the white ribbons, which divided the invited guests from the general public.

The Girl's Guild of St. Luke's had requested to be allowed to decorate the the church for the occasion, and as the result of their efforts the air was redolent with the sweet perfume of acacia blossoms with which the sanctuary carpet was strewn, and which were lavishly distributed on every side.

SOME OF THE DRESSES.

Mrs. Rogers wore a handsome gown of black silk trimmed with black lace relieved with chiffon.

Mrs. Mara, of British Columbia, sister of the groom, was richly attired in a gown of tinted peach shot silk.

Miss Morris was gowned in green and white silk crepon, and Miss Baldwin in an attractive shade of pale yellow crepon.

Miss Lefroy was prettily dressed in mauve.

Mr. Barnard, the groom, is the son of the ex-M.P. of Yale, B. C., the constituency being at present represented by Mr. Mara, a brother-in-law, who was in attendance at the wedding this morning, and is spending a day or two as the guest of Colonel Rogers. Mr. Barnard's brother, who was prevented from being in town to-day on account of illness, is also in political life, being the member for Cariboo, B. C.

The wedding party repaired after the ceremony to the residence of Colonel Rogers, where a most dainty wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Barnard left on the noon train for Montreal, New York and other Eastern points. Before leaving for their home in the West a short visit will be made with the parents of the bride.

OFF FOR PICTON.

The Rangers Have Chosen to go to This Pretty Little Town.

The Battalion turned out strong last evening, and after an hour or so had been put in at squad drill, the men were drawn up in line when the letters of invitation sent from Brockville, Barrie, Belleville and Picton were read to them.

A vote was then taken as to which place would be most desirable to visit on the first of July outing trip. Only two of the men voted for Barrie, the whole of the rest of the line being enthusiastic advocates of Picton. Picton, therefore, it is, and a more fitting choice could not very well have been made. The invitation from it being far warmer than from the other towns ensures the men a cordial welcome. The ladies even went so far as to commission a local officer to invite the Fifty-seventh and to state that their best efforts would be put forth to entertain the Rangers should they decide upon Picton.

The town is most beautifully situated at the end of the "Reach," in the Bay of Quinte, which is famed the whole continent over as being one of the most picturesque waterways in the Dominion.

A drive of seven miles takes one across to Lake Ontario and those marvels of the age, "The Sandbanks," one of the most popular of Canadian summer resorts. Here are to be found mountains of pure white sand, glistening like silver in the sun, and furnishing a sight never to be forgotten. The Rangers have indeed chosen wisely in selecting Picton as the objective point for their trip.

Extract from Militia General Orders, Ottawa, June 1st, 1895, 57th Batt. of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers:

1. Capt. Robt. Maxwell Dennistoun is permitted to resign his commission and to retain the rank of captain on retirement.
2. To be Major, Capt. Frederick Hollis Brennan, vice Bell, promoted.
3. To be Captains, Lieuts. Arthur Stevenson, vice Dennistoun, retired and Louis Martin Hayes, vice Brennan, promoted.
4. To be second lieutenant, provisionally, Vernon Clare McGill, gentleman, to complete the establishment.

HEADQUARTERS,
PETERBOROUGH, June 4th, 1895.

Orders by Lieut. Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding the 57th Battalion of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers.

The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions in B Company:

To be Col. Sergt., Corporal W. F. Green, vice T. Dixon, promoted. To be Sergeant, Private W. J. Edwards, vice T. A. Metheral, retired. To be Sergeant, Private A. Bridgewater, vice F. Metheral, retired. To be Sergeant, Private H. Phillips. To be Corporal, Private P. Langford, vice W. Metheral, retired.

The battalion will parade with ambulance and brass band only, for divine service on Sunday, 9th June, at 3 p. m., and march to St. John's church.

Majors will be expected from this date to exercise especial supervision over their respective half battalions and will be responsible for their efficiency to the commanding officer.

By order,
E. F. MASON, Capt.,
Adj. 57th Battalion.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

The following letter is from a well-known merchant tailor of St. George, N. B.:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills have done me a great deal of good. I had a severe attack of the grip in the winter, and after getting over the fever I did not seem to gather strength, and had no ambition. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved to be just what I needed. The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other

Mr. W. Rudkins will field captain the team which will go to Orillia and Mr. P. Carroll will officiate in a like capacity at Beaverton.

All the above players are requested to notify Mr. P. J. Doris this evening as to whether they will be able to take part in these matches to-morrow.

A meeting of the Junior Lacrosse Club is called to meet at eight o'clock to-night at the Oriental. All those having junior suits will please return the same.

There was a large turnout at the practice in the Driving Park last evening. Peterborough will evidently have a very strong lacrosse team in the field this year.

The Large Growth Disappeared.

Douglas Bro. & Co., Napanee, Ont.:

Dear Sirs.—During the years 1890-91 I was troubled with a lump growing on right side of my neck near the ear. Had consulted several physicians and used everything I could hear of, all to no use. Was told to use Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. I did, and before I had used half a twenty-five cent bottle was permanently cured. Since then I have used it for every thing where outward application is required; am yet to learn of anything in reason that I cannot cure with it. No man has any idea of its value until he has used it. I believe anyone who has used it would not be without it under any circumstances.

Respectfully yours,
NATHANIEL W. REID.

SCHOOL BOARD'S RECENT SESSION.

THE LITERARY SOCIETY'S PIANO TO BE SOLD.

The Proceeds Will be Used to Buy Microscopic Instruments for Experimenting Purposes—Correspondence, Accounts, Etc.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education last night, there were present, Dr. Burnham in the chair, and trustees W. S. Hill, J. B. McKee, Dr. Caldwell, J. Edgecombe, Dr. Boucher, Peter Hamilton, J. J. Hartley, H. Denne, sr., W. H. Law and W. G. Ferguson.

Mr. L. M. Hayes having been on duty at the parade of the Rangers, arrived about the time the board adjourned.

COMMUNICATIONS were received

From Mr. John Jeffries and Mr. Jas. A. Fife, applying for increases in salary.

Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

From John Miller, Deputy-Minister of Education, stating that the Board's request for a senior leaving examination was approved, and stating that the scholarship centres have not been selected.

From John Corkery, stating that Mr. M. O'Brien had been appointed by the Separate School as Inspector.

Received.

From John Miller, Deputy-Minister of Education, stating that the appointment of P. S. Inspector Brown to preside at the examinations was satisfactory.

Received.

From Geo. G. Robb, Chief Engineer re school boilers.

Referred to the Property Committee.

From Wm. Burke, principal of Murray Street Separate School, as follows:

GENTLEMEN,—One of your teachers, Mr. O'Brien, appeared before the Separate School Board on Monday evening, and on being allowed to speak, he claimed as follows: That the pupils of the Collegiate Institute coming from the Murray Street Separate School are inferior to the pupils coming from the county and town, and that a pupil from the Convent school who just "scraped" through and got a bare pass was better than those from my school who had made a good pass. He did not confine himself to my pupils but those of my predecessors as well, and since he did not except mine the charge must necessarily affect my standing with the Separate School Board. Mr. O'Brien in making these statements stated in connection therewith that he did not wish to do me any harm, and this I regard as the best proof that a feeling of guilt was his at the time. As he was the first speaker of the evening I regard the charge as malicious on his part. Nothing was said previous to his speaking, therefore it was not provoked. Again, it offered no explanation of anything said by him. He claimed that the means used by me to get a Separate School teacher appointed examiner were not honourable, and to prove this was his difficult task. Could his charge against the pupils of the Murray street school be regarded as a proof of this?

It is not my intention to question the truth of his statements but, admitted that they are true, is there one man on your Board who can approve of such unmanly, ungentlemanly and unprofessional conduct? During my predecessor's time he was compelled to write the principal of the Collegiate Institute in the hope of restraining Mr. O'Brien. He has meddled in the past and has been a constant nuisance during my term here, and the prospects for the future are not much better. The Board of Education by adopting some means to restrain him will confer a great favour on the Separate School teachers, and instead of a constant meddling there will be some peace.

Yours respectfully,
WM. BURKE.

Received.

In reference to Mr. Burke's letter, Mr. Hill said, that this was evidently a personal matter between Mr. Burke and Mr. O'Brien, and one with which the Board had nothing to do. If there was a grievance, then it would be the duty of the Separate School Board to look the matter up, but the Separate School Board appeared to have every confidence in Mr. O'Brien, as they have re-appointed him as their examiner at a recent meeting of their Board, thereby expressing their confidence in his ability and integrity.

The committee also recommend that after this year one fourth of the drill instructor's salary be charged to the public school, and that the proper proportion of appliances necessary and supplied from time to time for the gymnasium be charged to the Collegiate Institute.

The committee also recommend that a cheque be issued to the Ontario Bank for $90.50 for interest on overdrawn account up to May 9, 1895.

Adopted on motion of the chairman, Mr. Ferguson, seconded by Mr. McKee.

RESOLUTIONS.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Dr. Boucher, that the piano in the Collegiate Institute be purchased for the South Ward kindergarten, the price to be paid to be $175, and that the purchase money be placed to the credit of the Collegiate Institute for the purchase of appliances needed.

The piano in question is one that has been purchased by contributions from the students and through funds raised by entertainments given by them. It is used at the meetings of the Collegiate Institute Literary Society, but though bought by the students it is the property of the Board, and as the school is in need of microscopes and other instruments it has been decided that the piano pay for them.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Next week we propose devoting this column to answers sent out to a score of pastors and workers on the question of the lack of interest in the societies by the young men. This question is one of great importance, needing the the united wisdom of all the churches to solve it.

TOWN EXECUTIVE.

This Executive meets next Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. It is hoped that every member will be present. Bring suggestions for new work for the coming year.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE

meets next Saturday morning, June 8th, at 9.30 o'clock sharp, in the Y. M. C. A. parlour. Choosing delegates for the Boston convention is the principal business. All sections should be represented..

MODEL JUNIOR REPORT.

In this report many good thoughts were brought out by Miss Kennedy applicable to senior as well as junior societies, especially along the line of committee work.

The prayer meeting committee of seven looks after the interests of the weekly meeting, selecting leaders, making variety in programmes. The are also ready to fill in pauses with prayer, or a thought on the topic, or announcing a hymn, thus saving any drag in the meeting. The Lookout Committee look after absent members and bring in new members. The Sunshine Committee composed of bright sunbeams, shine in every corner, making the stranger welcome, cheering and encouraging the timid, ever keeping peace and harmony. The Flower Committee carries the sunshine outside the meeting by carrying flowers to the sick and aged, telling them of their work and reading to them. All members of the society report cases of need to this committee. The Missionary Committee takes charge of a meeting each month. The Temperance Committee also takes charge of a meeting at stated intervals, circulate pledges and temperance literature. The Music Committee shows their good work in every meeting.

The work done in the meetings is as follows:—Uniform topic taken up and discussed—blackboard and object lessons to impress leading points; Bible drill—learning passages of Scripture, Ten Commandments.

This excellent report closed with the following words to the seniors:—"We beg you to stop! Think! Look into this work! Could you realize its length, breadth, height and depth, as we do who are engaged in it, you would stretch out willing hands and with glad hearts exclaim with us:—"The boys and the girls for Christ and the church."

SALEM E. L. OF C. E.

At the business meeting of this society held Tuesday, May 28th, the President, Mr. H. S. Armstrong, presiding, a short time was devoted to the topic by Rev. W. C. Beer. The reports of the various committees were then read and disposed of. A motion was put and carried that in future the meetings be held on Wednesday nights. After the business meeting a short programme was rendered, as follows:—Motion song, by four little girls; reading, Miss Cromie; solo, Mr. T. Petrie; reading, Miss E. E. Howson; duet, Mr. H. S. Armstrong and Miss E. E. Howson; solo, Miss Wand.

A short time was then spent in social conversation. Refreshments were provided by the ladies. All were made to feel as of one family, as in reality we are, being workers together.

ST. PAUL'S.

"The best this year!" was the verdict of those present as they went home from the meeting this week. The president led the business meeting, and the reports were very interesting, especially the Good Literature Committee, who faithfully distribute papers in the Court House Park and Inverlea, also at the stations, gaol and Protestant Home. The Flower Committee's report, and that of the Juniors also showed good work done.

Miss Mary Paterson then took charge of the meeting in first rate style. Four excellent papers on various phases of the topic were read—"Christ-like Living, what it Means," "Going About Doing Good," Christian Courage," and "Much Prayer." These papers are worthy of a place in these columns but lack of space forbids. With prayer and praise interspersed the whole service was very profitable.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

On account of the lecture on Monday night by Rev. Dr. Smith, and the united meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's churches, it was impossible for the society to hold their regular meeting this week, but the business meeting will be held next Monday night. All the convenors of committees are requested to have full reports.

LOOK HERE! LOOK OUT!

The editors of this column wish to make it helpful to all societies in the county, with that end in view we ask the convenors of lookout committees in town and county to send a copy of your next report to us, that is report of work done in June, we will publish them sometime in July. Our object is to show what each society is actually doing along lookout lines. Make them short and pithy. Send them to C. E. Editor, Box 895. We want to hear from every society.

MARK STREET SOCIETY.

Monday evening we held our consecration service. Our 1st Vice-President presided. Miss E. Smith took the topic in an impressive manner. Our society have adopted the monthly ticket system and think it a good one. Last month we had a trial of it and it has proved satisfactory for a beginning. The tickets collected show that some thirty-three strangers have been invited to our meetings, about half of which accepted the invitation. We had a good attendance, some thirty-five being present. The meeting closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer together.

CHARLOTTE STREET SOCIETY.

Held their monthly consecration service on Monday evening last. Miss Gourd occupied the chair. Mr. I. Richardson took up the topic. The attendance was very small, only about twenty members in all being present, and only a small portion of those who were absent sent in an excuse or passage of Scripture to be read for them.

THE RIVERDALE SOCIETY

held their monthly consecration meeting on Monday evening. The topic, "A Living Christ," was taken and ably handled by the president. Instead of responding in the usual manner to roll call, the members arose and repeated in union the society's pledge, the meeting on the whole being both interesting and much enjoyed by those present.

Our society, we are glad to say, is progressing favourably and we look for still brighter days in the future.

THE VILLAGE COUNCIL.

Fire Protection for the Manufacturing Establishments.

At the regular meeting of the Ashburnham council, Monday, the account of which was crowded out of yesterday's issue, there were present Reeve Burnham and Councillors Smith, Rutherford, Craig and Calcutt.

A PETITION

was read from Messrs. Bickell, W. Faint and others, asking the council to make arrangements with the Water Co. for a hydrant to be placed on the west side of the iron bridge, in order that efficient fire protection can be given the manufacturing establishments of the village.

On motion of Councillors Craig and Calcutt it was decided that the proposition of the Peterborough Water Co. for a hydrant on the west side of Hunter street bridge at $100 per annum be accepted, provided the present stand pipe used by the coporation be removed to the east end of the bridge to be supplied by sufficient pipe laid along the bridge.

LITERARY COMPETITION.

The Toronto Saturday Night, a recognised authority in Canada on matters pertaining to literature, refers as follows to the short story competition offered by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, of Brockville:

"It is gratifying to find this large business firm interested in literature, and the nature of the competition is such that a keen interest is sure to be aroused in all parts of Canada. There is perhaps no portion of the world that yields material so abundant, situations so piquant and characters so striking, for the writer of short stories, as may be found in Canada and more particularly in the Northwest Territories. We have seen what Gilbert Parker has been able to do with his all too limited knowledge of the Hudson Bay country. Had he or any other trained writer as complete a knowledge of our great Northwest, the traditions of the forts, the halfbreeds and the Indians, as is possessed by hundreds of our readers, the literature of the world would be enriched. Winners of cash prizes in other competitions are excluded, so that there is no reason why beginners should not try a hand."

Three hundred dollars is offered in prizes, the amount being divided among the best five stories received. Stories for competition must reach the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., before the 1st of July next.

EMPIRE TOBACCO CO., MONTREAL.

THE GIRL QUEEN.

The Dutch Idolise Her, the Queen Regent Scolds Her, and all the World is Interested in Her.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, who is now on a visit to England, is 15 years old, and possesses marked characteristics of strength of mind and purpose. She is pretty and graceful, and is idolised by the Dutch people.

The young Princess was brought up under the intelligent and devoted care of her mother. At first, her education was conducted under French auspices, her governess being Mlle. Liotard. Until her fourth year she spoke nothing but French. Then she was taught other languages, but German, in deference to her father's prejudices, was forbidden her. Mlle. Liotard was succeeded by an English governess, Miss Winter, who is still in charge of the young Queen's education.

In November, 1890, her father's illness rendered the declaration of a regency necessary, and her mother undertook the reins of government. Shortly afterward her father died, and the young girl was proclaimed ruler of the Netherlands, the regency of her mother being of course maintained. Since then the life of the young Queen has been like the life of most other young girls, having shrewd and loving mother to look after them, and she is now growing up in to an accomplished and beautiful woman. In a couple of years she will have reached her legal majority, and then she will undertake the reins of government on her own behalf.

THE QUEEN OF HOLLAND.

Queen Wilhelmina is described by those who know her as a bright and somewhat self-willed girl, and many are the amusing anecdotes related of her. That she is fond of an unconventional romp is evidenced by an incident which is said to have occurred two years ago. One winter's day when the snow was on the ground she was driving with her mother in an open carriage through a narrow village street, when they suddenly came upon two or three school boys snowballing some little girls.

Without a moment's hesitation or warning the small Queen jumped out and in a voice of authority ordered her youthful subjects to desist. But the village boys had no idea of giving up their sport, the only difference being that they now turned their attention to the Queen, and directed their aim at her instead of their former victims. The little Queen stood her ground valiantly, filled both her hands with snow and was just about to return the charge when the royal footman stepped into the fray and asked the boys in an awe-inspiring voice if they knew that it was the Queen of Holland whom they were insulting. The boys disappeared in a moment, and the little Queen laid down her handfuls of snow, remarking sadly to her mother:

"I do wish that I could have thrown it at them."

A sad little story is told in illustration of the strict etiquette with which her childhood has been hemmed in. Once, when seated at play with three of her dolls, one of the wax babies proved disobedient, and the little Princess held up a warning finger, saying sternly:

"If you are so naughty I shall make you into a Princess, and then you won't have any other children to play with, and you'll always have to throw kisses with your hand whenever you go out driving."

"One can well imagine," says a recent biographer of the Queen, "that the motherly heart of the Empress of Germany was touched at the sight of the lonely, quiet child, and, when she thought of her six little ones at home, it is not to be wondered at that she gave vent to her feelings in the utterance which provoked so much comment at the time: 'If she could only play with our boys, wouldn't she enjoy it.'"

Of Queen Wilhelmina's strong will a characteristic anecdote has been narrated. When the German Emperor was recently paying a visit to the Hague the young Queen desired to be present at a banquet given in his honor. This, of course, was out of the question. To all the pleadings of her daughter the Queen Regent turned a deaf ear, repeating that she was too young to attend a State ceremony, no matter of what description.

As, however, the child Queen persisted in her demands, and would take no denial, there remained for the Regent but one alternative—namely, to conduct the recalcitrant young lady to her bedroom. This she did, but not without one final energetic protest from the disappointed Queen.

"I will go on the balcony and tell the Dutch people how you abuse their Queen," she said.

Of course she did nothing of the kind, but sobbed herself to sleep instead, and the next day dutifully begged her mother's pardon.

Similar stories are told of the Queen's relations with her English governess, which are said to have been not infrequently disturbed by stormy scenes. On one occasion Miss Winter punished her by giving her a map of Europe to draw. When the work was done the governess found that her pupil had revenged herself for her grievance against the Englishwoman by drawing a Holland of exaggerated proportions, while the United Kingdom was represented by a couple of almost imperceptible specks.

Of course all these anecdotes are old and have been repeated time and again, but the sayings and doings of this haughty, naughty, self-willed, good-hearted little bit of royalty are always interesting.

Something New in Bouquets.

This new bouquet is screen-shaped, oblong rather than circular, and without streamers. The ribbon originally used to mix with the flowers was six inches wide, but this and the size of the bouquet must be in proportion to the stature of the wearer.

He Wasn't Interested.

Starting from her sleep she seized her husband convulsively by the nose and one eyelid.

"John," she cried, "there's a burglar going through your trousers!"

"What did you wake me for?" irritably demanded the head of the house. "Settle it between yourselves."

To Avoid Accidents.

If you are a pedestrian and uncertain which way a wheelman is going stand still. He can get out of your way more quickly and surely than you can his.

If you are riding a wheel and see a pedestrian uncertain which way he will move, stop short; for he is likely to jump in front of your wheel when it is too late to avoid him.

Indeed, nearly all accidents in the shape of collisions with pedestrians are from one of these two causes.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

CATECHISM OF GOLF.

INFORMATION ON ALL POINTS FOR ENTHUSIASTS OF THE LINKS

The Ancient Sport and How to Become an Adept at It—Rules of Conduct at Critical Points in the Game—Answers to Queries.

From being a game for the few golf has become a pastime for thousands. All around this city what has hitherto been meadows and woods has become golf links by the simple process of digging holes at intervals and planting flags near by; railroads and brooks are perverted into hazards, the pastoral stone wall masquerades as a bunker, and every patch of weed or tangle of brier has abandoned its botanical significance and taken important rank as whins. In view of the great and increasing importance of the game the following catechism has been compiled by a noted authority on the sport, who was for years Secretary of the Hartford Golf Club, with links on the

NO. 1.

NO. 2.

Hackensack meadows. His portrait is given herewith. This catechism was the outcome of many queries sent to him from enthusiastic golfers in all parts of the country, and is made up largely from questions of practical experience. It is designed to fill a long-felt want, and the author's fond hope is that it will set at rest many disputed points and save from brain fever and paresis thousands whose interiors would otherwise have succumbed to the strain of the problems here solved.

Q.—What is golf? A.—An ancient sport invented by a mighty Scotch genius for the delectation and mental exultation of the great-minded of succeeding generations.

Q.—Where is it played? A.—In all parts of the world sufficiently civilized to appreciate its beauties.

NO. 4.

Q.—What are the requisites for the game? A.—A golf outfit and several miles of somebody else's real estate.

Q.—What is a golf outfit? A.—A scarlet coat, a pair of badly swollen knee breeches and a collection of hopelessly deformed shinny sticks.

Q.—What is the first step towards learning the game? A.—Practice dropping the ball in golf.

Q.—What comes next? A.—Procure a caddie. A caddie is a small boy who knows more about the game than the players, but refrains from saying so for financial reasons. He also chases and locates the ball.

Q.—What is the object of the game? A.—To propel a small but perverse sphere with the sticks into a series of diminutive and unreceptive holes in less time than his opponent can do the same thing with another equally perverse sphere.

Q.—How does the player know which stick to use? A.—He doesn't. The caddie does, but he won't tell.

NO. 5.

Q.—How does the game begin? A.—With the drive-off. To drive off the player assumes a stern and forbidding expression, and selecting a particular well-formed implement called a driver, swings it viciously up and down, meanwhile keeping his eye upon the ball. He then strikes the ball from the tee. See illustration No. 2.

Q.—What is the golfing term for failing to raise the ball from the ground? A.—Damn.

Q.—What is the golfing term for missing the ball entirely? A.—This is a compound Gaelic term too intricate for translation.

Q.—After a successful strike-off what is to be done? A.—See illustration No. 3.

Q.—What is whins? A.—Whins is any species of vegetation wher in the ball falls, to the dismay of the golfers.

Q.—(Originally sent in from the West)—When a lady golfer gets in whins, consisting of swet violets, is she justified in destroying them in order to get at the ball? A.—A true golfer is justified in destroying anything under the heavens, including his opponent in order to win the game.

Q.—Can a woman play golf? A.—There are two replies to this. The catechist declines to commit himself to either. He is prepared to state, however, that he has seen many women try.

Q.—How should a woman desiring to play golf set about it? A.—Employ a competent caddie, and bribe him to play her strokes for her.

Q.—What benefit, then, does she derive from the game? A.—She may get exercise by following the ball, and valuable golf instruction by listening to the remarks of the caddie when in a bunker. She may also afford opportunities for other players to act as caddies.

NO. 7.

Q.—Under what circumstances may a golfer become a caddie? A.—By special request. See illustration No. 5.

Q.—What is a bunker? A.—Anything that gets in the way. A stone wall is a stone bunker. A wooden fence isn't.

Q.—What is to be done when the ball lands in a bunker? A.—There are Gaelic formula graded according to the difficulty with the bunker.

Q.—What is the best method of surmounting a difficult stone bunker? A.—There are many ways. The method typified in illustration No. 6 is recommended.

Q.—Are cattle to be regarded as bunkers or hazards? A.—Hazards, and then at as a great a distance as possible.

Q.—In case of interruption by cattle what is the golfer's wisest course? A.—First observe the gender of the cattle If it is a cow proceed with the play. If a bull proceed diplomatically. Remove your red golfing coat, which is likely to be offensive to the animal, and throw it over your caddie's shoulders. This will distract the bull's attention from yourself. If the caddie has run away, plant your golf stick firmly in the ground, hang the coat upon it, and climb the nearest tree. If no trees are at hand, seek a lofty bunker and get on the other side of it. The best links however, are guarded against the incursions of kine.

Q.—What is the duration of a game? A.—Anywhere from two hours to two weeks.

Q.—Is golf the greatest and most inspiring exercise known to civilized man? A.—Undoubtedly.

For the benefit of particular clubs the following extra queries and answers are appended:

Q. (from the Manitou Hunt Club Links)—What is good form in golf when a Sunday game is interrupted by the arrival of a constable with warrants? Wire reply. A.—Slay the constable with a club and proceed with the game.

Q. (from the Van Cortlandt Golf Club of Yonkers)—If one party to the act of discussing roses as a basis for his argument what should his opponent reply with? A.—An iron gas pipe; the club to pay gun gas expenses.

Q. (from the Tuxedo Golf Club)—In case the ball is run away with by a rapidly moving lazy local (i.e., railroad train), what shall be done? A.—Despatch caddie to chase train, both sides score two each, and institute suit for damages against railway company.

Q. (from the Newport Links)—In case of ball going out of play and slaying infant plebian on street, should the body be moved before playing the next stroke? A.—If it interferes with swing of stick; otherwise not.

Q. (from the Hartford Golf Club)—Does H. R. H. the Prince of Wales golf? A.—Yes.—New York Sun.

For one dollar, you may buy a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which, if taken in time, and according to directions, may save a great many dollars in doctors' bills, and thus exemplify the truth of the old maxim, "Prevention is better than cure."

ALD. A. F. STAGG, OF BROCKVILLE, ONT.

Restored to Perfect Health by South American Nervine.

Had Tried all the Local Doctors, but Failed to be Benefited.

Visited Massena Springs, but Returned in Despair—To-day Enjoys Perfect Health After Taking Nervine.

ALD. A. F. STAGG, BROCKVILLE, ONT.

A citizen whose influence carries a good premium in the growing town of Brockville is Ald. A. F. Stagg, an extensive stock dealer in that section of the province. For over fifty years he has carried on business in Brockville. The people know the man. How much he has accomplished during this half century in building up the municipality is known to them, and they have been ready to show their appreciation of these labors by making him a town father. Mr. Stagg, however, failed just where so many other men of active and aggressive temperament fail, namely, in exceeding his strength. About two years ago his nervous system became broken and shattered, and he was unable to do work of any kind. This was a serious blow to a man of so active a temperament, and with the volume of business he had on hand. He did, as any one else would do, and which is the natural thing to do, sought the assistance of the local doctors of the place. He tried not only one but all of them. Whatever the trouble was they seemed unable to master it, and did him no good. He went to Kingston, hoping to find greater medical skill in the Limestone City. He was no better off for his trouble. A friend influenced him to visit Massena Springs, it being believed that the peculiar charm that surrounds that spot would have its effect in giving back to Mr. Stagg his lost health. But it was simply a case of history repeating itself everything failed, and he remained home in utter despair, seeing nothing but early death before him. His neighbor, a Mrs. Johnston, who had been using Nervine with great success, recommended him to try a bottle. It cannot be said that he did so with any bright hopes of being benefited. To his great delight, however, he found almost instant relief. After taking several bottles he to-day says, in his own words, that he enjoys perfect health. To those who do not know the particular virtues of South American Nervine all this may sound like a miracle. Here was a man whose condition was known to every one in Brockville, for everyone knew Ald. Stagg, who was completely broken up in health, and whose disease the best medical skill could not relieve, much less remove, and yet a few bottles of this wonderful discovery, Nervine, gives back to him the health that two years previous he had completely lost. This is what Nervine will do in every case. Physicians fail usually because they doctor, as it were, on the surface. Nervine succeeds in every case because it immediately acts upon the nerve centers of the body, from which, as science has unmistakably demonstrated, flows the life blood of the system. When these nerve centers are kept in healthful condition disease that may exist in any part of the body speedily becomes an unknown thing.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Saturday, June 1st, our football team went to Trent Bridge to play a match with the Keene boys, who came down the river with a crowd of picnicers. The wind and heat together with the bad ground made it very unfavourable for both teams, but notwithstanding this the Havelockonians scored one goal, the Keene boys failing to score. The time was limited, only playing half an hour, the boat leaving at three o'clock. A large crowd accompanied both teams.

Miss E. Scriver is confined to the house with a severe cold.

A number of the sports have been injured while in the field in the past week. Wm. Griffin had his ear badly bruised by the baseball and Jos. Smith having two teeth knocked out while playing lacrosse. Fred Burch also received a severe cut on the eye with the lacrosse. This will be a good season for the doctors.

Frank Jeffs took a spin to Norwood on his wheel last Tuesday and covered the distance both ways in 50½ minutes.

On Friday evening last a party from here went to Trent Bridge, chartered Mr. Boswell's steam yacht and went down the river on a moonlight excursion. They returned about one o'clock and reported having a good time.

Mr. Agnew, who has held the position of day operator on the C.P.R. for a number of months, left on Monday night by the midnight train for a position east of Smith's Falls. A large number of friends accompanied him to the station.

The C.P.R. baseballists are practising very earnestly for the match with the Smith's Falls team at the C.P.R. picnic at Peterborough on June 28th inst.

Miss Burnett, of Kingston, is visiting at Mr. W. B. Burnett's for a few weeks.

Mrs. J. Coon has resigned the position of organist in the Presbyterian church, and Miss Mamie Carey has taken her place.

While out for a spin to Norwood last week, Mr. Wm. Jones fell off his wheel upon a stone pile, receiving some severe injuries, having three ribs broken and a gash on the head. He was coasting down a hill and when about half way down the front wheel struck a stone in the road which overbalanced him and threw him into the pile of stones. He managed to arrive at Havelock pretty well tired, where Dr. Jeffs dressed his wounds.

People are always kicking about the weather, being too hot or too cold, and at present it is the general wish for rain, which will probably come on the 27th June and on the 1st and 12th of July.

A petition is going around among the marchants for early closing. It will, no doubt, be largely signed; if not it will be carried to the council to be made a by-law. These nights are too warm for clerks and others to be housed up, and the scheme "all work and no play" don't work in every case. So the "strictly business" merchants ought to give their employees a chance and not let two or three others prevent the "early closing," as was done last summer.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Council met at 8 p. m., June 3rd. Present—the reeve, and Councillors Knox, Phillips, Jeffs and Phillips. Minutes of the last meeting read and on motion adopted. Moved by Messrs. Knox and Phillips that Geo. Liscomb be appointed collector for 1895.—Carried. Moved by Messrs. Knox and Phillips that the following accounts be paid:

Geo Liscomb, 2 days	$ 3 00
W H Chambers, ½ day	63
J Conway, 1 day	1 25
D Weese, 1½ days	1 88
J Hughes, 2 days	2 50
A Mackenzie, 2 days	2 50
C H Bleaster, ½ day with team	1 25
W Cole, 3 hrs with team	75
J Campbell, building crossings	2 50
J Conway	1 00
E Williams, 3,500 plank	24 90
W H Chambers, 2½ days	3 15
W J Wiseman, plank	23 48
C Wessek, repairing sidewalk	7 00
W Cole, 2 hrs with team	50
W H Chambers, repairing sidewalk	8 50

Moved by Messrs. Curtis and Jeffs, that Wm. Matheson's application for execution on lands be received and laid over.—Carried.

The court of revision met and was duly constituted.

The following changes were made:

Assessment on 126 George street lowered $100, and Platt's assessment on Gallery lowered $200, and that the rest of assessment roll be sustained.

J. Black was changed from "81 Ontario street" to "No. 3 south of Ontario" as tenant; J. Benor's name was placed on roll instead of S. Frederick. Wm. Maxwell was changed from east part 4 to east half of 8, 9th con. as tenant. Jas. Daly was changed from 81 Ontario to 24 Concession street, as tenant. Geo. Liscomb was changed from 128 Quebec street, to 81 Ontario, and S. Fuller's name be placed as owner thereon. C. Herrington was changed from 23 Ontario street to 125 George street. No action was taken of J. McLennan's application to be placed on roll. W. Farman's name was placed on roll as as tenant 181 George street. R. Wilson's name was substituted as tenant on pt. 16 Concession street for that of A. Deremo, and F. Pearce's name was entered as owner. J. Graham's name was changed from 183 to 177 George street, as tenant. J. Evans' name was placed as tenant of pt. 1 Ontario street, and A. Trimm's name entered as tenant of 25 Ottawa street.

NORTH SMITH.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Your correspondent of last week who furnished you with the news of the dedication and tea meeting held under the auspices of L.O.L. No. 419, failed to mention the name of J. G. Weir, P.C.M., who acted as Grand Chaplain in the dedicatory services of the above named hall. Bro. Weir gave an excellent address dealing with the history of the Orange Order from its commencement up to the present time. Taking the tea altogether it was a decided success. The net proceeds amounted to $69.54. The Orangemen desire to publicly thank all who contributed in any way to the success of the tea, especially the speakers who came from a distance, namely, Rev. Mr. Macdonald of Lakefield, Rev. Mr. Jamieson of Harvey, C. W. Sawers of Peterborough, and J. G. Weir of Otonabee; also the Methodist church choir and the North Smith brass band, which has only been organized about seven months, rendered valuable services. Rev. Mr. Green was unable to attend, owing to the Methodist church at Bridgenorth holding their annual tea, but stated that he would be glad to address the body, either in their hall or preach them a sermon. The brethren decided to have the sermon, therefore last Sunday they availed themselves of the opportunity and marched to church in a body, where they had the pleasure of listening to a very appropriate sermon for the occasion, the text being taken from 1 Peter 2nd chapter, and 17th verse: "Honour all men, love the brotherhood, fear God, honour the King." The rev. gentleman dealt with the above in a very practical manner. He briefly outlined the obligation, and also urged upon the members of the Order to let love be the ruling element in their lives, and especially to those who differed from them in belief, namely, our Roman Catholic neighbours. He also referred briefly to the time when they had to wield the sword in order to maintain our freedom, but advised them to let the sword be the last means to resort to. At the conclusion of the sermon the brethren marched back to their hall, well pleased with the sermon that they had the pleasure of listening to.

On Tuesday, June 11th, the semi-annual meeting of the L. O. L. District Lodge of Lakefield will be held in the Orange Hall, Harvey, at 2 p.m., of which all the brethren concerned will please take notice.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Mr. Robert Marshall, who has been brakeman on the Haliburton train for some time, has been made a freight conductor and took out his train yesterday from Lindsay for the first time. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he has at last "graduated" from the brake-rod to the van.

Conductor Bert Kelly, of the Belleville way freight is suffering from a sore knee. While shunting at one of the stations along the line, the engineer pulled out a trifle too fast, and Bert was forced to make a fast run to get aboard of the last car. He "caught on" all right, but struck his knee with great force against the step bruising it severely.

"Geordie" Johnston, the popular driver on the Irondale branch, was called to Peterborough last week by news of the serious illness of his father, Mr. Samuel Johnston, who is now in the Nicholls Hospital here. Some years ago his skull was accidentally fractured, and lately he has been suffering from the old wound. An examination was made, and it was found that a piece of splintered bone was pressing upon the brain. The operation for its removal will not take place for a month, owing to Mr. Johnston's weak condition.

Railway men fairly beam with satisfaction just now in consequence of the improvement in business. Some of them will draw big cheques when the monthly pay-day comes round.

The rolling stock on the Irondale line is now in first class condition. Within a few weeks the Crossen car works, of Cobourg, have turned out a handsome passenger coach and ten flat cars.

COLD SPRINGS—OTONABEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Archie Huston has had one of his barns moved across the road, and intends having a cellar under it.

A horse belonging to Mr. Geo. Stewart, jr., ran away in Peterborough last week, and ran to Mr. Thos. Sisson's, where it was captured and returned to its owner. Fortunately no damage was done, as the horse was accustomed to the road and kept it.

Mr. H. D. Kennedy went to Montreal on Tuesday, June 4th.

Mr. John Clifford, who has been ill in Smith for some time past, is not recovering, we are sorry to say.

A full account of Cold Spring's Sunday School Anniversary appears in the Sunday School Column.

On June 2nd and 3rd the seventh anniversary of Cold Springs Union Sunday School was celebrated. On Sunday afternoon the school was addressed by Dr. Harrison, of Keene, and Rev. J. J. Rae, of Peterborough. On Monday evening tea was served by the ladies in their usual excellent manner, after which a short programme was given. The Superintendent, Mr. W. Matchett, occupied the chair. There was music by the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. quartette, consisting of Messrs. R. O. Crowe, A. Miller, J. Miller and A. Skitch; mouth organ selections by Master Willie Robertson, and short speeches by Messrs. D. Kennedy, H. P. Kennedy, R.O. Crowe and H. D. Kennedy. The only thing to mar the enjoyment of the evening was the absence of Dr. Harrison and Revs. Rae and Trotter, who had promised to be present. Their non-appearance was a great disappointment to the audience.

A free social was announced for Wednesday evening, June 5th, and all were invited to return and enjoy it.

OMEMEE.

From our Own Correspondent.)

Beautiful showers and the fruits and vegetables will regain up from the heat.

A large delegation has left for Picton to attend the Methodist conference, including Messrs. McCrea, Balfour, Switzer and Meager.

A large number attended the Peterborough market from here last Saturday.

Mr. Kennedy, agent for Peter Hamilton's implements, is doing a fair share of business.

A large number attended the meeting here last Tuesday in the Presbyterian church at the induction of the Rev. J. N. Tanner, which proved a most interesting event. The church was crowded, including representatives from Smith and Peterborough. The Rev. Messrs. McWilliams and Torrance were present, the former filling the duties of chairman and moderator in an able manner. Rev. Dr. Torrance addressed the new pastor, and never was there a speaker here who made a better impression.

The Y.P.S.C.E. of the Presbyterian church, Omemee, intend having their first excursion to Rice Lake, via Peterborough on Saturday, June 15th. The route and attractions being new, promise to attract a large crowd. The tickets are good from Lindsay, Reaboro, Omemee and Best's by special train. The Omemee Citizens band and orchestra have been engaged to furnish music, and union choir.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

MR. M'MULLEN EXPOSES ABUSES

Over Two Millions Lost to the Country by This System—A List of Payments and Withdrawals—His Bill Ruled Out by Speaker White.

Ottawa, June 6.—In the House yesterday Mr. McMullen moved the second reading of his bill to abolish the civil service superannuation system. Mr. Foster suggested to Mr. McMullen that he leave the discussion of his bill over until the Government's superannuation bill be reached. To this the member for North Wellington would not consent, unless Mr. Foster would give him a positive promise that he would have an opportunity of moving the second reading of the bill. As this was not forthcoming, he proceeded with his speech. He made a strong presentation of the abuses of the system under this Government. Having made a thorough study of the subject, he was able to present with great clearness and force the arguments for the abolition of the burdensome system. He pointed out that in 1894 the receipts of the fund were only $63,974, while the payments to annuitants amounted to $262,302. The average annual payment to the 551 annuitants was $476, and the average annual payment by the 4685 officials who last year were paying into the fund was $14.10. He showed that the net loss to the country through the superannuation system since its establishement amounted to $2,581,861. This amount, he showed, had not been given for the purpose for which the system had been established, but had been taken out of the public treasury by means of the superannuation, with the object of creating vacancies in offices to be filled by friends or relations of the Ministers or supporters who were seeking rewards. He gave a great number of examples to prove this, and made abundantly clear what he has proven on previous occasions, that as it has been administered by this Government the system is simply a machine, by which, for partisan purposes, the Government get rid of officials to make kplaces for friends.

Following is a list of some superannuated officials retired by Conservative Governments with the amounts paid in by them and the amounts drawn out by them:

Altogether there are 551 at present on the list, costing the country about $210,000 net a year.

After Mr. McMullen had presented a splendid case for the adoption of his bill, Mr. Speaker ruled that it was out of order. The third clause provided that the Government should, upon the death of those who are now paying into the fund, pay to their heirs or executors the amounts of their payments together with interest compounded at 5 per cent., and Mr. Speaker's point was that, as that constituted a charge upon the revenues, it could only be introduced by a Minister of the Crown.

Mr. Mills demurred from this view, and Mr. Davies recalled that a resolution of the same nature as this clause had been introduced by Mr. Blake and debated in the House for several days, without any point of order being taken, and there could not be a whit of difference between a resolution and a bill.

Sir Richard Cartwright pointed out that the bill did not contemplate an addition to the burdens of the country, but a diminution of them.

The discussion of the point was not completed at 6 o'clock.

A petition was presented to Parliament to-day from the Auditor-General, pointing out the insufficiency of clerical help allowed him for the work devolving upon him. While comparing the staff allowed him with other departments the Auditor-General appears to have lost sight of the fact that he has become the bete noir of the Government, which fact, no doubt, accounts for the comparatively small amount of assistance allowed him. The more assistance he has the more efficient becomes the work of his department in keeping Government expenditure straight and the Cabinet in check. He points to the fact that the Minister of Finance in his own department has a staff including five first-class clerks, besides four chief clerks, "and," to quote the auditor's own words, "the Minister says that it is in so great need of another first-class clerk that he is gratified in advising its having one and advising also the doing away with every restriction on the appointment that exists in the Civil Service Act."

But the Auditor-General is too modest to say that this clerk Minister Foster is proposing to promote, waiving the Civil Service Act, is his relative Jenkins. He points out that it should not be left to the Government of the day to determine the number of clerical help that should be allowed the audit office, as if the Auditor-General does his duty he and his staff will be unpopular with the Government, no matter what may be the political complexion of the dominant party.

In conclusion, the Auditor-General says: "As long as your petitioner is in his present office, no matter what party holds the reins of power, every effort will be made to keep the financial affairs right, and in cases where it is impossible to do that to make it as clear as possible to the taxpayers of the country wherein in his opinion the wrong consists."

Mr. G. L. Moylan, ex-Inspector of Penitentiaries, publishes a letter commenting on Senator McInnes' recent remarks on Mr. Moylan's defence of Deputy Warden Fitzsimmons of New Westminster Penitentiary. Mr. Moylan denounces McInnes as maligning him (Moylan) under cover of Parliamentary privilege, calls the Senator a disappointed office-seeker, and concludes: "It is no fault of the hon. Senator that he is not a pensioner, at least in expectancy. However useful or ornamental he may be at a small tea party, or the like, this disappointed office-seeker will make but a sorry mark by the display of his ability or brain power."

At the Railway Committee the bill respecting the Great Northwest Central Railway Company was passed with amendment. The bill as finally passed will provide for an extension of time for seven years, providing that 5 miles is built by the 1st of January, 1897, at least 50 miles to be built annually thereafter, until the completion of the road It also changes the head office from Ottawa to Toronto.

Senator McLellan intends bringing up in the Senate the question of insurance of children, and those incompetent to make personal application for insurance, and will ask the Government if it is their intention to take any steps to restrict or prevent such practices.

It is definitely settled that there will be no big celebration at the "Soo" next week, as had been suggested. Members on both sides are opposed to breaking in on the time of Parliament, when so many are anxious to get home.

British Troops Reviewed by Nasrulla Khan.

London, June 5.—There was a grand review of the troops at Aldershot in honor of the visiting Afghan Prince, Nasrulla Khan, in which 18,000 took part. Nasrulla Khan, attired in uniform and wearing a sword with a golden scath band, was accompanied from London by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, the Marchioness of Lorne and General Lord Roberts, and received by the Duke of Connaught, who entertained the party at luncheon.

Fatally Assaulted

Montreal, June 5.—A butcher named Ernest Henri, who had been on a spree, died at the hospital to-day. His relatives have laid a charge against a man named Condon for assault. The last-named has been held as a witness.

Trial Passage Through the Kiel Canal.

Kiel, June 6.—The trial passage through the Baltic North Sea Canal was made by the Emperor's yacht Hohensollern, with Prince Henry of Prussia on board to-day. The trip was in every respect successful. The Hamburg-American Line steamer Palatia also passed through the canal.

A $15,000,000 Mortgage.

New York, June 5.—By a mortgage recorded to-day, the Edison Electrical Illuminating Company of New York mortgages to the State Trust Company as trustee, all its property, rights and franchises for a period of 100 years in the sum of $15,000,000.

TWELVE DAYS TO LIVE

Preparing for the Execution of the St. Thomas Murderers.

SCAFFOLD HAS BEEN SHIPPED

The Gallows Built for MacWherrell to Be Used—Hendershott's Daughter Goes to Ottawa to Plead for Her Father's Life The Old-Fashioned Drop to Be Used.

Toronto, June 6.—The murderers, Hendershott and Welter, who are to be executed at St. Thomas on June 18, will be ushered into eternity by the old-fashioned drop. Owing to both the prisoners being light men, the P. E. has decided that it would not be prudent to adopt the plan of jerking the condemned men upward, pursued in the case of Birchall and Chatelle. Both men will be executed simultaneously.

The platform and irons of the scaffold erected in the Brampton jail for the execution of MacWherrell, whose sentence was commuted the day prior to that fixed for carrying the penalty into effect, were shipped yesterday to St. Thomas, in preparation for the execution.

The levers and bolts were borrowed by Sheriff Brown of Elgin from Sheriff Brodie, and will be returned after the execution. The scaffold proper will of course be built at St. Thomas, under the supervision of Radclive, the P. E. having been engaged for the execution.

Miss Mary Lillie Hendershott, daughter of the elder prisoner and sister of the younger prisoner passed through the city yesterday for Ottawa to intercede with the Minister of Justice to spare the lives of their father and brother.

Rev. D. Spencer was also in the city yesterday, en route home from Ottawa, where he went in the interest of Welter and Hendershott. Yesterday he had an interview with Sir C. Tupper, Minister of Justice and the Deputy Minister. They received him very kindly, listened patiently to his statement, and said that they would consider it in connection with the statements of others. The application for a commutation of the prisoners' sentence will be considered at the next meeting of the Privy Council, which it is expected will be held on Saturday.

WINYARD GETS FIVE YEARS.

Pleaded Guilty When Arraigned and Was Promptly Sentenced—Forged to Get His Return Fare to England.

Ottawa, June 6.—Summary punishment was yesterday imposed upon Winyard, the young Englishman who was arrested yesterday for raising Postoffice orders. He was brought up before Police Magistrate O'Gara and elected to be tried by him. He pleaded guilty, and for a time declined to say anything as to who he was or where he came from. Mr. O'Gara persisted in wanting to know what explanation he had to give; if he had only been in the country a month and had introduced a system of forgery there was something to be said.

The prisoner replied that he was an engraver in the Old Country, and that was how he learned to do the job so neatly. Except on the first occasion he got no money, and even then that was due to the fact that he was dead broke and could get no work. The races at the Woodbine cleaned him out again, and he wanted to go home.

"The sentence upon you is five years ain the Penitentiary upon each of the two charges, the terms to run concurrently. I hope this will be a warning," said Mr. O'Gara.

The prisoner was not charged with the offence committed at Brampton on which he did get the money. He said it was not much of an expert job to do, for he manipulated the orders around the hotel where he was staying. The sentence did not seem to be a surprise, and the prisoner was not in the least affected by it.

Mr. W. D. Hogg, Q.C., appeared for the Crown, and Messrs. Barker and Hawken, of the Postoffice Department, with other officials were prepared to go on with the evidence had Winyard evinced any desire to contest the issue.

Russia Seeking a Market for Cattle.

Washington, June 6.—From a report received at the Department of State from Consul-General John Karel, at St. Petersburg, it seems the United States is not the only country having trouble in finding a foreign market for cattle and products. Russia has been lately considering how to overcome the obstacles which hinder her export of cattle and meats to the different European markets.

Turkey's Busy Ambassadors.

London, June 5.—The Turkish Ambassador had a long interview with the authorities of the Foreign Office this afternoon.

300 Men Made Idle by Fire.

Jackson, Mich., June 6.—Fire last night destroyed the plant of the Collins Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of carriages and wagons. Loss $175,000; insurance $100,000. The concern employed 300 men.

$30,000 Loss in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., June 6.—The plant of the Detroit Wooden Novelty Company was burned to-day. Loss $30,000; partly insured.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1895.

THE Dominion Government's deficit is evidently contagious; there is a deficit in even the water of the government canal at Morrisburgh. The only thing that rivals the activity of Mr. Foster's deficit is the thermometer.

THERE was a lively discussion upon the Manitoba school question at the Hamilton Conference, and finally an amendment, moved by Dr. Ross, condemning interference with the Province was adopted. The Montreal Conference also passed a strong resolution against coercing the Province.

DANISH butter brings about six cents more in the British market than Canadian. This difference in price is entirely due to the existence of the factory system of butter-making among the Danes and the practical non-existence of that system in Canada. Co-operation in manufacture has enabled our cheese exporters to supply half the cheese market of Great Britain. The application of like methods to butter will produce like results. Our cheese is now at the front. When will "the butter come to the same proud position. It's shameful to be beaten in butter by a little lump of country like Denmark, which might be dropped into Lake Superior without raising the water enough to wet the wheat in the Fort William elevator.

CONFISCATION FOR SEALS.

Sir Edward Gray's Bill Covers the Agreement With Russia.

London, June 5.—The bill to prohibit sealing in Behring Sea and its vicinity during certain periods, which Sir Edward Gray, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, will introduce in the House of Commons on June 10, stipulates for the renewal of the Act of 1893 and covers the settlement with Russia in regard to sealing in the Western Pacific Ocean.

FREE TRADE CARRIED.

New South Wales Will Tax Only Liquor Tobacco and Opium.

Sydney, N.S.W., June 6.—The debate on the tariff was resumed in the Assembly to-day, the questions being Prime Minister Reid's motion to repeal the Dibbs tariff and impose a permanent tax on wines, spirits, beer, tobacco and opium, and ex-Premier Dibbs' amendment thereto, that no alteration be made in the existing tariff before 1900. Mr. Dibbs' amendment was rejected, 52 to 32, and Mr. Reid's motion was carried, 53 to 26.

GERMANIC'S FAST TRIP.

The White Star Liner Lowers Her Eastern Record.

Queenstown, June 5.—The White Star Line steamer Germanic from New York May 29, for Liverpool, arrived here at 7.13 o'clock this evening, having made the voyage in 7 days, 2 hours and 21 minutes, beating her best previous eastern record. The route she took covered 2804 miles. Her best day's run was 405 miles.

S.S. Mongolian Rescues a Crew Adrift.

London, June 6.—The British steamer Mongolian, Captain Barrett, from Montreal, May 23, which arrived at Liverpool yesterday, reports that on May 26 she took on board two members of the crew of the American fishing schooner Howard H. Holbrook, which had drifted away from their vessel in a small boat while tending their trawls. The men were picked up 18 miles off Cape Rosier.

CUSTOMS REVENUE AS COLLATERAL.

Newfoundland Must Give This as Security for the New Loan—Negotiations Not Concluded.

St. John's, Nfld., June 5.—Another adjournment of the Legislature was had to-day. The House will not meet until Colonial Secretary Bond concludes his negotiations in London in connection with the loan. The rumor gains credit here that the loan is not settled yet. It can be stated on reliable authority that several important legal points in connection with the matter require adjustment, one of them being a provision that the holder of the loan shall have a lien on the customs revenue.

The Government is drafting a loan bill for submission to the Assembly. This with the budget retrenchment measures must be enacted as evidence of good faith before the loan is subscribed for.

Ex-Colonial Secretary Morin has won the libel suit brought by him against The Telegram, the Government organ, which accused him of stuffing ballot boxes in the Bay de Verde elections.

The Telegram has published a full apology to ex-Prime Minister Goodridge for accusing him of immoral conduct. The paper has four libel suits now pending.

LIGHTNING'S FREAKS

Unique Experience of a Family Near Montreal.

HOUSE WRECKED WHILE THEY SLEPT

One End of the Place Knocked Out All the Plaster Knocked Off—The Iron All Twisted. But None of the Inmates Receive Injuries.

Montreal, Que., June 5.—The Whitehead residence at Dorval was the scene of a remarkable occurrence this morning. Mr. E. J. Whitehead's family were fast asleep when a storm arose. The house was struck by lightning, and when Mr. Whitehead made a survey a most extraordinary scene presented itself. Not one of the seven inmates had received a scratch, though in the case of the servants, the plaster and bricks had fallen in such quantity that they were completely buried, but not injured..

The house is composed of eight rooms, everyone of which is completely wrecked. Every piece of iron, steel or brass from cellar to roof is burned up until it is impossible to tell what the article was. Knives in the drawers, handles of umbrellas, stoves, stovepipes, brass knobs on door, kitchen utensils, nails in the walls, brass ornaments on the bedsteads, on which people were lying, the steel blades in the knife in Mr. Whitehead's pocket, the wire casing around bottles in sideboard, the wire by which the pictures were hung, everyone of these are burned until they are unrecognizable. An immense brass piano lamp which stood in the parlor now looks more like a rusty old corkscrew thananythin geise.

The entire west end of the house was knocked out. Every ounce of plaster fell from the walls and ceilings, destroying the carpets and furniture so badly that an entire new furnishing will be required.

That no one was hurt seems miraculous; the iron stovepipe hole covering fell melting to the ground within a few feet of the baby's cot.

Death From a Peculiar Accident.

Cleveland, June 6.—S. M. Strong died last evening as the result of a peculiar accident. In searching for a match in the bathroom he knocked a large bottle of cologne off a shelf, and it broke, the contents saturating part of his clothing. Mr. Strong lit a match and instantly the alcohol vapor from the cologne flashed into a flame. He was horribly burned and did not regain consciousness.

Explosion on a German Ironclad.

Berlin, June 6.—An explosion of gas occurred in the coal hole of the German ironclad Wurtemberg off Heligoland, to-day. Engineer Ghermann was fatally injured, and three stokers were seriously hurt.

Similar Accident on an Italian Yacht

London, June 5.—An explosion of coal gas occurred to-day on the Italian Royal yacht Savoia, now lying at Dartmouth. Three firemen were seriously injured by the explosion. The Duke of Genoa, who came to England on the yacht, was not aboard of her at the time of the accident, having come to this city.

Two Blown to Pieces by Dynamite.

Erie, Pa., June 5.—An explosion of dynamite occurred on a steam drill working on the harbor extension to-day. Capt. Lathrop and Driller Harritty were torn to pieces and four others badly, but not fatally hurt.

Drowning at Tilsonburg

Tilsonburg, June 6.—Dixey Tribe, a small boy, was drowned while bathing in the mill pond. He was 7 years old.

THE DEFUNCT MASONIC MUTUAL

Judgment Given That Members of Class B Are Liable for Back Dues.

London, Ont., June 5.—Col. Shanley, master in chancery, gave an important decision yesterday in the winding-up difficulties of the defunct Canadian Masonic Mutual Benefit Association. The master's judgment was to do with a large number of members of the association in class B, who have not paid their assessments. The finding of the master was that all such members, except in one case, are liable for the amount of the assessments for which they are in arrears up to the time of the capitulation, or registration of the society, July, 1894. A schedule was made out by the receiver, and filed with the master, upon which basis the parties will have to pay.

TOOK THREE VOLLEYS TO KILL.

The Assailant of General Rivera Shot at Madrid.

Madrid, June 6.—Major Clavijo, the assassin of Gen. Prima de Rivera, was shot this morning. He was conveyed in a carriage to San Isidro. Clavijo descended from the carriage with the air of a man who had come out for a pleasure drive. The splendid military bearing of the condemned man aroused the sympathy of all present, the officer in command of the guard being noticeably affected, and there were traces of deep emotion in his voice as he gave the order to fire. As the order was given to fire a volley there was a roar of musketry, and Clavijo fell with three bullets in his head, but he was not dead. Seeing that he moved, the order was given to fire another shot, which took effect in the chin, and, as there was still motion in the body, another shot was fired into the heart.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

Biliousness and Liver Complaint, Headache, etc., are cured by Burdock Pills.

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterboro'. h, you must remember this when you get a cig r direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold traveller's imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out those samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

BICYCLES TO RENT.

M. G. WALKER.

NEW MOTOR BICYCLE.

YOU ONLY USE THE PEDALS WHEN YOU WANT TO WARM UP.

Novel Mechanical Features.—The Spokes of the Rear Wheel Are the Power-Generating Cylinders—New Application of Petroleum Fuel.

The newest motor bicycle is the Millet, a French product, one of which is being brought to this city. Its general appearance is that of a ladies' wheel, with very heavy tubing, and a foot-rest between the pedals. The space between the wheels is a little larger than usual to admit indispensable parts of the apparatus. The pedals and their crank axle are detachable from the driving wheel by a simple manipulation on the part of the rider, and can as conveniently be attached again without dismounting from the seat. When the pedals are detached they remain stationary, no matter what the speed of the wheel may be; the rider can put them in motion whenever he thinks fit; be it to warm up a little or to help along when a steep grade has to be climbed or a bit of difficult territory to be crossed. The steering gear is straight, and to its short handle bar are attached several handles and buttons regulating the various parts of the motor. The steering head is not set directly upon the front fork, but somewhat to the rear of it, two straight rods communicating the necessary movements to the front wheel. The supporting fork of the front wheel is placed horizontally, thereby constituting an excellent preventitive against excessive vibration; at the same time the workmanship and material used must be perfect or the danger of breakage would be very great.

A very remarkable innovation in bicycle building is the double shoe (g and g), which can be brought down from the seat by the lever (c). These shoes will enable the machine to remain standing upright even while the rider is sitting upon it, and can also be used as a powerful addition to the brake. Two rods connected by a brace (O) can be brought down to the ground and used to hold the rear wheel up, so that the rubber tires will not suffer from the standing of the heavy machine upon a small portion of the tire. All these details show the scrupulous study of every detail by Mr. Millet. But his most interesting invention is, without a doubt, the application of the motive power to the rear wheel. His system does not transfer an outside force to the wheel, but generates the propelling power right within it. Five cylinders form the spokes of the rear wheel on his motor-bicycle, and by exploding gasoline alternately in these five cylinders he obtains a steady and continuous motive power. The novelty of the system lies in the functions of the motive apparatus being reversed. Ordinarily the cylinder of a motor is stationary, while the traveling piston revolves an axle from which the power is transferred by belting or other transmissions. Here the axle is immovable, and the moving of the piston rod sets the cylinder in motion.

REAR WHEEL OF THE MILLET BICYCLE.

The rear wheel is shown in the second figure, the hub being detached to show the inside working of the Millet motor. While the last reveals the interior of one of the five cylinders. M. is the chamber wherein the explosion takes place, P is the piston and R the rod leading into the hub of the rear wheel. A tube M, which runs alongside of the cylinder, to which it is joined at m, contains a thin rod, R, which at the given moment opens and closes the conical valve, S. In this tube is contained the carburetted explosive, which, after entering M, is exploded by an electric spark in O. The latter is supplied by a Bunsen battery which is located in E (figure 1), and actuated through an interrupter and electric transformator seen at A near the handle-bar. There are two small reservoirs beneath of which B contains petroleum, which may be admitted into the cylinders, while B is a receptacle of machine oil, which drops continually into the tube, admitting the explosive into the cylinders, and serves as a lubricator of those parts. A large gasoline reservoir is provided in the shape of a heavy mudguard, and it will contain enough fuel for 12 hours' work. Buckles are supplied to the outer side of the reservoir, upon which the rider may attach his baggage or bundes, etc. Air enters the machine from underneath, is first heated, passes through a dust filter and then joins the vapors of petroleum, thereby forming a very strong explosive. While the whole machine weighs about 14 pounds as it stands at present, Mr. Millet thinks he will be able to reduce its weight considerably. With this machine he has made as much as 32 miles an hour, averaging on a straight mile stretch of macadam road, 326 revolutions to the minute. The use of fuel is about a quart of gasoline for 24 miles of travel.

A NEW BUTTER-BOX.

In Which Dealers in Produce and Dairy Commodities will be Interested.

Butter packed for export or for ordinary shipment, has to be sampled by means of the "trier" and it is necessary to remove the lid of the box. At least it has been necessary hitherto, but a recent invention does away with that necessity by providing a very convenient method of sampling the butter without taking off the lid of the box. The newarrangement is very simple and inexpensive. A hole is bored in the centre of the lid, and in o the hole is fitted a cork attached to a metal cone, the latter, in turn, being fitted with a small ring and countersunk to the level of the surface of the lid.

When the butter is to be sampled the ring is raised and with a slight turn and a steady pull the seal is drawn out. The trier may then be inserted in ay direction. Thee whole process does not take more than a minute's time, and is thoroughly effective.

The accompanying illustrations show how it is done.

How Sardou Makes a Play.

Sardou's way of working is as follows: The moment an idea has occurred to him he puts it down, and all the various notes, documents, particulars which have to do with this idea are joined together, forming a sort of dossier. When the idea is crystallized into dramatic shape Sardou writes a scenario of a few pages, giving the skeleton, as it were, of the whole play. Then he puts the work aside. All his various themes are treated in the same way. He has at the present day from seventy to eighty dossiers in his drawers, out of which eight or ten plays will come. So, when he has to write a drama or comedy, he only chooses. For instance, "Theodora" was written fifteen years after it originated in the author's mind.

As soon as Sardou's choice is made, he reads over all the accompanying notes and documents which pertain to that play, and then he begins to write the drama or comedy, act by act, scene by scene, as they come into his mind. When he has done this preliminary work, he rewrites the piece on large white quarto paper. The play is then reduced and condensed. It is this second manuscript which is given to the copyist, to whom is entrusted the care of putting it in shape.

All this writing is ordinarily done at Marly. Sardou is not disturbed there as he is in Paris.—McClure's Magazine.

His Feelings Were Hurt.

A well-known city bicyclist, who has had some years' experience in riding, happened into Bailey's, the Wellington street machinist yesterday. There were a number of bicycles there waiting for repairs. On one of them the front forks were twisted queerly.

"More work of some of the greenies, I suppose," observed the expert to a meek looking man who was also inspecting the damage curiously.

"But they can fix things like that, can't they?" remarked the meek looking man.

"Oh, of course; still there's no sense in having 'em," said the expert, "there's the blankest lot of blanked idiots starting to ride wheels this year I ever saw."

"Perhaps bicycles are not as good as they used to be," said the meek looking man.

"They're a darned sight better," said the expert, "its only the fault of the blooming chumps that ride them. Now how in thunder did the crazy man that owns this wheel manage to bend these front forks that way, I wonder?"

"I don't hardly know," replied the meek looking man. "I had quite a hard fall—that is my wheel."

As the expert disappeared in a cloud of dust the meek looking man observed to a third party that the fall had not injured him, but that his feeling were a little hurt.—Ottawa Journal.

—The adjourned meeting of the Court of Revision will be held to-night.

—A boy tussling with a pig created some amusement on George street this morning.

—About seventy navvies are at work filling in at Doube's bridge on the Missing Link.

—Citizens are complaining loudly of cattle being allowed to run at large. Numerous cases are reported where new flower beds have been destroyed.

—The idea of erecting a public bathing place is a good one and is being well received. This will do away with the necessity of openly bathing in the Little Lake.

—A team of horses belonging to Mr. R Haskins, of Otonabee, ran away this afternoon. Parcels which were in the rig were scattered broadcast, but no further damage was done.

—The contract for the mason and brick work of the Trinity College School, Port Hope, has been let to a Toronto firm for $14,350. Some of the local tenderers were lower, but they did not have the "pull," as the local papers hint.

—Frog catchers are making large takes in and about the Trent Bridge. One catcher alone caught eight-six lbs. in one evening. The forks at the mouth of the Otonabee are brilliantly illuminated with frog catcher's lanterns, who are, evidently, capturing these creatures in abundance and shipping them to the New York markets, where they are readily disposed of at seventy-five cents per pound.

PERSONAL.

W. J. Edmanson is in town booming Dr. Chase's Pile Ointment.

Mrs. E. Ball of Brooklyn, N. Y., returned home this morning, after spending a short time with Mr. G. Ball, Smith street.

Miss Laura Davidson, Peterborough, officiated as one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Mr. Stewart, and Miss Clark in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Matthews are in Montreal to-day, attending the wedding of Mr. Charles Matthews town, and Miss Spier, of that city.

Mr. D. H. Burritt and family left this afternoon to occupy Prospect Cottage, at Chemong Park. They will be the pioneer cottage occupants of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton returned last night from a visit to Winnipeg. The latter, who has been in the Prairie City six weeks, brought home with her her little neice, Miss Alberta Gooding.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Davidson were guests at the marriage ceremony of Mr. D. M. Stewart, accountant of the Bank of Commerce, Montreal, and Miss Clark, of Toronto, which event took place in the Church of the Redeemer on Tuesday, Rev. Septimus Jones officiating.

NO TRUTH IN IT.

The Body of the Late David Scollie Still Here.

A report is in circulation around town that the Attorney General had ordered the body of the late David Scollie to be sent to Toronto to be examined. The EXAMINER finds upon enquiry of the Crown Attorney and Mr. D. Belleghem, that such is not the case and that the statement is only a rumour.

There has been nothing further done to the remains since the visit of Drs. Cavan and Primrose, who took parts of the body back to Toronto with them for examination.

The Outfall Sewer.

Work cannot be begun, so the town authorities say, upon the completion of this work till low water comes, and until the appeal against the decision of arbitrator Judge Ketchum is decided. The matter has been adjourned from time to time, and according to appearances the appeal case threatens to have as long and dreary an existence as Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce. It is particularly unfortunate that work cannot be begun when so many citizens are out of employment. The town council should strain a point so that not only work can be given, but that work may not be delayed till fall, when wet and frost render proper sewer construction impossible.

THE MANUFACTUDERS DIDN'T COME.

The Council Granted the Fire Brigade $50 to Entertain Their Orillia Brethren.

At a special meeting of the town council called last evening to meet some of the out of town manufacturers, who are anxious to locate in Peterborough, the following members were present,—The Mayor and Messrs. Cahill, Best, Denne, Mills, Phelan, Dawson, Clinkscale, Sawers and Stone.

As the manufacturers didn't arrive as expected other business was taken up and disposed of.

The council in committee of the whole discussed T. Cavanaugh's case at some length and finally passed the following resolution :—Moved by Mr. Denne, seconded by Mr. Cahill, "That the Chief of Police be requested by the council to allow the charge now pending against T. Cavanaugh for selling liquor without a license, to be tried as for a first offence and to not offer evidence of any previous conviction."

On motion of Councillors Cahill and Sawers, the chairman of the Finance Committee was authorized to sign a cheque for five dollars to be applied on a carter's license for James Wilson, the amount to be charged to the Charity Committee.

Mr. Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Brigade, asked the council to make a grant towards the entertainment of the Orillia Fire Brigade, the members of which run an excursion into town Monday next. Mr. Rutherford stated that last year the local brigade had entertained the Orillians at their own expense, but were not in a position to do it this year. A large number of people would be brought into town, as it was Orillia's civic holiday.

On motion of Councillors Best and Stone $50 was granted for the purpose asked.

The request of Messrs. Hartley & McMillan for permission to erect a steam riding gallery on Central Park and the imposition of only a light license fee, was considered.

Councillors Sawers and Dawson moved that the license fee be fixed at $10.00 and the use of the Park granted.

Councillor Mills stated that Battalion drill on the Park would be severely interfered with if the riding gallery was erected, and also that the young trees would be damaged by the many children attracted to the spot by the riding gallery.

Councillors Cahill and Denne moved in amendment that the license fee be fixed at 50 cents, and that Messrs. Hartley and McMartin rent a ground for the gallery.

The amendment was lost, and the original motion was carried.

The council then adjourned.

STILL ANOTHER JUNE WEDDING.

Celebration of the Smith-Downer Nuptials, Last Evening.

An event which has been looked forward to with interest by their numerous friends occurred last evening, when Mr. John H. Smith, Ashburnham's popular young Councillor, was united in marriage to Miss Aggie Downer, daughter of the late Dudley C. Downer.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom by Rev. J. J. Rae, pastor of the Charlotte street church, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. H. Foster, 144 Murray street.

The bride looked very sweet in white swiss muslin, trimmed with lace and carried a magnificent bouquet of Marechal Neil roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Eva Stephens, who was becoming gowned in silver grey cashmere sateen with silver grey and gimp trimmings. Miss Stephens carried a shower boquet of pink Le France roses.

Two little nieces of the bride, their combined ages making but six years—Alfreda Melrose of Pittsfield, Mass., and Edith Downer of Toronto, were the tiny maids of honour. They were attired in white, carried bouquets of white and pink roses, and enhanced the charming effect of the scene not a little.

Mr. Will Bletcher officiated as groomsman, and at the conclusion of the ceremony the guests were invited to the dining room, where a most delicious repast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were most fortunate in the receiving of many handsome and beautiful gifts, amongst which may be mentioned a check for a substantial amount from Mr. Robt. Nell, with whose business the bride was formerly connected; a very handsome onyx banquet lamp from her fellow-employees, and a costly silver tea service from Mr. Smith's bachelor associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on the nine o'clock train for a trip to the Muskoka Lakes, and expect to be absent several weeks. Upon her return to Peterborough Mrs. Smith will be at home to her friends at No. 189 Hunter street.

MOONLIGHT ON THE RIVER.

The Sergeants Mess Moonlight Excursion to Hales' Bridge.

The moonlight excursion held last night by the members of the Sergeants' Mess of the local battalion was fairly well attended. The party left the Wolfe street wharf about 8 o'clock via steamer City of Peterborough, with Wilson's orchestra on board, which furnished excellent music during the evening. After taking a turn or two around the Little Lake the steamer started on her course to Victoria Park, and needless to say the trip down and back was thoroughly enjoyed, the members of the mess doing all in their power to make as pleasant an evening as possible for the excursionists. Mr. Robt. Burley, the popular master of ceremonies, was on board and under his calling off those who enjoy dancing had their heart's content, and when they arrived home innumerable were the stories told of the magnificent trip. Favourable comment was also made by the party on the geniality of the officers and crew of the steamer, who, they say, could not do too much for them. It is this kind of treatment that will tend to make the Otonabee the favourite route for excursionists and picnic parties.

GROCERS' EARLY CLOSING.

A Movement in the Direction of Meeting the Objections of Ministers.

The complaint has often been made by ministers of the Gospel that the attendance at the morning services of the churches was greatly lessened by the fact that merchants and their employees were too fatigued by working till midnight and, often, into the small hours of the Sabbath day, by waiting upon and filling the orders of customers, who postponed their shopping till late Saturday night. Now this is a decidedly unchristian practice, and is doubtless due more to thoughtlessness than to any intention to subject merchants and their staffs to inconvenience. Citizens who sleep lightly often hear delivery wagons rushing about the streets at midnight, and later, to deliver late orders. Later, because a merchant—a grocer—informed the EXAMINER that on last Saturday night he was kept till one o'clock on Sunday morning, putting up orders that might have been given hours before as well as at midnight. Then these orders had to be delivered, in some cases at distant parts of the town, at that time. The consequence is the merchants and their staffs go to bed so thoroughly exhausted with the labour of the day and night and several hours of the next day, that to ask them to rise in time for the morning service in the churches would be cruelty. As a rule the people in town do not give their orders at a reasonable hour, instead of gossiping with their friends on the street these fine summer nights till it is time to go home. These persons and do unto others as they would have others do unto them. It is very easy for them when the flight of time forces them to think of going home, to trip airily into a shop with the apologetic flippancy "O, I'd no idea it was so late," and give orders that involve the working of men and horses, hours after the thoughtless customer is comfortably asleep.

SHOULD STUDY THE GOLDEN RULE,

To remedy this state of things to a certain extent, the grocers of the town are circulating an agreement for the closing of their shops at an early hour. It is to be hoped that the movement will be successful. All the business of these times could be compressed into a few hours, and if shoppers would consult the convenience of others they would, as they could easily in the vast majority of instances, make the hours of daylight answer their purpose. This would be not only a real kindness to merchants and their employees, which is in direct line with the charity and consideration of the feelings and convenience of others, that mark the true gentleman or lady as well as the true Christian. The object of the movement to have all grocery and provision shops close at 7 o'clock on every evening except Saturdays and on evenings before holidays. It is also understood that on Friday nights shops may be kept open a little later than seven to relieve the Saturday trade.

TO-DAY'S EXCURSIONS.

A Large Number of our People go Down the River and to Orillia.

The annual excursion of the Olympic Orchestra takes place at Idyl Wild to-day. A large crowd left here this morning for that place via steamer City of Peterborough. A large lists of sports will be run off under the supervision of Mr. S. Ray. About 200 persons attended the excursion.

The E.B.A. excursion to Orillia attracted about 250 persons, who left about eight o'clock for the northern town. As is usually the case Orillia attends to her visitors grandly and this will not likely be an exception to the rule. The Athletic lacrosse club accompanied the excursionists and they will cross sticks this afternoon for supremacy in lacrosse with the Orillias. Peterborough, of course, expects to win.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD.

Reports, Accounts and Communications Considered at the Regular Monthly Meeting.

The Separate School Board met last evening in regular session. There were present, Dr. Brennan (chairman), presiding, and Messrs. Goselin, LeHane, Quinlan, Doris and Hickey. The Rev. Local Superintendent was also present.

A copy of the departmental regulations and of the Separate School Act were received from the Education Department.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were referred to the Finance Committee:—

Communication from the caretaker of the Central School asking that he be paid for supplies used in the caring of the rooms.—Received.

On motion of Mr. Quinlan, seconded by Mr. LeHane, the sum of $15 per annum was voted for the purpose of supplying the caretaker with necessary supplies. Same to be paid him five dollars each four months, beginning on the first of July next.

Mr. Quinlan, chairman Property Committee, reported that the janitor of the Convent asks to be paid some remuneration for the supplying of necessary articles but deferred making any recommendation until a future meeting. He also recommended purchasing a ladder for the use of the Central School; also that Mrs. N. Faucier be appointed janitress of the Lake Street school at a salary of $75 a year.

On motion of Mr. Quinlan, seconded by Mr. Goselin, the report was adopted. The matter of purchasing a ladder was left in the hands of the Property Committee.

Mr. Doris, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, reported, recommending the payment of $18.25 to A. H. Stratton & Co., when the same was certified by the Property Committee. On motion of Messrs. Quinlin and Goselin the report was adopted.

On motion of Messrs. Quinlan and Doris the matter of procuring a supply of stationery was left in the hands of the secretary.

The board then adjourned.

PRACTICAL EVIDENCE OF FRIENDLY RELATIONS.

Kind Remembrance of Mr. M. Riley by Lock Works Employees.

Mr. M. Riley, foreman of the Lock Works, having on account of serious illness, found it necessary to take a change of air in the hope of restoring his health, the employees of the Lock Works took occasion to express their practical sympathy with him. Last evening the following letter and its accompaniment, were presented to Mr. Riley:

PETERBOROUGH, June 5th, 1895.

M. Riley, Esq., Town,

DEAR SIR,—We have been informed that you have been advised by your physician that a change of air is necessary for a speedy restoration of your health, and that in accordance with his recommendations you purpose to take a trip to the seashore. We all regret very much the necessity that compels you to take an enforced holiday for recuperation, and we hope, most sincerely, that you may soon be enabled to return and resume your position among us with health and strength fully restored.

On behalf of the employees of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, we would ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of our good wishes for you, and as a recognition of the many acts of kindness we have received at your hands.

Signed on behalf of the employees,

F. BURDETT,
A. C. CORCORAN,
W. C. MUNDE.

Mr. Riley leaves this afternoon for "The Sound," New England, where it is hoped his stay will result in a speedy restoration to health.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

The Proceedings Largely of a Routine Character—Getting Under way for Work.

PICTON, June 5.—Nearly a decade ago the Bay of Quinte Conference met here before. Since then the personal of that body has through change of boundaries, transfers and receptions been very largely changed. Death, too, has caused many of those dear familiar faces that used to gladden the hearts of members of Conference to vanish. Dr. John A. Williams, whose commanding presence guaranteed a vigourous passage of business, and who spake at times with a tongue of fire, is remembered as the leader and preacher of nine years ago.

This morning President Shorey, after opening the conference, introduced Dr. Carman, who had to leave at 3 o'clock. The wisdom of the General Conference in re-appointing him as General Superintendent was evident to all in his first utterances. His strength seems little impaired since the day of union in 1873, and he presides at courts, preaches and proclaims his crusades with marvellous facility. After the roll was called, 94 ministers being present, was brought before conference. Mr. Ash had been expelled from the church (the case having engaged the attention of conference at its session in Peterborough) and had appealed against such decision to the General Conference, which sustained his appeal, and sent it back for reconsideration. The matter was finally placed in the hands of a committee of the Chairman of districts, who were simply to suggest to this conference the best method of procedure. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon it had not yet reported.

THE CASE OF REV. JOHN C. ASH

On the platform during the sessions of the day were President Shorey, Revs. Wm. Johnston, ex-president; N. A. McDermid, Secretary; David Balfour, Assistant; and G. H. Marvin, Ph. D., Journal Secretary.

The Peterborough delegates are, including Rev. W. R. Young, Rev. J. J. Rae and Rev. W. C. Bear, Messrs. Thos. Morrow, A. L. Davis, B. Shortly and J. L. Hughes.

The afternoon session was one of regular routine.

PROBATIONERS.

Rev. Slater Anderson, a probationer, was allowed to retire on account of ill health. The following will be received into full connection to-morrow, having finished their probation. Many of them are already ordained for special purposes: E. R. Doxee, F. A. Leach, H. B. Kennedy, Charles Adams, Wesley Elliott, W. T. Wickett, David C. Day, John Garbutt, Alfred L. Brown, J. W. Shier, F. W. White, H. B. Rowe, George Nickle. The following have been on trial for two years:—Joseph C. Anderson, James Batestone, Robert Thornton, W. H. Rogers, S. J. Green, John R. Peake, J. A. Connell, N. W. Leigh, E. Farnsworth. The following have been two years on trial:—P. H. Neville, E. A. Dove, Joseph Barnes, James P. Berry, R. F. Stillman, George McConnell, G. M. Gardner, R. Emberson, —. Boyes, W. H. Fulford, J. W. Bunner. For one year:—S. F. Dixon, W. A. Laughlin, J. H. Mallett, H. E. Curts, Enoch Cook, S. T. Moore, T. W. Puffer, C. M. Stratton.

A list of some 25 candidates for the ministry was under consideration when the conference closed at 6 o'clock. No doubt the large number of young men offering this year is accounted for by the prospective more difficult entrance in the future.

ORANGE TRUE BLUES.

The Grand Lodge in Session at Lindsay.

(Lindsay Daily Post.)

The 21st annual session of the grand lodge of the Loyal True Blue Association of Canada and the United States opened in the Sons of England Hall, Kent street, on Tuesday afternoon, M. W. Grand Master Bro. W. Fitzgerald in the chair, and Bro. Geo. Sloan, of Peterborough, in the deputy chair. There was a very large attendance of grand lodge officers, and a number of delegates who arrived on the morning train were also present. The present session promises to be one of the most interesting and important in the history of the Loyal True Blue Association.

The visiting True Blues were cordially welcomed by Mayor Walters.

In the evening the members of the grand lodge were escorted to St. Paul's by the local brethren, headed by the Citizen's Band. The procession presented a fine appearance marching down Kent street and up Russell street to the church, where seats had been reserved for the visitors. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Carl S. Smith, who took his text from Isaiah 31-2: "A man shall be as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." The preacher spoke of the meaning of this figure used by the prophet and its significance to the inhabitants of eastern countries. He then pointed out how in history the words of the text had been fulfilled and that from time to time God had raised up men who had proved a power to resist the forces of evil which threatened to overcome all that was good and true.

At the conclusion of Rev. Mr. Smith's eloquent sermon, the brethren marched back to their hall, where an open meeting was held. The Government's stand upon the Manitoba school question was discussed by several speakers, who, hitting right out from the shoulder, spoke their minds very freely and with considerable emphasis. Frequent applause testified that their words had the right ring, and were in accord with the opinions of those present.

In the morning a short but busy session was held to pave the way for an afternoon outing per steamer Crandella, which had been engaged to carry the brethren to Sturgeon Point and Fenelon Falls.

Among the 200 odd delegates the following are from the town of Peterborough:—Geo. Sloan, D.G.M., E. P. Downer, A. T. Dugan, S. Adlum and Mesdames Rome and Sloan and Misses Newell and Belleghem.

PROFITS ON WHEAT.

Mr. Casey, in the House of Commons, said that a deliberate and organized attempt was being made to persuade the farmers of Canada that because of the increase in the price of wheat they were making money, and that there was a large stock yet in their hands. He quoted a despatch from Montreal showing the enormous profits the grain speculators had made out of the rise in the price of wheat and flour. The list of lucky ones follows:—W. W. Ogilvie, $1,000,000; Robert Meighen, $500,000; Hugh McLennan, $150,000; R. Esdale, $75,000; Alex. McFie, $75,000; Crane & Baird, $100,000; A. C. McBean, $100,000; Harry Raphael, $65,000; Luke Hunsicker, $50,000; Ewan McLennan, $50,000; Adam Thompson, $50,0000; James Carruthers, $75,000; Robert Peddle, $75,000; James Campbell, $40,000; Edward Craig, $40,000; J. McShane, $50,000; J. L. Smith & Son, $75,000; Edgar Judge, $50,000; R. E. Wright, $40,000; outsiders, $500,000; total, $3,220,000. This, Mr. Casey said, showed that it was not the farmers who had made the money, but the speculators. He explained the statement of Mr. Ogilvie, read in the House last week by Dr. Montague, that there is a store of wheat remaining in the hands of the farmers of 1,500,000 bushels, by saying that the dealers having unloaded were now anxious to "bear" the market, and Dr. Montague had acted as their agent. The fact that such enormous profits had been made proved that no such amount of wheat remained in the possession of the Canadian farmers.

WILL NOT GET THE WORKS.

Kingston is not to have the blast furnace after all, and all the trouble and expense the city has undergone to secure the industry has been for naught. The point seems to be that the ores in the vicinity of Kingston are not suitable. A committee which visited Youngstown reported to the city council the unsatisfactory state of the negotiations, whereupon the board of trade of the city reported that "It is a matter of the greatest moment to the city of Kingston that the character and extent of the iron ore deposits in this district should be satisfactorily ascertained and established, as your committee are satisfied that no further steps can be safely taken towards the establishment of an iron and steel plant here till all questions as to the suitability of our ores are authoritatively set at rest."

Referring to the result of the negotiations, the Whig says: "The projectors of the blast furnace, now abandoned, came in for a smart dressing down from the members of the council last night. And the gentlemen who 'did not come for the good of their health' probably deserved all they got." It is certainly not the fault of Kingston that they were unable to secure the establishment of the works.

STONY LAKE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

On Saturday, the first of June, the barns of Mr. John Hubble and Edward Armstrong were burned with most of their contents. Mr. Hubble had a few days previous been burning some stuff in a fallow that he was clearing, and the fire had died nearly out, but the high wind on Saturday started it up and carried some sparks quite a distance into his barn yard, and every thing being so dry that it was impossible to save the buildings, consisting of barn and his other outbuildings. He lost also a long sleigh, bobsleighs and a new cutter, a quantity of harness and some hay and oats. His loss will be about $300; no insurance. Mr. Armstrong resides on the adjoining farm, and his outbuildings are only a short distance from Mr. Hubble's, and his barns took fire from Mr. Hubble's, as the wind was blowing directly on them. He loses all his outbuildings and their contents, and a fine sow with a litter of small pigs that were running in the barn yard. Nearly all the contents of his house that had been carried out to save them, as they supposed the house would be burned too, were burned in the field, the smoke being so dense that it could not be seen that they were on fire. A large quantity of his fences was destroyed, and also a young orchard.

ECONOMY IN LIGHTING!

Electric Lighting in residences is becoming more popular every week, as it should be when the cost is compared with either gas or oil, being 50 per cent. cheaper than the former and equally as cheap as the latter, to say nothing of the cleanliness safety or convenience. The best recommendation is obtained from those who are using it. The following are some of the residences fitted up during the last two months: Mr. A. L. Davis, Mr. T. G. Haslett, Miss Dickson, Mr. John Crane, Mr. W. E. Conway, Mr. F. J. Jameson.

House wiring can be fitted up complete from $2.00 a lamp up.

AERATED WATERS.

The Starr Brand Should be Used to Quench Thirst in Warm Weather.

During the recent siege of hot weather the citizens have been at a loss as to a means of quenching the almost unbearable thirst generated by the heated atmosphere. Water is looked at askance since the advent of the theory regarding the festive microbe and alcoholic drinks frequently have the effect of but intensifying the aggravating suggestiveness in the throat.

In this emergency Mr. C. E. Starr, proprietor of the Peterborough Mineral Water Co., stepped into the breach with his cool and refreshing drinks. Aerated waters of every description are manufactured on his premises No. 187 Simcoe street, just west of Phelan's Hotel—lemon sours, cream sodas, and the genuine aromatic Belfast export ginger ale—all these and a dozen other varieties of bottled aerated waters are turned out in scores of dozens daily.

The apparatus used by Mr. Starr is away ahead of anything ever brought into Peterborough before. A carbonator of French design has been secured, and before the waters are bottled they are purified to an extent to remove all foreign substances in the way of minerals, the machine being a perfect purifier. The water is all doubly carbonated by an ingenious invention, and perfectly purified through being treated with the spray system.

Householders cannot do better than keep a liberal supply of these delicious drinks on hand during the summer season, and hotelkeepers will doubtless have to carry big stocks of Starr's aerated waters to supply the demand for what promises to be the most popular of thirst-quenchers.

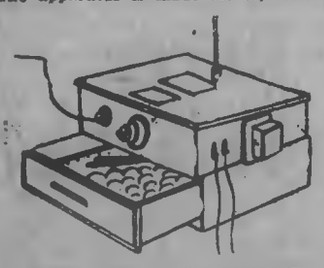
AN ELECTRIC HEN.

IT WILL NOT LAY EGGS, BUT IT WILL RAISE A BROOD OF CHICKENS.

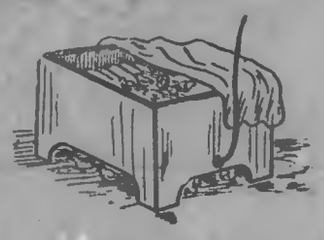
A Non-Varying Temperature—The Eggs Need No Attention After Being Placed in the Incubator—A Brood of Two Hundred Chickens.

Otto Schulze, a Strasburg electrician, has patented an electric hen which as an incubator lays over anything ever invented. It is still necessary for a flesh and blood hen to lay the eggs, but, this done, the electric hen can rear a brood of chickens counted by hundreds. The apparatus is made for 50, 100 or



CHICKEN RAISING BY ELECTRICITY.

200 eggs, and is designed to obviate the difficulties connected with the ordinary form of incubator. The manipulation of the apparatus is very simple, and its maintenance depends only upon an uninterrupted supply of electricity. An automatic attachment keeps the temperature within one-tenth of a degree of the normal temperature of incubation. The degree of saturation of the air is kept in the same manner. Under ordinary conditions 90 chickens can be counted out of 100 eggs incubated. The quantity of electricity required is very small, for an incubator holding 50 eggs



THE ELECTRIC MOTHER.

10 to 20 watts being sufficient, depending upon the temperature of the outer air. For raising the chickens after they are hatched an electric mother has been devised, as shown. The upper part is devoted to the freshly hatched chicks, while the lower part is arranged so that the chicks can run around on the ground and at the same time find heat and protection when they desire it. The electric incubator has proved very successful also in the culture of bacteria.

Selling It Like Milk.

Electricity, put up in storage batteries of all sizes, like milk jars, is to be prepared for delivery at the doors of customers in New York, just as milk is now. A company has been formed for the purpose, and also to push the electric storage battery into general use.

Mr. Isaac L. Rich, one of the officers of the new company who has done a great deal to perfect the electric storage battery, says: "There is no reason why electricity should not be perfectly portable. There seems to be a general idea that in order to have current on tap one must have a dynamo and a steam engine to run it, and thus incur a large expenditure at the start. Nothing could be more erroneous. There are thousands of persons who would like to run sewing machines or coffee grinders by electricity or to burn one or two electric lights, but who have no use for the current in large quantities. They can now be accommodated. Storage cells are now made in all sizes. The smallest weighs but 4 ounces, and furnishes current enough for one lamp. We intend to sell electricity exactly as the milk man sells milk. We first supply the cells. When the current is used up the maid will put the empty or exhausted cells in the hallway or beside the basement door, and our man, as he makes his morning rounds, will collect them and leave freshly charged ones in their place. The same cells, of course, are used over and over again a great many times."

The Antiquity of the Steamboat.

Civilization is no more than a great wheel whose spokes are the centuries, and upon whose tires are nicked the recurring events of human existence. Is it probable that the prehistoric ancients were ignorant of our recent mechanical inventions, when we discover that glass windows, with pulleys and sashweights were in use in Pompeii, that swing doors were popular in the Rome of the Emperors, that the Greek philosophers experiments with electron machines which could produce sparks, magnetic attraction in certain metals and other wonderful phenomena? What, too, are we to understand by Pliny's description of a boat he had seen propelled by wheels, which were driven by a pot of hot water, as it seemed to him, though he was not allowed to examine the machinery whereby the boiling pot drove the wheels, which in their turn actuated the paddles at the stern of the vessel? If this was not some crude form of steamboat, what was it? It is time that in the primary grades of education a better knowledge of these essentials which go to the marking of the stages of civilization should be taught. Among such essentials should be the facts that steam was very possibly in use, experimentally, no doubt, at a very early period, as a motive power.

Kisses Twice as Long.

BETTER THAN A BANK.

"Would you put your money," we said to a bank manager, who had previously shown us a handful of policies upon his own life, "would you put your money in a bank if you had your life to live again?"

"Not I," he replied, "I should invest it in life assurance policies, on the endowment plan."

The same question was put to another banker, who smiled at its innocence, remarking that the bank rate was uncertain from day to day. It might be 3½ per cent.; it might be much less. On the other hand, he said, insurance companies obtain over 5 per cent. on their accumulated premiums. The fact of the matter is, he continued, there is no institution in the world which can be compared to life insurance; for by its means a man is enabled to make provision for his family, or for his dependents, at once.

Assuming that a young man did put by $50 a year in a bank, it would take a long time to accumulate an amount which could be secured forthwith by payment of the $50 to a life assurance society. For instance, an annual premium of $50, commencing at age 25, secures a policy in the Confederation Life Association of Toronto for about $2,200, with profits payable at age 60, or previous death. The provision, even if death occur when only one premium has been paid, is immediate; while in the other case it is a paltry $50 which his family will inherit, against $2,200 if an insurance has been effected.

The real point of contrast, however, between the insurance company and the bank, is the certainty which attaches to the one, and the uncertainty which marks the other. In point of fact, the bank investor is, more truly speaking, a speculator who stakes the welfare of his family on the chances of his own life, and his power of resisting the temptation to divert the investment; that is, to use it for some other purpose than that of family provision. If only he be spared, they may fare well enough; but if death or misfortune come before his plans are matured, their case is a sad one indeed.

The policy-holder, on the other hand, is the conscientious investor, for, having regard to a provision for his family, he seeks safety—the first condition of "investment," as opposed to "speculation"—before anything else. Thanks to the insurance companies, he finds that he can forthwith make this provision absolutely secure and certain, and at the same time can obtain profits on his outlay greatly superior to the utmost profits that would accrue if he "ran his own risk" under the most favorable circumstances.

Canadian manufacturers have a reputation for shrewdness; they are keen, hard-headed men of business, and no men insure more largely. Next to commercial men come doctors and clergymen in the practical recognition of the value of life insurance. Like merchants, they are keenly alive to the investment element, but press its moral aspect home to all who come within their influence. The reason is obvious; our spiritual and medical advisers are the first to be appealed to in a case of distress brought about by death. They are the first to devise means for relieving the widow and orphan; and, from the difficulty they encounter in securing efficient help, their experience forces them to realize the necessity for every man to make provision for his own family, and not leave them to the tender mercies of the world.

The Endowment Policy issued by the Confederation Life Association gives absolute and unconditional guarantee of payment of claims immediately upon receipt of satisfactory proofs of death, or should the insured survive the endowment period he may elect to take his money in any of the following six ways: First—The policy may be surrendered, and the entire value taken in

1. Cash.
2. Paid-up policy, payable at death.
3. Life annuity, an annual payment to the insured till death.

Second—Or, the policy may be exchanged for a paid-up policy of assurance, payable at death, without profits, for an equal amount of insurance, and, in addition, there will be paid an annuity for life of $45 per $1,000, applying the accumulated surplus either in

4. Cash.
5. Bonus addition to the sum assured.
6. Life annuity.

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

Free from Eruptions

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

JAPS RESEMBLE US.

Photographs of Their Leaders Might Pass for Those of Americans.

The typical face of the Japanese race has become familiar in this country within a year through the pictures printed in the papers. At first it may have made rather an unfavorable impression upon physiognomists and observers in general, but as people have become better acquainted with it through the study of its peculiarities it must have grown in favor. It differs from the face of other Asiatic races; it is obviously distinct from the Chinese, the Tartar, the Hindoo, the Malay and the Persian face. It bears a nearer resemblance to the Corean face than to any other in Asia. But in facial outlines, as in mental characteristics, the Japanese are more like the European races than are any other Asiatic people. Professor Grims of Tokio, says that there are two marked varieties of feature in Japan which are strikingly portrayed in their own pictures; these are the broad, flat face of the lowest class and the oval face, with full nose, of the higher. Professor Griffis has been further led to believe that the Japanese, whose origin has been lost in antiquity, are a mixture of two separate races, the one of which had extended southward from Siberia, hairy and broad featured, while the other, which approached from the southwest, had the Hindustani physiognomy and smooth skin. To this day the natives of the chief island, Nippon, regard those of the lesser island, Yeso, who are called Ainos, as of inferior quality. The face here spoken of as typical of the natives of Japan is that of the well-born Nipponese, a people who probably owe their origin to a cross between the primitive Ainos and the later comers from India.

The face of the mikado, as twice or thrice printed in The New York Sun from Tokio portraits of him, is one which, apart from its complexion, resembles that of many Americans who may be seen in the streets of New York any day. At first glance it seems to have a rather sullen expression, but when closely studied it gives an idea of intellectuality, thoughtfulness, steadfastness, cautiousness, energy and level-headedness. It is eminently indicative of the man's character, as illustrated during his long and successful reign. All the features of it are well formed, and the bearing of the head is in accord with his traits, as known to the world. Any physiognomist, after thoroughly examining the emperor's face and head, would very surely pronounce a most favorable judgment upon them. The face of his wife, the empress, is oval, full of intelligence, kindly, and might be taken for that of a fine-looking American or European woman, in so far as form and expression are concerned, yet not, perhaps, as regards complexion, though it is a truth that many Japanese women of rank, who rarely go out of the house, are fair complexioned.

The Premier, Prince Ito, the great diplomatist, would pass here for a Colorado silverite or a North Dakota speculator in town lots. General Yamagata looks not unlike the late Robert Louis Stevenson, novelist. Marshal Oyama bears some resemblance to Grover Cleveland. Viscount Mutsu would be fine looking for a white man. Vice Admiral Ito's double may be seen upon every block on Broadway any fine afternoon. Dr. Depew, the Bowery "peach," would smile if he saw one of the Japanese portraits in the Sun's collection of them, and Thomas C. Platt would smile if he saw another. The faces of a group of young Japs in a photograph belonging to The Sun look like those of any group of young Americans at Yale, or Harvard, or Princeton.

The typical Japanese face, as drawn and colored by native artists, bears less of a resemblance to the American or European face than when it is photographed, for the methods of Japanese art are peculiar. The real style and spirit of the face are best brought out of the canvas. It is a face that must be studied very closely and very long and often by anyone who would get a proper comprehension of it, or who would seek to gain an insight into Japanese character by means of it, or who would attempt to interpret the history of Japan by the distinctive physiognomy of its peculiar people.

The South at the Close of the War.

The war left the South in indescribable desolation. Great numbers of Confederates came home to find their farms sold for unpaid taxes, perhaps mortgaged to ex-slaves. The best Southern land, after the war, was worth but a trifle of its old value. Even city real estate was a drug. Many their ruin rendered insane; in multitudes more it broke down all energy. The brave spirits—men to whom till now all toil had been strange—set to work as clerks, depot masters and agents of various business enterprises. High-born ladies, widowed by Northern bullets, became teachers or governesses. In the comparatively few cases where families retained their estates, their effort to keep up appearances was pathetic. One by one domestics were dismissed; dinner-parties grew rare; stately coaches lost their paint and became rickety; carriage and saddle horses were worn out at the plough and replaced by mules. At last the master learned to open his own gates, the mistress to do her own cooking.

Upon the whites, in many communities, a kind of moral and social stagnation settled down, an unhealthy, hopeless acquiescence in the worst that might come. Politics they long regarded with abhorrence, as the accursed thing that had brought on the war. Whites, as well as negroes, drank recklessly. Few of any class cared much for education. In 1871 Alabama had 380,000 citizens who could neither read nor write, of whom more than 100,000 were white.—E. Benj. Andrews, in The May Scribner.

BABY MUST STAND IT.

Foolish Parents Who Carry Their Infants on Their Wheels.

Among the many foolish extremes to which parental fondness runs, none is more insensate than the carrying of infants on bicycles. So long as the machine holds up, the bit of humanity is safe being so fastened that it cannot fall off. But there is nervous tension throughout, as may be clearly seen from the frightened and anxious look on the baby's face. The vibration, too, tells seriously on the immature nerves, while, if there be a nip in the air, the motionless child is apt to become deadly cold. All this, however, is as nothing compared with the peril of an upset. Even the most experienced riders cannot assure themselves against "side slipping" when the surface is slippery; all they can do is to save themselves by jumping off the machine before it lies on the ground. But the baby is bound to see the matter out to the bitter end; its too fond parent cannot protect it from smash however much he may try. It is much the same in collisions: the adult rider can do something to break his fall, or if with a heavy vehicles, can roll out of the way after coming to the ground. But the unhappy infant has to stand the racket in both cases. We fancy there would be a very limited number of wheelmen on the roads if the exigencies of the pastime rendered it compulsory for riders to be fastened to their seats. Perhaps it was that feeling that influenced the cyclist down in Yorkshire, who was seen to place his little lad standing on the foot-rests face to the front, with both hands clutching the handle-bars behind. The child was thus left at liberty to jump off, but had either of the footrests slipped down, as often happens, a very ugly accident must have happened.—Cycling.

SINGLE HAPPINESS.

Jeanette L. Gilder Tells What Conditions Are Favorable to Female Celibacy.

The best way to be happy if you are going to be single is to be born into a large family and to be compelled at an early age to earn your own living. I always wanted to be single. I liked the independence of that condition, and I always wanted to earn my own living, and my two desires have been gratified.

It has been my good fortune to have had others besides myself to take care of, and I think that keeps one's mind off matrimony. I have preferred that people should be dependent upon me rather than that I should be dependent upon people, and I have had my preference. I have never been a "lone woman," for I have always lived with some of my family, and I had for a time a brood of motherless children to look after. When their father took them home I missed them sadly. He left one with me, my niece, now a girl of fourteen years, whom I have had since she was five. I won't say that I would be very happy though single without her. My own child could not give me a greater interest in life, and I suppose that my feelings towards her are very much those of a mother. Then I have had brothers that I could always call upon for the thousand and one things that a woman needs a man to do for her.

Work and plenty of it goes far towards making a single woman happy. When I look about me I do n't see so many married women whose lives are particularly happy. I could count all the happy marriages I know of in a very short time.

A marriage need not be downright unhappy to be uncomfortable. I look at a great many wives whose husbands are not unkind, but who do not get along with them very well, and I don't think that they are happy.

Happiness depends a good deal upon the disposition, and if an old maid has a cheerful disposition she will be happier than her married neighbor, who hasn't. I cannot understand how the simple fact of being unmarried can make a woman unhappy. I should think that there would have to be some better reason than that.

To me personally it has always been a matter of congratulation that I am an old maid. It was the same when I was a young maid. I have enjoyed life as much as most people and more than many, and have never felt lonesome. There has always been some one to bid me good luck when I go out and to welcome me when I come in. I might be cross and sour if I had not had the blessing of companionship.

If when I went out in the morning there was no one to wave me adieu, and if I came home to the welcome of a cat, I don't think that I should be very happy even though single. I have always had some one to be interested in and to be interested in me, and these are blessings without which matrimony cannot give happiness.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

FORMOSA TERRORISED.

Rioting and Looting Produce Chaos Throughout the Island

London, June 6.—The Star's despatch from Hong Kong says: The Chinese in the northern part of Formosa are completely demoralised. The people have joined the soldiery in rioting and looting, and there is chaos everywhere. The rioters have burned the Government buildings at Taipehfu and Hobe.

The Republic has collapsed, and Tang, the rebel governor, has fled. The foreign residents are all safe, but their anxiety is great.

Racing at Windsor

Windsor, June 5.—This was the opening day of the Windsor Jockey Club meeting. The weather was fair and cool, and the rain of yesterday put the track in good condition. The attendance was only fair and the betting light, the fields being small.

St. Catharines, June 5.—The Athletics defeated the Torontos here to-day by a score of four straight games in 8, 1, 19 and 8 minutes respectively. The match was the first of the senior C.L.A. championship series. The Torontos appeared on the field with 11 men, and but few of them have ever heretofore been seen on the lacrosse field here. The Athletics played their entire team, claiming the Torontos should in a championship match have brought a full team. The local lacrosse enthusiasts are making every endeavor to revive lacrosse, but the one-sided appearance of the play . . will not assist the purpose in view. The attendance was good, but the spectators were dissatisfied at the Athletics having everything so much their own way

MRS. POPE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Poison Found Secreted in Her Clothing at the Jail

Jackson, Mich., June 6.—Mrs. Pope, the condemned murderess, arrived here last night. Mrs. Pope was practically insensible, and was carried bodily from the train to a hack and driven to the county jail. The prison physician examined her carefully and said she was under the influence of opiates. It is supposed she tried to poison herself. He searched her clothing and found a large number of opium capsules fastened inside her skirts. The doctor removed capsules sufficient to kill a score of persons.

Erie's Embankment Gives Way.

Amsterdam, N.Y., June 5.—Early this morning 100 feet of the Erie Canal embankment, along the river about a quarter of a mile above Pattersonville, gave way, and the water rushed in considerable volume from the canal into the river. A canal boat loaded with lumber was carried along by the flood, and the strain to which it was subjected caused it to break in two.

MILLBROOK

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

June 2nd.

A sad drowning fatality occurred in the Cavanville mill pond this (Sunday) morning, the victim being Ephraim Clarke, a most estimable young man aged 21 years, son of Mr. John Clarke, of the 8th con. of Cavan. It appears that the deceased together with two small neighbour boys, named Sutton were bathing in the flume of the before-mentioned pond. Just in front of the flume the continual rush of water has created a hole some fourteen feet feet deep, also a chasm for some distance underneath the flooring, above which the water was about four feet deep, thus rendering the sudden drop unnoticeable. The deceased in wading out accidentally slipped off, and being unable to swim immediately sank. He arose once, but in going down the second time, the slight current is supposed to have carried him under the flooring, thus preventing his rising again. The young boys immediately gave the alarm and soon willing hands came to the rescue but their attempts to regain the body before life was extinct were in vain. Some of the young men present dived, and though they could feel the body, yet attempts at raising it were fruitless. Grappling irons were made at a blacksmith shop near by, and after two hours diligent work the body was recovered. Undertaker John Gillott of this place was notified and brought the body to Millbrook this afternoon, where it now lies at the residence of the deceased's aunts, the Misses Ainley, on Main street. The deceased young man was a member of Court Ivanhoe, No. 327 I. O. F., Millbrook having joined only a few months ago, and under whose auspices the funeral will be conducted to-morrow to Gardiner's burying ground. The fatality has cast a deep gloom over the whole community, and much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents in the hour of their sad affliction. Scarcely a year ago a similar accident occurred in the same pond, when young McNeil was drowned while bathing, and strange to say, with the same young boys that Clarke was with.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

SALARIES OF JUDGES.

Sir Tupper Selects One Case For An Increase.

THE CURRAN BRIDGE PROSECUTION.

The Opposition Strenuously Oppose the Increase as Unwarranted Considering the Work Done—Mr. Laurier Declares the Prosecution of Mr. St. Louis is a Sham.

Mr. McMullen: That opinion is confined to the lawyers only.

Mr. Mulock said that there were 195 judges of all kinds and if without rhyme or reason the Government arbitrarily increased one salary that would be a precedent for increasing the other 194. Nothing could warrant the increase unless there had been some understanding between the Government and the Chief Justice. The fact that the minister was unable or unwilling to deny the statement warranted that conclusion.

Dr. Sproule, who very rarely disagrees with the Government, said that he did not think the Minister of Justice had made out a case sufficiently strong to convince the committee that this judge's salary should be increased. He agreed with Mr. McMullen that the judges were fairly well paid. Compared with the members of other professions which required equally high qualifications, the salaries of judges were high enough. When a position on bench became vacant there was a rush of lawyers for it, who were willing to accept the pay attached to the office.

Col. Prior, one of the representatives of Victoria, British Columbia, supporting the increase, said that when the leader of the Opposition and his friends were in that city they promised increases in salaries and large expenditures on public works, but when it came to a paltry $400 they were not prepared to carry out their promises. He charged that the Liberals always opposed increases in salaries and railway subsidies.

Mr. Laurier said that he had no objection to repeat what he had said in Victoria. He had said that the entrance to the fine harbor of Victoria, which was obstructed by a rock, should have a light. If he had had the honor of being the member for Victoria he would have used his influence with the Government to have a light upon that rock, rather than to get a postoffice over which there had been squabbling among the faithful as to where the site should be. Sir John Thompson had said $600 a year was a fair remuneration for the judge, considering that in three years there was only one case before the Admiralty Court. If the hon. gentleman would discharge his duties properly to the city of Victoria, he would not fight for this petty item, but see that there is light for the harbor of that great city.

Upon the Minister's undertaking to bring down full information on the subject the committee reported the resolution.

The Curran bridge steal, by which the country was robbed of over $200,000, was recalled by the vote of $6700 to complete the payment of the expenses of the commission that unearthed the wrong-doing. In response to a demand by Mr. Davies for information, the Minister of Justice said that steps had been taken to lay the evidence taken before Judge Desnoyers, but the ability of the prosecution to do that had been called in question by the defence. The point was whether the Dominion or Provincial Government should pay the cost of the new trial. Chief Justice Lacoste was now considering the arguments addressed to him.

Mr. Mulock: I presume in the event of the court requiring security from the Dominion Government that it will be given?

Sir Charles Tupper: I think it would be very unwise and quite extraordinary at the present juncture that we should state what we would do in the event of the court doing a certain thing. We are quite confident that our application will succeed.

Mr. Mulock called attention to the delay that had occurred in bringing the guilty persons to justice. He said that the commission had reported that a wholesale fraud had been committed, and that information was in the possession of the Government in November 1893. After two years had elapsed the only progress made in the matter was that the accused person had carried the war into Africa, and was prosecuting a suit against the Crown for more money. On the eve of a possible general election there had been a manifestation of energy on the part of the Government, but how the Government seemed to have lost all its energy. It was an outrage that the robbery should have taken place, and that there was no person behind the bars for it. This lethargy was an inducement to others to do wrong.

Sir Charles Tupper protested that the Government was proceeding in order and in decency.

Mr. Davies commented upon the fact that the evidence had been taken involving a number of men in a conspiracy to defraud the Government. No step had been taken to punish any one of them.

Sir Charles said that the instructions of the Justice Department from the Department of Railways and Canals were to proceed not against one man, but against any and all who were in any way connected with crime.

Mr. Laurier, after stating the fact that two years had elapsed without anything having been done, pointed out that a prosecution could not be effective unless undertaken immediately.

The Minister of Justice said that he would tell the hon. gentleman, since he had been forced to do so, why the department had not rushed pell mell against every offender. It was not anticipated by the law offices of the Crown that such an unfortunate miscarriage of justice would take place in Montreal. If they could not obtain a committal by the magistrate or a true bill from the grand jury, it would be futile to proceed against the minor offenders.

Mr. Laurier said that in the prosecution of the charges against St. Louis there had been a want of energy and a want of determination that was evidence to a majority of the people and the country that it had been a sham prosecution. The discussion was continued until after midnight, when the House adjourned.

Ottawa, June 7.—Sir Charles Tupper, who is ambitious for one of his immature years and limited experience, had an opportunity yesterday of showing what he could do in the position for which he was a candidate before the session began. Mr. Foster was away delivering an oration at Montreal, and he left his young colleague behind to lead the House and take care of the policy. It must be confessed that Sir Charles did fairly well, comparing his leadership with that which has been inflicted upon the House since the opening of the session. The House presently went into committee on Sir Charles' resolution fixing the salaries of the following judges:

Two judges of the Circuit Court of the District of Montreal, each $3000 per annum.

Five County Court judges in Manitoba, each $2000 per annum during the first three years of service, after which each $2400 per annum.

The local judges of the District of British Columbia $1000 per annum.

Mr. Davies took exception to the last proposal, which means that Chief Justice Davie of British Columbia shall have an addition of $400 to his salary. The ground taken by Mr. Davies was that the judges in other provinces, notably Ontario and Quebec, had a great deal more work to do than the Chief Justice of British Columbia, and that if judicial salaries were to be increased the other provinces were entitled to consideration. This was a most inopportune time to increase salaries.

Sir Charles Tupper explained that the salary of the present chief justice of British Columbia was less than that of his predecessor, Sir Matthew Begbee. He now received $5000 as chief justice, and $600 as local judge in admiralty, whereas his predecessor received as chief judge in admiralty, making altogether $6620. He tice $5820 and $800 as local judge in proposed to increase the salary of the present chief justice as local judge in admiralty from $1000 to $1200, making his total income $6000.

Mr. Edgar, in strong terms, protested against the increase, which he said was inopportune and improper.

Mr. McMullen took exception to a statement made by the Minister of Justice that the judge's salaries all around should be increased. He held that judges were well paid for what they did, and he said that it was the duty of every layman in the House to protest against the proposed increases.

Mr. Mills said that the increase of the salary of the Chief Justice of British Columbia would make an invidious distinction. He called upon the minister to show that there was sufficient work done to justify the increase.

Mr. Daly held that the purpose of the resolution was to wipe out invidious distinction, inasmuch as the judge in British Columbia did not get as much as judges in Admiralty elsewhere.

Mr. Laurier pointed out that by an act passed in 1891 the salaries of judges in Admiralty had been fixed in accordance with the amount of work performed by each. The salary of the British Columbia Judge had then been fixed at $600. It was for the minister to show that the work had increased sufficiently to warrant an increase.

Sir Charles said that it was notorious in the Maritime Provinces that the judges were not adequately paid.

On motion of Major Carpenter, seconded by Dr. Roome, the committee decided to recommend to the Government to adopt some method of assisting fruit-growers of Canada to place fruit on the English markets by means of cold storage facilities. This resolution was the outcome of a valuable address by Mr. John Craig, horticulturist of the Experimental Farm, in which he gave the results of certain cold storage experiments made by him in Montreal last year. Mr. Craig believes that by a system of district cold storage warehouses, refrigerator cars and cold apartments on steamships it is possible to place the peaches, plums and grapes of Ontario upon the English market in paying quantities. Major Carpenter will take steps to induce the Government to make a trial shipment of grapes from the Niagara Peninsula this year.

There were wigs on the green here in connection with Separate School matters. The announcement that the commission appointed by the Ontario Government to investigate the condition of the Catholic Separate school of Ontawa has been blocked has caused a genuine sensation. The commission was appointed at the request of the Separate School Board, and the Government acceded to the request with more than the usual alacrity on account of the attack made on one of the Departmental officers, Mr. White, Provincial School Inspector. For some time there has been a growing feeling of estrangement between the French Brothers and the Inspector and also certain members of the School Board. The Brothers charged the Inspector with furnishing reports to the Board contradictory to those given themselves. This, with the public indignation meeting, presided over by Judge Valin, at which strong resolutions were carried, capped the climax. At the meting Inspector White was openly called a liar, and his motives were openly attacked. The Governor-in-Council endorsed the request for a commission, and Rev. Fathers Foley, Farrelion, Mr. Cheny, Plantagenet, and Mr. William Scott of Toronto were appointed. This commission was considered an eminently fair one. Mr. Cheny was to represent the French-Canadians, Father Foley the clergy, while Scott is a Protestant. The commission was to have commenced work yesterday, but at the eleventh hour Father Foley resigned, and his action was immediately imitated by Mr. Cheny, leaving Mr. Scott the sole member of the commission. Father Foley admits that he resigned in deference to the wishes of Archbishop Duhamel, who regards the appointment of the commission with disfavor, and in fact construed it as an attack on the Christian Brothers.

The Department of Trade and Commerce is advised that important concessions have been made to Huddart's Australian Steamship Line by the Hawaiian Government. Under a legislative act of last year the Government remits to that company all the port charges except pilotage and water. The Act authorizes the Executive Council to make contracts for mail service between ports of the Republic of Hawaii and NorthAmerica, Australia and intermediate ports, and to grant aid to any steamship company for the term of two years, freedom from all charges at the port of Honolulu for wharfage, lights, buoys, blanks at the Custom House, and harbor master's fees for the steamships plying between said ports, and also grants free use of tracts of land in Honolulu for storage of coal, not exceeding 3000 tons at any one time, for the use of company's vessels. The Steamship company, on the other hand, agrees during the term of two years to carry all Hawaiian mails without charge to the Government, and to hold to the present schedule of passenger and freight rates.

Thrown to His Death

Hamilton June 6.—Joseph Carter, aged 74, is lying at death's point at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was thrown from his wagon, lighting on his head, and is now completely paralysed. Carter is a farmer.

Charged With Infanticide

Hamilton, June 6.—Kate Rodehouse was arrested in Caledonia this afternoon by Detective Doyle of Hamilton. The baby found dead on the mountain on Sunday night has been identified as belonging to the Rodehouse girl, and it is charged she deserted her child and caused its death by starvation.

Proposed Steel Plant For Cleveland

Pittsburg, June 6.—Within six months it is quite probable that plans looking toward the construction of a gigantic steel plant on the banks of Lake Erie, at a point near Cleveland, Ohio, will be under way. The plant is to be a rival of the Carnegie and Bethlehem Steel Companies. Mr. John D. Rockefeller of the Standard Oil Company and the other millionaires have agreed to furnish the necessary financial aid.

New Capital and Factories Make Towns.

Buffalo, June 6.—A controlling interest in the Depew Improvement Company has been sold to a syndicate composed of Chauncey M. Depew, John Jacob Astor, H. Walter Webb, H. McK. Twombly, Dr. Seward Webb and others. The gentlemen are all largely interested in the Niagara Falls Power Company. The consideration was $728,000 in cash, and it is said to be the purpose of the syndicate to bring to Depew the shops of the Lake Shore and West Shore roads, the Lackawanna, Nickel Plate and New York Central and the Wagner car shops. The big establishments already located at Depew employ, all told, 2500 men. The village has a population of 6500, although it has been but two and a half years in existence. It is about five miles from the Buffalo city line, and is connected by trolley line with the city.

New Appointments by President Cleveland.

Washington, June 6.—The President has appointed Wm. H. Pugh to be Auditor of the Treasury for the Navy, vice Morton, removed, and Edward A. Bowers Assistant Comptroller of the Treasury, vice Mansur, deceased. Mr. Bowers is now Assistant Land Commissioner.

Awarded $15,000 For His Legs.

Lyons, N.Y., June 7.—Edwin A. Eaton of Newark has obtained a verdict of $15,000 against the New York Central Railroad Company for the loss of both legs at the Brown-street crossing, in Rochester, on Nov. 5, 1890. Eaton was a brakeman, and was thrown between the cars owing to the breaking of an alleged defective break chain

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, JUNE 7, 1895.

THE PRINCIPLE IS CORRECT.

At the session of the Hamilton Conference of the Methodist church, Rev. J. Van Wyck introduced a motion to abolish the billeting system in connection with conference sittings. The proposition produced a brief discussion and was warmly supported by several speakers. Mr. Van Wyck said "his motion was based on manliness and independence. He had assisted in the billeting of ten conferences, and from what he had heard during the course of that work he thought that Methodist ministers, from mere manliness, should be men and pay their way." Rev. Dr. Philip said "the work of billeting was getting more and more difficult, and the Billeting Committee was frequently asked why preachers did not pay their own way." It does seem that hardship is wrought in some cases by the billeting system. The majority of ministers, as a rule, receive sufficient salaries, in most cases in excess of those who are supposed to entertain them during conference work, and it does not appear that it would be any hardship for a minister to pay his way, as Rev. Mr. Van Wyck suggests, like a man. If ministers should decide that they should be relieved from such a responsibility, then their flocks, whose interests they serve, should furnish the funds. Our blessed Lord recognized civic obligations by directing the payment of tribute to Cæsar. And St. Paul emphatically condemned the billetting system when he declared that he had wrought with his own hand that he should he a charge upon no man—that he should not eat bread that he had not earned, and presumably he had no big salary to draw upon, and wishing to pay his way he knocked a few tents together. Rev. Mr. Van Wyck's motion, as a matter of principle, is in the right; as for its expediency it will be for others to judge.

RESTORING THE EQUILIBRIUM.

The Toronto Globe is responsible for the following deadly parallel:

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE, 1879.	SPEECH FROM THE THRONE, 1895.
By the application of the strictest economy to the public expenditure, and by the re-adjustment of the tariff with the view of increasing the revenue, and at the same time of developing and encouraging the various industries of Canada, you will, I trust, be enabled to restore the equilibrium between revenue and expenditure, and to aid in removing the commercial and financial depression which unhappily continues to exist.	In order to produce equilibrium between the revenue and expenditure of the coming year, it will be necessary to observe the greatest possible economy in the appropriations for the various branches of the public services.
Debt, 1873, $140,000,000.	Foster's estimate of deficit for 1894-95, $4,600,000. Debt, 1895, $250,000,000.

THE London, England, Chronicle of yesterday paid the following tribute to Sir Oliver Mowat, at present visiting England, which is high praise for a patronizing English paper to give a colonial statesman: "The visit to this country of the Hon Sir Oliver Mowat, Prime Minister and Attorney-General of Ontario, ought not to pass without public recognition of his long and distinguished services in the cause of progress in one of the most enlightened sections of the Empire."

THE Department of the Auditor-General at Ottawa costs the country $34,411 a year. But it is worth every cent of the cost. His income would be much larger—would reach princely proportions—if he got a moderate percentage of the stealing he is able to prevent. No statement of public expenditure is so complete as that given by the Auditor-General of the Dominion of Canada. Even Mr. Foster in his budget mystification, doesn't present anything like the little essays the Auditor-General delivers on crookedness in our national finances.

THE people sitting behind the treasury benches could not have been very well pleased at the speech delivered by Mr. Charlton Wednesday. It has been the fashion of Tory politicians and their organs to make a dead set at Mr. Charlton and to denounce him as an enemy of the country and a man whose interests lie more in the United States than in Canada. The member for North Norfolk boldly took up the cudgels in his own behalf, and it must have been gall and wormwood to his traducers to listen to the masterly exposition he gave of the true condition of affairs. So far from Mr. Charlton ever having acted in the interests of the United States, he abundantly proved, says the Ottawa Free Press, that all his efforts had been in an opposite direction, and further, that the Government of Sir John Thompson had used his good offices for the purpose of so influencing the Americans interested in the lumber trade as to prevent legislation hostile to Canada being passed. It is to be hoped that after the very convincing vindication of his course the country will hear no more of the abuse and vilifications which the Tory organs have, in the past showered upon his head.

CANADIAN CHEESE.

High Compliments for the Canadian Product.

In denouncing the "filled" and "half skimmed" cheese frauds so largely practised in the Western States, that excellent journal, the American Agriculturist, says: "To-day a common occurrence is to see on "the bill of fare of first-class hotels and "restaurants, dining cars, etc., the legend "Canadian cheese." One never reads in "such lists, of New York, Ohio or of Wisconsin cheese at all. Of such praise Canada may be justly proud and every effort ought to be made to continue to deserve it. On the same lines is the following taken from the leading dairy organ of the United Srtes published in Wisconsin: "Mr. N. Simon, of Neewa, Wis., who won such a fine reputation at the Columbia World's Fair, went to England the past summer to see what he could do in making a market for the fine goods he was producing. Let it be remembered that he was in a market largely possessed by Wisconsin cheese only a few years since. The spirit and response he met with was disheartening and may be stated in the words used by a Liverpool dealer: "We want no more to do with Wisconsin cheese makers. We have tried you and have been swindled. You send us a few fine cheese and then the first thing we know you dump a lot of filled cheese on us. We shall trade no more with those who cheat and defraud. When we want good cheese we send to Canada." The journal we quote from adds, "A bad name is soon known to all the earth, says the old proverb." While it is extremely pleasant to read of such high praise being deserved by Canada and her cheese, it is by no means gratifying to find that some makers or shippers are injuring her reputation by sending out spring cheese for fall make, and it is to be hoped that the branding of the date of making and the maker's name on the cheese be made compulsory and that the law will be strictly enforced.

CHANDOS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Township Council met according to notice on Saturday, May 25th, as Court of Revision, the following members being present:—Mr. John Manogue, chairman, and Messrs. M. Couche, John Bullied and Alex. Trotter. The following business was transacted;—

Appeal of Joseph Garrow, showing that 25 acres of lot 9, con. 12 is covered by the water of Loon Lake, which by order of the court was taken off his assessment.

Appeal of Joshua Parsons, assessment confirmed.

That the assessment on lots B, C, D, con. 2, be changed from 194 acres to 149, which is the proper measurement of said lots.

That the appeal of John Snelgrove be laid over.

Appeal of A. Wilson, sr., assessment confirmed.

E. Phillips assessed for lot 5, con. 3, instead of S. D. Phillips.

Appeal of John Hales, laid over.

That 20 acres be taken off the assessment of lot 19, con. 7; also 10 acres be taken from assessment of lot 19, con. 7, as these two lots lie partly under Loon Lake.

That lot 23, con. 15 be removed from roll.

Court adjourned to meet on June 15th, at school house, section No. 2.

After closing Court of Revision, council sat.

Mr. Trottor moved, seconded by John Bullied, that an order be drawn in favour of H. Caldwell for $11.2s, balance due on salary for '95 and postage.

Moved by Messrs. Couche and Trotter, that Mr. Campbell be paid $2 for auditing books.

Moved by Messrs. Couche and Trotter, that all work done at shovelling snow be allowed on statute labour.

Moved by Jno. Bullied and M. Couche, that Mr. Andrew Post be paid the sum of $200 to open Mr. John Hubble's road on the proper line.

Moved by Jno. Bullied and M. Couche, that the road work on lots 31, in 10th con., and 31 in the 9th con., be changed from road-beat No. 18 to No. 19; also work on lot 32, con. 15, be placed on F. Mindell's beat; work on lot 8, con. 12, into beat No. 28; work on lots 8 and 9, con. 11, into beat No. 23.

Moved by Messrs. Bullied and Couche, that the statute labour on lots 32, cons. 17 and 18, be done on boundary opposite said lots. Also that lots 14 and 15, con. 12, 14 and 5, cons. 11, lots 16 and 17, con. 10, and lot 15, con. 19, be taken from roadbeat No. 33, and be formed into a new division, extending southward from P. Gooley's gate, Jas. Cleary to be pathmaster.

Moved by Jno. Bullied and M. Couche, that Mr. G. Wilson be paid $2.00 for work done on Wellington Road.

Moved by Jno. Bullied and M. Couche, that the roadwork for lot 23, con. 3, and lot 24, con. 3, be taken from division 12 and done on con. 3, west of Foster's to said lots.

Moved by M. Couche and A. Trotter that the statute labour for Lot 17, Con. 7 be done on Con. 7 under Thos. Woods, pathmaster.

Moved by M. Couche and A. Trotter, that an order be drawn in favour of D. Anderson for $2, for writing out treasurer's bonds.

Moved by M. Couche and Jno. Bullied, that the treasurer, P. Mahoney, be paid $4.50 as per account rendered for current expenses.

Moved by M. Couche and Jno. Bullied that the sum of $11.44 be accepted from M. O'Donnell as payment of taxes in full for 1891 and 1893 on lots 16 and 17, con. 14.

Moved by M. Couche and A. Trotter, that the clerk notify all pathmasters to do no statute labour on non-resident lands, also that no statute labour be done by them for any person.

Council adjourned to meet again at call of reeve.

THE YOUNG MOTHER AND HER BABE.

Young mother, is it necessary that you should use a prepared food for your babe? If you are obliged to do so, remember that the life of your darling depends upon your decision—we mean the character of the food you select.

There are prepared and artificial foods that should never be brought into a home; their use means sickness, suffering and death to the young child.

The attention of every young mother is directed to life giving and flesh-building Lactated Food, which is a perfect substitute for mother's milk. This pure and unadulterated food agrees with the weakest stomach. It is easily assimilated, and is a perfect corrector of digestion. Babies thrive fast, grow fat and plump, hearty and happy when fed on Lactated Food.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Stirling, June 5—Four hundred and sixty boxes coloured and 260 boxes white were boarded; 120 boxes coloured sold at 7½c.

Lindsay, June 5—The second meeting of Victoria County Cheese Board was held in the council chamber here to-day, when some 374 boxes were boarded. Mr. Gunn, of Toronto, and Messrs. Dundas & Flavelle Bros., of Lindsay, purchased the whole board at 7 5-16. This is only a new market, but its success is fully assured, as the different salesmen showed a willingness to accept what is a fair price. Hugh Spence represented the Warrington's of Belleville. The board adjourned for three weeks.

SIR JOHN'S MONUMENT

Unveiled by the Governor General Yesterday

IN THE PRESENCE OF THOUSANDS.

The Late Premier's Son Witnesses the Ceremony—Cabinet Ministers Present in Force. Also Prominent Quebec Liberals - Hon. G. E. Foster the Orator.

Montreal, June 6.—The unveiling of the monument erected in Dominion Square to perpetuate the memory of Sir John Macdonald took place to-day amid the greatest pomp and enthusiasm. There must have been 20,000 people massed around the memorial, while over a thousand ladies and gentlemen occupied seats on the platform in front of the monument of the departed Chieftain.

The members of the Ottawa Government present were: Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. Messrs. Foster, Costigan, Ives, Ouimet, Curran, besides Lieutenant-Governors Chapleau and Mackintosh, Premier Tallon, Sir Henri G. Goll, Hugh John Macdonald, Sir William Hingston, the Mayor of Montreal and others.

At 2.30 His Excellency arrived, and was received with cheers, the band playing "God Save the Queen."

Sir Donald Smith, the Chairman of the Citizens' Committee, made the opening address, in which he eulogized Sir John Macdonald, referred to his great labors for Canada, and paid a high compliments of the people of Montreal, and especially to Mr. Joseph H. Jacobs, the secretary, for the splendid memorial that would be unveiled.

Sir Donald Smith called on His Excellency to unveil the statute, which Lord Aberdeen proceeded to do amid the thundering cheers of the thousands within and beyond the hearing of His Excellency's voice. All remarked the perfect features of the memorial figure.

His Excellency's address did not last more than five minutes in delivery. He said that he did not know that the representative of our beloved sovereign could be employed in a better or more patriotic mission than in unveiling a monument to a man who had done so much for Canada and the empire as Sir John Macdonald, a statement that was cheered to the echo.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell followed, and met with a splendid reception, as it was the Premier's first appearance in Montreal since he became the leader of the Government of Canada. Sir Mackenzie described himself as the last link connecting the present Cabinet with the one formed in 1878, when Sir John Macdonald returned to power. Sir Mackenzie Bowell then referred to Sir John's first battles in Kingston, and his subsequent success as a member of the House, as a leading statesman in the Government of Old Canada, and later as Premier of the Dominion of Canada.

The orator of the day was then introduced in the person of Hon. George E. Foster, and the people of Montreal have perhaps never listened to a more powerful or eloquent address than was delivered to-day by the Canadian Minister of Finance. Hon. Mr. Foster spoke for half an hour, and at every point was cheered to the echo. Montreal that great city, he held, was a most fitting place to build a monument to the old leader who loved the metropolis and her people so well. What was the meaning, asked the Finance Minister, of this great and representative gathering of people here to-day? It was not that they had to come to mourn a death, to count our losses, or to weep over an open grave. No, that was in order four years ago. To-day the Canadian people turn their faces once more towards the sun, and full of life and hope we set to work to count our gains and profit by the great lessons of which the life of Sir John Macdonald is abundantly filled. Hon. Mr. Foster held that down through history all people had delighted by such means as these to honor the memory of their departed leaders, and in this Canada had not denied her history. He pointed to Montcalm and Wolfe at Quebec, Brock and Lundy's Lane, all of which testified silently, yet eloquently, to the fact that Canada honors her distinguished dead.

The speaker had not made Sir John Macdonald's acquaintance till 1883, and had not entered his Cabinet till 1885, yet, like all others, he did not fail to be charmed by that kind and gentle manner of the late leader of the Liberal-Conservative party. It had been said by a critic that Sir John had no feeling, no heart. Hon. Mr. Foster said that when great questions of State were mooted, all great statesmen had to listen to the call of duty rather than the feelings of their own hearts. In politics, as in other things, sacrifices have to be made. The sketch of the late leader's career, from his landing in Canada at theage of six years, to his attaining the leadership of a great party, and his death in the midst of his last great triumph was a masterpiece of oratorical power, and Hon. Mr. Foster's oration was cheered to the echo.

Sir John's life was a negative to all that tended to the weakening of the ties that bind us to the Mother Land. "A British subject he was born, a British subject he lived and a British subject he died."

Sir H. Joly de Lotbiniere followed in English, saying that he could well realise the feelings of the men who had come here to do honor to their departed leader, but as a Liberal Sir Henri could say that he too admired Sir John, and the ex-Premier of Quebec was loudly cheered when, turning toward the ministers, he said: "Yes, and we loved him too."

Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. J. A.Ouimet, Hon. John Costigan, and Hon. J. J. Curran also delivered eloquent addresses, the whole ending by a declamation from Mr. Arthur S. Doughty, it being his own composition:

"No more the music of his eloquence
Will voice the words of ripe intelligence,
Though still the essence of the western wind
Unites the common interest of mankind
Aloft to bear the standard of our race,
And foremost in the great Olympias place
This land of ours.
Thus from his life shall spring
Much of the glory which the years will bring."

The following despatch was received from Kingston:

"The Macdonald Club of Kingston have just returned from Cataraqui, the grave of our lamented Chief. May the example of his unselfish patriotism be emulated by all Canadians. Kingston is grateful to Montreal for the tribute she pays to his memory to-day."

(Signed), H.J. WILKINSON.

AT THE CHIEFTAIN'S GRAVE.

The Plot in Cataraqui Cemetery Covered With Floral Wreaths

Kingston, June 7.—The grave of Sir John A. Macdonald was to-day banked with floral tributes. At 11 o'clock a deputation from the local Macdonald Club reached the plot in Cataraqui Cemetery and deposited two beautiful wreaths, one from the City Club, the other from the Ottawa Club. Very suitable addresses were delivered by Prof. Williamson, brother-in-law of the Chieftain. Very Rev. Dean Smith, J. H. Metcalfe, M.P., E. H. Smythe, Q.C., Mayor Wrright, John Hewton and H. J. Wilkinson, all eulogising the character and worth of the deceased statesman.

At 1 o'clock a deputation of Prince Edward County residents visited the grave, and conducted an impresive service under the chairmanship of W. Boulter and John Prinyer. H. B. Evans, M.D., Picton, who originated the emblem of the rose and maple leaf as typical for the anniversary day of Sir John's death, laid upon the grave the offering of the staunch yeomanry of the county where Sir John spent his early days. It was a wreath of roses and maple leaves. Messrs. John Prinyer and J. C. Wilson laid the remembrances of the ladies on the sward and all spoke in most endearing terms. Many ladies attended, including Mrs. Grimason, a life-long friend of deceased.

THE AMEER'S SON HONORED.

Entertained at a Banquet By the Corporation of London.

London, June 7.—The Lord Mayor, Sir Joseph Renals, and Lady Renals drove in state to the Guild Hall to-day, where they gave a reception and luncheon in honor of the Afghan Prince Nazrulla Khan. The Recorder presented Nazrulla with an address of welcome, enclosed in a golden casket. The Prince made a speech in Persian.

Traffic was wholly suspended at noon. The weather was clear, bright and cool, and the streets were crowded with sightseers. A force of cavalry was dispersed around St. Paul's and along Cheapside to guard the route to the Guild Hall. The luncheon chamber was profusely decorated with flowers, mirrors, flags, etc.

Prince Nazrulla, in proposing a toast to the Lord Mayor, said the friendship existing between the English and the Afghans rested upon a sure foundation. All of their old quarrels have been made up, and he hoped his visit to London would strengthen their bonds of union.

WILLIAM O'BRIEN SAYS FAREWELL

Bankruptcy Compels Him to Vacate His Seat For Cork.

London, June 7.—William O'Brien has issued a farewell address to the electors of Cork city, for which Parliamentary district he sits in the House of Commons as senior member. He says that he will definitely cease to represent Cork city after June 12.

Mr. O'Brien's retirement from the House of Commons is due to the fact that on June 12 he will be judicially declared a bankrupt, which declaration will vacate his seat in Parliament.

TRADE REVIVAL IN AUSTRALIA.

Bright Prospects Coupled With a General Rise in Prices.

Adelaide, South Australia, June 7.—At the opening of Parliament to-day, the Governor, Sir Thomas Buxton, who recently succeeded the Earl of Kintore, congratulated the members upon the improving prospects of the Colony of South Australia. He added that the prices of wheat, copper, wool and silver have risen, and that trade generally is reviving.

PROF. NASH A SUICIDE

Sprang Into the Sea Because His Wife, Hindoo Princess, Berated Him

Port Townsend, Wash., June 6.—Prof. E. Nash, Chief of the British Educational Bureau of India, last Monday afternoon committed suicide by jumping overboard from the steamship City of Topeka, near Queen Charlotte Sound, Alaska. The deed was committed in the presence of his wife who is the daughter of a Hindoo prince, and immensely wealthy, but was intensely jealous of her husband's actions.

When near Queen Charlotte Sound, about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, she called Professor Nash from the smoking room and, going on deck, began to berate him for some unknown cause. As the wife turned half round her husband deftly leaped over the rail into the sea.

Professor Nash belonged to a wealthy family living in England, and, after fifteen years' residence in India, was returning home. When he sprang into the sea he carried jewels on his person valued at several thousand dollars.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories—About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent, Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Rewarded for Kindness.

Miss Rachel Johnston, of Campbellford, last week, says the Herald, received a cheque for $100, which was bequeathed to her by Mr. Wright, of Colborne, who died about a year ago. She was remembered in this way on account of her kindness towards the deceased during her visits, once a year, to her uncle's, where Mr. Wright resided, and perhaps on account of the resemblance which the old gentleman said Miss Johnston bore to his mother. The bulk of Mr. Wright's property was willed to the Presbyterian church in Colborne.

THE RIDING GALERY LICENSE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I am surprised that the town council has granted permission to erect a steam riding gallery on the Central Park. The councillors who would allow such a nuisance in the centre of the town I think cannot be aware of the disturbance and annoyance it is to the neighbours living close to the park, being obliged to listen to that monotonus grinding of the crank organ for hours, until late at night, when people want to rest, besides the crowd of loafers and bad boys which it attracts to one of our prettiest parts of the town. I was much pleased with Councillor Mills' remark, which is a very wise one: "What is the use of spending money fixing parks and having trees, etc., damaged for the sake of getting a rental of ten dollars.

I heard that the riding gallery which was on the corner of Murray and George streets last summer, took out of this town in the Neighborhood of $2,000. I know for a fact that children whose parents owe for their bread frequent and spend their 5c pieces when they should make better use of their money. If the councillors allow this thing to come to the Central Park, a petition will be circulated, which was spoken of last summer by the ratepayers of this vicinity, who were greatly disturbed through it. I hope the town fathers will consider the matter and attend to it at once.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,

I remain sincerely yours,
A RATEPAYER.

THE E. B. A. EXCURSION TO ORILLIA YESTERDAY.

Fully 400 Excurt from Peterborough and Lindsay.

About two hundred citizens, including the first and second lacrosse teams of the Athletics took advantage, yesterday, of the E.B.A. excursion to Orillia. The trip was given under the auspices of Branch 21 of town and Branch 31 of Lindsay, and at the latter town about two hundred more excursionists boarded the train, making a merry party in all.

If the day had been less cold and the sky not so overcast with clouds in the morning it is probable that several hundred more of the citizens would have availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting Orillia with the popular E.B.A.'s.

The day was very pleasantly spent in Orillia, and though quite a number took in the trip to Geneva Park, a beautiful little summer resort, about seven miles down Lake Couchiching from Orillia, yet the majority of the pleasure seekers wended their way to the lacrosse grounds to witness the game between the Athletics and Orillias, which is described in another column.

Every effort was made by the members of the joint committee to make the day pass off pleasantly, and ample proof of their success can be obtained by application to any of those who took in the trip.

THE OLYMPICS TAKE THEIR DAY OFF.

THEY EXCURT TO IDYLLIC IDYL WYLD.

A Red Letter Day in the History of the Club—Manager Spellman Looks Well After the Comfort of His Guests—Nothing Could Exceed the Courtesy of the Steamboat Officials.

Idyl Wyld—beautiful, picturesque Idyl Wyld—was yesterday the objective point for the annual excursion of the Olympic Club, whose members look forward to this outing for months before it takes place and talk of the reminiscences for months afterwards. It is the one day of the year when the Peterborough business man takes a day off, throws dull care to the winds and enjoys himself, as in boyhood's happy hours.

Seventy or eighty of those privileged in receiving invitations assembled at the wharf at nine o'clock yesterday morning, and embarking on the City of Peterborough steamed down the river.

Though the sky was overcast at times the day to spend on the water, and as the steamer threaded its way through the tortuous windings of the Otonabee every bend in the river afforded fresh scope for the admiration of those who had an eye for the picturesque. Stately cranes rose from the shore and lastly flapped their way inland as the steamer came suddenly around a turn and now and then a frightened mud hen could be seen scuttling away through the rushes.

WAS A BEAUTIFUL ONE

Half an hour was spent at Jubilee Point and a large number availed themselves of the opportunity of looking over the spot which has been so beautified of late years under the direction of Mr. H. Calcutt. Wild flowers and ferns appeared to abound in the adjacent groves, and huge bouquets were in evidence as the different parties wended their way back to the boat, which then crossed the lake to Idyl Wyld.

The honour of formally opening this for the season had been reserved for the Olympic Club, and the members were fully equal to the occasion. Manager Spellman can be congratulated on the success attending his efforts to make the day a pleasant one and it will pass down in the annals of the Olympics as one of the jolliest, if not the very jolliest, of the many pleasant outings which they have had together.

The excursionists were hungry after their long trip on the water, but hunger was not necessary to be tempted by the appetising repast, which Mr. Spellman had prepared for his guests. Dinner was served on the arrival of the boat at one o'clock and the menu, which is appended, was one of which the "chef" of the finest hotel at any American summer resort might have served up with pride:

MENU.

SOUP.
Tomato. Ox tail.

FISH.
Brook Trout. Salmon.

BOILED.
Leg of Southdown Mutton, D'Uxelles Sauce,
Pickled Ox Tongue, a L'essence,
Brisket of Corned Beef with Cabbage.

JOINTS.
Prime Roast of Beef, Lemon Gravy,
Young Turkey (Dressing), Cranberry Sauce,
Spring Lamb, Mint Sauce.
Frogs' Legs.

ENTREES.
Egg Llan, Cream Mayonaise,
Chicken Stew,
Orange Fritters, Wine Sauce.
Green Tomato Salad, French Slau.

VEGETABLES.
Green Peas, Lima Beans.
Potatoes (Boiled and Mashed.)

ENTREMETS.
English Plum Pudding, Brandy Sauce,
Delmonica Pudding, Crab Apple Jelly,
Deep Apple Pie, Whipped Cream.
Green Rhubarb Pie,
Lemon Meringue Pie.

DESSERTS.
Apples, Oranges,
Sliced Pine Apple,
Wyandotte Cheese.
Edam Cheese, Biscuits,
White Bread, Brown Bread,
Green Tea, Black Tea,
Coffee, Milk.

At the conclusion of the meal the Olympics scattered out over the beautiful grounds and were more than delighted with the many improvements which have been made under Mr. Spellman's energetic supervision. The underbrush has been all cleared away and as far as the eye can reach a beautiful vista of green sward shaded by grand old trees is opened up to the vision. A verdant promotory encompassed on either side by calm and placid bays, where pond lilies abound, the spot is evidently one of nature's favourites and especially suitable for the accommodation of picnicers.

Sports were run off during the afternoon in the following order:

	Prize.
Football match	Refreshments
300 yard race, married men without families	Cradle
200 yards race, single men	Diploma
160 yard race, Chaplains	Pocket flask

Starter, Sam Ray.

Marquis of Queensbury Rules governed all but the cake walk

As both the Olympic and Italian orchestras were present during the day and the music furnished was of the highest order.

Just prior to the departure of the boat, Manager Spellman served up a repast of steaks, frogs legs, etc., to fortify the inner man of his guests for the return trip. This return trip was one of the most enjoyable features of the day. Those musically inclined gathered on the aft deck. Chairs were drawn up around the Italian orchestra and for several hours the woods along the shores re-echoed with the choruses and the solos which were sung. The programme concluded with the singing of Auld Lang Syne as the boat touched the Peterborough wharf, and the Olympics disembarked voting the day one of the most pleasant of the many pleasant ones which they have spent together. The credit of the success which attended the outing is largely, if not entirely, due to the efforts of Mr. W. E. Loch, who laboured untiringly in arranging the details and preliminaries which attend an affair of this kind.

As Well as Ever

After Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cured of a Serious Disease.

"I was suffering from what is known as Bright's disease for five years, and for days at a time I have been unable to straighten myself up. I was in bed for three weeks; during that time I had leeches applied and derived no benefit. Seeing Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised in the papers I decided to try a bottle. I found relief before I had finished taking half of a bottle. I got so much help from taking the first bottle that I decided to try another, and since taking the second bottle I feel as well as ever I did in my life." GEO. MERRETT, Toronto, Ont.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.

The Young Woman's Chapter of St. Luke's Guild go Down the River.

The moonlight excursion of the Young Women's Chapter of St. Luke's Guild was very largely attended and proved a most enjoyable event. A punctual start was made, the boat went several miles down the river, and returning landed the large contingent of Peterborough passengers at 11 o'clock.

The musical members of the party gathered round the piano where a capital programme of instrumental and vocal music was rendered by Mrs. Hilbert and Miss Rackham, Miss Vink, Miss Clara Clark and Mr. Maitland Boswell, Miss Long and Miss Phillips and others. Before disembarking all joined in singing "Auld Lang Synne" and "God Save the Queen."

The most interesting feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr. Calcutt (who had given the boat for the evening) of a handsome flag made by J. J. Turner for the new boat now under construction, "The North Star." The flag is a large one, being nine feet in length. The following address, read by Miss Armstrong, and signed by thirty-six members of the Y.W.C., speaks for itself:

H. Calcutt, Esq., Ashburnham:—

The Young Women's Chapter of St. Luke's Guild have long been desirous of giving some tangible token of their grateful appreciation of the many thoughtful acts of kindness and unfailing courtesy you have shown them; and of the valuable assistance which, at various times, you have contributed to the undertakings of Miss Maggie Calcutt, our zealous head, and of the members of our chapter.

Having heard that you were building a new boat, to be called the "North Star," we thought we could make no more appropriate presentation than that of a flag bearing the boat's name. We sincerely trust that the North Star may carry a continually increasing number of passengers, and that you may be spared to make many trips in her, and whenever you behold her flag waving in the breeze we hope you may be reminded of the occasion of its presentation.

Signed on behalf of the Chapter,
BELLE ARMSTRONG,
Secretary.

June 6th, 1895.

In presenting the flag, the rector said that not only the Y. W. C., but the whole congregation was indebted to Mr. Calcutt, and on their behalf he cordially re-echoed the sentiments of the address.

Mr. Calcutt, who was received with loud applause, was taken entirely by surprise and said he scarcely knew how to sufficiently express the pleasure he felt at this token of the good will of the Y. W. C. He had for many years devoted himself to the popularising of the route from Peterborough down the beautiful Otonabee to Rice Lake. It had been uphill work, but his efforts were at last crowned with success. "The North Star" would be a fine boat, and he cordially invited the Y. W. C. to another excursion when she was completed. He saw amongst the audience a good many Peterborough people, and he urged the members of St. Luke's to reciprocate their kindly support by purchasing tickets for the south ward Mission excursion on Wednesday next. He warmly thanked Miss Armstrong and the Y. W. C. for the honour they had done him and all present for very cordial reception offerded him that evening.

Snowden, Pontypool, is appointed to Roseneath. Rev. G. W. McCall, B. A., B. D., is placed at Enniskillen.

CONFERENCE NOTES.

A most animated discussion arose yesterday out of the requests of stations for the return of pastors for the fourth year, under the qualified sanction thereof by the recent general conference. The application for Bridge street church, Belleville, was first taken up, and this being regarded as a test case, considerable warmth was manifested, as the advocates for a liberal interpretation of the discipline were incisive in debate. On counting the vote it was found that the invitation was negatived, thirteen for and twelve against, a two-thirds vote being necessary to stationing a minister on the same charge for the fourth year. This vote settled all like invitations.

About 100 ministers are in attendance.

A big excursion is expected from Belleville to attend to-night's reception service.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Chief Engineer E. R. Hannaford, of the G. T. R., went to Coboconk, Wednesday, with Roadmaster Harry Ferguson, of Lindsay. He returned on yesterday morning's train and left for Port Hope.

Material for a new switch was taken to Kirkfield last evening. It is intended for the new siding now being constructed to accommodate Contractor Onderdonk's machinery, which will arrive in a few days from the Sault Ste. Marie Canal.

There is considerable western grain passing over the line from Midland elevator, a schooner arriving almost every week from Chicago. Most of it is consigned to the maritime provinces and to Bath, Maine.

Brakemen Healey, of the Toronto mixed train, and Brakemen Taylor, of the Belleville and Madoc branch, successfully passed the conductors' exam. at Allandale Wednesday, being put through their facings by Supt. Webster, and will henceforth have charge of freight trains.

A number of Italians employed on the Sutton branch, in charge of Roadmaster John Cheer, struck for higher wages last Monday. The action did not meet with the expected response, however—they were told to either go to work or make "tracks," and they decided to stick to their job for a while longer.

BATTALION NOTES.

The 57th Peterborough Rangers Will Visit Picton.

The Picton Gazette contains the following reference, this week, to the visit of the 57th to that town on July 1st:

"Lieut.-Col. A. McDonnell received a telegram, on Wednesday, from the Col. of the 57th Battalion, conveying the intelligence that at a meeting of the officers and men it was finally decided that of the four places which they had talked of visiting, Picton had been finally selected.

The battalion will probably number 275 or 300 officers and men, and they will arrive here on the 29th of June, and remain until the evening of the first of July. The Agricultural grounds and palace have been secured for their accommodation.

They will provide their own tents for sleeping accommodation, and take their meals at the various hotels. We are assured our citizens will do all in their power to make the stay of these visitors here most agreeable, and to this end a large entertainment committee of leading citizens is being formed.

A military invasion is of rare occurrence to Pictonians. Let us conquer them by tangible evidences of friendship and good will.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen Aquatic and Field Sports.

LACROSSE.

Peterborough has a lacrosse team of whom the citizens may well be proud. The members of it went to Orillia yesterday, and though they were defeated by five goals to two this was no indication of the exceedingly fast and close game which was played. Orillia won, it is true, but those from town who witnessed the match claim that luck had a good deal to do with the result and are perfectly satisfied with the game which the home team put up.

Peterborough was represented by the following twelve:

Goal	F Dobbin
Point	Brown
Cover point	Jos McDonough
1st defence	Wm Thompson
2nd "	Jno McDonough
3rd "	E Hickey
Centre	Thos McDonough
3rd home	Walter Phelan
2nd "	McCullough
1st "	W Galley
Outside home	P Rubidge
Inside home	Geo Lipsett

Field captain—Geo. Ahearn.

Owing to the fact that the amalgamation between the Athletics and Peterboroughs was not effected until last Monday evening, the team which played in Orillia was not in condition to run up against the northern stick handlers. At least they were not in as good shape as they would have liked to have been when they played Orillias, not having had an opportunity of practising together. Still the game which they put up was something amazing, the combination work being of the highest order. Nothing but the hardest kind of luck kept Peterborough from winning the game but the boys are consoling themselves with the thought of what they will do when the return match is played here.

Young Brown is reported to have played a star game in this, his first, senior match, and is said to have covered himself with glory by his clever work. Rubidge, too, played a fast game, and checked well, although his shots on the flags were wild.

The first two games went to Orillia, after which the Peterboroughs woke up, and Lipsett scored a goal for them by a lightning shot on the posts. The next game went to Orillia, as did the next, too, after which Galley made a splendid run down the field, and scored for Peterborough.

The last game was one which was well worth witnessing. It lasted for half an hour and the passing of both teams is reported to have been almost perfect, the Orillias possessing a slight advantage owing to the fact that they were in superb condition for a hard match. The spectators were wild with excitement as the ball passed up and down the field and was only prevented from being sent hurling between the flags of either team by the magnificent work of the defence men of both the Peterboroughs and the Orillias.

Phelan will be in grand form this year when he gets into shape, but as he was uncertain about playing this year he is not in trim yet. Watch him though, when Orillias comes down for the return match. The McDonough brothers all played up well and the Peterborough defence proved itself to be a good one. Dobbin did some good work in goal.

Every player bears marks of the heavy game which was played and sticking plaster is in evidence on the faces of all who participated in the match.

An unsuccessful effort was made to induce the Orillias to come to Peterborough on Monday next.

The Peterboroughs claimed that the score should have stood 5-3 but one goal scored by them was disputed and not allowed.

THE BRUSH AT BEAVERTON.

The team of the Athletics which was sent to Beaverton did splendidly, showing up in splendid form against their opponents. They outplayed their opponents on almost every point, and put up a beautiful combination game. Peterborough was represented by the following team:

Goal	Adams
Point	Lynch
Cover point	Hughes
1st defence	McMahon
2nd "	Green
Centre	Thompson
2nd home	McNamara
1st home	Wasson
Outside home	Glover
Inside home	Jack McCabe

Jack McCabe, who has developed wonderfully this spring, and who is a rising young star, scored the first two games for Peterborough in short order. Beaverton then got a game, when Burchard shot a goal, but Roly Glover gave the Athletics a lead of two again by one of his old time shots on the flags.

Burchard again did the necessary for Beaverton, and there was a good deal of excitement manifested, as the games now stood 3-2 in favour of Peterborough. Wasson scored by a clever shot, and the Beavertons lost heart and played a purely defence game for the remainder of the match.

For the Athletics, Lynch played a first-rate game on the defence, and Green played a star game indeed in his position. Tom McMahon, too, was so close on his check that he spoiled that man's work for the day, Thompson kept his man on the alert all the time, and Wasson made a good "feeder."

As only ten men were played on a side, there was far more room for brilliant work and the runs down the field by the members of both teams were good, and the spectators were given a splendid game.

The following team will represent the Junior Peterboroughs in a match against the Junior Orillias on the Riverside Park on Monday afternoon next: Rogers, goal; Mein, point; Brown, cover point; Borland 1st defence; Craig, 2nd; Dobbin, 3rd; Crossley, centre; Guy, 3rd home; Galley, 2nd; King, 1st; Heap, outside home; Thompson, inside home.

Mr. "Ollie" Jennings, a star home player of the Ontarios, of '94, well known here, passed through Port Hope yesterday on his way to Brockville, where he will play lacrosse this season.

Millbrook lacrossists beat Hastings yesterday by 2 goals to 1.

The Toronto Varsity team outplayed Lehigh University on Wednesday, winning by 6 goals to 4.

BASEBALL.

To-morrow afternoon, the return match will be played between the Electric Works baseball team and the newspaper men, on Riverside Park, at four o'clock, and as the match two weeks ago was an interesting one resulting in the close score of 7—5 in favour of the printers, it is probable that the game to-morrow will be a godd one. The Electrics are putting the following team in the field:—Young, p., Andrews c., Thorne 1st b., Edmonds 2nd b., McMullen 3rd b., Sheppard s. s., Mahoney l. f., Tett r. f., and Ferguson c.f.

The Newspaper A. A. A. will choose its team on the grounds and it is hoped that all the baseball enthusiasts from the different offices will be on the grounds as early as possible.

CRICKET.

The Parkdale cricket club, having no engagement for Saturday next, would like to arrange a match with one of the city or outside clubs for that date. Should an outside club visit they may be sure of a return match during the season.

SPRINGVILLE.

A Destructive Fire Works Havoc with the Hamlet.

Early on Thursday morning a fire broke out in the rear of the store (post office) of Mr. Thos. Smith, over which the family resided. So rapid was the rush of the flames that the family barely escaped in their night clothing, the building being completely destroyed. The fire next seized upon the drill shed which was soon wiped out, and the flames spread to the brick residence occupied by Mrs. McCannon next which was also destroyed. The Temperance Hotel of Mr. John Irwin, became, with its contents, a speedy prey to the flames but the sheds were fortunately saved.

There was considerable insurance, though not enough to cover the losses, which are difficult of estimation. On the store and dwelling occupied by Mr. Smith, there was an insurance of $400, $50 on the stables and $50 on the blacksmith shop in the Phœnix, of Hartford. Mr. Smith had an insurance of $400 on contents. John Irwin had an insurance of $850 in the Western on his hotel and dwelling, and the Government had the usual insurance on the drill shed, but the Springville infantry company will be deprived of their year's outing in camp, for their accoutrements and equipments being burned, the red tape of the militia department will prevent a requisition being filled by the time the camp opens. Mr. McCamus' place (Goodfellow estate) had an insurances of $400 in the Western.

The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin as the other recent fires in Springville are supposed to be.

ECONOMY IN LIGHTING!

Electric Lighting in residences is becoming more popular every week, as it should be when the cost is compared with either gas or oil, being 50 per cent. cheaper than the former and equally as cheap as the latter, to say nothing of the cleanliness safety or convenience. The best recommendation is obtained from those who are using it. The following are some of the residences fitted up during the last two months: Mr. A. L. Davis, Mr. T. G. Hazlett, Miss Dickson, Mr. John Crane, Mr. W. E. Conway, Mr. F. J. Jameson.

House wiring can be fitted up complete from $2.00 a lamp up.

IMPROVED WOOD PAVEMENT.

Filled With Asphalt It Holds the Horse Up.

With all the advantages possessed by wood and asphalt as materials for road paving, it is objected that in certain states of the weather they become extremely slippery and are a fruitful source of accident, but Lewis Clement has invented a non-slipping wood paving of a simple and inexpensive character, which is claimed to remedy this defect. It consists in preparing the wood blocks before they are laid, by boring a few holes in them and filling the holes with a hard-setting substance composed of crushed stone, bitumen and Portland cement. The compound is cleared off level with the surface of the blocks, and when they are laid the roadway is covered with a series of rough spots which, it is stated, arrest the foot of the horse in any condition of the weather and prevent the animal from slipping.

ITEMS FOR THE FARMER.

Of the pickling plants the gherkin is one that deserves more attention than it has received, and is one of the best.

For a circle in a lawn use in the centre a bunch of pampas grass, surrounded by cannas, and a larger circle of dwarf nasturium surrounding the cannas. The effect is very beautiful, and the plants will be green until frost comes in the fall.

When a horse refuses his food it is a sure indication that something is wrong. It is better, however, to delay giving any kind of medicine until a few hours have passed, unless it is a case of emergency, as the cause may be due to some slight ailment that will soon correct itself.

The attendant who enters a stable to milk a cow with a pipe in his mouth is not the proper man to perform that duty. Milking should be regarded as the cleanest and most important work on a dairy farm, as milk not only absorbs odors, but is also quickly affected by any foreign substance.

Plaster is excellent in the hills for corn as a starter, and costs but little It is claimed for it that it attracts both moisture and ammonia, and as it gives the young plants a green appearance, there is no doubt that it is beneficial in some manner. Its cheapness puts it within the reach of all, and 100 pounds is sufficient for one acre.

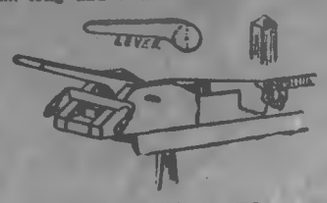
Hundreds of horses are ruined every year because they are not given water when they require it. There may be regular times for watering, but rules cannot safely be made to govern the duty. On warm days, when the horse perspire freely, they give off from their bodies large quantities of moisture, and should be watered frequently, even if allowed but a small quantity at a time.

Carrots and parsnips are grown mostly for stock, but the latter is highly esteemed for the table and the former as an ingredient of soups. A few short rows in the garden will provide all that may be necessary for a small family.

Egg plants are very tender, and nothing is gained by transplanting them too early. They are special luxuries to the potato beetle, which attacks them in preference to anything else, and for that reason egg plants are discarded from many gardens.

Homemade Picket Machine.

I once had a job of picket fence making that required over 5,000 pickets. Our stuff was 1 1-2 by 1 1-2 and a nice point was wanted, as on A shown in the cut. Carpenters worked a whole day marking and trying to cut them with chisels, drawing knife, pocket jackknife, etc., but those ways were all too slow. I then made the machine shown in the cut. With this machine two men could cut and point over 1,000 pickets a day, true and even. The machine is made in the form of a wooden miter-box. Take a piece of 2-in plank 4 in. wide and about 4 1-2 ft long for the bottom. Take two pieces of plank 18 in. long and 3 in. wide for the sides.



PICKET POINTING CUTTER.

Set the bevel at 45 degrees and mark the two side pieces; then saw them, being very careful to saw exactly on the line, as the drawing knife is to work against these ends and they should be cut very smooth and true. The upper corners of the other ends of the side pieces are sawed off for neatness. Spike these side pieces to the bottom, then nail inch boards 5 in. wide for the remainder of the sides where the saw works. For the lever use plank 18 in. long and work it out as shown in the cut. The large end is a 6 in. circle, and should be cut out or sawed perfectly true and smooth. Make a mark 1-2 in. above the center, as shown on the dotted line, and bore a hole. The size of this hole and the holes in the sides depends on the size of the iron you are going to use for a pin. If your pickets are 1 1-2 in. square, the holes in the sides must be 1 1-2 in. from the bottom of the box. Tack a little block 1-2 in. thick on the bottom to butt the picket against, then measure from this block the length you want the pickets and saw down through the boards; then fasten the whole thing on to a work bench. One man uses the knife and lever and another does the sawing, and turns the pickets when the lever is raised. Four thrusts of the lever and four jerks of the knife point a picket. The saw should always be left in and the picket kept right up against it until the pointing is done. The machine can be made for any sized square pickets, or for flat pickets, and can be made for any bevel desired.—M. E. M., New York.

The Electric Age.

All railroads will be eventually operated electrically. The first changes from steam will probably be made, and have in fact already begun, on short suburban roads where the traffic is heavy and the trains are run at frequent intervals, and thus approximate more closely to the ideal conditions of the economical electric railway. These electric spurts will then be gradually extended until in the course of time the entire line will be adapted to the new order of affairs, and a new generation of railroad officers, less wedded to the older methods, will have come into existence. So far as new, light railways are concerned, such as those contemplated in England at the present time, and which are rapidly increasing in the United States, electricity presents advantages which cannot be disputed. It has even been suggested that such agricultural roads might largely increase their income by supplying electric power for farming operations in the districts through which they pass. Some trolley roads do this now.—Joseph Wetzler in the May Scribner.

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

Free from Eruptions

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

Ayer's Pills Cleanse the Bowels.

LICE AMONG THE FOWLS.

How the Nuisance Can be Checked and Finally Exterminated.

Lice exist at all seasons of the year, but they are troublesome only during the summer, especially in July and August. They remain inactive while it is cold, but as soon as higher temperatures return they are out of their winter quarters ready to attack the fowls. Even if the poultry house appears clean and no lice are visible, look out for them. Early in spring when the lice are inactive is the time to begin the attack. If you wait until the weather is warm and favorable for the work, there will be hundreds to destroy where only a few are present now. Filth of all kinds furnishes a breeding place for lice. They abound where fowls are overcrowded.

The little red mites will breed in the droppings and in dirty nest boxes. They hide in every crack and crevice during the day and come out on the roost at night to annoy the fowls. These are more easily prevented and destroyed than the large gray lice, which seldom leave the fowl's body. Each individual must be handled and a close search made. If lice are found apply a little sweet oil or a little melted lard to which has been added a few drops of oil of sassafras. Drop it from a sewing machine can or a medicine dropper. Use only a drop or two, as grease often kills young poultry. By keeping a keen eye upon the young poultry, the presence of lice can be detected by the following symptoms: Diarrhea, a drowsy or sleepy appearance; the fowls will droop and mope and become very thin and weak. Slow growing and constant crying are marked symptoms. When any or all of these appear look on the head, neck, vent and under the wings for the large gray lice. Look closely, for they burrow on the top of the head and in the deep creases on top of the wings. When young chicks, turkeys, and ducklings seem to eat with difficulty, look on the throat in front and in the sides for the large gray lice, for one louse on the throat of a young fowl will kill it.

Keep a clean dust bath within easy reach of the fowls, and they will rid themselves of the little red mites. If they refuse to use the dust bath in the poultry house during the summer, spade up a fresh clean spot in the yard, and see how freely they will wallow in it. An unhealthy fowl will not dust itself regularly. Keep all such away from the others, and sprinkle them daily with fresh insect powder, being careful to get the powder well under the feathers. If this work is begun early in the season, the dry process, known as Dr. Spaulding's remedy, may be recommended: to 1-2 bushel of pulverised air-slaked lime add 10 lbs of sulphur and one ounce of crude carbolic acid. Stir well with a stick. When dry it can be safely handled. Drive all the fowls out of the house and give it a thorough cleaning, then throw the mixture generously over the perches, walls, floor, into the nest boxes and into every crack and crevice. This may seem like too much work, but it pays. You cannot neglect your poultry, allow lice to sap out their life blood all summer, and then look for a large supply of eggs in the fall and early winter.

If the lice get a start the task will be more laborious. The liquid process is then the only sure remedy. To a tub full of strong soapsuds add one-half pint of crude carbolic acid. Saturate everything—walls, roof, roosts, nest boxes and floor. Close the house and burn one pound of sulphur in it. Repeat every week until the lice are destroyed. Kerosene emulsion is a speedy cure for lice, but considerable time is required to make it. Cut up a half pound of hard soap in half a gallon of soft water, place on the stove; when the water boils and the soap is dissolved remove and add one gallon of kerosene. Stir with a paddle until a creamy mass is formed, which becomes a jelly when cold. Add 10 gallons of water, or soapsuds from the family washing, and the emulsion is ready for use.

THE "JERSEY BABY."

A Convenient Homemade Device for Making Butter on a Small Scale.

This illustration represents an ordinary Jersey milk jug converted into a churn. It is fitted with a view-glass and made air-tight by a simple arrangement of the lid.

When suspended, as shown in the cut, it will swing with a range of several inches, and although it has no internal beaters or dashers it will make butter in from five to ten minutes.

Of course, a device so small as this is not intended for making butter in great quantity, but as much as five pounds may be made in it readily. The illustration is taken from Cassell's Magazine.

FIGURES FOR DAIRYMEN.

Prof. Robertson of the Ontario Agricultural College lays down the following helpful hints for the guidance of cheese makers:

1—Only milk from cows in good health and apparent contentment should be used.

2—Until after the eighth milking it should not be offered to a cheese factory.

3—An abundant supply of cheap succulent, easily digestible, wholesome, nutritious feed should be provided.

4—Pure cold water should be allowed in quantities limited only to the cow's capacity and desire to drink.

5—A box or trough containing salt to which the cows have access every day is necessary for the keeping of cows profitably.

6—Cows should be prohibited from drinking stagnant, impure water. The responsibility for giving effect to that beneficial prohibition rests wholly with the individual farmer.

7—Cows should be treated with invariable kindness and they should not be driven fast.

8—All vessels used in the handling of milk should be cleaned thoroughly immediately after their use. A washing in tepid or cold water to which has been added a little soda, and a subsequent scalding with boiling water, will prepare them for airing, that they may remain perfectly sweet.

9—Cows should be milked with dry hands, and only after the udders have been washed or brushed clean.

10—Tin pails only should be used.

11—All milk should be strained immediately after it is drawn.

12—Milking should be done and milk should be kept only in a place where the surrounding air is pure. Otherwise the presence of the tainting odors will injure the milk.

13—All milk should be aired immediately after it has been strained. The treatment is equally beneficial to the evening and morning messes of milk.

14—In warm weather all milk should be cooled to the temperature of the atmosphere after it has been aired, but not before.

Milk is better for being kept over night in small quantities rather than in a large quantity in one vessel.

16—Milk-stands should be constructed to shade the cans or vessels containing milk, as well as to shelter them from rain. Swine should not be fed near the milk-stand.

17—Only pure, clean, honest milk should be offered; and it should be paid for according to its quality and quantity.

The suggestions are familiar to most readers, yet convenient to refresh the memory and for the observation of young dairymen.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it suceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

A Panic in Jeddah.

London, June 6.—A despatch to The Globe from Constantinople says: A panic prevails at Jeddah, and the Europeans there have taken refuge on board the foreign vessels in the harbor, fearing they will be attacked by the Bedouins.

The Pall Mall Gazette in an article on the Armenian situation expresses belief that Russia is behind the Sultan, and that there is little incentive for anybody to spend their strength to protect such a race as the Armenians. Therefore, The Gazette says, Englishmen ought to listen to far-seeing statesmen like Lord Salisbury and not give heed to Turkophobe zealots who are going blind-fold into chaos.

The St. James' Gazette says: "This Armenian business is not really as serious as the newspaper agents declare it to be."

For one dollar, you may buy a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which, if taken in time, and according to directions, may save a great many dollars in doctors' bills, and thus exemplify the truth of the old maxim, "Prevention is better than cure."

Catarrh Relieved in 10 to 60 Minutes

One short puff of the breath through the Blower, supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses this powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use, it relieves instantly and permanently cures catarrh, hay fever, colds, headache, sore throat, tonsilitis and deafness. 60 cents. At H. S. McDonald

This is to certify that I have suffered from piles for a long time and tried several articles recommended for this complaint, but none of them benefitted me till I tried Chase's Ointment, which has completely cured me.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON.

STRICKEN WITH A PARTIAL PARALYSIS

This Was the Case with Miss Minnie Stevens, of London, Ont.

The Parents Had Lost Hope of Her Recovery, But Even After Her Arm, Side and Leg Had Become Powerless South American Nervine Effected a Cure—To-day This Young Lady, Daughter of F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, Enjoys Perfect Health.

MISS MINNIE STEVENS, LONDON, ONT.

Men and women in the exercise of physical or mental power can usually go a certain length, but a step beyond this proves too severe a test. It is the same in the field of medicine. If the case is not a trying one some simple remedy will cure, but it is when a medicine proves effective in an aggravated and extraordinary case that its real power is tested. South American Nervine has made some wonderful cures in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, debility and nervous prostration, not to name other troubles. When nervousness, however, takes hold of the system to that extent that it becomes paralysed and the limbs lose their natural power, then it is that the patient and her friends may indeed commence to lose heart. Miss Minnie Stevens, a fair daughter of London, Ont., had undergone this trying experience. She had been troubled with nervousness. The trouble grew and after a time assumed such shape that she could not lift or even hold anything in her hand. This member, in fact, was useless to her. The trouble spread down the side and partially into one leg. Her face began to twitch. In truth, all the indications of paralysis creeping over the system were manifest. Do we wonder that her parents lost hope of her recovery? They saw the fatal disease rapidly twining itself around their beautiful child. Surrounded with every comfort and possessing the means as well as the will to do everything that was in their power to provide relief, yet, apparently, this could not be obtained, until influenced by the statements of the wonderful cures effected by South American Nervine in cases of nervous prostration, the parents finally decided to try this medicine. After using twelve bottles their daughter became perfectly well, and to-day in the Forest City there is no young girl more healthy than Minnie Stevens, and her father, Mr. F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, is indeed a happy man. The statement cannot be made in too positive and distinct terms that this great discovery is capable of marvelous demonstration in all nervous troubles.

The testimony that comes to the proprietor of Nervine shows that it has absolutely cured in the case of the young, as here cited, and those who have nearly reached, or gone beyond, the three score years and ten have likewise found a cure in this medicine.

REBELS ARE VICTORS

The Situation in Cuba Becoming Serious.

ECUADOR IN INSURGENTS' HANDS

A German Vessel Fires Upon a Chinese Fort—Affairs in Jeddah Growing Worse—French Repulse in Madagascar—Russia Guarantees the Chinese Loan.

New York, June 7.—A special from Guayaquil, Ecuador, says: After three days' severe fighting this city was captured yesterday morning by the revolutionary forces, the Government forces being driven back into the country. The fighting was severe and the loss on both sides very heavy. In the early part of the day the Government troops had the better of the fight, but the latter were repulsed.

A Panama despatch says: Guayaquil has fallen into the hands of the revolutionists, and the rebels have proclaimed Gen. Ignacio their civil and military chief. Such is the nature of a despatch just received by Ecuadorean exiles here, who are jubilant over the success of the insurgent cause. With Guayaquil in the hands of the revolutionary party, the rest of the Republic will soon be compelled to submit.

FIRED ON A CHINESE FORT.

A German Gunboat Protects Refugee Chinese Soldiers.

Hong Kong, June 7.—Advices received here from Tai-Peh-Fu, Island of Formosa, indicate that the town is still in a chaotic state. The native quarter of Tai-Peh-Fu has been burned, and during the conflagration a magazine exploded and killed 90 Chinese. The German gunboat Itis fired on the Chinese forts at Hobe, presumably because a merchant steamer, with Tang, the former president of the so-called republic of Formosa, on board with a number of refuges Chinese soldiers, was not allowed to leave. The forts were silenced by the fire of the gunboat, and the native gunners fled. Subsequently the merchant steamer proceeded. H.M.S. Rainbow left this morning for Tamsui.

More Money and More Men For Cuba.

Madrid, June 6.—In consequence of a despatch received from Captain-General Martinez Campos, Senor Castellanos, the Colonial Minister, conferred yesterday with Prime Minister Sagasta, and it was decided to ask the Chamber of Deputies to grant an additional credit for expenses in Cuba. General Azcarraga, Minister of War, has announced his intention of enlisting volunteers for Cuban service.

Spain Will Seek Damages From the U.S.

London, June 7.—The Standard today contains an intimation to the effect that when the insurrection in Cuba is ended Spain will request the United States to pay part of the costs of suppressing it, saying: "There is small pretence of concealment upon the part of those going to Cuba from the United States, and the authorities must be cognisant of it. The country which claimed and obtained damages from England on account of assistance given to the South by armed vessels which were allowed to leave this country should be the last to allow armed men to leave her shores and insurrect against Spain."

Another Cruiser at Jeddah.

Jeddah, June 6.—The British twin screw cruiser Pique, mounting eight guns, has arrived here.

The Bedouins have attacked and destroyed the Pilgrims' Cholera Hospital at this place, and to prevent further attacks, 200 soldiers will be immediately added to the Turkish garrison here.

Constantinople, June 6.—Said Pasha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, made two visits to Sir Philip Currie, British Ambassador, on June 4, and it is announced that as a result of those visits there is a prospect of a speedy settlement of the Armenian difficulty.

U. S. Cruiser Sails For Chee Foo

Washington, June 7.—The cruiser Machias sailed from Chee Foo to-day for Port Arthur, to remain there for the protection of Americans in case of trouble arising when the Japanese evacuate the place.

France Appeased By the Porte.

Constantinople, June 7.—The Porte has settled the claim of the French ambassador growing out of the wounding of one of the officers of a French steamer by a Turkish officer, a passenger, by paying indemnity to the French officer and punishing his assailant.

French Repulse in Madagascar.

London, June 6.—The Post publishes a despatch from Antananarivo, the capital of Madagascar, stating that the advance of the French forces from Mojunga toward Antananarivo has been repulsed. The despatch adds that the mortality among the French, due to climatic conditions, increases daily.

Lord Sholto's First Taste of Mother-in-Law

San Francisco, June 6.—Lord Sholto Douglas and his bride are hiding from Mrs. M. J. Addis, mother of Lady Sholto. When asked why her daughter left so suddenly, she replied: "Because Lord Sholto threatened to kill himself unless his wife abandoned the stage. Why, his threats were awful, and rather than have him do anything rash I presume Lady Douglas made up her mind to do as he wished, and left me."

It is thought Lord Sholto has left the state with his wife.

TIRED OF RACING FOR JUNE.

Stormy Meeting at [illegible]ay Opposed to Chairman Gideon of the L.A.W.

Albany, N.Y., June 5.—The rulings of Chairman Gideon of the League of American Wheelmen have caused great dissatisfaction among certain riders of Class "B," and to-night at a meeting of the League of American Cyclists, held at the Hotel Kenmore here, the methods of Mr. Gideon were discussed at length, and condemned and spoken of in harsh terms. The meeting was attended by about 35 members, and among that number were many prominent Class B riders, who are sick of ridiag for prizes and desire to ride for cash. President Bridgeman of Boston stated that its purpose was to discuss the actions of the L.A.W. in suspending certain Class B men without any apparent reason. The meeting was also called for the purpose of bringing before the organisation ideas of the members concerning what would be to the best interest of Class B riders. Messrs. Eck, Shaeffer and others spoke to the effect that in the future the racing cyclists should ride for money, instead of prize junk. The result of the meeting was the appointing of a committee to consult with the National Cycle Board to get their ideas of the matter of professionalising Class B riders and having the riders ride for cash. The secretary was directed to correspond with tournament promoters and see if they have any objections to allowing professionals to take part in Class B and giving cash prizes. Mr. Eck said that if the League of American Cyclists did not get representation on the racing board of the L.A.W. steps would be taken to secure control of the racing interests, and measures resorted to which would benefit the racing men, the manufacturers and the sport. If the manufacturers and racing-meet people back the league up it is expected that the L.A.W. will have to either change its present methods or the cyclers league will assume control of the racing business.

TOLL ROADS COMMISSION.

The Ontario Cabinet Names the Gentlemen Who Will Report on the Road Question

Toronto, June 6.—The Cabinet have appointed the following gentlemen as members of the Toll Roads Commission: J. J. Mason, Hamilton, chairman; T. H. A. Hegue, barrister, Dundas; Archibald W. Campbell, C.E., St. Thomas; W. S. Campbell, Brant County. The commission is formed in accordance with legislation on the subject at the recent session of the Legislature.

Historical Society of Canada.

Brampton, Ont., June 5.—The Historical Society of Canada held their annual meting here yesterday in the Court House. Canon Bull of Niagara was elected president. William Reanie of Guelph, Secretary-Treasurer. Canon Bull presented his annual report, which was full of interest. Mrs. Curzon of Toronto, followed with a paper upon reminiscences of the Counties of York and Peel, Captain Crookshanks of Niagara also gave a most interesting paper on Canadian authors. Miss Fitzgibbons of Toronto addressed the meeting and was well received.

THE WEDDING COST A MILLION.

One of W. H Vanderbilt's Granddaughters Married at Lenox.

New York, June 6.—Miss Adele Sloan, daughter of William D. Sloan, and granddaughter of Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, was married to-day to James Abercrombie Burden, jr., son of James Abercrombie Burden, at Lenox, Mass. The ceremony was performed in Trinity Church at Lenox by the rector, the Rev. Dr. William Grosvenor.

The wedding was a most costly one. The bride's trousseau alone is said to have cost $40,000, and, in addition to that, Mr. and Mrs. Sloan have hired the Curtis Hotel, one of the largest hotels in Lenox, for the use of the wedding guests. For three days the hotel will be kept exclusively for their benefit.

The presents are mostly in the form of jewels, and a conservative estimate has placed the value of the gifts at $700,000. The wedding will probably involve a total outlay of about $1,000,000.

MAY NOT GET A LOAN AFTER ALL.

Newfoundland's Present Creditors Object to Pledging the Customs.

St. John's, Nfld., June 7.—The Legislature will not meet again for about two weeks. The report that the loan arranged for by Colonial Secretary Bond in London is a preferential one, with a lien on the customs revenues, appears to be well founded. It is feared that this will upset all negotiations, as the Imperial Government is not likely to permit such a discrimination against the holders of the present bonds. Only 25 days remain between the colony and bankruptcy. The press urge the Government to press its retrenchment and other measures. The Legislature, which met Dec. 20 last, has done absolutely nothing.

FLORENCE AGAIN SHAKEN.

The People Panic-Stricken Flee From Their Homes.

Florence, Italy, June 7.—Violent shocks of earthquake were felt here this morning, and a number of shocks were experienced throughout the Compartimento of Tuscany last night. In both instances the people became panic-stricken and fled from their houses. No damage was done in the city. Details from the rural districts have not yet been received.

Jaundice the Aftermath of Grip.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 6.—There is as much grippe here now as there has been within the past six years, and it is of a more serious nature than heretofore. Physicians state that the disease is almost epidemic. One peculiar feature of it is that when patients have apparently recovered they are left with a peculiar yellow complexion resembling jaundice.

Tail-Enders Trounce Toronto

Rochester, June 6.—Harper pitched dazzling ball this afternoon, and the Indians could do nothing with him. He struck out 14 men, the highest number for the season, and allowed but six hits.

Crane also pitched a good game, but the home team hit him at critical times. Up to the eighth innings the Rochesters had not made a break. Two errors then cropped up, and led to three runs. Attendance 800. Score:

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy be ore they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods doesn't affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

PLACE-SEEKING M.P.'S

Mr. Mulock's Independence of Parliament Bill.

WOULD OUST ALL OFFICE-SEEKERS

The Member for North York States That 90 Per Cent. of the Tories Are After Pat Jobs—The Soo Canal Contract Changes Being Probed

Ottawa, Ont., June 8.—In the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Mulock introduced his bill better to secure the independence of Parliament. It had been the constant effort of Parliament, he said, to secure in Parliament the free unbiased expression of the will of the people. Acts had been passed in this direction and provision had in times past been made against the presence of "placemen" in Parliament. That act still existed with certain exceptions, and rightly enought if Parliament was to represent the will of the people; a member should not accept a shilling from the Government in any way that would prevent him dealing freely with all questions coming before him.

After this preface the member for North York came to his bill. It was impossible, he said, for members to shut their eyes to the growth of an evil which threatens to destroy the independence of Parliament. This evil had grown up principally in the House of Commons. Members were applicants for offices and positions, the acceptance of which would render them insligible under the present law to retain their seats because they would be in a manner the servants of the Government, and Mr. Mulock wanted to know what the difference was between the position of a member who occupied such an office and one who had the promise of it in his pocket and expected to be appointed as soon as was convenient for the Government to do so. There was a very considerable number of members in this relation to the Government.

This bold statement was greeted with one or two faint "Oh, oh's!"

Some one asked: "Who are they?"

"A very considerable number are applicants for positions," the member for North York replied. The Premier the other day wrote a letter, in which he stated that ten vacant seats in the Senate were all promised, and although he didn't say they were promised to members of this House Mr. Mulock said he had no doubt a very considerable number of them were so promised. Who could doubt that the expectation of these positions destroyed the usefulness and independense of members? The effect was to lower the dignity of Parliament if it was to be a stepping-stone to office. He did not object in all cases to members who had served long in public service receiving appointments, but it would be lamentable indeed if the idea became established that the best way to get office was to become a candidate for Parliament. Behind the Government there was at least 15 to 20 per cent. of the members either with a promise of office or applicants for Government positions. An element like this was calculated to lower the tone and entirely destroy the usefulness of Parliament.

The bill is a short one, consisting of this one clause: "Except as provided by chapter 11 of the revised statutes of Canada, entitled, 'An act respecting the Senate and the House of Commons of Canada,' no person being a member of the House of Commons of Canada shall be eligible to be appointed to any office, commission or employment, permanent or temporary, in the service of the Government of Canada, at the nomination of the Crown or at the nomination of any of the members or officers of the Government of Canada, to which any salary, fee, wages, allowance, emolument or profit of any kind is attached, whilst he is such a member, or until at least one year shall have elapsed after the dissolution of the House of which he was a member."

The bill was read a first time without discussion.

In the Public Accounts Committee the examination of Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Chief Engineer of Railways and Canals, in regard to the Soo Canal contracts, was continued. He stated that Ryan & Co. were awarded the contract for the lower entrance to the canal at $299,813, and that Allan & Fleming got the contract for the upper entrance at $335,926; John Nicholson's tender for the upper entrance was $231,049, but the department considered his figure too low, as Chief Engineer Page reported that the price set down for the excavation and removal of material was about one-half of what the work could actually be done for. But Mr. Nicholson refused to accept a contract for the upper entrance alone, as he claimed that contract had been invited for both entrances and that his tender for the whole work was the lowest. Nicholson's figure for both ends was $608,249, while Ryan's was $648,134. Among the 16 tenders for the construction of the locks were these:

George Goodwin	$1,163,692
Conmee & Co.	1,225,990
Ryan & Co.	1,282,567

The Chief Engineer reported that the two lowest tenders were in a number of items below what the material could be purchased and delivered for and that the whole figures were below what the work would cost. He, therefore, considered that these tenders should not be entertained. As to Ryan & Co.'s tender, the rates were low, but on the whole they were a small percentage over what was likely to be the actual cost of the work, and as some members of the firm were known to be skilled and energetic contractors he advised the acceptance of their proposal. Then, after the contract had been let, a movement was set on foot for changes in the size of the lock. The Toronto Board of Trade made representations to the Government to have the size made 16 feet deep, 85 feet wide and 600 feet in length. Letters supporting the change, written by Sir Frank Smith and Sir William Van Horne, were read, and one written by Mr. Thompson, the engineer in charge, against it. This was in the early part of 1891. The outcome was a new contract with Ryan & Co., to make the lock 19 feet deep over the mitre sills, 100 feet wide and 650 feet long. The additional charge upon the country involved in this change amounted to $190,245. The next spring, that was in April, 1892, another change was determined upon, making the lock 900 feet long, 60 feet wide and 20 feet 3 inches above the mitre sills. This new contract added $498,000 to the cost of the lock over and above the previous addition of $190,000, but of this $498,000 the sum of $121,013 was for the supply and discharge culverts, which had not been put into the original contract at all, and were now granted without tenders being asked. The extra cost which the changes up to this juncture had cost amounted to $566,336. Mr. Schreiber could not give any explanation why the culverts had not been put into the original contract.

Messrs. Lester and Davies were questioning the witness upon the benefits which the country had received for the payment to Ryan & Co. of $90,000 of a bonus for hurrying their work to completion by Dec. 1, 1894, when the time for adjournment arrived. The enquiry will be continued on Tuesday.

In the Senate Mr. Macdonald asked if the Government had received any further information in reference to the Imperial legislation regarding the seal fishing regulations. Sir Mackenzie Bowell said that a cablegram had been received from Sir C. Tupper stating that the Colonial Office informed him the Imperial bill was simply for a renewal of the North Pacific Fisheries Act of 1893, which expires July 1, and it was being rushed through Parliament in order to give effect to the agreement with Russia as to the Western Pacific sealing, which would be found more favorable to sealers than the regulations of 1893. From this message Sir Mackenzie said it would seem that the Imperial Government had acceded to some of the conditions of Canada.

Senator Boulton, in continuing the debate on the question of International Copyright, said he spoke in the interests of 500 Canadian authors. Under the present law, he contended, authors in Canada had all the privileges in foreign countries with regard to copyright that British authors had under the Berne Convention. If the Canadian Act of 1889 was assented to by the Imperial Government and became law they would lose these privileges and a state of literary piracy would ensue by which the Canadian market would be flooded with cheap unauthorized editions of the works of popular British and American authors, published under license of the Canadian Government with practically no royalty to the author.

Senator Kaulbach wanted to know what mandate Senator Boulton had to speak for Canadian authors. The Act of 1889 had been asked for by both authors and publishers in Canada for 20 years, passed both Houses of Parliament without opposition, and an address to the Queen in 1892 asking assent to the Act was also unanimously adopted.

That, he contended, was the time for Senator Boulton to have protested. He pointed out that in the Act of 1889 foreign authors had a perfect right to obtain copyright in Canada, and it was only when they refused to do so that the Canadian Government could issue a license to a local publisher to print the work and pay the author a royalty of 10 per cent.

Senator Power thought Senator Boulton had a perfect right to speak for Canadian authors, but held that the real question at issue was whether Canada had the right to pass the legislation of 1889 apart altogether from the merits of the legislation. The British Government had no more right to refuse assent to that Act, he thought, than it had to refuse assent to the various tariff Acts of the present Government, which, he said, were regarded in England by the present Administration as unwise for Canada and injurious to the Empire.

Senator Angers said there was very little correspondence to bring down since last year on the subject. It had been the intention of the late Premier to have discussed this whole question with the Imperial authorities, but his death had prevented it. Since that time, at the request of the Colonial Secretary, Canada had sent a representative to England to discuss the matter with the Imperial authorities. The main issue, he said, was as to whether Canada had the right to pass the bill of 1889 and not the merits of the measure.

TO SHOOT ROYALTY.

A Dangerous Crank Arrested at Balmoral.

WITH A REVOLVER IN HIS POCKET

It Is Supposed That His Object Was to Shoot Some Member of the Royal Family—He Had Letters Addressed to the Queen and Mr. Gladstone.

Aberdeen, June 8.—An unknown man was arraigned in court here to-day, charged with having fired a revolver on the Ballater-road, near Balmoral. The hearing was adjourned, pending enquiry for additional evidence. The man is suspected of being a crank and of loitering about Balmoral watching his chance to make an attack upon some member of the royal family.

The man proved to be Thomas Don, son of a farmer living at Crieff. When he was arrested, he said he was on his way to Balmoral to obtain an interview with the Queen. He had in his pocket a paper headed, "To the Queen," and a letter addressed to Mr. Gladstone, in which the writer said he was about to become King of Britain. He also had a letter addressed to Mr. Vanderbilt, offering to marry the millionaire's daughter. Six chambers of his revolver were loaded, and he had besides 50 cartridges in a bag. His arrest was due to information lodged by two men who met him on the road to Balmoral and observed him practising with his revolver. He resisted arrest, and fought desperately before he was overpowered.

THE STUBBORN PORTE.

The Armenian Question As Far As Ever From Being Solved.

Constantinople, June 7.—The Armenian difficulty is no nearer settlement than ever. The Porte has declined to entertain the guarantees of reform which were demanded by the Powers, and matters looking to a solution of the difficulties are at a stand still.

The annual fete in celebration of the granting of the Armenian constitution, which has been forbidden for several years, will be permitted this year, and will be held on June 9.

Revolt of Bedouins Anticipated

Jeddah, June 8.—It is thought probable here that the present troubles will culminate in a general Bedouin revolt owing to the beginning of the pilgrimage season and the fanatical hostility of the Bedouins to the Giaours.

FIFTY DEATHS BY FLOOD.

Fearful Loss of Life in the Black Forest by Cloudburst.

Stuttgart, June 8.—Telegrams received this morning from the Black Forest district of Wurtemburg, which was deluged by a cloudburst and inundated by the consequent overflowing of the River Eyach Wednesday night, state that 50 persons were killed in the Balingen district and all of the bridges spanning the river were carried away.

Large Tracts in France Submerged.

Paris, June 7.—The Dax and Pau districts of France are flooded by heavy rainstorms and overflowing streams. Large tracts of territory are submerged, factories are stopped, and railroad traffic is almost entirely suspended. No loss of life is reported.

LOCKED IN WITH THE ICE.

Williams Nearly Frozen While the Mercury Was at 100.

Massillon, O., June 8.—While his thermometer, 50 feet away, registered 100 degrees, Uriah Matthews sat in his cold storage room yesterday in great danger of freezing to death.

He entered the chamber to arrange some supplies, leaving the door open. An employe, not knowing that Mr. Matthews was inside, closed the door and locked it carefully.

Mr. Matthews shouted and pounded, but in vain. He had grown stiff and numb and was all but unconscious when, occasion arising for some one to enter, the door was unlocked. He was carried out helpless but alive. Restoratives were applied and he will recover.

Toronto Steadily Improving.

New York, June 8.—Bradstreet's says: There is no change in trade conditions at Montreal, where crop prospects are favorable. Trade has been fair at Toronto with better collections and favorable outlook. Nova Scotia crop prospects are excellent, which is also true of New Brunswick. There are 27 business failures reported from the Dominion of Canada this week, against 27 last week, 37 one year ago and 36 two years ago. Bank clearings at Winnipeg, Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax aggregate $22,634,000 this week, against $17,898,000 last week, $19,604,000 one year ago, and $22,444,000 in the first week of June, 1893.

Succession Tax in Illinois.

Springfield, Ills., June 8.—By a vote of 84 to 34 the House to-day passed Senate bill taxing inheritances, gifts and legacies. The general scope of the measure is to place a tax of one per cent. on every individual inheritance $20,000 or more, where the heirs are of first relationship to testator. As the relationship of legatees or heirs becomes more remote the tax is increased and the limit decreased.

SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1895.

THE PROPOSED BATHING PLACES

If "cleanliness," as John Wesley quotes, in his sermon on Dress, "is next to godliness," then it should be encouraged; but this encouragement does not consist in the police hunting as criminals boys who are in pursuit of approximate godliness through the medium of a bath in the river. The police are, however, only doing their duty to the town, and the boys are only doing their duty to themselves; the only space for quarrel in either case is the manner in which such duty is performed. Neither should be offensively earnest—the police should temper their zeal with a great deal of discretion, and the boys should be equally discreet in the selection of time, place and manner of bathing. Without regular bathing, especially during the heated term, health and comfort are both lacking; for regular bathing is a necessary condition of the most perfect health. And the most perfect health is necessary to the most perfect discharge of the duties of citizenship. Therefore, it is the part of the city fathers to provide proper facilities for bathing in the river or lake, especially as, in the absence of sewerage, bath rooms in houses, are only exceptional practicabilities. The notice of motion in reference to providing bathing facilities of Messrs. Sproule and Cahill should have been acted upon at the time. Councillors may dodge a quorum but won't always be able to dodge the indignation of the citizens, if they fail to take prompt action. And prompt action is demanded. The regulation of bathing is an immediate necessity. Proper bathing places free from danger, with proper regulation as to time, costume, etc., should be provided at once, one at least in each ward of the town. As it is now, the boy who will bathe, takes the most convenient place and the most convenient costume—in too many cases that of the Adamite style before Eve experimented with the tabooed apple; lads and lasses will go boating and encounter these water-colour studies of the nude and these result in more or less embarrassing contretemps. Now, bathing or boating are alike desirable and some means should be devised whereby boys and, for the matter of that, girls and men and women could enjoy the necessity of a bath and the luxury of a swim without having to dodge "peeler" in case and a police court in posse. While bathing places are being provided it is necessary to have proper regulations and to effect this, prompt action should be taken to provide both before it is too late. Bathing places are a necessity now and not next November.

In addition to the necessity of bathing places in the interests of personal cleanliness, and consequent health and comfort, the opportunities presented for acquiring the useful art of swimming, should not be relegated to a secondary position. The melancholy record of drowning accidents that every summer brings, would no doubt be greatly shortened if the art of swimming were more generally taught and learned. Every man, woman and child who goes near or embarks upon the water should know how to swim. In case of accident, a few strokes might make all the difference between life and death. Knowledge of swimming should be taken with the excursionist upon the water as naturally as an umbrella is taken when it threatens rain. With bathing places and swimming conveniences the art could be, for it is, easily learned. Some enterprising person might make a worse venture than opening a swimming school.

It is to be hoped that the town authorities will act promptly in the matter of providing bathing places, and regulating bathing operations. Of course, one would not expect them to proceed with the precipitate haste they have applied to the construction of a system of sewerage, but if they do anything in regard to the matter in question, they will need to act without delay.

THE SUPERANNUATION SYSTEM ABUSES.

In the House of Commons Hon. Mr. McMullen brought decided attention to the abuses inherent and developed in the superannuation system. He adduced figures to show that this system is costing the country $300,000 per annum, in excess of receipts from civil servants on account of this fund, and that the total sum abstracted from the public chest since this system of pensioning public servants who are all paid adequate salaries, was established, amounts to the enormous sum of two and a half million dollars. There is not so much fault, perhaps, to be found with a system of rewarding civil servants, if the amounts given them bear a fair proportion to the amount of money paid into the fund, but the abuse of the system, amounting to a gross scandal, is what is worthy of condemnation Mr. McMullen cited specific instances of these abuses, which indicate a shameful waste of public funds. He proved that pensioners who had paid from $270 to $900 into the fund have drawn $10,000, $16,830, $24,610 and even $39,798 out of it. Worse still, men whose contributions to the superannuation fund only amounted to from $19 to $75, have drawn out in annual instalments an aggregate of anywhere from a little over $4,000 all the way up to $8,695 each. But the most glaring cases of all were those of two men, one of whom paid in $7 and has hauled out $10,460, and the other of whom contributed $40, all told to the fund and has drawn from it within $84 of $40,000. This is as bad as highway robbery, and there is no surprise to be felt at a deficit of $4,500,000 when similar reckless waste of the public funds prevades the whole of the administrative action of the government. It is not so much the money legitimately spent upon legitimate public services that is to be complained of, it is the shameful and corrupt waste of the hard-got taxes of the people that is to be condemned in a most decided and emphatic manner. What we want is honest government, and it is useless to expect it from the present party in power. Honest and straightforward administration is constitutionally impossible to them.

The Cambridge, Mass., school board has adopted an order abolishing slates, slate pencils and sponges in the public schools. Beginning Sept. 1st, only pens and pencils and paper will be allowed in place of the old-time slate. The order is adopted for sanitary reasons, the use of the slate and sponge suggesting microbe multiplication.

DOINGS IN MONTREAL.

Boulogne Recommended as the European Port of the Franco-Canadian Line.

Montreal, June 8.—Yesterday there was a meeting of the French Chamber of Commerce called to consider an invitation from Hon. W. B. Ives to give an opinion as to the proper French port for the new service. Mr. F. X. Perrault favored Havre as the great seaport of the Republic, being at the mounth of of the Seine, the latter river being crossed by the canals of the world.

Hon. Senator Desjardins and other members of the Chamber, spoke warmly in favoor of Boulogne, stating that on account of the tides Havre was not at all times acceptable. In the end this view was adopted, and a resolution was adopted recommending that the Dominion Government select the port of Boulogne as the European terminus of the line in question. It was likewise decided to recommend that a 10-knot service be accepted in place of 13, it being held that the first would be less expensive, and quite speedy enough for the requirements of the trade, more especially the first five years of the service.

Mr. Richard White, managing director of The Gazette, who has been confined to the house for the last ten weeks with rheumatic fever, will leave for Europe on the 17th, expecting to be absent some four months.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper's remarks in the House of Commons yesterday are vigorously commented upon in legal circles here, yet all agree that if there was a miscarriage of justice no porsible blame can be attached to Judge Desnoyers, whose honor and impartiality are above reproach.

The question of a change of venue in the case of Shortis, the Valleyfield murderer, was argued to-day at Beauharnois. The Crown was represented by Messrs. D. Macmaster, Q.C., and Laurendo, while the defence was looked after by St. Pierre and Greenshields, Q.C.'s, and Sir S. Foster, Judge Belanger will give his decision Saturday.

While several persons were out boating yesterday on the North River, near Lachute, a little girl, aged 10 years, named Somerby, fell into the water and was drowned.

The monument almost completed on Place d'Armes Square, to the memory of Maisonneuve, the founder of Montreal, will be unveiled amid great pomp on Dominion Day. A great number of distinguished speakers have been invited, amongst others Lieut.-Governor Chapleau and Rev. Abbe Colin of St. Sulpice.

Hugh John Macdonald, wife and son left to-night for Winnipeg, being escorted to the train by members of the Sir John Macdonald Club.

A lawyer who was present says he believes Judge Belanger will refuse a change of venue for Shortis.

It is not thought that the Grand Trunk conductors will be tried this term.

TATOOED BY LIGHTNING.

Bridgeport, June 8.—During the thunderstorm last night lightning struck the house of James Barry, No. 137 Colemanstreet. Almost immediately the roof burst into flames. Barry, his wife and four children were asleep on the lower floor. James McCall, his wife and five children were asleep on the second floor. The electric bolt shocked the 13 into insensibility. The fire department turned out, but the house was almost totally destroyed.

Both families recovered from the electric shock. One little girl has a deep red mark on her arm, an exact representation of the figure of the embroidered bed covering under which she was lying. It is a vine and flower and runs from the elbow up over the shoulder and across the neck.

San Francisco, June 8.—Rev. J. George Gibson, pastor of the Emanuel Baptist Church, in which the girl Minnie Williams was murdered recently, intends to lecture on the crime for the benefit of the church.

He says that if a sufficient sum can be raised to meet the indebtedness the church would surely be renovated and opened for public worship. The dread of the place among the members has died out.

OLNEY SUCCEEDS GRESHAM.

Judson Harmon of Ohio the New U.S. Attorney-General.

Washington, D.C., June 8.—Yesterday the following appointments were announced at the White House: Secretary of State, Richard Olney of Massachusetts; Attorney-General, Judson Harmon of Ohio.

Mr. Harmon is a man about 50 years of age and a resident of Cincinnati. His name had not been used in the gossip about the succession to Mr. Olney, except possibly in private. For some years he was Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Hamilton County, and upon the removal of ex-Governor Headley to New York he became the head of the law firm with which the latter had been connected. He is said to be one of the foremost lawyers of the State.

GAVE IN WHEN FIRED ON.

American Garbage Scow Caught Polluting Amherstburg Water Supply.

Amherstburg, June 8.—Last night Captain Dunn, with the Government steamer Petrel, seized the American tug Grace E. Ruelle while in the act of dumping garbage in the Detroit River and polluting Amherstburg's water supply.

The captain of the American boat refused to surrender until fired upon. Finally he and his crew were brought here and locked up.

The prisoners had a preliminary hearing before Messrs. McGee and W. D. Balfour. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded. Bail was fixed at $500 each, but none was offered, Dr. Bryce, the secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, will be here Saturday.

STRONG DRINK!

Its Terrible Effects.

A Shattered Nervous System Built Up and Strengthened By Paine's Celery Compound.

It is in the combined perfection of sensation, motion, intelligence and speech that man excels all created animals.

The brain, that grand centre of sensation and perception, and the whole nervous system, are wonderfully made, and man's happiness and very life depend upon their condition of health.

The human brain and the nervous system become impaired, shattered and broken down in various ways. Careless living, loose habits and over-indulgences, when persisted in, and continued for a length of time, tend to wreck and destroy the whole nervous organism.

There is no form of disease that can more rapidly shatter the system, or more surely lead to death, than the use of strong drink. Its effects are felt in every nerve and tissue, and its poison can be traced in every drop of blood.

It will plant courage and hope in the hearts of many men who are broken down, and whose nervous systems are completely shattered, learn that, with a firm determination to avoid strong drink, their bodies can be rebuilt, their nerves made strong, their blood purified, and life made happy and worth living. This grand work of re-creation can be accomplished by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, nature's great restorer. No medical agency in the world is so well adapted for the re-building of brain and body.

Mr. Samuel B. Guild, of Billershouse, Hants Co., N. S., writes as follows:—

"I wish to express my gratitude for the great good accomplished in my case by your Paine's Celery Compound. I had commenced using strong drink when quite young, with the result that my whole system was run down and shattered. I was under the care of several doctors, but they did not seem to understand my case, and could do nothing for me. I commenced using your Paine's Celery Compound, and it soon made me a new man. My nervous system is completely built up, my appetite is natural and healthy, and I feel better and stronger than ever before. Paine's Celery Compound has done these wonders for me, and I cannot thank you sufficiently."

CRERAR, Q.C., ON SILVER.

Wentworth's Crown Attorney Tells Bad Falsehoods About "Honest Money."

Buffalo, June 7.—Two groups of the State Banking Association met in this city to-day to transact routine business. About sixty of the most prominent bankers in western New York were present. A banquet was given at the Hotel Iroquois to-night, the speeches relating almost wholly to current topics of commerce and finance.

Mr. John Crerar, Q.C., of Hamilton, Ont., spoke to the toast of "Honest Money." Mr. Crerar said that the demand of the silver men for unlimited coinage was the rational analogy to a protective system which compelled a man to pay $150 at home for an article which he could purchase abroad for $100. Mr. Crerar advocated the Canadian banking system as best suited to the commercial and national needs of the United States.

Have you ever noticed how your system seems to crave special assistance in the spring? Just the help required is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

TWICE A VICTOR.

The Prince of Wales' Luck Will Become Proverbial.

HE WON TWO RACES IN ONE DAY

He Was on Board the Britannia Yesterday When It Distanced All Competitors —His Horse Florisel II Wins the Coveted Manchester Cup.

Manchester, June 8.—Great interest was manifested in the great handicap race for the Manchester Cup of 2000 sovereigs yesterday, a large crowd being on the scene at an early hour this morning. The weather was bright and clear and the course in perfect condition, it having been watered during the night. The most of the starters took an early gallop. Banquet made his appearance at 4.30 a.m., and, after walking a short time, went a mile at a very good rate of speed.

The Prince of Wales' horse, Florisel II., also did a mile at a steady gait, but the other starters went only six furlongs. Enormous crowds of people gathered on the course this afternoon, and by the time the racing began there was a perfect crush in all available parts of the field. Bushey Park was the favorite with the people of Manchester and vicinity, Mr. J. H. Houldsworth being a local land owner, and a very popular one too.

The Manchester Cup of 2000 sovereigns (200 guineas in plate and the rest in specie), added to a handicap sweepstakes of 25 sovereigns each, 1 3-4 miles; (52 subscribed, 32 of whom declared forfeit):

The Prince of Wales' b h Florisel II., 4, by St. Simon, out of Perdita . . . . . (Calder) 1
Mr. Cohen's b c Greenlawn, 4, by Kendal, out of Buda . . (Bradford) 2
Mr. P. Buchanan's The Docker, 4, ... (Fawdon) 3

Time 2.59 1-5.

Mr. Gottschalk's b m Cypria, 5, T. Loates; Mr. Leopold De Rothschild's ch c Rodomont, 4, Tonn; Mr. J. H. Houldsworth's b h Bushey Park, 6, Cannon; Captain Machell's b c Campanajo, 3, Ward; Mr. M. F. Dwyer's b g Banquet, aged, Simms; Mr. C. J. Blaky's b g Rock Dove, 4, Clayton; Mr. Bartmeer's b g Glentilt, 4, K. Cannon, and Mr. Dobell's ch c The Rush, 3, Grimshaw, also started.

Post betting, 3 to 1 against Florisel II., 14 to 1 against Greenlawn and 9 to 1 against The Docker, 5 to 1 against Cypria, 7 to 1 against Rodomont, 8 to 1 against Bushey Park, 11 to 1gainst Campanajo, 12 to 1 against Banquet, 17 to 1 against Rock Dove and 20 to 1 each against Glentilt and The Rush.

There was a brief delay in getting the horses off, but a capital start was finally made. Rodomont was the quickest to get away, and was soon drawing clear of Banquet II., and The Rush, The Docker, Rock Dove and Cypria were next, the others trailing along. Passing the stand Rodomont was still leading the entire company, Florisel II. and Greenlawn being last.

Leaving the straight, Rodomont increased his lead from The Rush, who was well clear of Banquet. Next came The Docker and Florisel II. and Greenlawn, who had crept up, were only a short distance in the rear. At the mile post Rodomont was leading The Rush by six lengths. The Docker and Banquet were close at the heels of The Rush. Bradford and Calder were using the whip freely on Greenlawn and Florisel with good results.

Entering the straight, Rodomont's lead over The Rush and The Docker had been reduced from six lengths to three, and Greenlawn and Banquet were close followers. Florisel was on the outside and Cypria was trailing along. Just below the distance the Docker joined Rodomont, and the two took up the running for a short distance, closely followed by Green Lawn. Florisel was still on the outside, but was rapidly drawing up, so rapidly in fact that opposite the Tattersalls he forged to the front and landed an easy winner by two lengths amidst enthusiastic cheers. Greenlawn was three-quarters of a length ahead of The Docker.

AILSA AGAIN DISABLED.

Britannia Finished Alone—Niagara Won the Race for Small Raters.

London, June 7.—Perfect yachting weather prevailed at Sheerness this morning, promising a splendid day's sport. The sky was cloudless, the sun was bright and there was a strong northeast wind and a choppy sea. The Britannia and Ailsa competed for a purse of £80 for large raters, and the Niagara, Audrey, Stephanie, Dragon and Luna contested for prizes of £20 and £10. All of the yachts sailed over the same course, from the Nore around the east Oasee buoy to the Mouse Lightship, and back to the Nore lightship, keeping all the marks to the port, twice around, 37 miles. The Prince of Wales was on the Britannia.

Before the start something became amiss with the Ailsa's mainsail, which the crew were unable to hoist. The boat was then put about and made for Port Victoria under her jib burst, The Britannia sailed over the course alone.

The Niagara reached home on the first round at 2.55.59, and the Luna at 3.02.09. The Niagara finished at 5.11. The Luna was 9 minutes behind.

The damage to the Ailsa's mainsail was repaired by riggers from a warship, and she will race with the Britannia to-morrow, the course being from the Nore to Dover.

Manufacturer Watson Dead.

Kincardine, Ont., June 8.—John Watson, one of the oldest residents of this town, died last night, after an illness of about one year. He was senior partner of the large manufacturing firm of Watson & Malcolm, and as such was well and favorably known from one end of the Dominion to the other.

Phillips, Philologist, Dead

Philadelphia, June 7.—Henry Phillips, jr., a well-known archaeologist, philologist and numismatist, died last night. He ranked among the most authorities on these subjects in the United States, and was widely known in Europe.

Most coughs can be cured in a few hours or at any rate in a few days, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. With such a prompt and sure remedy as this at hand, there is no need of prolonging the agony for weeks and months. Keep this remedy in your house.

IN THE WEST.

Word From the Great Northwest Territories About a Marvel of Modern Science.

Calgary, May 15.—The fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills has spread all over the Northwest, and they have come into universal use, being found in almost every farm house and village throughout the Territories. The cures of Kent. Drs. Rose and McCormick, Rymal, Fisher and dozens of others have been eagerly read and consequently produced a large demand. People are becoming convinced that a very large percentage of disease may be traced as it was in these cases to the action of the kidneys in failing to do their proper work and inducing rheumatism, paralysis, Bright's disease, diabetes, and blood poisoning.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

A Narrow Escape.

On Thursday, Sim Thatcher, foreman at Kennedy, Davis & Son's saw mill at Nogey's Creek, met what what might have been a serious if not a fatal accident. It appears he went into the second floor of the mill to oil the machinery. It being cold he was wearing a coat, the tail of which caught in a revolving shaft, but he had presence of mind to brace himself against a post and the coat was torn from his back, thereby saving his life. Mr. Thatcher received a very severe shock, but otherwise is not seriously injured. He came home on the steamer Esturion last evening, and is resting quietly at his home in the north ward.—Lindsay Post.

THE LATE FATHER QUIRK, OF HASTINGS.

The Venerable Priest's Long Pastorate Closed.

On Friday morning Rev. Father Quirk, the well known parish priest of Hastings, passed away to his well earned reward at the patriarchal age of eighty years. For the past year his health has been poorly, and for the past two months the decline has been decided, but it was only within the past month that he ceased from his pastoral duties. Rev. Father Collins was present at the bedside of his venerable father in God, and soothed his last moments with his kindly ministrations. Rev. Father Quirk was born in Kilrush, county of Kilkenny, Ireland, was educated at All Hallows College and ordained to the priesthood in 1838, for work in the diocese of Kingston, Canada, whither he came, taking his first work as curate at Smith Falls and Perth about one year. He was next translated to Loughborough, where he ministered three years. In 1862 he became parish priest of Hastings, his parish including, besides, Norwood, Campbellford and Warkworth, which all have now priests of their own. A ministry of 33 years has deeply endeared Rev. Father Quirk to his parishioners, whose esteem and respect, as well as of the clergy of the diocese, he enjoyed in an unusual degree. The funeral will take place on Monday at 10 o'clock, and his body, at his own request, will be laid in the church plot south of the church, in a spot designated by himself. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will attend, as well as Father O'Connel, Father Collins, Father Keilty and other priests.

"TRILBY" COMING.

The Latest New York Success to be Presented in this Town June 14th.

Have you ever read "Trilby"? If not, don't do so, but go and see it played by the first-class company that are to produce it at Bradburn's Oper House. The dramatization of "Trilby," according to the best New York newspaper critics, has proved a decided success and the hit of the season.

The management of the opera house, together with the proprietors of the play, have decided to make the prices of admission 25,35 and 50cents, so that all may witness the performance.

Seats should be secured at once, as there promises to be a big advance sale.

That Presentation.

The beautiful flag which was presented to Mr. H. Calcutt by the Guild of St. Luke's church, was manufactured by the firm of J. J. Turner & Son, and was of the finest finished silk bunting.

Battalion Notes.

The 57th to-day received an offer from Trenton of a substantial sum of money as an inducement to persuade them to spend their outing in that town. The offer comes too late as the Rangers have given their word to Picton.

Drop in Market Prices.

Grain and hay came into the market in quantity to-day, and in consequence prices took a drop. Oats, of which there were fully forty loads on the market, sold at forty cents a bushel, and wheat actually dropped from 98 cents to 95 cents. Hay sold at $8.50 and $9 a load, sinking to that price from $11.00.

Bethany Tabernacle.

To-day Mr. Alf. Kingscote is erecting a large canvass tabernacle upon the vacant lot next south of the Customs building on George street. This tent, 32x50 feet in area, will be provided with a platform for speaking and comfortable chairs and forms for the congregation. This tent, which is to be used for the summer services of Bethany church, will be erected to-day, and will be used for the first time at 10 a.m. to-morrow, when Pastor Zimmerman will conduct services. This will be a great convenience for those who may object to the heat so greatly felt in the ordinary hall. The Gospel carriage will be at Inverlea to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Attempted Robbery.

An attempt at robbery was made at the house of Mrs. Muir, near the station, on Monday night. Mrs. Muir heard a crash of a falling lamp being knocked from the table in the parlour and lit her lamp and went down to make investigation, she was met at the door by a man, whom she says she knows, who held one hand over his face to conceal his identity and with the other dashed the lamp out of her hand, putting it out. Mrs. Muir's screams brought Messrs. Thexton, Whitfield and Sanderson, neighbours, to the house in short notice, but the rascal had decamped, not having had time to pocket anything. It is a pity the vagabond was not caught. —Millbrook Reporter.

A Good Appetite

Always accompanies good health, and an absence of appetite is an indication of something wrong. The loss of a rational desire for food is soon followed by lack of strength, for when the supply of fuel is cut off the fire burns low. The system gets into a low state, and is liable to severe attacks of disease. The universal testimony given by those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, as to its merits in restoring and sharpening the appetite, in promoting healthy action of the digestive organs, and as a purifier of the blood, constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Those who have never used Hood's Sarsaparilla should surely do so this season.

Assaulted From the Rear.

What might have been a painful accident recently occurred in the neighbouring township. Two prominent gentlemen from town, who take a pride in fine cattle, were examining a choice herd of Jerseys on the premises of a well known farmer. The critical eye of one of the visitors, who is a recognized judge in many walks of life, was running over the excellencies and defects of the fine cow before him. Unfortunately he was obliged to stoop while making the examination, and while in that position was assaulted from the rear by a junior member of the herd, who had not as yet learned to show proper respect for the visitors. Beyond a little scare and a slight soiling of his clothing the gentleman from town escaped unhurt. This incident shows that even examining Jerseys is not without some danger.

Prof. W. J. Hall, the Palmist.

Prof. Hall on his tour of the principal towns of Ontario, closed a very successful engagement here June 6th. During his stay here he read some hundreds of hands, and he was visited here by a number from other towns and cities, including Belleville, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, Port Hope and Cobourg. A visit to the professor is fraught with much interest. His readings are minute, clear and logical, every detail connected with "my past" he explained most accurately, and his marvellous intuition strikes all those who submit themselves to his examination as being wonderful. Those who have failed to take advantage of his stay in Peterborough have something to regret. The professor leaves on Monday morning for Lindsay, where he opens a ten-days' engagement before going to Thousand Island Park, N. Y., for the summer.

THE SCHOOL ENLARGEMENT BY-LAW.

On Tuesday, June 17th, the electors will be called upon to vote upon a by-law to raise the sum of $6,500 to pay the expense of building a four-room addition to the South Ward school building. This is a matter of the first importance, especially to the residents of the portion of the town where the need of enlarged school accommodation is acutely felt. As is generally known, the enlargement of the existing south ward school was decided upon in preference to the erection of a new four room building for two principal reasons, one being the large saving of expense, and the other the facilities which the enlarged school building would present for a thorough system of grading, which would be impossible in a smaller four-room building. Another advantage to be gained by the enlargement would be the provision of a suitable room for the Kindergarten department, which a new building would not afford. This would represent a saving of $100 a year now paid as rental for the basement of St. John's Mission building. The difference in cost may be illustrated by quoting the remarks of Mr. Peter Hamilton, chairman of the Property Committee of the Board, made at the meeting on May 13th. Mr. Hamilton said:

In the event of a new four-room south ward school being erected, it would be impossible for the classes to be properly graded and besides a large portion of the south ward would be deprived of the benefits of the kindergarten. The estimated cost of a new school, purchasing grounds and furnishing rooms is $11,000. Deduct from this, said he, $6,500 for the proposed addition, and it leaves a balance of $4,500. Add to this for salary of janitor of new school $250 per annum, difference in salary of an extra principal and salary of an ordinary teacher $375, and $130 for extra fuel and cost of maintenance, which will mean an additional annual expense of $675, equivalent to $14,000 between cost of addition and new school, and it makes an addition of $13,000 to the public school indebtedness.

The point being conceded that the course decided upon by the Board, namely to add four rooms to the present South Ward school building is the best; in order to permit the ratepayers to pronounce intelligently upon the by-law, a brief sketch of the proposed addition may be given. Reference to the plans prepared by Mr. Wm. Blackwell shows that the addition of a new wing to the south, to give architectural balance to the north wing, will make the whole building symmetrical, the main building being flanked by two wings of like design and size.

The proposed building consists of an addition at the south of a wing containing a hall 14 feet in width the whole width of the old building, and having an entrance and vestibule at the east and west ends, and stairs to the second story and stairs to the boys' and girls' apartments in the basement. From the hall, entrance is gained to a class room and Kindergarten room each 25 x 32 feet, with left side and back lighting from the windows. Each room is provided with wardrobes, and the kindergarten room has a small class room attached, and has also in the front a bay window. These rooms are connected by sliding doors, so that when occasion requires, as for kindergarten entertainments the two rooms may be thrown into one.

The second story contains the Principal's room, with a smaller class room and a wardrobe and a class room identical in size with the rooms in the first story. In the basement there are a boy's play room, a lunch room, a girl's play room and lunch room—the latter something that does not exist in the present building—the fresh air room and furnace room.

The present addition includes the uniform tuck pointing of the whole building, which, in its remodeled state, will present a fine exterior appearance as well as contain the maximum of accommodation for a minimum expenditure of money. The ratepayers have the matter in their own hands in regard to voting the necessary money which is a small amount compared to the accommodation that will be provided. It is gratifying that our school population increases so rapidly as to demand continual increase of accommodation, and while it is never pleasant to spend money, the money spent for school purposes, when, as in the present case good value will be secured, is always a good investment. The required accommodation must be provided, and the cheaper form is preferable when it gives advantages as to grading and Kindergarten which a new four room building, at a much greater cost, would not provide. It is to be hoped that the south ward ratepayers, especially, will give the by-law their favourable support, and the other wards, which have adequate accommodation, should return the south ward the assistance it has given in furnishing accommodation for these other wards.

RUSHED WITH ORDERS.

But Everything is Gotten out Promptly by Turner & Son.

J. J. Turner & Sons are evidently doing a tremendous business. They received an order this morning from Toronto for a large tent, 40x60 feet, with 7 ft 6 in walls with poles, pegs and ropes complete. This speaks well for this firm, when it gets orders from Toronto where there are a number of resident tent-makers. The firm is engaged in putting up eight awnings in Havelock to-day. They also shipped eleven awnings to Judge Lasier, of Belleville, and another large awning, 28 feet long, to the Hotel Quinte, Belleville, as well as twenty awnings and one large marquee to Fenelon Falls. Graham & Co., Lindsay, have just received a 28 foot awning from the firm, which recently shipped six large bunting flags to Pembroke. An order has also been received from H. Calcutt for 100 life belts, 150 yards of canvas, flags, and all the fittings for the new steamer "North Star," now being built by the Peterborough Navigation Company.

Consumption—Low Condition

Wonderful Results From Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Miss Hannah Wyatt
Toronto, Ont.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians

Said She Was Past All Help

and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began

THE BAND IN THE COURT HOUSE PARK, LAST NIGHT.

A Programme Composed Entirely of Sousa's Delightful Marches.

Hundreds of citizens congregated in the Court House Park, last evening, to listen to the band giving an open air concert, the entire programme of which was composed of marches of the celebrated Sousa.

That the band did well goes without saying, the music being delightfully rendered and reflecting great credit on the training and assiduous practice to which the members have been subjected.

The large crowds which attend these open air concerts are ample proof of the appreciation of the public of the band's services and that the organization is daily growing in favour evidenced by the large increase in attendance noticed each succeeding evening. If the band held a moonlight excursion their popularity would in all probability cause it to be a great success.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

The Laymen's Convention Meets and Holds a Session.

Rev. W. R. Tucker, Ph. D., presented the report of the Statistical Committees, Thursday, at the conference showing that members have increased by 1,000. There are 38,000 Sunday school scholars in the conference, and 9,000 young people in their societies.

The following are the principal changes of local interest,—Belleville, W. J. Crothers, M. A.; Cobourg, E. N. Baker, M. A., B.D.; Port Hope, W. J. Jolliffe, B. C. L.; Belleville North, J. Anderson; Kinmount, W. W. Leigh, B.A.; Cavan South, Geo. Nickle; Pontypool, W. P. Sexsmith; Harvey, P. W. Neville; Apsley, W. P. Rogers; Norwood, L. P. Phillips; Norham, N.H. Peake; Keene, J. Liddy; Blairton, E. A. Sanderson.

FRIDAY'S WORK.

The missionary meeting was fortunate in securing Rev. Dr. Sutherland for an address. Rev. E. N. Baker, B.D., made a stirring address, packed with argument, fact and illustration; vigour of thought and delivery marked it throughout.

Introduced by the chairman, Rev. Dr. Dyer, Dr. Sutherland, in his keen, humorous way, began words which were weighty with history and grandly clinching, proving that an unseen Providence had superintended in the first, sixteenth and eighteenth centuries the gathering and climaxing of events that opened successive vast doors for missionary operations.

Communications were dealt with from the Prisoners' Aid Association and from the Rev. Dr. Winthrow. The latter showed that the Epworth Leagues numbered nearly 2,500; that $50,000 were spent during the year on Sunday School supplies; that he (Dr. Withrow), in retiring from the Secretaryship of Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues, did so with the feeling that his successor of unique influence.

After a prolonged discussion, the resolution relating to Sabbath desecration by excursions to Conference was carried, and ordered to be made public by the Associated Press.

In the large list of candidates for the ministry two only were rejected. In both of these the age militated somewhat against them. Following their reception, the Rev. N. D. Drew, who had been a member of this conference for eight years, and who had been in the States for three years, was again received among the ministers, and allowed the year he worked in Canada.

Mr. R. H. Jordan, of Albert College, eloquently advocated the student volunteer movement. Sixteen young men in the college were now preparing for foreign work. Rev. Dr. Dyer, Principal of the College, showed that it was a feeder of Methodism stronger than ever. L. W. Yeomans, bursar, followed, and said that it was in that part of the country furnishing instruction under religious influences; its debt was decreased 50 per cent., and the offar of Mr. Massey of $10,000, on condition that another $10,000 be subscribed, was met in a month by the gathering of $14,000, paid by the people of Belleville. Dr. Mallory, of Colborne, endorsed all that was said. Dr. Burwash, who had taken a seat in conference, was called, and amid loud applause, he said that no one institute had passed as large a number of senior matriculants as Albert College.

During the session of Conference the annual meeting of the Laymen's Convention of the Bay of Quinte Conference was held in the Main street church. After some miscellaneous business, the officers for the following year were appointed as follows:

President—Judge Dean, Lindsay.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. R. W. Clarke, Millbrook.

Vice-President—Messrs. Wm. Johnson, Belleville, and D. H. Minaker, Cobourg.

Executive—Messrs. R. Moment, Orono; Uriah Wilson, Napanee; John Hull, Lakefield; Dr. Horrison, Keene; J. Vandusen, Belleville; J. L. Hughes, Peterborough; R. J. McLaughlin, Lindsay.

The church was filled in the evening, large boatloads of excursionists greatly adding to the congregation. After the five young men had spoken the resolution of reception into the conference was moved by Rev. Wm. Johnston. He spoke in choice language of some of the elements of the true ministry.

Rev. D. N. McAmus followed in a strong speech on the distinctive qualities of Methodism.

The President then laid upon the thirteen standing young men the great charge that they have bound themselves to carry.

THE WHEEL.

The bicycle shares with cricket the advantage of being available for employment of any age from six to sixty. One can easily conceive of three generations, son father and grandfather, making a tour together in this exhilarating fashion, and all young as to their hearts and their legs. The rejuvenating influence of the wheel is quite noticeable and cheering. There is a man who has reconciled himself to the passage into old fogeyism—stoops a little and places his feet down somewhat heavily. One day you see him on a wheel, and find that he has acquired not only a new means of locommotion, but an unmistakably "gallus" appearance. He wears a jaunty peaked cap; his trousers are neatly reefed; perhaps he has even dared to break into knickerbockers and a sweater. He does not like the little boys to call him "whiskers," or hint that the wind blowing through the luxuriant growth impedes his progress; consequently his hair is trimmed with soldierly neatness. He probably pretends that he does not care about going very fast; that it is foolish for a person of his years to over-exert himself; but if he is under fifty do not be surprised to find him racing street cars—

While it is proper in the interests of public order and decency to maintain distinctions between the dresses of the sexes in general, any attempt to regulate these arbitrarily in particular instances should, argues a contemporary, be discountenanced. An attempt was made the other day to introduce a sumptuary law forbidding women cyclists to wear the knickerbocker in riding in the streets of Chicago, which, happily, for the moment was unsuccessful. Such a law would prove simply an instrument of persecution in the hands of the unscrupulous. It would establish a precedent which would likely be extended to cover many other occasions which call for modifications in the dress of women. The employment of special dress for special occasions is recognized by convention. The knickerbocker, while not artistic, is certainly more healthful and convenient on the wheel. When generally adopted by women cyclists, that garb will be taken as much as a matter of course as their riding, lately decried, now is. The policy of laissez faire is a safe one for Governments to follow where neither danger to life nor to morals is involved in a line of conduct.

CRICKET.

The second eleven of Trinty School, Port Hope, will play here on Saturday, June 15th.

The Orillia cricket club plays the local men on the P. A. A. A. grounds, Monday afternoon.

The Veterans and Colts are playing this afternoon and evening on the cricket grounds.

Mr. Drope, of the Collegiate Institute staff, intends making a cricketing town out of Peterborough and is going right way about it by starting on the boys of twelve and fourteen years of age and getting them interested in the game. Every afternoon, he has a score or more of them out on the P. A. A. A. grounds practising and at half past twelve to-day a bus load of the youthful enthusiasts left for Lakefield to play against the boys of Mr. Sparham Sheldrake's school. The Peterborough team will be picked from the following players:—Jack Fessenden, Norman Bell, T. Gerrans, Crawford Sawers, Harry and George Rogers, Frank Burnham, Walter Brooks, Oscar Dumble and Norman Bradburn.

Lindsay defeated Millbrook in cricket on Friday at the latter place by 19 runs. The following is the score:

LACROSSE.

The Millbrook lacrosse club went on the Bailliboro Foresters' excursion on Thursday from Beadley to Hastings, and crossed sticks with the team of that town. When time was called the score stood two to one in favour of the Millbrooks. The game was played with eleven men a side, and the Millbrook team was composed as follows: Goal, W. Strain; point, L. F. Clarry; cover point, J. Bateson; 1st defence, T. Isbister; 2nd defence, A. Irwin; centre, Geo. Leach; 3rd home, S. Pickup; 2nd home, T. Nattrass; 1st home, A. Chambers; outside home, J. Nattrass; inside home, Geo. Carveth; field captain, E. S. Clarry.

The following team will represent the III Peterboroughs in their match with the Orillia High School team Monday afternoon at Riverside:

Goal	Monty
Point	Crossley
Cover point	McDonough
1st defence	Dobbin
2nd "	Butler
3rd "	Green
Centre	Savigny
3rd home	King
2nd "	W Sawers
1st "	Costello
Outside home	Knapp
Inside home	E Sawers

The following teams have been picked for a practice game Monday evening, at the Driving Park:

Adams	goal	Shambo
Dobbin	point	Hughes
Bolin	cover point	McNamara
Brown	1st defence	McMahon
Lynch	2nd "	Borland

A CARLETON CO. MIRACLE.

BACK TO HEALTH AFTER YEARS OF EXTREME SUFFERING.

Yielded to the Advice of a Friend and Obtained Results Three Doctors Had Failed to Secure.

From the Ottawa Journal.

Mr. George Argue is one of the best known farmers in the vicinity of North Gower. He has passed through an experience as painful as it is remarkable, and his story as told a reporter will perhaps be of value to others. "I was born in the county of Carleton," said Mr. Argue, "and have lived all my life within twenty miles of the city of Ottawa. Ten years of that time have been years of pain and misery almost beyond endurance. Eleven years ago I contracted a cold which resulted in pleurisy and inflammation of the lungs. Other complications then followed and I was confined to my room for five years. The doctor who attended me through that long illness said that the reason I was unable to move about was due to the contracting of the muscles and nerves of my hands and feet through long confinement to bed. I could hobble around a little on crutches, but was well nigh helpless. At this stage a second doctor was called in who declared my trouble was spinal complaint. Notwithstanding medical and treatment I was sinking lower and lower, and was regarded as incurable. I was now in such a state that I was unable to leave my bed, but determined to find a cure, if possible, and sent for one of the most able physicians in Ottawa. I was under his care and treatment for three years. He blistered my back every three and four weeks and exerted all his skill, but in vain. I was growing weaker and weaker, and began to think the end could not be far off. At this juncture a friend strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I yielded to his solicitations, and by the time six boxes of pills were used I found myself getting better. I have used in all thirty boxes, and they have accomplished what ten years of treatment under physicians failed to do. Thanks to this wonderful medicine I am able to attend to my duties, and am as free from disease as any man in ordinary health is expected to be. I still use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they are the medicine for me, and so long as I live I shall use no other. If I had got these Pills ten years ago I am satisfied that I would not have suffered as I did, and would have saved some hundreds of dollars doctor bills. It is only those who have passed through such a terrible siege as I have done who can fully realize the wonderful merit of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

I could hobble around on crutches.

Mr. Argue's experience should convince even the most skeptical that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stand far in advance of other medicines and are one of the greatest discoveries of the age. There is no disease due to poor or watery blood or shattered nerves which will not speedily yield to this treatment and in innumerable cases patients have been restored to health and strength after physicians had pronounced the dreaded word "incurable." Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent by mail postpaid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schnectady, N. Y. Refuse imitations and do not be persuaded to try something else.

The Boiling Point.

There are some curious things about the boiling point of different liquids which the most thoughtful never take time to reflect upon. If you have been out of school six months, it is 10 to 1 that you have entirely forgotten the meaning of the term "boiling point" as applied to the different elements. It is "the temperature at which the elastic force of the vapor of any liquid is equal to the pressure of the atmosphere." The various liquids have different boiling points. Sulphurous acid boils at a fraction above 17 degrees of the Fahrenheit scale, aldehyde at 7.1, ether at 96, wood alcohol at 151, water at 212, sulphuric acid at 620 and mercury at 662. The above refers to tests made at sea level, barometer at 30 inches.

When the barometer stands at 30, it shows a pressure of 15 pounds to the square inch. Remove this pressure, or even a portion of it, and the boiling point of all liquids changes correspondingly. In making reckonings on this score it is calculated that there is a diminution of one degree for each 510 feet of ascent. In the City of Mexico water boils at 198 degrees F. and in the Himalayas at 180. By the above it will be seen that "boiling" water is not always equally hot. This explains why it is next to impossible to cook beans, potatoes, etc., in mountainous regions.—St. Louis Republic.

A POUFFED SLEEVE.

How to Cut It and How to Make It.

Many of the new sleeves, although not specially showing the division, are made in two parts, as it is now imperative that the sleeve to the elbow should fit quite closely, and this is most difficult to obtain where the sleeve is cut in one piece. The pouff should be very wide and full, as it is not stiffened, and is usually set out by a bias bouillonnee sewn on to the sleeve lining some inches below the shoulder.

The present sleeve shown by the diagram, requires three yards of 22-inch silk, or one and three-quarter yards of 40 or 42-inch material. The pouff, folded double, is seen to be nearly as long as the entire sleeve lining, and measures 44 inches round, and is 21 inches in depth. The smaller half of the pouff lies over the other, and forms the under arm portion, and the slightly longer upper part has three little pleats in the seam to bring it to the requisite length.

There is a small part next the seam which, both at the back and front, is left plain, but all the remainder is set in full pleats or coarse gathers, to fit the lining, and this, again, is slightly fulled just over the centre of the arm. The lining is faced up to the broken line, and then seamed up, and the pouff is sewn on just at this line, the principal fullness following the line of the top, and not going much over the inside arm.

That's Very Nice.

"I have a trained seal," said the Englishman. "It can be hitched to a boat, and will drag my children about on my private lake just as a pony will drag a cart." "That's very nice," said the American. "I have one too. Mine takes its fur off in winter and lends it to my wife for a sacque."—Harper's Bazar.

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

Free from Eruptions

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

STORIES OF MONTE CARLO.

Some of Them True, Many False, but All Highly Interesting.

But who should this be sipping some iced vermouth at the marble table but an old friend whom I will call Mr. Spectator. He lives at Monte Carlo; he has passed a score of seasons here; he has plenty of money; he goes to the Casino every day and every evening, and he never plays a cent. It is his occupation in life to be an observer of things and to mark the ways of man and woman kind. In the summer he will mark them at Aix-les-Bains, at Lausanne, or at Trouville. He knows everything about what is going on just now at "Monty"; what Russian princess pawned her diamonds last week, and what Cuban sugar-planter did not die of apoplexy at the Hotel Carmbole but poisoned himself with prussic acid. "He was a fool, sir," quoth Mr. Spectator. "Why didn't he go to the Administration? Why didn't he make his declaration? They knew well enough that he had lost 200,000 francs in the course of ten days. They would have paid his travelling and hotel expenses back to Paris, or back to Brazil, for the matter of that. He was a fool, sir!"

Mr. Spectator went on to explain that when a cleaned-out player made a candid admission of his impecuniosity the Administration gave him a sum of money sufficient to defray his journey by railway to the place whence he came and his incidental expenses en route. He mentioned one case in which a whole family of five persons were allowed fifteen louis apiece to take them from Monte Carlo to London, the sole condition attached to the largesse being that the recipient should not re-enter the Casino unless he or she recoped the Administration for their outlay. In the case which he cited, one of the party a lady, who had not gone further than Nice, received some weeks afterwards a handsome remittance from England She went back blithely to "Monty," repaid the fifteen louis, re-entered the Casino, and backing the douze dernier, not forgetting zero, won £300. "You are not to believe,' added Mr. Spectator, "a tithe of the sensational stories printed about ruined gamesters hanging themselves to trees in the gardens, or blowing out their brains in hte reading room." The majority of these canards are set on foot by obscure French newspapers which have not been subventioned or bribed by the Administration to puff Monte Carlo.

One of the pleasantest characteristics of my friend Mr. Spectator is that every time you meet him he has a fresh story to tell you about an infallible system for winning at roulette, and this time he regaled me with a succinct narrative of what I may call the "Wellington boot system." Capt. Backum had played for many years a large number of systems, and by the time he was five-and-forty had plucked away a handsome fortune. A happy thought occurred to him. He always wore Wellington boots. His capital was just five louis. This he changed into five-franc pieces, and he never staked more than one piece at a time, and if he won he withdrew his stakes after the third coup. His winnings he carefully placed in a side pocket, and whenever he had won four pieces he changed them into a louis and slipped the coin into one of his boots. He played for seven consecutive hours before his stock capital was exhausted. Then he returned to Nice, somewhat heavy of footstep, and, drawing off his boots, found that he had won a hundred louis. "This was two, years ago," continued Mr. Spectator, "and only last week I found Backum at a third-class hotel at Nice. He was in a dressing gown and slippers, and looking by no means cheerful. 'How about the Wellington boot system?" I asked. "Utter collapse," he replied. "Confounded run of bad luck." "And the boots?" I went on. "The boots?" he replied. "I pawned them yesterday afternoon."

So this is "Monty" in full swing; "Monty," with its ups and downs, its ceaseless whirl of gayety and dissipation. There is no rest at Monte Carlo. When you are tired of play there are dramatic performances; there are concerts; there is pigeon shooting; and in the spring and summer there is plenty of yachting. But all these are only side issues. The Grand Trunk line of Monte Carlo leads to the Temple of Mammon. It is crowded night and day by people lusting for money which they have not earned; and it is the Road to Ruin.

BISMARCK'S OLD SWEETHEART.

In His Youth the Iron Chancellor Loved a Farmer's Daughter.

One of the most popular pictures at the present day in Germany is the portrait of a woman who was Bismarck's sweetheart in his early days. Bismark was living at Kniephof in the year 1839. His personal life during that year was of that lively character over which he afterward lamented so bitterly. It was the sturm und drang zeit of his existence. Stories of his dissoluteness and pride, his daring feats as a rider and his achievements as a boon campanion, his disregard as conventional rules, and his love of wild adventure, are numerous. The youthful owner of Kniephof was to be often seen careering wildly across the country alone or in the company of gay friends who were his guests, and such was the impression he produced on the quiet population that he came to be generally known as the "Mad Bismarck." Near Kniephof there lived a farmer of the name of Goetz. He had an onlydaughter, Malvina, who was known as the beauty of the neighborhood. Bismarck met her and paid his addresses, but as it was impossible for the proud young master of Kniephof to make this lowly maid his wife, her father frowned upon this intimacy. Soon after Bismark, on his mother's death, moved to Pomerania and probably forgot all about his early attachment. Malvina Goetz married in her own station in life.

Years afterward, when Bismack's name became famous throughout the world, the respectable, middle-aged Malvina became a local celebrity, and the chancellor's enemies tried to make capital out of his old love affair.

He Would Suit.

"Can you cook, knit and do plain sewing, dear?" asked the Emancipated Young Woman to the lovely young man upon whom she had been bestowing her attentions.

"Yes," was the timid reply.

"Then be mine!" exclaimed the impetuous lover.—Detroit Free Press.

A Wise Proviso.

Mr. Kidby—How would you like to have a new little brother, Tommy?

Tommy—That's all right; but while you are at it, get one big enough to carry up coal, will you?

He Got the Place.

People are not always sure of their own needs; and the boy in this story, given by The Northern Budget, doubtless acted upon his knowledge of that fact.

"Do you want a boy?" he asked of the magnate of the office, standing before him, cap in hand.

"Nobody wants a boy," replied the magnate.

"Do you need a boy?" asked the applicant, nowise abashed.

"Nobody needs a boy."

The boy would not give up.

"Well, say, mister," he inquired, "do you have to have a boy?"

The magnate collapsed.

"I'm sorry to say we do," he said, "and I guess you're about what we want."

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

"Well, rather. I wore my navy blue bloomers, and heliotrope shirt waist, and he couldnt keep his eyes off me."—The Pathfinder.

Suspicious Answers.

"And, of course, you weren't a bit seasick crossing the Atlantic?"

"Yes, I was—horribly."

"And wasn't the voyage the roughest the captain had seen in years?"

"No, it was comparatively smooth."

"Great Scott! I don't believe you've been across at all."—Chicago Herald.

For one dollar, you may buy a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which, if taken in time, and according to directions, may save a great many dollars in doctors' bills, and thus exemplify the truth of the old maxim, "Prevention is better than cure."

STRAY THOUGHTS ON THE CONFLICT BETWEEN SCIENCE AND RELIGION.

The invisible things of Him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal power and God head."—St. Paul.

There is a book who runs may read,
Which heavenly truth imparts,
And all the love its scholars need,
Pure eyes and Christian hearts.

The works of God above, below,
Within us and around,
Are pages in that book to show,
How God Himself is found.

Two worlds are ours; 'tis only sin
Forbids us to descry
The mystic e'av'n and earth within
Plain as the sea and sky.

When I was a child I thought as a child. The Book says, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," and then follows a description of the work of creation. "And on the seventh day God ended the work which He had made."

And so when I was a child I was taught, and I believed, that in six days of twenty-four hours each God made the world and all that in it is; and that this work of creation was about 6,000 years ago. As I grew older I was told that "day" in the Bible is frequently used for period of time, and that in fact it was apparent from the reading of that other Book, the Book of Nature, that, while the order of creation might have been as stated in the Bible, the world was very, very old.

Men, who carefully turned the leaves of Nature's book, and in the rocks and formations saw evidences of vast periods of time as necessary for the accomplishment of the results found, turned in sceptical derision and impeached the story of creation as told in Genesis, and there arose a clash between science and religion.

'Tis true that what is writ in nature is true; the trouble is

TO READ IT ARIGHT.

But assuming that for the most part the conclusions which scientists have arrived at are true, it does not follow that their reading of God's Book is true. If the two Books have a common Author there can be no clash.

The Bible may have the imperfections of its human authors which have crept in, but with advanced study it is every day being demonstrated more fully that many at first apparent inconsistencies between conclusions of science and the written Word are reconcilable, and that in man's imperfect knowledge has been for the most part the difficulty in realizing the harmony.

To-day we are told that the world is certainly millions of years old and when the most advanced scientists are asked to fix a limit to its age they do not stop at surmising that it is in fact hundreds of millions of years old.

These are periods of time wholly beyond our comprehension, and what changes and what developments there may have been in the ages of the past we know not nor can we accurately surmise.

Man is delving in the dark; finding here and there a fact, the sum of his knowledge is little—very little. He longs to know all, but we are as children crying in the night. How strange then that with this little accomplishment in attaining to knowledge man should presume what he does not know.

TO QUESTION AND DENY

The conclusions of science which he has attained to have been often withdrawn and others substituted; he is simply feeling his way, often in perplexity, often wrong, more often not sure, and always certain that there is much beyond, which is not yet revealed. Amazed at results which he has stumbled upon, he is lost in his inability to realize what the future will reveal. And yet, with incredible audacity, he questions and ridicules as absurd what his limited ken has not fully measured.

Man is himself a creation. He does not fully know himself. Is it to be expected that he will measure his Creator?

The more thorough is the knowledge of things created, the more it is found that the word of God as contained in the Bible harmonizes with the word of the same Being as read by the eye of Science.

To the Christian it is a very satisfactory thing to find that the intellectual giants of the age not only accept revealed religion as a reasonable thing, but men like Gladstone and Romaines accept Christianity as in harmony with their highest knowledge and most cultured being. Even Darwin admits that in nature are such as to preclude the idea that things came by chance, and Huxley, Tindal and others of the most advanced school hesitate to assert that facts as disclosed to science can be relied on as antagonistic to revealed religion, and some of these men, after a life of study and investigation, accept the truths of revealed religion as not only consistent with science, but reasonable as a guide for life in its highest and deepest interests.

This one thing we know, that the antagonism between science and religion grows daily less, that the religion of the Bible is spreading; that the nations who acknowledge it are the predominant nations of the world, and that those who are known as Christian are not only leading the world, but that they possess power among the nations wholly unaccountable.

Unaccountable, save that through Christianity they are elevated to such a status in all that make a nation great, that they are to day the prevailing powers of the world.

All this goes to prove that this power which has made the nations great will prevail to bring the world under the influence of Christianity.

We have stated that the world is very old, we must not expect too much in a day. "With God a thousand years are as one day," but surely history is in these latter days being made fast, and we believe that the changes which are coming will come quickly, and that ere long the nations will become Christian, and the world will be won for Christ.

Missing Heir to $25,000 Found on an Alberta Farm.

Buffalo, June 8.—Three or four weeks ago was published a romantic story of a fortune of $25,000 awaiting young Halpin Hertu, from the death of his aunt in Three Rivers, Que. The young man's parents reside in this city, but they have had no word of him but once since he left home 10 years ago at age of 16 to seek his fortune. That occasion was eight years ago, when he wrote from San Francisco.

A newspaper advertisement in The Edmonton, Alberta, Herald seems to indicate to the parents that their son is located there and they have written to ascertain whether he is the missing heir.

SCANDINAVIAN CRISIS AVERTED.

Proposed Negotiations to Clear Up Points of Dispute.

Christiana, June 8.—The Shorting today, by a vote of 90 to 24, adopted a resolution declaring that the existing political situation calls for the removal of the discords in the union, and affirming Norway's right to equality under the terms of the union with Sweden, including a separate consular service and a separate foreign minister. The resolution proposes that negotiations be carried on to clear up the dispute between the two countries.

The extreme Radicals opposed the resolution as going too far in order to bring about a reconciliation. The Conservatives and Moderates supported it on the ground that a policy of compromise was best for both nations. The largeness of the majority astounded the Radicals. A compromise ministry is now expected.

Hamilton Will Separate From Wentworth

Hamilton, June 8.—The city and county are unable to agree as to the division of expenses for running the jail, and as a result the ratepayers of the city voted the sum of $45,000 to build a new jail for the city. In this event the county would be saddled with an expensive institution for which it has little use, and it offered to sell to the city for $40,000 and pay 37 cents per day for the keep of its prisoners. The city offered $30,000, but the county rejects the offer as being too low, and has appointed a committee to take proceedings for the complete separation of the county from the city for all purposes.

150,000 Bushels of Barley Burned.

Appleton, Wis., June 7.—Two elevators belonging to the Wisconsin Malt and Grain Co., with an office building, were destroyed by fire last night. In the elevators were 150,000 bushels of malt and barley. Loss $150,000; half insured.

A $25 Blaze This Morning.

BROWNED OR FROZEN TO DEATH.

Survivors of a Wreck Suffer Terribly From Cold.

Victoria, B.C., June 8.—An account of the wreck of the schooner Kodiak, on Kodiak Island, has reached here; also the loss of the schooner C. G. White of San Francisco, near the same place. Ten of the crew of the White were lost. Many were frozen to death while lashed to the rigging and others were drowned. The survivors crossed the mountains through the deep snow to Okyak, where medical attention was given them. Harry Harnsom, F. A. Sweeney, A. O'Brien, A. Johnson, F. F. Rogers and E. W. Ball had their feet amputated to save their lives.

PRISONERS AND LIBEL SUITS.

A Permanent Solicitor to Be Employed to Defend All Actions.

Toronto, June 8.—A meeting of the Executive of the Canadian Press Association was held at the Queen's Hotel yesterday, L. W. Shannon of The Kingston News presiding. It was decided to hold an excursion through the Maritime Provinces during the first week in August. Special arrangements have been made with the railroads and steamship lines for reduced rates. Among the leading places to be visited are St. John, N.B., the Annapolis Valley, the Bras D'Or Lakes, Louisburg, Charlottetown and Quebec.

It was decided to form a protective association, to employ a permanent solicitor and counsel for the common defence of libel suits.

A resolution was also passed to the effect that the recent decision of Pelland vs. The Montreal Star was a serious menace to the liberties of the press and to the public interests.

Two St. Clair Fishermen Missing.

St. Clair, Mich., June 7.—William and Nawa Countawaux of Courtright, Ont., a town across the river from this place, left home Thursday afternoon to ply their trade, fishing in the St. Clair River. They had not been heard from since, and as a severe storm suddenly lashed the river into whitecapped waves the afternoon which they were to have devoted to fishing it is probable both were drowned.

THE NOTORIOUS CURRAN BRIDGE

Day Labor Permits of Just as Must Theft As the Contract System — No Move Made by the Government to Bring Offenders to Justice.

Ottawa, June 9.—The fact that almost two years have elapsed since the disclosure of the atrocious frauds which resulted in the theft of $284,000 from the public treasury in connection with the construction of the Curran bridge, and that no person has yet been punished, shows how empty was the declaration of the Minister of Railways last session, that no guilty party would escape. Not only has the Government failed to bring any of the boodlers to justice, but Emanuel St. Louis, who is said to be the chief offender, is prosecuting an action in the courts to recover $65,000 in addition to what he has already received. It is true that criminal proceedings against St. Louis have been instituted, but the progress which they have been making does not indicate that there is any desire to put the contractor to any more inconvenience than is necessary to give a coloring to the pretence that the Government is in earnest in the course it is pursuing. The Government is in a somewhat embarrassing position in regard to this business, for until the country demands that justice shall be done the Department of Justice is handicapped by the fact that St. Louis is a cousin of the Minister of Public Works and that he has been a generous contributor to the Conservative election fund in Quebec. It might not be uninteresting to recall the facts of the steal, in view of the recent acquittal of St. Louis by Judge Desnoyers of Montreal, on the ground that the looseness of the contract entitled him to get the money he was charged with obtaining by fraud, and of the dispute between the Conservative Governments at Quebec and Ottawa as to who shall pay the cost of a new trial.

In 1892 Parliament voted the departmental estimates of $170,000 for a new bridge over the Lachine Canal at Wellington-street, in Montreal, and for the removal of the Grand Trunk Railway bridge alongside. The work was proceeded with during the winter of 1892-93. The chief engineer and other officers of the department, as well as Minister Haggart, frequently visited the works in the course of construction. The whole work was under the immediate supervision of the Department of Railways and Canals at Ottawa. It was done under the day-labor system, and the result proved that as much money can be stolen under the Ottawa regime by means of the day-labor system as under the contract system. The outside quantity of timber and lumber which could have been used in the work was 2,594,000 feet, board measure, yet there was charged and paid for 3,613,000 feet, or a steal of over a million feet, representing at least $15,000 for that item. The stone cutting, which could have been done for $6000, cost $40,000. Upon the Wellington-street bridge and the Curran bridge, as it has been called to immortalise the Solicitor-General, the cost of stone-cutting by piece work should have been about $3000; the amount paid by the Government was $16,715. On the Grand Trunk bridge, what would have cost by piece work about $3000 actually cost the Government $23,180. The sub-structure should have cost, according to departmental estimate $56,000. The paylist for labor alone on the sub-structure, without taking into account material, plant or false works, amounted to $140,000. The Grand Trunk Railway Co., upon the estimate of Chief Engineer Hannaford, offered to build the railway bridge for $70,000, of which amount Mr. Hannaford swore that he had allowed $10,000 for profit to the company, making the estimated cost $60,000. Under Mr. Haggart's direction it cost $186,000 for labor alone. The original estimate of cost for the sub-structures of both bridges, allowing for an 18-foot navigation, was $122,000. This was after wards increased to a 20-foot navigation, for which the total cost was estimated at $160,000. The actual cost was $430,325, of which $2[illegible],000, paid over a steal from the taxpayers in Mr. Haggart's department alone of $234,000. It is estimated that St. Louis, who was the contractor for labor, made $150,000 out of the job. He falsified the paylists, which contained the names of men who were never employed on the works at all, and there were five times as many men under pay as were necessary On March 8, 1893, no less than 1300 men were upon the works, for every one of whom St. Louis was receiving pay. During the parliamentary investigation of the scandal last year, St. Louis swore that he had been making political subscriptions for 20 years. Early in the fall of 1893 the Government was put in possession of the facts by the report of the departmental commission, and again the evidence was taken by the Public Accounts Committee of Parliament last year. A number of men were involved in the conspiracy, but in the face of all the evidence afforded it the Government has made no move against these offenders, excepting one individual, and the prosecution in this solitary case has been characterised by anything but the vigor that would reasonably be expected from men professing to be in earnest.

Here is the excuse given by the Minister of Justice for his failure to proceed against the minor offenders :

"It could not have been anticipated; it was not anticipated by the law officers of the Crown that such an unfortunate miscarriage of justice would take place in the city of Montreal. That was not anticipated, but I do say this: That if under the evidence that we produce we can neither obtain a committal from a magistrate nor obtain the presentment of a bill from the grand jury, then I do say, that I will advise my colleagues and the Government that it is absolutely futile and useless to proceed against the minor and other offenders. That is the course we have adopted. That is the course upon which we proceeded, and on good advice; not only on the advice I have from those immediately associated with me, but I candidly tell the House the position that the Government takes in that regard. We are not masters of the situation. We must bow in this respect to higher powers. We must submit ourselves to the tribunals of the country even if we are dissatisfied and meet the obstacles that were not anticipated."

The Opposition has demanded that every effort shall be put forth to bring the wrong-doers to the bar of justice.

ECUADOR REBELS VICTORIOUS.

Eleven of the Fifteen Provinces Now Held by the Insurgents.

Panama, June 7.—Advices received here yesterday from Guayaquil, Ecuador, say the Government possessions are now reduced to the provinces of Pinchinc Canar, Azuy and Loja, the other 11 being almost completely in the hands of the revolutionists.

The four principal ports, Guayaquil, Bahia, Esmeralda and Manta, are also held by the insurgents, and the interior provinces will be compelled to surrender, although it is thought that by the aid of the clergy they would be able to hold out for some time. The clergy are powerful and will make every effort to maintain the present Government in power.

A Peer to Sit for Chorley.

London, June 7.—Lord Balcarres, heir to the Earldom of Crawford and Balcarres, has been elected to Parliament for the Chorley division of North Lancashire, in the room of Gen. R. J. Feilden, deceased. Lord Balcarres is a Conservative, as was also General Feilden. He was opposed at the polls.

German Victory on the Sassage.

London, June 7.—A despatch from Berlin, says the Germans have stormed four forts belonging to rebellious Bakoko tribes on Lower Sassage River. The fighting was desperate. Two hundred natives were killed, many wounded, and a large number taken prisoners. The German loss was slight.

Why Russia Backed China's Loan.

London, June 7.—It is learned that the Chinese 4 per cent. loan of £16,000,000, which has just been concluded by Paris bankers, was guaranteed by Russia in consequence of China's concessions to Russia, enabling he to extend the Siberian Railway into Manchuria.

Hamilton Bobbies to Ride Wheels

Hamilton, June 7.—Chief Smith has submitted to the Police Commissioners a proposition to have police mounted on bicycles to patrol the outskirts of the city during the summer months.

Shot Himself in the Mouth.

New York, June 7.—Robert J. Jones, aged about 30, committed suicide in Central Park by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver.

De Barry Found the Canucks Wealthy.

Buffalo, June 10.—Inspector of Immigration De Barry has just finished his report for May. He investigated 120 cases in which persons were admitted to the United States. One hundred and ten were from Canada, 9 from Russia and one from Scotland; 61 were men, and 59 females. The Canadians brought with them $23,075 and the Russians $500. All of the 120 settled in this city.

Turkish Financial Reforms.

Vienna, June 9.—In an interview to-day the Turkish Ambassador here said that the nomination of Said Pasha as Grand Visier in the Turkish Cabinet now forming, was due to needful financial reforms. It had no relation to the questions concerning Armenia.

Toronto Markets.

Flour—Trade is quiet, with demand restricted. Straight rollers quoted at $4.75 Toronto freights.

Bran—Business in bran quiet and prices $12.50, Toronto freights. Shorts unchanged at $16.50.

Wheat—The market to-day was quiet, but the feeling generally is very strong and higher prices anticipated. White and red quoted outside at $1 to $1.02; Manitoba firm at $1.06, Toronto freights.

Barley—Trade dull and prices steady. Feed quoted at 52c to 53c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Car lots of white sold to-day at 39c, west.

Rye—Business quiet, with prices nominal at 42c to 43c, outside.

Buckwheat—There is nothing doing and prices are purely nominal.

THE WHEAT IS SAFE.

Frost in Manitoba Can Now Do No Harm.

STEAMSHIP LINE TO CAPE TOWN

Boats Chartered to Run Between Montreal and South Africa—A Small Riot in Montreal—Sir W. C. Van Horne on the Business Outlook.

Montreal, June 9.—Sir William Van Horne arrived in the city yesterday from Marquette and Minneapolis, where the President of the Canadian Pacific had been attending the annual meeting of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Sault Ste. Marie and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railways.

When called upon by your correspondent, Sir William was in high spirits and full of hope as to the near approach of good times for the Canadian Pacific and its western connections, in fact one would have said that Manitoba wheat had just gone beyond the $2 mark and the railway magnate's predictions had been fulfilled.

"I was in Chicago, also," said Sir William, and a buoyant hope has given place to that depression which used to exist in men's minds concerning affairs in the Northwest.

The President, being asked if he had heard anything about that Manitoba frost that the wheat dealers were talking about on Change in the morning, replied in the negative. Anyway, he added, "a frost in Manitoba can do no harm now."

He could not verify the statement that the crops in the Canadian Northwest were three weeks in advance of last year, but there was no doubt that signs were indicative of a magnificent yield.

"I want to see," continued Sir William, "a big crop of wheat in Canada as well as in Minnesota and Northern Dakota."

"Were there any changes in the directorate of your western connections?" asked the correspondent.

"No, there were none. Things are moving along quietly, and all hope for an immediate revival of business."

Sir William VanHorne then referred to the renewed mining interest in British Columbia, and appears to be more than confident as to the prospects in the Caribou district. He believed that in a few weeks only the mines of that section of British Columbia would be shown to possess wonderful productive power.

Messrs. Murdoch, Barber & Co., of Toronto state that arrangements are about completed with a prominent English firm to place steamers on a route between Montreal and Capetown, South Africa, the first of August, to be followed by regular monthly sailings from the St. Lawrence in summer and a maritime port in winter. It is stated foreign freights have been obtained at a less figure than from New York or London, and the time of passage will be 40 to 45 days.

Fifty Italians working on Soulanges Canal struck work on Saturday, and threatened trouble. Detective Carpenter arrested two of them, and the rest promised to go to work Monday.

J. G. Ward, Treasurer and Postmaster-General of New Zealand, who has been in London raising a loan of £1,500,000 for the purpose of improvement, arrived here to-day, and left for Ottawa this evening, where he will interview Canadian Ministers relative to Pacific mail and cable matters.

This has been an interesting anniversary for more than one family in this city. On June 19, 1853, what has passed into history as the Gavazzi riots took place in front of old Zion Church, on Beaver Hall Hill, and occupied up to a short time since by The Daily Herald. It will be remembered that while Gavazzi, an ex-Italian priest, was declaiming against the alleged errors of his Mother Church a crowd assembled, some being hostile and others sympathetic, and were fired upon by the soldiers of the 26th Cameronian Regiment, who had arrived in the city the same day. Mr. William McDonald, engineer of the Montreal drill hall, told The World to-day that Colonel Hoggarth of the Cameronians afterwards died of a broken heart. Some 27 persons were killed and between 50 and 60 wounded.

"What do you think of the Grit statement that the Halifax refiners got a tip previous to the change in the sugar duties?" was the plain question put by a friend to-day to a Halifax business man.

"It is all nonsense," was the reply. "The story is absurd on the face of it, especially for those who know that our refineries had sold ahead 90,000 barrels at prices that leave no manner of doubt as to their complete ignorance of the Finance Minister's intention."

La Semaine Religieuse, the organ of Mgr. Fabre, publishes to-day the remarkable story of the Rev. Sister Lucain of the Providence Community. This reverend lady declares that she took sick in the year 1888 and continued along until 1893, when she began to grow worse and last month was given up by her doctor as incurable. Then the reverend lady states she made a novena in honor of the Rev. Mother Gamelin, the founder of the Providence Nuns, and while at mass she felt herself suddenly cured of a disease that had baffled the skill of the ablest doctors. Dr. Leblanc confirms the truth of the lady's recital.

A CONTEMPTIBLE TRICK.

Ottawa Free Press.

An old dodge of the Conservative party, at times when electoral issues are immediately before the people, is to have recourse to the simple but disreputable offence of forgery. To issue fly-sheets, or other documents, in the names of their opponents, in such a manner as in reality to influence the unwary among the electors against them, has been done again and again. Thus the famous "green bill," which was an inflammatory appeal to the Irish Catholics at a certain election not long ago, in Toronto, and designed to rally the Orangemen and Protestants, was concocted in the United Empire Club and written by a secretary of a Conservative association. The trick has been done so frequently and exposed on every occasion in so very decided a manner that it might reasonably be supposed it was effectually played out and altogether "too thin" for this enlightened age. But, just as we read in the papers that notwithstanding the constant exposures, the confidence man and the "green goods" man still find victims, so we presume the Conservatives still think that by the use of spurious publications they will find some guillible enough to be deceived. The latest attempt in this direction is one of a very clumsy character. It appears that there has recently been sent out to the farmers in a number of localities a circular, purporting to be authorized by the Liberal leader, stating that the latter may have been "misinformed upon the question of the relations of the farmers to the National Policy, and adding that if such be the case they have only to speak out and the Liberal leaders will withdraw their opposition, at least so far as protecting the farmers' interests go." It is scarcely necessary to say that the Liberal party has never authorized such an absurd appeal. Seeing that ever since the inauguration of the so-called National Policy the Liberal party have worked persistently against it, very largely on the ground that it was detrimental to the farmers' interests and, further than this, have clearly demonstrated how it is so detrimental, the idea of its leaders now going cap in hand for information upon the subject borders on the ludicrous. But there is a malicious side to this precious production. It proceeds to say that the "information" is to be sent to "Mr. John McMillan, M.P.," to whom it can be mailed "free of charge." It may be as well to quote here Mr. McMillian's statement upon the subject in the House of Commons, which of course establishes the fact that the "circular" is nothing more than a clumsy forgery. "I am the individual who has been blamed for sending out circulars to the farmers. I want to say that no circular was ever sent out by me or with my consent to any of the farmers of Ontario, and if any one else did I have nothing to with that." Other leaders of the party are as emphatic in their repudiation. The petty act in question is not likely to have any political result, as it is one of those few specimens of a lie which can be overtaken. As the circular was first noticed by the patent-combination organ of the Government, perhaps that publication can give explanation of its origin and authorship.

LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

Second Meeting of the New Board—874 Boxes of Cheese Boarded.

The second meeting of the newly formed cheese board was held Wednesday. When the meeting opened the secretary, Mr. J. H. Curtin of Derryville, entered the names of the following factories on the blackboard:

	Boxes.
Star	95
Lorneville	40
Cameron	53
Dranford	77
Valentia	—
Gamebridge	70
Mariposa	38
Derryville	87
Cambray	30
Janetville	45
Manilla	54
Fenelon Falls	85
North Verulam	38
Minden	40
Leaskdale	80

Valentia did not board for some reason. Liverpool quoted at 42 shillings.

Mr. Thos. Roberison, president, stated that at the opening meeting the board had received a blow owing to 6½c being the highest offer against 6½c paid in Peterborough. That kind of thing would have to be improved upon or the board would come to grief very quickly. Most of the cheese boarded was the last half of May make, which offered buyers an advantage, as it would not be at its best for a week.

Mr. Spence, representing Warrington, of Belleville, alluded to the up-beam weight regulation in the board's rules, and said that the Peterborough board had dispensed with that rule.

Mr. Flavelle pointed out that numerous complaints came from the old country dealers about light weights—if they knew how many they would appreciate the position of affairs. Cheese shipped to the old country shrank sometimes two and three pounds, and if Victoria county cheese was marked light a few times dealers would become prejudiced against it.

A motion was then put and carried that the half-pound be conceded to the buyers, only three salesmen opposing it.

Mr. Blanchard, of the Leaskdale factory, said he believed in selling his cheese for what it weighed every time, as in the case of potatoes, wheat, or any other commodity, and was opposed to blotting out the up-beam system.

President Robertson remarked sententiously that "potatoes were potatoes, and that wheat was wheat," but that cheese was perishable and liable to considerable shrinkage. He had sent three boxes to Toronto one time, and when the returns came back a month later he found he was over three pounds short in weight. Uncured cheese would shrink every time.

Mr. E. Thurston said he believed there would be 25 lbs. of up-beam weight on every 100 boxes of cheese weighed in Lindsay.

Mr. J. D. Flavelle said the Lindsay board would be handicapped if it enforced the rule when Peterborough did not.

Mr. Robertson said he had intended to allude to the matter, and asked the salesmen if they were content to yield the half-pound over up-beam weight.

Mr. Sandford said he was willing, but sometimes it would mean giving over a pound instead of a half-pound.

Mr. Flavelle said the question for them to consider was would they hold to a rule objected to by buyers, or would they conform to the rules of other boards.

President Robertson said he had received a circular advocating the branding of cheese. He thought it would be against the interest of the Lindsay board to move in the matter until the other boards took action—when they did Lindsay would fall into line.

Bids were then called from the buyers present,—Messrs. Flavelle, Spence, Flavelle, Gunn and Fisher. Mr. Flavelle offered 7c. for the board; Mr. Spence raised it to 7½c. for the board, and Mr. Fisher offered 7 1-16c, for selections; Mr. Gunn offered 7 5-16c. for selections, and named Gamebridge, Dunsford, Mariposa and Star, all accepting; Mr. Flavelle then offered 7 5-16c. for the balance of the board and all accepted but North Verulam. Lorneville, Derryville, Janetville, Minden and Leaskdale sold subject to inspection in Lindsay.

The board then adjourned for three weeks.

INFANT MORTALITY CREDITED TO THE HOT WEATHER.

There are more weeping and disconsolate mothers in July and August, than at any other time in the year. Mothers mourn for their little ones, but they seldom realize the fact that they are in a measure responsible for the untimely end of their darlings.

To young and inexperienced mothers we would say that infant mortality is directly traceable to the hot weather and improper dieting. The heat is enervating to the puny child, and the poor and impure foods used irritate and destroy the little ones' stomach and digestive organs; no wonder the result is collapse and death.

Had these heartbroken mothers seen the thousands of letters, sent in by joyful and thankful mothers, whose little ones were saved and made strong and health by lifegiving Lactated Food, we feel certain they never would have made use of the common advertised foods.

Lactated Food has saved the lives of a host of infants at critical periods, and raised the weak ones to health, strength and vigor. Now is the time, dear mother, to build up your child in flesh, bone and muscle, to enable it to battle successfully with the terrible heat of summer.

MARK OF A WELL-DRESSED MAN.

For Generations It Hath Stood and Will For Long Remain.

Varsity boys going home and Anglican visitors to the synod will this week illustrate the Biblical saying, "One goeth and another cometh." Now, two things are certain this week—that the students, slate with success, or wearied with unsuccessful study, will go home with silk hats as becometh professionals, and that the orthodox Anglican will also replace his old shape headgear. No one is nowadays considered properly dressed for academical, church or professional function without the silk hat, and no one ever bought one of Lincoln & Bennett's Christy's, or Heath's London hats, or Dunlap's New York, but got full value for his money. Dineens' are the sole Canadian agents for these world renowned hats, the prices of which are—for the English $4 to $7, and for Dunlap's New York hats $8. At no other price can a real Dunlap silk be had on this continent.

TORTURED THE INSANE.

Horrible Disclosures Made at the Hearing of a German Libel Suit

Berlin, June 9.—The Aachen Court sat all last week in the trial of an action for libel brought against a journalist named Max Scharre and two others for defaming the characters of monks of Marisberg, in accusing them of maltreating lunatics confined to their institution. The defendants succeeded in proving that the accused monks were most illiterate workmen, and that they had resorted to the old methods of controlling their patients by torture, confining them in chains, beating them, and even exposing some of the inmates in a semi-nude state to the heat of intense fires.

The entire scandal arose from the case of a Scotch priest named Forbes who went to the monks' asylum to be cured of intemperance. Forbes succeeded in getting away from the place, and immediately disclosed the practices of the monks and their attendants. The case was closed on Saturday by the acquittal of Scharre and his associates. The National Zeitung of Munich, The Allgemeine Zeitung, and other papers are clamoring for the prosecution of the monks, and public feeling against them is so strong that the police are obliged to protect them from mob violence.

Four Wrecks at One Point.

Belfast, June 8.—The tug Ranger Saturday, in an attempt to float the British steamer Deliverer, before reported ashore on Briggs' reef on the coast of County Down, Ireland, struck the wreck of the steamer Emily, which was lost on the reef some years ago. The tug was so badly damaged that she sank immediately. The crew were saved. It is now feared that the Deliverer will become a total loss, as the sunken tug and three wrecks block the only direction she can be hauled off the reef.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S ECONOMY.

Proposed Change in Mail Service to Save $25,000.

St. John's, Nfld., June 9.—One of the Whiteway Government's retrenchment proposals is the abolition of the Allan Line ocean mails between Philadelphia Halifax, St. John's and Liverpool, and the substitution therefor of a special service between St. John's, Halifax and Boston by local steamers. This, it is estimated, will effect a saving of $25,000 and will largely increase the trade between Newfoundland and New England.

This new scheme is strongly approved of by business people, because opportunities are offered for the development of mutual trade which will probably result eventually in a reciprocity agreement.

FEARS FOR AN OSWEGO YACHT.

Thought to Have Foundered Near the Thousand Islands.

Oswego, N.Y., June 8.—Grave fears are entertained here for the safety of the steam yacht Gitini, owned by ex-Senator George B. Sloan, which left here Thursday morning and has not yet been heard from. She had on board Capt. John Blackburn and a man named Donelly of Oswego and Engineer Sprague of Henderson. The yacht was bound for the Thousand Islands. Mr. Sloane's son, who was at the islands, chartered a boat and then went over to Cape Vincent, and found no trace of the yacht. It is believed that she went down during a fierce gale, or is disabled at some isolated place.

DEATH FROM STARVATION.

A Mother to Be Charged With Culpable Homicide

Hamilton, June 9.—The coroner's jury which investigated the cause of the death of the child found on the mountain brow last Sunday returned a verdict that it died from starvation and neglect. Kate Roadhouse, mother of the child, is held on a charge of deserting her child, and may be charged with culpable homicide.

BRITISH POLITICS.

Rosebery Will Face the House With Six Majority.

TORIES AFRAID OF AN ELECTION

The Opposition Active, But the Liberal Whips Are Just As Alert and Want of Confidence Motion Would Not Carry—Preparing for War in the East

London, June 10.—With the ministerial seats for Inverness and Cork vacant, the Government will meet Parliament upon the reassembling of that body next week with a majority of only six. As it is probable that the Inverness seat will be captured by the Liberal-Unionists, and also possible that Mr. O'Brien's seat for the Northeast Division of Cork will fall to the Parnellites, the immediate prospect is that the ministry will be obliged to rely upon a bare majority of two or three to carry the Welch Church Disestablishment bill, the Local Veto Measure, the Irish Land bill and the one man one vote proposal in the six weeks of the session which remain available to them for actual work. Inasmuch as a feat of this character can only be achieved by rushing business, regardless of the niceties of parliamentary rules, the Cabinet have decided that the adoption of a program involving summary application of closure is necessary and that it will be the course pursued. It is understood, in fact it is semi-officially announced, that a fixed period will be allowed for debate on each of the important measures mentioned, and that, in pursuance of this plan to expedite business, all amendments will be ignored, however just or important they may be. In the natural course of things, according to this program, not a single bill upon which there is any party contest on leaving the House of Commons after the treatment indicated, will be permitted to pass the House of Lords.

In these circumstances it is not to be marvelled at that the Liberals are fretting under the ignominy of the position into which the party has been led or driven. The waste of time of which the majority are accused is simply unavoidable, yet the ministerial members are working harder than ever. They are subjected nightly to a strain which they cannot escape, in being in prompt and constant attendance, watching every movement of the Opposition in order to avert defeat. The Conservative-Liberal-Unionist coalition, with the assistance of the Parnellite faction of the Irish party, are continually on the alert and in readiness to seize the first opportunity to defeat the Government; realising this the Liberal whips are insisting that the members of the party shall be within hailing distance of the House from the beginning until the close of each sitting. Indeed, they are so exacting that each member has been given to understand that no excuses for absence will be accepted.

As this state of affairs has developed a feeling nearly approaching mutiny, especially among the Radicals, who are none too well pleased with many phases of the Rosebery policy, the expectation on all sides is the Unionists will not delay in taking advantage of the situation, but will promptly challenge the Government to show its strength or lack of stength.

Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain have been in consultation within the last day or two as to what form a motion of lack of confidence in the Government shall take. It is understood that Lord Salisbury is eager to assail Lord Rosebery's foreign policy and that he is strongly in favor of beginning the fight by raising the question of British intervention in Turkey, which action in regard to Armenia has had only the support of the sympathetic Gladstonians of the maudlin type. Outside of Conservative circles the opinion is rapidly growing that Lord Rosebery has been outclassed by the diplomacy of Russia and France both in the Armenian and Chino-Japan affairs. In his assertion of Lord Salisbury's policy of an informal, but practical, entente with Germany, and the triple alliance for the friendship of Russia and France, it is generally feared that Rosebery has got himself and the Government, of course, into an imbroglio of the most critical character. Indeed, it is believed that it involves either diplomatic disgrace or a European war. The opponents of Lord Rosebery do not hesitate to attribute the bungling of his administration in the most vital of the issues in which he has had to deal to the bad condition of his mental health: yet, although his friends assert that the Premier has entirely recovered from his recent nervous collapse, it is officially announced to-day that his physicians have advised a prolongation of his yachting cruise.

Both Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain are of the opinion that the time is not yet ripe for the Opposition to ask the House to decide against Lord Rosebery, and they, therefore, propose simply to watch events leading up to the moment that a question may arise from which they can snatch success. This being the case next few weeks of Parliament will necessarily be replete with interest.

The gravity of the position in the far east is shown by the orders that have been issued by the War Office. A large increase will be made in the stores of war munitions at Malta, Aden and in Egypt. The small garrison on the Island of Perim, in the Red Sea, will be reinforced by detachments of artillery and sappers. Quick firing guns will be placed in the fortifications and the fort works will be enlarged. The island will be an important naval basis.

Communications proceed between London, St. Petersburg and Paris as to what combined action shall be taken if the Porte maintains her refusal to concede the demands made by Great Britain, Russia and France for relief to Armenia. If the Porte persists in its refusal to grant the demands made by the three powers it has been definitely arranged to represent these demands as an ultimatum and to set a fixed date for their acceptance or rejection. It is understood that Great Britain proposed in the event of the rejection of the demands that the combined fleets of three powers make a demonstration at Constantinople, but France and Russia preferred as a first resort a conference of the European powers.

The Speaker asserts that harmony between the three powers, as far as diplomatic pressure is concerned, is complete. Should France and Russia decline to go further, the appearance of a British fleet at Constantinople may become a necessity if only to insure safety against a rising of the Turks. The paper adds that public opinion in Great Britain will compel the Government to go in alone. It would be easy to occupy first Mitylene and Samos and to make them and Cyprus a base of operations, though the eventual result might break up the Turkish Empire.

Dead Heat for Second.

Manchester, June 8.—The Whitsuntide Plate of 1000 sovereigns, for 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs, was run to-day, and won by Mr. T. L. Plunkett's Bellevin. Mr. W. Taylor Sharpe's Norah Sandys and Mr. Brydge Williams' Becky Sharpe ran a dead heat for second place.

The other starters were Mr. E. Keylock's Watchful, Mr. Dobell's Tumbler, Mr. J. H. Houldsworth's Coylton, Mr. W. I'Anson's Durannue, Mr. James Hope's Lammermuir, Queen Isolde, by Reprieve and Bonnie Briar, by Briony.

The betting was 5 to 4 against Bellevin, 12 to 1 each against Norah Sandys and Becky Sharpe, 9 to 2 against Watchful, 8 to 1 against Tumbler and Coylton and 12 to 1 each against Durannue, Lammermuir, Queen Isolde and Bonnie Briar. Bellevin won easily by two lengths.

A number of scientists will take the trip to study the glaciers and geological conditions of the country. Prof. Salisbury goes as far as Disco, near Ingleside Bay. He expects to return in October.

WOMEN IN CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Their Right to Vote at Vestry Meetings Discussed

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 8.—The leading feature of the Episcopal diocesan convention to-day was the spirited discussion as to whether women should be permitted to vote for the members of the vestry in parish meetings. The result of the lengthy and enthusiastic debate was to lay the matter aside for at least another year. The opponents of the women had devoted all their energy towards raising technical and legal objections, and they finally won their point, the matter being referred to a committee of two clergymen and two laymen, who will report one year from now at the next annual convention.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

AN ORILLIA INVASION.

About 600 Visitors Visit Peterborough.

At noon to-day a contingent of about 600 Orillians—men women and children made a descent upon Peterborough—of these 480 came direct from the northern town and the rest came from intervening points along the line. A special train of twelve coaches brought down the visitors, who included the Orillia fire brigade and the Orillia band and the cricket club which latter is playing a match with Peterborough on the P. A. A. A. grounds. Two lacrosse clubs also came down, the Orillia junior, and the High School club, which are playing matches this afternoon on Riverside Park with the Peterborough Juniors and the Peterborough III respectively.

The local Fire Brigade turned out with their band to meet their fellow fire-fighters from Orillia, and a procession was formed which paraded the principal streets to the fire hall, which was thrown open to the visitors, who were most hospitably entertained by the local brigade, being supplied with refreshments and being shown the town in fine style. The visitors amused themselves with seeing the town and visiting the parks, especially Inverlea, where the band discoursed sweet music during the afternoon. The visitors were well pleased with the hospitality extended them.

TRIED TO CUT HIS THROAT.

Mr. Payne Caught in the Act of Committing Suicide.

Mr. Wm. Payne, Sophia street, Ashburnham, attempted to cut his throat yesterday morning, in a fit of melancholia and succeeded in inflicting a very ugly wound with a knife before the weapon could be taken from him.

It is alleged that the man deliberately attempted to saw away at his throat with a dull knife while his relatives were looking at him.

He was discovered in the act of drawing the knife across his throat and, whilst evading, capture kept up a persistent effort to accomplish his purpose.

Payne is subject to these fits of melancholy and several times quite recently has almost succeeded in taking his life before detected.

Dr. Pigeon is in attendance on the wounded man, whose injuries are slight considering the efforts which were made by him.

Practical Talks.—"Practical talks on Important Themes" is the title of a handsomely printed and bound volume received from the publisher, Wm. Briggs, Toronto. The work is from the pen of Rev. H. T. Crossley, of Crossley and Hunter, Evangelist, and as the author says is intended to be a souvenir volume of their evangelistic work. The volume which is a beautiful sample in typography paper and binding of Wm. Briggs' best work contains nearly four hundred pages of practical talks on about sixty practical subjects in relation to the christian life. The style is easy and colloquial and a thread or rather needle of personal directness runs through every page. This volume, if diligently read, and it will be, once it comes into hand, will be it seems of the greatest practical help, as it is intended to be, to young converts, older Christians and to the unconverted.

MILITARY OBEDIENCE AND HOW OBTANED.

THE HIGH VALUE OF THIS GREAT REQUISITE IN LIFE.

Practical Pointers to the Officers and Men of the 57th Battalion at their Annual Parade Service at St. John's—Congratulations to the New Officers—Advantages of the Volunteer Movement.

The Peterborough Rangers turned out strong yesterday for their annual church parade, with Lt.-Col. Bell in command. St. John's was selected this year for attendance, and Rev. J. C. Davidson delivered a most practical sermon to the volunteers.

As his text he took the words, "I am a man set under authority with soldiers under me," St. Luke vii, 8, being the words spoken by the centurion. In opening his address, Mr. Davidson stated that an army had no more essential features than its division into ranks, with the corresponding duties belonging to the ranks. These duties were divided into two classes:

1. Of oversight, care and direction exercised towards those below.
2. Of obedience to those above.

From the

RESPONSIBILITY OF DIRECTION

some are free, but none are exempt from the great duty of obedience. The text applies to every officer present—"I am a man set under authority, with soldiers under me." The words were uttered by an officer.

The Centurion in question had attributes of a most lovable character in an officer—attributes which inspired respect in everyone. He was gifted with surpassing humility.

Generally when a man is exalted to a higher rank he is inclined to be self-assertive, proud and dictatorial. But in the calling of an officer this is a great mistake, as the man the men love to serve is the man of "thoughtful, dignified humility." Notice the Centurion's affectionate care of those in the ranks below him as typified by his feelings toward his servant, and the kindly interest showed in the people amongst whom he was garrisoned. All this shows a character which commands the love and respect of men.

"Officers of the 57th," continued the speaker, "let me impress upon you the traits of character which are exemplified in this picture as those through which the

to command their fellowmen. Do you not recognize that such a power requires not only a knowledge of military drill, but a knowledge as well of the general treatment of human nature and above all of the possession of that kind of character to the possessor of which men yield willing respect and glad obedience.

Mr. Davidson remarked on the many changes which had taken place in the Battalion since last it attended service in St. John's. He congratulated the officers on the efficiency of the corps and expressed the hope that a still further improvement would take place. The men, as well as officers, were deserving of congratulation too. They had taken a good step in joining the force. It was good for their health, good for their department and good for their spirit. The atmosphere of Peterborough was too largely a commercial atmosphere tending, if not checked, to produce a spirit which is competitive, cringing, selfish and mean.

WHAT BETTER CORRECTIVE

to this can exist than the military movement? When the men left the office or store, let them leave its atmosphere behind them, put on a military bearing with their uniforms and breathe in the soldierly spirit of the drill shed and the parade ground—a spirit manly, patriotic and self-disciplined. To help you catch this spirit, said he, I set before you the case of the Centurion. Why do we feel this man a soldier? From the spirit of discipline and obedience with which he is permeated.

Obedience was the power which enabled Rome to conquer the ancient world. Here is the power which in modern days had crowned the standards of Britain with victory. Yes! obedience certainly was a thing of power—a thing of glory.

We used to think it was a glorious thing to command—a poor thing to obey. We used to admire the boy brandishing a stick at the head of a procession. Men still wear their swords—but sheathed. Still some but the place of honour is in the rear and it is a noble thing to obey even when there is no good to be attained.

The Light Brigade at Balaklava knew that a mistaken order had been given them to face death to no purpose. Their noble obedience has animated more men to deeds of usefulness than any other action of modern times, and ever will the recital of that tale of heroism send a thrill of patriotism through British hearts and inspire them to do their duty—

Theirs not to reason why,
Theirs not to make reply,
Theirs but to do and die,
Noble six hundred.

And noble men wherever they are, who are thus able to give loyal unquestioning obedience when it is required of them.

Upon what ground, queried he, does the unity and efficiency of this battalion depend? Upon your prompt, willing and unquestioning obedience and discipline.

Shall each one take his own way and time of doing things or shall the line be like a stone wall—firm, erect and undeviating?

Let me remind you in conclusion that if it is a noble thing to obey man and country, 'tis much more so to obey your God. His commands ring forth as imperatively as any officer's, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord, God in vain," "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God." Listen again and you hear the command from your Divine Captain to-day, "I say unto this," not his wife or his children, but to this man, come". Let the angels of God who rejoice over one sinner that repenteth bear the answer heavenward, "He cometh."

CRICKET.

Trinity College School easily won from Rosedale at cricket Saturday.

As the turnout of Veterans was rather slim on Saturday for their match with the Colts, teams were picked by W. Stocker and M. Poussette and an interesting match was played, resulting in a victory for Mr. Poussette's team by a score of 79 to 57.

The runs were made as appended :—

STOCKER'S ELEVEN.

Montgomery, b Rogers	33
Edmonds, b Burnham	5
Stocker, b Gurd	1

Hal Burnham, b Poussette, c Lewis	3
Mac Poussette, b Stocker	11
N St C Gurd, b Stocker	0
J Comstock, c and b Poussette	4
Alf Terrill, c and b Stocker	9
Ferguson, b Montgomery	2
R B Rogers, Poussette, c Lewis	13
Lewis, not out	2
	79

Poussette won the toss and sent in Ray and Hal Burnham. The latter was retired for three runs by being caught out by H. Lewis, but Ray got "set" and easily ran up a score of 35. He finally gave up his bat, without having been put out. Poussette put 11 together and R. B. Rogers his usual score of 13, while Terrill with three drives to the fence made 9.

For Stocker's side Montgomery made 33 by hard hitting and excellent placing. McGill made eight, but the other scores were small. Gurd was well up on the wickets in his bowling and no liberties could be taken with him.

Allison was retired in rather a peculiar manner, a ball running up his leg, over his over his shoulder and dropping on his wickets.

The Orillia cricketers are playing the local team on the P.A.A.A. grounds this afternoon.

Mr. Drope's young cricketers unfortunately met with defeat at the hands of the Lakefield school boys on Saturday. In their two innings the Peterborough team made 28 runs to 56 of Mr. Sheldrake's team. The Lakefield school has a marvel in the way of a fourteen-year-old bowler, who mowed down the Peterborough wickets in a manner most disastrous. The local boys were treated most hospitably at the school and look forward eagerly for the return match which will probably be played next week.

The following players are representing Peterborough against Orillia on the P. A. A. A. grounds this afternoon at cricket :— S. Ray, R. B. Rogers, W. A. Stratton, Tomlinson, W. Stocker, V. McGill, M. J. Montgomery, Alf. Terrill, Hal. Burnham, N. St. C. Gurd, Court Poussette.

The intercollegiate match on the University lawn, Toronto, on Saturday, was a decisive victory for Trinity College School, Port Hope, over Bishop Ridley College, St. Catharines. The School won by an innings and 20 runs with 4 wickets not down in the first innings.

BASEBALL.

The Peterboroughs were beaten in a closely contested match at Port Hope. The unfair decisions of the umpire are alleged as the cause for the defeat. The teams were as follows:

Peterborough.		Port Hope.
Malone	Centre field	O'Neil
Lytle	Catcher	McIlroy
Edmunds	2nd base	Marvin
King	1st base	Edmonds
Paxman	3rd base	McMahon

Port Hope will play the return match on the Driving Park grounds next Saturday.

THE WHEEL.

The Transportation Committee of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association have about completed arrangements with the railroad companies regarding Waterloo meet. The companies will accept single fare from all stations in Canada to Waterloo and return, good going June 28, 29, 30 and July 1, good to return on the night of the 2nd July. Racing men will have the privilege of going on the 25th, provided their names are sent to the Chairman of the Transportation Committee one week in advance.

The visit of the American flyers to Canada in August is going to create a great deal of interest and will be the means of enriching the exchequers of the clubs who have been fortunate enough to secure a date on the L.A.W. circuit. In the Racing Board rooms on Church street yesterday afternoon the following representatives held a conference regarding the arrangements which have to be made for the reception and heralding of the visitors : D. W. Karn, F. Millman, W. McWhinnie, Woodstock ; L. Rubenstein, Montreal ; G. H. Orr, Peterborough ; C. Dingman, Stratford ; H. McBride, London ; G.P. Sharkey, Toronto (Wanderers) ; F. Burnett, Brantford. Things were adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned, though some friction was apprehended owing to the fact that the meets follow so closely on one another, and the distance between the towns in the west so short that excursions run to one place would necessarily mean the deprivation of a similar convenience by the next town on the route. The advertising of St. Thomas was conceded to Woodstock by London, and what was feared was going to be a source of trouble was averted. It was resolved to put a limit of $700 on any one prize, and $5,000 in the aggregate.

SPRINTING.

The matched five mile running race between M. Bird, champion of Central Ontario, and W. McLean, of Windsor, will be run at the Driving Park, Peterborough, on July 1st. The match is for $25 a side. It will be remembered that these sprinters meet in a 3-mile race in Peterborough six or seven years ago, when Bird defeated McLean with ease. At that time the latter claimed to be the champion three mile runner of Toronto. Mr. Bird goes into training at once.

UNCOLLECTED TAXES.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

DEAR SIR,—I understand that at present about an eighth of the taxes levied last year remain uncollected. This sum amounts to something in the neighbourhood of $10,000, upon which the town is paying interest at the rate of 5 per cent. The penalty of five per cent. was added to the taxes unpaid on December 10th, but it was never intended that the amount should remain unpaid, till the delinquent taxpayer should realise in interest on the money he diverts to his own use from the town coffers, where it properly belongs, an amount equivalent to the interest penalty which the town exacted in December. The administration of the town's affairs must be of a loose character when tenants are allowed to leave houses with the taxes unpaid, which should have been collected during December or, January, at the latest. It is not the poor tennant that is the greatest sinner in this regard ; it is the man of means who could have been paid his taxes at almost any time if proper pressure had been brought to bear upon him. The tax collector must see that the taxes are collected more promptly. The date of the return of the roll should be fixed and that date adhered to by the tax collector. If the taxes of tenants are not paid promptly how are property owners to know whether the taxes on their property are paid or not, and whether or not they may be called upon to assume financial responsibilities which should not exist if the proper promptitude were exercised in collecting the taxes ? I am not disposed to be severe on persons who are unable to meet their taxes promptly, but it must be admitted that the practice of having from $10,000 to $15,000 of uncollected taxes dragging along on the collector's books six or eight months after they should have been collected or returned as uncollectable, is unbusiness like in the extreme, and the council is unbusiness-like and neglectful of their duty if they permit such a state of things to continue. Civic business should be conducted on the same principles that apply to ordinary business. Will the council see to it that they get down to business !

Yours truly,
TAXPAYER.

June 10th.

THE AUBURN BRIDGE.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

SIR,—It may be noticed that our local papers are publishing a bylaw to provide $3,000 for the purpose of building a bridge at Auburn. The proposed bridge is by the engineer estimated to cost $3,000. It is to be a wagon bridge, with steel superstructure, and is intended to relieve the vast traffic for which the Smith street bridge is wholly insufficient.

Wooden bridges are so costly that it has been deemed best to resort to steel. Putting the wooden super-tructure alone on the Smith street bridge cost (the contract price) $2,500 and $900 for extras ; in all this miserable narrow bridge cost $3,400.

The town engineer has struck some peculiar way by which a much superior bridge of steel can be built for $3,000 ; approaches, piers, abutments, superstructure, all to be done in a superior manner for $3,000 !

And then the wonderful shortening of distances between Lakefield and Peterborough by the new bridge ! Don't you see it ? It is so clear that the more bridges we have the less they cost to keep up, for it divides the traffic. See it ?

The fact is that we are being led into an expenditure of not less than $6,000 to accommodate a few foot passengers. The vote is to be taken on the 17th of June.

Let the people not be caught napping, but turn out and vote down this scheme to burden us with more taxes.

CIVIS.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Rev. A. MacWilliams goes this week to the General Assembly.

The induction of the elders elect will take place in St. Andrew's, at the morning service, June 23rd.

Mrs. Symonds has acknowledged on behalf of the Indian Home at Gleichen, Alta, the receipt of a bale from the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church. The bale was valued at $25.

Mr. James Chappell, who will take charge of Mr. Hedley's mission in Otonabee during the summer months was ordained to the diaconate yesterday. Rev. J. Chappell will preach in St. Luke's church on Sunday morning next.

At George street Methodist church yesterday, during the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. R. Young, the pulpit in the morning was occupied by Mr. H. T. Lewis, of the Central School, and in the evening by Rev. Mr. Green, of Bridgenoth.

Yesterday, excellent congregations assembled in St. Andrew's both morning and evening, the morning being the larger. Mr. MacWilliams spoke in the morning from 2nd Kings, 2—21, "I have healed the waters, there shall not be from thence any more death or barren land." In the evening his text was, "On either side one and Jesus in the midst," John 19—18. Having a cold, Mr. MacWilliams spoke with considerable difficulty in the evening.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

Rev. Dr. Burwash Reports for Victoria University—Epworth League Executive—Rev. Mr. Wilson's Lecture.

Picton, June 8.

The general session was taken up in routine business, which will come up again later. At 10 o'clock the special ministerial session will be held to consider several cases of young men. It was decided that men who had travelled three years could not be placed on circuits next year, but must go to college two years before they were ordained. Rev. Mr. Anderson, of Napanee district, however, was excused from going to college this year. He has already travelled three years, and was at college three years before entering the ministry.

Rev. Dr. Burwash apologised for being such a short time at conference. His report of Victoria University was given by him, and was gratifying in the extreme. One hundred and five out of two hundred and thirty students are preparieg for the ministry, a larger proportion of Methodist students than ever attended the University.

Rev. S. J. Shorey was elected as delegate to the General Board of Missions.

The Executive of the Epworth League held an important session this afternoon. Several hours were taken in the discussion of its business.

The conference is the best organized in the Dominion. There are 208 leagues and 9,000 members.

The lecture before the Theological Union was delivered by Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., on the "Book of Daniel." It was a clear and forcible handling of a very difficult subject, and called forth much eulogy.

EMILY.

On Wednesday evening last the home of Mrs. Robert McQuade, of Emily, was the scene of a very happy event, it being the marriage of her second daughter, Susan, to Mr. George Griffin, one of Omemee's popular and enterprising tailors. The interesting ceremony was conducted by Rev. Wilson McCann, pastor of Christ church. There were only the near relatives of the contracting parties present to witness the tying of the knot. The bride looked charmingly in her beautiful wedding garment, and the numerous and costly presents given her showed the high esteem in which she is held by her numerous friends. —Omemee Mirror.

390 GEORGE STREET

IN A SUNSTROKE WARD.

The Most Approved Method of Treating Heat Cases—Plunged into Ice-Cold Water.

Now that the sunstroke season is drawing near, the House of Relief, better known as the Hudson Street Hospital, is getting its sunstroke ward ready for action. This ward is as complete, in point of apparatus and appliances, as any similar institution in the world, and from the time the patient enters the room he is handled by means of electrical machinery more gently than would be possible even with the trained hands of the doctors and nurses.

Of late treatment in sunstroke cases has altered materially. The old treatment included warming drinks and hot applications to the body, with a view to drawing the heat from the head, as well as iced applications to the head. Now the patient is immersed in very cold water and kept so until the abnormal temperatures decreases. Some remarkable cures have been effected by this method of treatment. The new apparatus is designed for the transfer of the patient to the bath. It is worked entirely by electricity. A sort of hammock suspended, not from the ends, but from the sides, between iron bars, is the receptacle for the sufferer. The end of this hammock at which the head lies is higher than the other end. The bars are suspended by chains from wheel-trucks overhead running on tracks, and both the motion backward and forward of the trucks and the raising or depressing of the hammock by means of the chain are controlled by the electric apparatus.

On the entrance of the patient the hammock is lowered and he is gently slid from the stretcher into it. A turn of the motor wheel lifts him, and another turn sends him moving along until he is directly over the tub containing water iced to the desired temperature. Then the machinery lowers him slowly into the tub until only his face remains above the water. Ice is packed around his head, and he is left there until his temperature is lowered to a point where it is deemed safe to take him out. Then the machinery gently lifts him again and transfers him to a pallet at the side of the room. If a second ice bath is not necessary, the patient is then removed to one of the adjoining wards.

This method of handling is not only attended with less jarring to the patient than any other, but it also saves the doctors and nurses much exhaustive work, particularly in the case of heavy patients. The apparatus was designed by Dr. Lewis A. Stimson, attending surgeon to the House of Relief. —New York Sun.

The Best Plums.

A successful fruit grower says that in his experience an orchard of Lombard trees will yield results satisfactory to any one. I do not mean to advise that no other varieties should be planted. This is a mistake in any fruit orchard. Three varieties of plum trees should at least be planted in every plum orchard, and for general market use none better can be found than Lombard, Niagara and Ramson. The Moore Arctic has never given me any satisfaction. It is too course and sour to sell well, and the trees are very susceptible to the black knot. The Miner is a variety that grows very rapidly and produces an abundance of early blossoms, promising a great deal but accomplishing nothing. It is very apt to be killed by very cold winters. It is not the plum for northern climates. It may do well enough in the South. The Bradshaw is a plum of a very fine quality and has the advantage of producing a crop early in the season, but these qualities are offset by its shyness in bearing. If it could be made prolific it would be an excellent variety. Almost the same can be said about the Yellow Egg and the Washington. They are excellent plums, very large and delicious, but they are not profitable for market. A few trees for home consumption are enough. The Purple Egg is a fine large plum, but the tree rots so badly that it nearly discourages one in raising it. If the trees can be hardened in some way so that the rot would not attack them this variety would be exceedingly desirable. Genii is a large purple plum that has this same fault of being attacked by disease. The black knot is sure to kill the trees. The Green Gage and Imperial Gage are splendid plums for canning, and should be raised largely for this purpose. The Shropshire Damson is a splendid market plum. It is a small, purple plum, and rather coarse to suit the writer's taste, but it sells well and is a very prolific bearer. A garden of these trees will pay anyone. The Lombards are the most desirable market plums, and with proper care the trees can be kept free from disease. Both of these varieties are good bearers. The trees are moderately hardy and comparatively free from disease.

The Benefit of Shading the Soil.

Shading the soil is of great advantage in converting ammonia into nitrates, a process which has served to enrich forest lands while they are covered with dense growth. The mulch of leaves added annually is a carpet which prevents influence by the direct rays of the sun. That a soil which grows forest trees increases in fertility is demonstrated by the larger crops grown upon such "virgin" soil after it has been cleared of its forest growth. On the same principle the mulching of the soil with a dense crop, or with leaves, is beneficial in certain respects.

Women's Editions.

"Women's editions" of newspapers—that is editions compiled and edited by women—are becoming quite common, and a perusal of them leads to the conclusion that after the women have had ten or twelve years' experience in newspaper work, they will understand something of the methods of journalism. A few days ago a Western newspaper printed one of these editions, and the foreman, who was only a man, said he wanted three "sticks" to fill the editorial page. The femenine editor understood him thoroughly, at least she said she did, and sat down and turned out the length of three yard sticks of powerfully intellectual opinion by actual measurement. Anybody who has ever been in the composing room of a newspaper office when the last form was going to press will be able to repeat the remarks of the foreman.—Philadelphia Enquirer.

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

Free from Eruptions

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

WOMEN ON BICYCLES.

WHAT IS WORN IN GOWNS, GLOVES, VEILS AND SHOES.

The Secret of the Skirt—Bloomers are not Popular, for They are Not at all Becoming.

The question of bicycling has become a serious and weighty one. It was all very well for a time to call it a fad, but now it has assumed proportions which are simply alarming. When it was necessary to have one bicycle gown little was thought of the matter, but now the bicycle outfit has quite cast in the shade the ordinary spring and summer outfit, and all other gowns are positively neglected in the mad pursuit of something novel and original to wear on the wheel. When the question was first mooted a year or two ago, as to whether women should ride, and they decided they would, it would scarcely have been conceived possible that in so short a time they would find it necessary to provide themselves with ten bicycle gowns when leaving town for the summer, and yet that is the number that more than one woman has declared to be absolutely indispensable. Fortunately, all these gowns do not cost as much as did the first which were made at the leading tailor's during the past winter.

ECRU AND DARK BLUE BUTCHER'S LINEN.

In every well appointed bicycle trousseau there must be one handsome cloth costume. These vary in price according to the tailor who makes them; $150 is the price asked by some, $75 and $80 by others, and $35 or $40 is the lowest sum possible to have a costume made by any man of note. This, of course, includes the materials, which are generally cheviot, whipcord or covert cloth. There is apparently little difference in the cut, but, like the inch which makes all the difference in a man's nose, to the feminine ideas an inch too long, too wide or too narrow stamps the gown as absolutely impossible. And the tailors of New York have discovered their fair customers demand perfection of cut and fit quite as much as they used to do for their riding habits. It does not by any means follow that because a large price is asked the costume is bound to give satisfaction. There seems to be a knack about cutting them which is a positive gift, which gift is not to be found in every establishment in the city.

READY MADE COSTUMES.

In all large stores ready made bicycle suits are always for sale. It would be a very sweeping assertion to make, quite too sweeping, that these ready made costumes are a poor investment. But there are very few women who possess what is known as a ready made figure—that is, the model accepted by the leading shops to be the correct one—and alterations are rather a lottery. When a ready made suit does fit, there are many points in its favor, the principal of which is its cheapness. But great care must be taken in the purchase, and careful women look to see that the skirt is the right width, besides being well hung, and, above all things, well finished. To have bad sewing on a bicycle costume is really quite a serious matter, for it very often causes a nasty tumble when hem or seam comes undone and catches in the machine.

MOHAIR IS USED.

Mohair would see mto be almost too light a material for a bicycle skirt, and yet some exceedingly smart mohair gowns have been turned out. They are, of course, deliciously light, and if they are properly lined, well cut, so that the fulness comes in the right place, and if they have besides the elastic straps to fasten them to the leggins, there need be no dread of their flying up. Dark brown mohairs made with knickerbockers to match and tan leggings and low shoes, are exceedingly smart, and, worn with brown silk shirt waists and brown sailor hat, are exceedingly becoming. Light shirt waists of cambric percale or wash cheviots also look well for warm weather riding, with a dark skirt. But a costume such as above described, all in the brown, is more becoming to any and every figure. This putting of light waists and a dark skirt together has an ugly tendency to cut the figure and make the waist look altogether too short and chunky. A dark blue mohair, made on this plan, looks best with black leggings and black shoes, tan being too sharp a contrast.

PICTURESQUENESS.

Only in old prints and in old romance are velvet riding habits and picturesque hats with long plumes admired when a woman is on horseback and the same rule applies equally well to a woman on a bicycle. Every superfluous adornment, like every superfluous bit of goods detracts just so much from the general effect. And this fact the best tailors recognise thoroughly and make up their gowns accordingly.

While the weather is warm the coolest kind of shirt waists are permissible, but every costume that is properly made must have a jacket to match the skirt, and most women look best when the day is cool enough to allow the jackets being worn. The artistic lines of a woman's figure show to advantage on a wheel as much as when in the saddle, and anything that is loose never looks so becoming as when it is tight-fitting. There is a great diversity of opinion as to the proper way in which the waist or coat should be made. The Norfolk jacket was a favorite pattern last spring, but a Norfolk jacket in cheviot or covert cloth is quite different from one made up in duck or pique or even in mohair. By mohair is meant the alpaca which is so much the rage at present. All the wash costumes which are made up for bicycling will have to be sent to the tubs very often, and there is not one laundress in twenty who can be trusted satisfactorily to wash and iron anything that has pleats in it. On this account most women prefer to have their coats or jackets made on the plan of the little blazer coats or even of the cloth jackets with loose fronts, which are voted the thing this season.

TO KEEP SKIRTS DOWN.

There have been many devices for keeping the skirts down. Weights and such like things have not been liked. Facing the skirt with leather gives a pretty finish, and is supposed to hold it in place, but does not always do so. The favorite plan is to have a strap of elastic sewed on either side. The exact position can only be determined by the woman herself when she gets on the wheel. This strap should be of elastic an inch wide and must be fully six inches long. At the end a loop to form a buttonhole must be added, and this is to be fastened to the bottom of the leggings—the second button beneath the knee is the best one. Fastening the skirt down in this way on either side certainly does keep it in place and gives a trim, neat appearance.

The proper hat to wear is, of course, a consideration. Something to shield the eyes is quite necessary. Sailor hats or alpine hats are the best, but light weight straw must be choosen, for every bit of weight is to be dreaded. The Tam o'Shanter hats, which were a fad for a little while during the winter, and which also have been made up in straw, are not useful at this time of the year. They have become too common, also, to be smart. Heavy veils are better to wear than the dotted ones. Chiffon, gauze and grenadine are to be had very sheer, thick enough to protect the face, shield the eyes and at the same time are becoming. Dotted and fancy veils are really out of place with the severe style of the correct bicycle get up.

GLOVES.

The gloves must be worn a size larger than ordinary, so as to allow the free use of all the muscles. Very few women wear silk or cotton gloves, and the cheaper qualities in kid, which are always to be had, made up in the Biarritz style, are the best. These are the kind of gloves which have no buttons, but simply pull on over the hand. They can be bought for seventy-five cents a pair, and very rarely are more than a dollar. The kid is coarse, but looks well. They are the coolest sort of gloves to wear, and are particularly well adapted for bicycling. Shoes, not boots, are the most comfortable. It is said that some women intend wearing the very coarse looking plaid stockings, in which the men have disported themselves lately. But as these stockings, in spite of being loosely woven, and consequently not so warm as they look, are very coarse and rough, and it is doubtful if they ever become universally popular.—New York Herald.

A healthy appetite, with perfect digestion and assimilation, may be secured by the use of Ayer's Pills. They cleanse and strengthen the whole alimentary canal and remove all obstructions to the natural functions of either sex, without any unpleasant effects.

A BOOK TO ALL SICK ONES

Cures When Other Medicines and Doctors Have Failed

RESTORES THE SICK TO HEALTH.

"I Can Attribute My Restoration to Health Solely to South American Nervine." Says C. J. Curtis, of Windsor.

C. J. CURTIS, WINDSOR, ONT.

When one has climbed a high mountain it is not difficult to mount the ordinary hill. A medicine that will cure when the case is a desperate one, may be safely taken as a good all round medicine in ordinary cases, and it is not alone the very sick who need medicine.

The statement is borne out by a multitude of facts, thousands of testimonials from reputable citizens, that South American Nervine cures, after what are considered the best medicines in the country have failed, and where the skill of the ablest physicians has come to naught.

The acknowledged scientific principle of disease is weakness and disorganization at the nerve centers. These nerve centers are the main spring of the whole system. When the stomach is out of order the certain remedy is to set the nerve centers in right condition again, so with every other trouble. Thus it is that it may be liver complaint, nervousness, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, loss of appetite, impoverished blood, consumption of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, sick or nervous headache, sleeplessness, pains in the kidneys, or other ailments from which a person is suffering South American Nervine will cure, and cure quickly, and best of all cure effectively and lastingly in every such case.

Much as we were disposed to laugh at La Grippe as a trifling complaint when it first made itself known in this country, later developments have proved that it is a serious malady. The after effects are such that very thorough measures need to be taken to ensure perfect restoration to health. South American Nervine has proven wonderfully efficacious in giving back health to the victims of La Grippe. Mr. C. J. Curtis, a wealthy and well known farmer near Windsor, Ont., suffered from a severe attack of this malady, leaving him exceedingly weak and with no appetite. No medicine seemed to do him any good until he was influenced to try South American Nervine and his testimony is this: "After taking one bottle I found very great benefit from it, my appetite improved wonderfully, and I felt my strength returning very fast." Mr. Curtis then purchased five bottles, but after taking only three out of the five, to use his own words: "I am feeling as nearly well to-day as I ever did, and I can attribute my restoration to health and strength solely to South American Nervine."

STEAMER MONARCH WRECKED.

Her Passengers Rescued After Some Difficulty, But the Freight Lost.

Winnipeg, Man., June 9.—The steamer Monarch, bound from Rat Portage to Port Frances, Rainy Lake, loaded with passengers and freight, was wrecked last evening at Long Salt Rapids.

The passengers were rescued after some difficulty, but the freight was lost and the vessel wrecked. This is the third vessel wrecked at the same place within eight months.

115 PEOPLE DROWNED.

Cattle Lost by Thousands Wide Area Devastated by Flood.

Berlin, June 9.—The Wurtemberg Staats Anseiger of Stuttgart prints a minutely detailed account of the storms which recently swept through Alsace, Baden, Wurtemburg, Southern Bavaria and the territory along the Danube and Rhine Valleys. The hail which accompanied the storms entirely destroyed the vines and the crops, and Ammersee district is submerged, presenting the appearance of a vast inland sea. The bodies of thousands of animals, horses, cows, pigs, sheep, deer, etc., are strewn in every direction, or are floating about the surface. It is as yet impossible to estimate the extent of the damage done, but it is enormous. The King of Wurtemburg has gone to Balingen, where, as the result of the overflowing of the River Eyach, 112 persons are known to have lost their lives. A large number of houses were destroyed and thousands of people are homeless.

Seventy Lives Lost by Flood.

Vienna, June 10.—Further news from the Roberndof Valley, which was swept by a storm on Thursday, was received this morning. The previous reports of devastation and death were not exaggerated. Seventy persons are known to have been killed and many others are missing.

THREE KILLED SIX INJURED.

Fearful Smash-Up Caused by a Log Train Being Derailed.

Little Rock, June 10.—A frightful wreck occurred on a short line railway, operated by the Little Bay Company in Ouachita County. The train was running at a rapid rate, when the engine left the track, causing the whole train, loaded with logs, to be dumped into a conglomerated mass, men, boys, engine, cars and logs all in a pile. Three men were killed and six injured.

Two Children Struck by a Falling Telephone Pole

Ridgetown, June 10.—An accident occurred Saturday that may cause two children to lose their lives. A heavy pole being felled by a Bell Telephone gang crashed through the plate-glass front of R. Davidson's store, striking Amy McLean and Grace Ridley. Both are in a precarious condition.

Thrown From His Rig and Killed.

London June 10.—Friday William Adams, residing on concession 3, Delaware, was driving, when the horses shying caused the dislodgment of the seat throwing Mr. Adams on the hard road. He alighted on his head, and when found shortly after was dead.

MOURNED THE WRONG MAN.

An Interrupted Funeral Service at Cleveland, Ohio.

Cleveland, June 10.—A hymn was being sung over the supposed remains of Henry C. Glassman yesterday, when the undertakers walked in and informed the mourners that they were weeping over the wrong corpse.

Glassman disappeared two weeks ago. A body was found in the river, which was identified as his, with the exception of one article of underwear. His wife paid for the coffin, notified the Foresters, of which Glassman was a member, to conduct the services,, and took steps to secure his insurance money. The body was found to be that of John W. Linson of Stratford, Ont. The funeral broke off abruptly, and the body will be sent to Canada. Glassman has not been heard of yet.

CANADIAN HORSES IN LONDON.

Two Cargoes Meet With Ready Sale—Manifesto of British Authors Against Canadian Copyright

New York, June 10.—The World's London cable says: A heavy consignment of Canadian and American horses was sold here yesterday. They were much admired and found ready buyers. Twenty-six Canadian horses averaged 30 guineas (157) each, and 24 Canadian horses which were landed from the steamer Carlisle City a few days ago, were sold at the same average price.

The June number of The Author prints a manifesto of the Society of Authors in opposition to the Canadian Copyright Bill. It begins by saying that it is impossible to deal with the Canadian Copyright Act of 1889, or to estimate the effect it will produce if it is allowed to come into force. It refers to the present position of the copyright as an Imperial question, and as an international question.

WILL DESTROY PARNELL'S PAPERS.

They Include Valuable Historical Documents Relating to Home Rule

London, June 10—The executors of the will of the late Charles Stewart Parnell have decided to destroy his political correspondence.

The discussion had called forth vehement protests from friends of the deceased statesman against wiping out valuable historical records. The letters cover the time from the rising of Fenianism to the Home Rule agitation, and include reports of interviews with and communications from Mr. Gladstone, Lord Randolph Churchill, the Earl of Carnarvon and Archbishops Walsh and Croke. The friends maintain that the letters would be certain to reveal many state secrets which would justify the executors in sealingg them up for 50 years, but they hold that they have no right to destroy them.

Mr. Parnell's estate promises to pay 10s in the pound.

Barley—Trade dull and prices steady. Feed quoted at 52c to 53c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Car lots of white are quoted at 30 to 30 1-2c, west, and round lots held higher.

Rye—Business quite, with prices nominal.

Buckwheat—There is nothing doing and prices are purely nominal.

Homicide in Monasteries for the Insane

Berlin, June 7.—The Aix-La-Chapelle district attorney has ordered the prosecution of the Alexan Brotherhood for perjury and homicide. This is the outcome of the libel action brought by the brotherhood against the writer of a pamphlet describing atrocities inflicted upon inmates of the insane asylum in their monasteries. The Bishop of Cologne is implicated in the case.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but new I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
Toronto. C. L. KILMER.

ACTOR AS MURDERER.

His 8-Year-Old Child Heroine of a Tragedy.

San Francisco, June 9.—J. K. Emmet, the actor, made an attempt last night to murder his wife, who is known on the stage as Emily Lytton. The shooting occurred a short distance from their temporary residence in this city, shortly before 8 o'clock.

Emmet had been indulging in strong drink, and after his wife returned home, a quarrel ensued. When the shooting occurred there were few people upon the street, and the best account of eye-witnesses was given by Frank Berges, 12 years old.

The couple had evidently been practising upon their mandolin and guitar for only a few minutes before the first signs of trouble appeared, the music of these instruments being heard in Emmet's apartments. Suddenly the front door was thrown open by Mrs. Emmet, who pushed their little 8-year-old protege, Baby Synott, out on the front porch ahead of her.

"I'll shoot you, I'll kill you," yeled Emmet, who was in the front room.

"No you won't," answered his wife, as she closed the door, and, hastily inserting the key, snapped the lock. Pushing Baby Synott aside Mrs. Emmett ran along the sidewalk, Emmett rushed to the front window, which he threw open, and started to spring to the ground, a distance of six feet. In doing so his foot caught in the window sill, and he fell in the garden, striking his face against the stone coping. His nose bled freely. In the actor's hand was a revolver. Springing to his feet he cleared the low fence at a bound and started in pursuit of his wife. Halfway down the block the woman stopped and looked back. She saw her husband and the revolver, and with a scream resumed her flight. She cried loudly for help as she ran.

At this point Baby Synott, hearing Mrs. Emmett's cries for help, joined in the race. Near the corner Emmett caught up with his wife and fired. With a scream Mrs. Emmett fell to the sidewalk. He advanced towards his victim as though to shoot again, but as he levelled his pistol the child seized the hand that held the weapon. The actor paused and looked at the little one in astonishment, for he had not seen her before.

He pushed her from him, stepped back and placed the muzzle of his weapon against his temple. Baby Synott again sprang upon the would-be murderer, seeming to climb upon his limbs. In an instant the little hand was gripping the barrel of the pistol, which she pushed away from his temple. She clung to his arm so that he could not use the weapon again. Emmet stood for a moment as if bewildered, and then with his left hand he threw the weapon into a garden. Then the 8-year-old heroine fell to the sidewalk in a faint.

Bystanders quickly gathered and one picked up the child. No one would touch the man, who walked up the street and sat upon his doorstep until an officer arrived. Mrs. Emmet was assisted to a doorstep nearby, where she sat moaning until officers took her to the Receiving Hospital.

Dr. Redding probed for a bullet, but was unable to find one. It had glanced upward along the bone, and had in all probability lodged under the skin in her scalp. In answer to questions, she said her husband had struck her inside the house with the butt end of a revolver and she ran into the street. He followed, her and pointed the pistol at her, when she struck his hand upward and the bullet went into the air. She was positive it had not struck her, saying: "He is too great a coward to do that." She was allowed to leave the hospital.

According to a friend's story Emmet and his wife have not lived happily together since they arrived in this city, both sides being at fault.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

GOUGH BROS.

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

SWINDLED MANY FARMERS.

An Alleged Toronto Cheat Lodged in Jail at Sundridge.

Toronto, June 11.—W. H. Hunter of this city was arrested at Sundridge, on Saturday by Government Detective Greer on a charge of defrauding a number of farmers in that vicinity.

A few weeks ago Hunter visited Sundridge and called a meeting of the farmers of the district. He claimed to be a lumberman and agreed to market all the forest produce of farmers who would guarantee to pay him a per capita rate of $2 per month for three months. About 70 farmers entered into the arrangement, and an organization was formed of which Hunter was elected secretary and Mr. Peters, a Sundridge merchant, was named as treasurer. Mr. Peters became suspicious of the bona fides of Hunter, however, and declined to have anything to do with the matter.

Hunter succeeded in inducing the farmers to hand over to him 12 carloads of railroad ties, posts, etc., and these he shipped to Toronto, sold for cash, and it is alleged pocketed the proceeds. When asked for an accounting by the farmers he claimed that he had sold the produce on time, but declined to name the purchasers.

The Atorney-General's Department was communicated with and Detective Greer was given charge of the case. By a neat ruse Hunter was induced to return to Sundridge, where he was arrested. He was arraigned before Messrs. Gibbons and Duke, J.P.'s, and committed to Burk's Falls jail for trial on five separate charges of fraud.

Hunter is well known in this city. He was tried recently at Clifton on a charge of fraud, but was acquitted.

Cracked a Safe for $50,000

Lovell, Me., June 10.—It has just leaked out that the safe in the store of James E. Hutchins was opened and cash, stocks, bonds and securities to the amount of $50,000, were stolen on Thursday night last. There is no clue to the thieves.

CUBAN REVOLUTION SPREADING.

An Expedition From Florida—Martial Law in Santiago.

Santiago de Cuba, May 29.—The rebels for the last few days have been coming to the suburbs and taking the cattle ready to be killed for market. They appeared again this morning, but the Spanish troops to the number of 80 were awaiting them, and a fight ensued, the Spanish losing five killed and 40 wounded, the rebels two killed and five wounded. The insurgents are strong and bold in Guantanalo also. They have again removed the tracks between the city and its seaport, Caimaner, and have set fire to another bridge.

In Baracoa, a very important port on the north coast of the island, the insurgents are increasing in numbers daily.

It appears that Capt.-Gen. Campos is dissatisfied with Generals La Chambre and Salcedo, and he has ordered them both to Spain.

An Expedition From Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 10.—A cablegram to The Times-Union from Key West says: "It is now known that the expedition that left this country Wednesday night landed on the north of Cuba in the Province of Las Villas, near Sagua Lachico. The expedition was under the command of Gen. Roloff. Immediately upon landing they were joined by 2000 insurgents. Gen. Gomes, reported killed by the Spanish newspapers, has invaded Camaguey at the head of 2500 of the best-equipped men, where he was joined by 700 men, headed by a neplew of the Marquis of Santa Lucia."

Laidlaw Still Pursues Russell Sage.

New York, June 10.—The fourth trial of suit brought by William Laidlaw to recover damages from Russell Sage on account of the injuries Laidlaw received while in the office of Sage by the explosion of a dynamite bomb in the hands of Norcross was begun in the Supreme Court to-day. The case has been before three juries previously, every time having been upset on appeal to the general term.

Toronto Markets

Toronto, June 10.—Flour—Demand restricted. Straight rollers quoted at $4.65 to $4.75, Toronto freights.

Bran—Business in bran quiet and prices $12.50, Toronto freights. Shorts unchanged at $16.50.

Wheat—The market to-day was quiet, with the feeling unsettled. White and red are quoted west and north at $1 to $1.02. Manitoba wheat is dull and nominal at $1.06, Toronto freights.

Barley—Trade dull and prices steady. Feed quoted at 23c to 24c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Car lots of white sold to-day at 30c, west.

Rye—Business quiet, with prices nominal at 52c to 53c, outside.

Buckwheat—There is nothing doing and prices are purely nominal.

SIR TUPPER ASSAILED

Caron's Organ, La Minerve, Pitches Into Him,

FOR PERSECUTING MR. ST. LOUIS

The Tory Organ Says the Persecution is Too Persistent and That Justice Has Not Miscarried—There Are Others Whose Guilt is Readily Proved.

Montreal, Que., June 10. — La Minerve, controlled by Sir Adolphe P. Caron, shows its teeth to-day regarding the action of the Department of Railways and Canals in its dealing with Emanuel St. Louis, the Curran bridge contractor. Mr. St. Louis, says the old French Tory organ, is in a fair way of becoming a victim to a personal persecution at the hands of the Railways and Canals Department, and several are asking if the persistence in this case merits the title of justice, and if Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper is not allowing himself to be drawn too far in his laudable ambition to do what is right. La Minerve adds that the Department had all the time and latitude required to bring the strongest possible proof against Mr. St. Louis, and the accused was obliged to defend himself before the Public Accounts Committee, the Exchequer Court, and finally before the police magistrate, and on each occasion he came off free, although he had to pay enormous costs. It is not possible to suppose that before the Parliamentary Committee, before the Exchequer Court and before the police magistrate there could have been a miscarriage of justice. In all this the Department of Railways and Canals has given proof of its desire to find out and punish the person who appeared to be the most guilty. Would it not be opportune now to direct the prosecution against other parties whose acts would no doubt be easily incriminated? Our friends desire that justice shall be done and dishonesty severely punished, but they also have the right to exact that the limit which separates the cold and impartial action of the law from violence and persecution, shall not be crossed.

Sir Alexander Lacoste gave judgment to-day allowing the Department of Justice through its representative, Mr. John S. Hall, to lay an indictment against Emanuel St. Louis. The case will therefore go before the grand jury the day after to-morrow.

The Lieut.-Governor of Ontario and Mr. E. B. Osler were in the city to-day attending the regular monthly meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway directorate.

LUMBER AND SHIPPING BURNED.

Milwaukee Again Visited by a Disastrous Conflagration.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 10.—Fire in the centre of the lumber and tannery district, and only eight blocks from the business centre of the city, did $750,000 damage. Forester and Ihrig's lumber yards, Gallup's tannery, the steam barge Raleigh and the steam barge Lucy Graham were destroyed. The Schlits brewery had a narrow escape from being burned. Other shipping was damaged, as was considerable other property in the neighborhood.

Sixteen horses in the stables of the Forester Lumber Company were cremated. All the wagon sheds of the company were destroyed. The excellent work of the firemen prevented a further spread of the flames. Intense excitement prevailed in the city.

BURNED EVERYTHING IN TOWN.

Smoking in a Haymow Started It—Two Firemen Killed.

Cameron, W. Va., June 10.—The fire last night burned itself out at 5 o'clock this morning. The entire loss is estimated at $200,000. The fire started in a hay mow in which gamblers had been playing, and burned practically everything in the town. One hundred people are homeless. A train with a fire engine from Wheeling en route to render aid went down an embankment, and two men were killed.

200 Houses Burned.

Buda Pesth, June 11.—News has been received of the destruction of a portion of the town of Mereny, Hungary; 800 houses were burned and several persons were killed.

Firebugs at Oshawa.

Oshawa, June 11.—Fire on Saturday morning destroyed a dwelling owned by A. E. W. Aylesworth, valued at $950 and insured for $500. The fire was of an incendiary origin. The house has not been occupied for some months.

FATHER AND SON DROWNED.

The Boy Fell in and His Parent Jumped to His Rescue.

Waubaushene, June 10.—Yesterday Francis Tusignout and his 8-year-old boy met their death by drowning. While fishing on one of the booms in the millpond the little fellow fell in. The father jumped in after him, but was unable to regain his hold on the boom.

Saw, But Could Not Save.

Brantford, June 10.—James Mariatt, 17, was drowned Sunday afternoon when bathing in the mill-pond. He took cramps and went down in sight of many younger bathers.

Madame Albani in a New Opera.

London, June 8.—The English opera, "Harold," of which Sir E. B. Malet, the British Ambassador to Germany, is the librettist, and F. H. Cowen, the composer, was presented Saturday night at Covent Garden, and was well received. Mme. Albani assumed the role of Edith, the fiancee of Harold.

LEFT THREE WIVES.

Two Marriages, With an Elopement Between,

EACH WOMAN WANTED HIS ESTATE

The First Wife Had Secured a Divorce and the Third Wife Was Declared the Rightful Heir to John Heald's Insurance Money.

Toronto, June 11 — Three widows of one man, and all living, figured in an application in Chambers yesterday for the payment out of court of $1969 of insurance money upon the life of the late John Heald, who died in Toronto last December, and was the husband of all three. In England he married Jane Brierly, who was wife No. 1, in 1859. Her he left in Southbridge, Mass., in 1880, and eloped with Agnes Drew, by whom he had two children, and with whom he lived in Montreal until 1893.

Then he married, legally so counsel claimed, one Margaret Lawrence of Cohoes, N.Y., who yesterday, through Louis F. Heyd, successfully applied for the money in court, it being contended and not disputed that she was the wife entitled to the money, inasmuch as the first wife had secured an American divorce two years after the elopement and marriage with the second, who still lives in Montreal, and that the third and present widow, now living in Cohoes, N.Y., is the only lawful widow of the three.

The Select Knights of Canada paid the money into court. Chief Justice Meredith granted the order for its payment.

KEPT TWO WIVES ON ONE STREET.

Both Pleaded for Him When Prosecuted for Bigamy.

Buffalo, June 10.—Abram Hill, married Louisa Harris in England in 1874, and lived with her 20 years, also married Alice Jones at Niagara Falls, Ont., in April, 1893, brought her to Buffalo, and started housekeeping a stone's throw away from the first wife's residence. Hill was to-day sentenced to four years and two months in the Penitentiary for bigamy, despite the fact that both wives pleaded for a light punishment.

IMPERIAL SEALING BILL.

Sir Edward Grey Introduces and Explains His Measure.

London, June 11.—In the House of Commons yesterday, Sir Edwin Grey, Under Foreign Secretary, introduced a bill providing for the prohibition of seal catching during certain periods in Behring Sea and other parts of the Pacific, and also providing a code of regulations for the seal fisheries in those waters. It was read this afternoon in the House of Commons for the first time.

Sir Edward Grey explained that the bill was designed to take the place of the act passed two years ago with a view of carrying out the agreement with Russia in relation to seal fisheries in certain parts of the Pacific. That act would expire in July, and the present measure was practically a re-enactment of the bill, with a few alterations. The bill was read for the first time.

Lord Rosebery in London.

London, June 10.—Minister Rosebery has returned from his yachting trip and is now in London. A Cabinet council will be held to-morrow.

Manitoba's Crop Bulletin.

Winnipeg, Man., June 10.—The first official crop bulletin of the Manitoba Government was issued yesterday. The estimated increase in acreage for the year is 290,380, of which 130,000 acres are in wheat. The total wheat area is placed at 1,140,276 acres; oats, 483,658; barley, 153,859. Correspondents of the department are unanimous in their reports that the crop prospects were never brighter at this season of the year than they were on June 1, on which date the reports were forwarded.

Wheat Harvest in Kentucky.

Cario, Ills., June 10.—The wheat harvest has commenced in Western Kentucky and Southeast Missouri. The rain of two days ago saved the wheat, and there can now be no doubt that there will be more than an average crop. Corn is also looking fine.

Crops Ruined by Rain.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 10.—Rain began falling early yesterday morning and continued until 6 o'clock last night. It was the heaviest rain-fall for years. Reports from different sections report more or less damage to crops. Creek beds that have been dry for years are now bank wide.

STABBED IN THE STOMACH.

Affray Among Sawmill Men That May Be Fatal.

Ottwa, June 10.—Michael Egan, a boom foreman at Gilmour & Hughson's mills at Chelsea, was stabbed in the stomach by a young man named Trudeau on Saturday last, and is in a critical condition. Trudeau is now in Hull jail.

Threw Her Child Through a Car Window.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 11.—Mrs. Yan Kanapa, a Russian immigraut, threw her year and a half old child through the car window of a big four-passenger train yesterday, as it was entering the city. The child will die.

SCANDLOUS EXTRAVAGANCE.

Hon. Mr. Foster, Finance Minister, admits a deficit of four and a half millions of dollars. While this circumstance is to be deplored it needs create no surprise. It is only necessary to recall the facts brought out before the Public Accounts Committee at Ottawa, on Friday last, through the evidence of Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, deputy minister of railway and canals, in reference to the cost of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal; it was shown that the contract for building the lock was awarded to Hugh Ryan & Co. at $1,282,000, although two lower tenders were presented, one at $1,235,000 and another at $1,163,000. It was further shown that Ryan & Co., after securing the work at a higher figure than that named by other tenderers, were allowed $190,000 for enlarging the lock beyond the first estimate; for a second chadge and building culverts a further allowance of $498,000 was made; and for still additional work, including the building of a pier, $107,000 more was allowed and this is not all. The account for the Portland cement, and that is not a cheap article, is not included and has yet to be met. These facts show two most mischievous modes of administration. By refusing to accept the lowest tender, the large sum of $119,000 is squandered at the beginning, and the extras were allowed that swell the total cost of the work to $795,000 more than the original contract and that the highest tender. Thus a contract of $1,283,000 was increased to $2,077,000. Is it any wonder that there is a deficit of four and a half millions. How much of these extras was "milked" to replenish the government corruption fund coffers? There should be a rigid investigation into all such suspicious expenditures, for, while the Dominion Government is very benificent to its friends, it is not to be supposed that extras nearly half as much more than the contract price would have been allowed without the government "getting a piece of it." The increasing debt and consecutive big deficits are accounted for by this sample of corrupt extravagance.

A SINGULAR DECISION.

A decision has been made in a Quebec libel suit—Pelland vs. Montreal Star, which make the publication of "news" papers impossible. The principle laid down by this decision is that newspaper publishers are legally responsible for libellous utterances that may be contained in the fair report of public meetings. When a newspaper becomes reduced to the necessity of giving glossed and garbled reports, its influence and usefulness, as a medium of information to the public upon matters affecting the public interests, is gone. The situation is admirably expressed in the following resolution passed by the Canadian press association at a recent meeting in Toronto:—

"That the Canadian Press Association views with alarm the decision recently given by the Quebec courts in the case of Pelland v. Graham, in which the principle is laid down that newspaper publishers are legally responsible for libelous matters that may be contained even in admittedly fair reports of public meetings; that it regards such a decision as a serious menace to the liberties of the press and to the public interests, and as a check upon the exposure of wrong doing, and that it heartily endorses the decision of the defendant in this case, the publisher of the Montreal Star, to carry an appeal, if necessary, to the highest Court in the realm."

In ninety-nine cases out of one hundred no respectable newspaper ever prints a libellous article knowingly and with malice. The press is an indispensable guardian of the public interests, and the law should be so framed as to give it protection in this capacity, instead of the persecution involved in the decision referred to.

THE Farmers' Sun asks, "has the increased price paid for wheat made any [illegible]?" The general answer must be in the negative. The tricks which make profits for combines do not reach beyond the privileged circle.

A STRONG contingent of the Quebec Bleus, and some others, especially those of the Government supporters who have not been promised senatorships, are greatly in favour of another session before dissolution. No doubt the Government will try not to go before they are made to, and the last thousand dollars will be sweet to many who have no chance of playing the cat and coming back to Parliament.

MR. MULOCK on Friday introduced a bill in the Commons, which provides that no ex-member of Parliament shall be eligible for an office of emolument under the Crown until one year after the dissolution of the Parliament in which he sat. According to the admission of the Premier of Canada at least ten vacant senatorships are "promised"—presumably to members of Parliament, and it is said that treble that number of members of Parliament are promised offices of lucrative value, at the end of their terms, especially if that end comes through defeat at the polls. What man that holds his seat under such conditions can be expected to vote honestly? He can be depended upon to support the Government in any act, no matter how iniquitous and hostile to the interests of his country. If such inducements are removed by the proposed bill, a very great temptation will also be removed from these men to give the Government the support which the late Sir John Macdonald preferably appreciated in his saying that he did not value so much "the man who supported him when he was right as the man who supported him when he was wrong."

GALWAY COUNCIL.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Galway council met at Mrs. Hartnett's, on Thursday, June 4th, for Court of Revision and general business.

Moved by John Gilmour and James Allen, as there are no appeals against the assessment that the roll be confirmed, with instructions to the clerk if he finds any lots omitted to have the same put on the roll. The council then proceeded with the general business.

Moved by J. Gilmore and M. Collins that the clerk put all statute labour not performed last year on this year's road lists and insist on all pathmasters to have said work performed, and if not, to charge the same on the collector's roll to be collected with taxes.

Moved by James Allen and George McKee, that 3 road scrapers be purchased, one from Quinn's swamp to M. Collins, one from George Martin's as far as settled on that line in Cavendish, one on the south boundary and second concession, Galway, one on the Dutch line, the one Samuel Loyle, has to be used from the Bobcaygeon road to Quinn's swamp.

Moved by John Gilmore and George McKee, that William Allen be paid $6 in full payment for all claims that are or may hereafter be made against this council for said road allowance across lot 15, con. 13, Galway.

Moved by M. Collins and James Allen, that the reeve pay to the treasurer $50, county grant, the same be expended on roads by this council, that a copy of this resolution be sent Edge. Pearce.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Council fees, James Allen, $3.75; Geo. McKee, $1.25; M. Collins, $3.75; John Gilmour, $3.75; William Allen, road allowance. $6; clerk's salary in part, $28; postage, $2. Council adjourned until Sept. 3rd.

FRENCHMEN ARE SORE.

The Idea of Accepting Germany's Invitation to Kiel Is Decidedly Obnoxious.

Paris, June 10.—M. Millerand, Socialist, interpellated the Government in the Chamber of Deputies to-day in regard to the policy of France in the East, and the acceptance of the invitation of Germany to take part in the ceremonies at Kiel, on the occasion of the opening of the Baltic Sea Canal, declaring that the latter indicated a change in the French policy.

M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, denied that the acceptance of Germany's invitation furnished evidence of any change of policy whatever on the part of France. The acceptance of Germany's invitation was merely an act of politeness. The French sailors who would go to Kiel would represent free and strong France, fearing no comparison with the sailors of any power. Disavowing any feeling of resentment respecting the East, M. Hanotaux said France was unwilling to leave Russia to struggle alone with difficulties which might influence the general policy of the republic. France, he declared, remained faithful to her allies.

M. Flourens said that in return for French support of Russia in the East, France ought to have obtained a guarantee that when the question of the annexed provinces (Alsace-Lorraine) came before Europe, Russia would give her moral and material support. Furthermore, Russia ought to help France in Egypt in return for her services to Russia in the Armenian question.

Ex-Premier Goblet declared that the action of the Government in sending French warships to Kiel wounded the national sentiment of France. The entente entered into with Russia had commanded French gratitude, but now it seemed that it was not sufficient for effective action. If a genuine alliance existed between France and Russia let M. Hanotaux plainly say so. Germany, he said, had not hesitated to publish the fact and terms of the Dreibund and France certainly had no reason to be ashamed of having established an alliance with Russia. He (Goblet) was not animated by any feeling of revenge, but the separation of Alsace-Lorraine from France constituted a just reason for displeasure, and until that question was settled France would remain neither courteous nor conciliatory.

Premier Ribot said that France had united her interests with those of Russia for the preservation of the peace of Europe, and this alliance had made both countries stronger.

The Chamber then voted confidence in the Government, 362 to 105.

Paine's Celery Compound Does a Wondrous Work for Mr. Samuel Hanna.

NEIGHBOURS AND FRIENDS ASTONISHED.

Like Results Never Accomplished by any Other Medicine.

The case of Mr. Samuel Hanna, an esteemed resident of Manvers, Ont., has attracted the attention of hundreds living in the district. Since Mr. Hanna's cure, by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, scores who were previously skeptical, are now thoroughly convinced that every word and sentence of praise written in favour of Paine's Celery Compound in the past, is true and deserving.

As a speedy curer of disease, a strengthener and health-giver, the vast majority of men and women in Canada admit that Paine's Celery Compound has no equal. Mr. Hanna writes thus about his wonderful cure:

"After severe sickness and suffering for a length of time, I am happy to state that I was made well by Paine's Celery Compound. To be raised up from a low and weak state inside of two weeks is a marvellous work, which nothing else but Paine's Celery Compound could have accomplished.

"After using half the first bottle of the Compound, I was able to dig the holes for a forty rod fence, and help to build it. Before using Paine's Celery Compound I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Now I enjoy good sleep and a healthful appetite. Paine's Celery Compound is worth its weight in gold to any sufferer; it is the best medicine in the world."

GOVERNMENT WANTONLY INACTIVE

Liberals Warn Them That They Are Ruining the Trade—Iniquitous Way the Homestead Law Is Administered—New Postoffice Sites Are Selected.

Ottawa, June 11.—An important subject was brought to the Government's attention yesterday in the House by the member for Peel (Mr. Featherston).

The Government by the laxity of the Department of Agriculture, having been instrumental in scheduling Canadian cattle in Great Britain, seems likely now to allow the sheep trade to be injured in the same way. Against such a calamity the Opposition held out a warning.

But before that question arose Mr. Martin brought forward a motion which exposes the method of conducting business in the Interior Department. It was in relation to a motion which he made for papers in regard to the homestead entry of William Fleming of Carberry for the northeast quarter of section 16, in township 9, range 14 west of the first principal meridian, for correspondence with Nathaniel Boyd, M.P., as to the section, Mr. Boyd's lease of the land and for the regulations as to leasing land, and as to homesteading leased lands.

Mr. Martin said that Mr. Fleming, who was desirous of obtaining a homestead, went to the Dominion land office in Brandon and obtained a list of quarter sections open to settlement. He was told that some of them were under lease, but that that would be no bar to his selection of one of them. Mr. Fleming selected the quarter section named and afterwards made through inadvertence an affidavit that there were no improvements on the land.

It turned out afterwards that there were improvements on the land, whereupon the Interior Department wrote to Mr. Fleming, charging him with having been guilty of perjury, and informing him that unless he withdrew his homestead entry to this quarter section he would be prosecuted. Instead of prosecuting Mr. Fleming the Department sent this blackmailing letter with the object of frightening him into submisson, but he had defied the Department. Mr. Boyd, the member for Marquette, had obtained a grazing lease of the land from the Department, and, while the lease gave no right to cultivate the land, Mr. Boyd had raised wheat upon it. The fact that the land had been broken constituted the improvements. It was to enable a Government supporter to obtain the land that the Department had attempted to blackmail a poor man who desired a homestead in Manitoba.

Mr. Daly said that a grazing lease was granted to Boyd and Crow in July 1885, and that it was subsequently assigned to Mr. Boyd. When the list of quarter sections open to settlement was given to Mr. Fleming there was a prior application for it from Mr. Boyd, who desired it as a location for his corral. Mr. Daly defended the action of the Department in writing to Mr. Fleming, threatening to prosecute him for having made the declaration that the land had not been cultivated, when, as a matter of fact, 50 acres had been broken. He contended that Mr. Boyd had the right to purchase the land and to crop it.

Mr. Boyd explained his connection with the transaction. He said that the land in question, which lay between Carberry and the Assiniboine River, was unfit for cultivation, excepting in a few isolated portions. He had grown crops there, not for sale, but to provide feed for his stock. Mr. Martin had brought the matter up, not to rectify a wrong, but to make an attack upon a member of the House.

The selection of a site for the new Government building in Portage la Prairie was the subject of a criticism offered by Mr. Martin against the Public Works Department. Of the three sites considered by the Government, one had been settled in defiance of the wishes of the citizens and business men at the western limit of the town. Mr. Boyd said that there was keen rivalry between the east and west ends of Portage la Prairie, and Mr. Martin's personal interest was with the east end. When he was Attorney-General of Manitoba, all the provincial public buildings were erected in the east end, and that the Land Titles Office and Home for Incurables had been purchased from him. When an influential deputation had waited upon him to ask that the Land Titles Office be erected elsewhere, he had told it to go to the father of all lies, he would put it where he chose.

Mr. Martin, with considerable warmth, declared that the statement was untrue, whereupon the Speaker arose and asked that he withdraw the words, as being unparliamentary. Mr. Martin protested, and the Speaker threatened to name him if he did not take it back. Finally, Mr. Martin withdrew the expression. Mr. Boyd said that Mr. Martin had no right to interfere with his patronage, and defended the selection of a site that had been made. When Mr. Martin denied the statement of Mr. Boyd, that provincial buildings had been erected on property owned by him, the member for Marquette withdrew it.

Mr. Featherston moved for papers relating to the shipment of Canadian sheep to Great Britain alleged to have been diseased. He said that 121,304 sheep sent to England last year were reported as being the product of the Dominion of Canada, but as a matter of fact about 30,000 American sheep were sent over from Canadian ports. This year a large number of American animals were being transported through Canada to Montreal and there shipped for Great Britain. Mr. Featherston emphasized the importance of taking steps to prevent the contamination of Canadian sheep by association with sheep from the United States.

Dr. Montague suggested that the British authorities would probably make an effort to protect their own farmers against the importation of sheep from Canada by finding some disease upon which to hang an embargo, as they had done in regard to Canadian cattle.

Mr. McMullen reminded the House that, while the Minister had expressed the desire of the Department of Agriculture to protect the purity of Canadian sheep, the Government by its neglect had brought about the scheduling of Canadian cattle. Continuing after recess, Mr. McMullen expressed his suprise that the country had not to preside over the important Department of Agriculture a practical, extensively experienced farmer. They had a Minister of Agriculture who was no more acquainted with the wants and interests of the farmers than he was with the industries of the moon. He was not even in this House, where the representatives of the farmers could question him and present their views to him. He was safely and comfortably ensconced in the Senate. Neither was the man who was deputed by the Government to speak for him in this House a practical farmer, but a doctor. He warned the Government that the farmers were alive to this contrast between their attitude toward the manufacturing and agricultral interests, and the Government having been responsible for the scheduling of, they would be held strictly to account for any injury to the sheep trade which should result from negligence at this time.

Sir Adolphe Caron made the challenge that Mr. Angers had done more for the farmers than any of his Liberal predecessors in his office.

Dr. Landerkin said it was by the Mackenzie Government that the sheep and cattle trade had been put upon a business basis, and if that example had been followed Canadian cattle would not have been scheduled. That calamity had been the result of laxity on the part of the Agricultural Department. Now the sheep trade was imperilled, and he urged the necessity of measures being taken to protect it.

Mr. McMillan asked the Postmaster-General what the present Minister of Agriculture had done for the farmers? One thing he had done, he had, in conjunction with the Premier, given a subsidy to a steamship line which was bringing beef, mutton and mutton from the Antipodes to compete keenly with the Canadian farmers in their own market. He had seen, the other day, where a shipment of butter had come from Australia to Sudbury, Ontario. This was what the Government had done, while they were pretending to keep the trade by giving the farmers 20 cents a pound for butter.

After a few further remarks from Mr. Featherston, the resolution passed.

The statue of Sir John Macdonald, which is to be erected on Parliament Hill shortly, arrived here to-day. It is the work of the French-Canadian sculptor Phil Hebert. Your correspondent had an opportunity of examining the bronze this morning and has no hesitation in affirming that when placed in position it will be commended as a true likeness of the great chieftain of the Conservative party. The bronze figure of "Canada" which is to be placed at the base of the granite pedestal has also arrived.

It is expected that the case of Hendershott and Welter will be considered by the Cabinet to-morrow.

The total imports from Australia since June 30 last are valued at $53,012.

WHOLE STREETS WASHED AWAY.

Fearful Destruction by a Cloudburst Near Vienna.

Vienna, June 11.—Advices received from Wiener, Neustadt, state that the recent cloud-burst in that section washed away a great number of bridges and houses in the Communes of Schwarzenbach, Schlatten and Hochwoltersdorf, in some instances carrying away buildings the entire length of streets and submerging large tracts of territory. Twelve persons were drowned in the town of Schwarzenbach alone, and it is believed that the total loss of life is very great. The damage done in these places, which peculiarily is over 300,000 florins, cannot be repaired for years.

BURIED UNDER THE ENGINE.

Two Killed in a Freight Wreck Near Dixon, Ill.

Dixon, Ill., June 11.—A freight train on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad was derailed here last night, and engine and cars are a mass of wreckage. Louis Brecks, the fireman, and John Wadley, the head brakeman, were found dead under the engine. Charles Oberhart, the engineer, was thrown 20 feet, but will recover.

Killed by an Alligator at Parry Sound.

Parry Sound, June 10.—Angus McEachern was killed a day or two ago at Restoule Lake. McEachern was employed by the Hardy Lumber Co. as engineer on an alligator tug. He was alone at the time, and was portaging a boom of logs. The alligator was fastened to a tree by a chain, which broke, and the tug flying back buried McEachern beneath it. He was formerly Postmaster at Nipissing.

Shot Himself Twice.

Waubaushene, June 10.—While Wm. Barnes was carrying a revolver it was accidentally discharged, the ball penetrating to the back near the waist. Mr. Barnes is carrying a bullet in his body which cannot be found, the result of an accident of the same nature some time ago.

Three Tramps Crushed to Death.

East Sydney, Ohio, June 11.—A Big Four train broke in two nine miles west of here on a heavy grade this morning and came together with a crash, telescoping eight cars. Eight tramps were riding in one of the cars that was wrecked and three of them were crushed to death. Another man had his back broken and was fatally injured.

TOOK AN OVERDOSE OF LAUDANUM.

Ald. Frank Maguire of St. Catharines Meets Death Suddenly.

St. Catharines, June 10.—Ald. Frank Maguire, grocer, was found dead in bed this morning. The supposed cause of death was an overdose of laudanum. It is not thought he took the laudanum with suicidal intent.

Mysterious Death at Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 10.—Charles W. Lauder, shoemaker, aged 68, died Sunday rather suddenly, and an inquest will be held.

Sudden Death at Oshawa.

Oshawa, Ont., June 11.—Mr. J. Murton, father of Mr. L. K. Murton of this town, died here suddenly on Saturday morning in his 84th year. Deceased settled in Oshawa 52 years ago and was born in Cornwall, Eng. He was a prominent Reformer and at one time a member of the Town Council.

Took Poison But Did Not Die.

Hamilton, June 10.—Mrs. W. Mulholland, 18 Hill-street, attempted suicide by taking red precipitate powder, a mercurial salt, Saturday. A doctor pumped her out.

A NOTABLE EXCEPTION.

A Strong Feeling in Favour of a Canadian Product in the State of New York.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 10.—In spite of a strong sentiment prevailing throughout this state that nothing good can come out of Canada, a feeling is beginning to grow that there are certain notable exceptions and among them is classed the new specific remedy for all diseases of the kidneys, and all complaints arising from a derangement of those organs, known as Dodd's Kidney Pills. The medicine has received a thorough test and is being prescribed not only by druggists but by physicians, whose well known reluctance to admit any virtue in a proprietary medicine make their testimony to its merits still more remarkable.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

WEDDED AMID FLOWERS.

A Pretty Wedding in Montreal in Which a Peterborough Young Man Participates.

An interesting event took place in Montreal social circles, on Thursday last, when Mr. Charles R. Matthews, of Peterborough, secretary-treasurer of Matthews' Pork Packing Co., (Limited), was united in marriage to Miss C. Spier, daughter of Mr. James Spier, Montreal.

The wedding took place at four o'clock in the afternoon, at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 98 Duke street, in the presence of about eighty invited guests and was performed by Rev. J. Edgar Hill, one of Montreal's most eminent Presbyterian divines.

The drawing room in which the ceremony took place was a veritable bower of floral beauty. Roses and carnations abounded on every side against a background of stately palms, concealing an orchestra of stringed instruments, which played at intervals during the afternoon.

The bride, who is a neice of Senator Ogilvie, was given away by her father and looked most attractive in a gown of handsome white corded silk. Her veil was caught up with a glittering diamond star and pendant, the gift of the groom and her magnificent bouquet of Pearl des Jardins roses excited unusual admiration.

The bridesmaids were Miss Duncan and Miss Galbraith, of Montreal; both were most prettily gowned in a delicate tint of pale yellow crepon, trimmed with satin of the same shade, and carried large spray bouquets of Prince de Joinville roses.

Mr. A. E. Matthews, of Ottawa, brother of the groom, performed the offices of best man.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held and an opportunity given the many friends of the young couple to congratulate them and to inspect the wedding gifts, which were of unusual magnificence.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Matthews left for New York and before their return next week will probably spend a few days at some of the principal American summer resorts in the Eastern States. Upon arriving in Peterborough they will take up their residence on Stewart street in the house formerly occupied by Mr. Robt. Kingan.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, of Peterborough, were in attendance at the marriage and have returned home.

FATHER QUIRK'S FUNERAL.

Imposing Ceremonies at Hastings—Remains Followed to the Grave by Clergy and People.

The funeral ceremonies of the late Father Quirk, which took place in Hastings yesterday, were of an imposing character. Right Rev. R. A. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough, together with sixteen priests from the parishes in the diocese, were present.

Rev. Father Murray, of Cobourg, officiated as celebrant, with Revs. Kelly, of Douro, as deacon, McColl, of Eanismore, as subdeacon, O'Sullivan, of Campbellford, thurfer and Scollard, of Peterborough, master of ceremonies.

The pallbearers were Revs. Fathers Brown, V.G., of Douro; Brennan of Prescott, T. O'Connell, of Burley, D. O'Connell, of Peterborough, McClosky of Brighton, and Connelly, of Campbellford. The other clergy present were Revs. Lynch, of Port Hope; Laurent, V.G., of Lindsay; Conway, of Norwood; the venerable Father Higgins, of Hastings, and Rev. T. F. Collins, at present in charge of the mission.

The choral services were rendered by the Norwood choir, under the direction of Rev. Father Conway.

The Bishop preached the funeral sermon from the text, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." Business was wholly suspended from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., during which time the flag at the Town Hall was at half-mast and the bell of the Methodist Church tolled during the passage of the procession from the church (where it lay in state from noon on Sunday) to the vault outside on the east side of the church. Fully 2,000 people witnessed the ceremonies.

THE PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL.

THE PROCEEDINGS AT THE JUNE SESSION.

The Warden's Address—Retrospective and Prospective—Summary of the Other Business Transacted.

TUESDAY, June 11th.

The county council of Peterborough met in session at the Court House at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There were present, the Warden, Mr. J. B. Pearce in the chair, and Messrs. John Burnham, Samuel Joyce, W. H. Casement, Wm. Buck, Samuel Scott, J. B. Peoples, J. L. Aunger, Alex. Brown, Wm. Hales, John Moloney, Wm. Leeson, E. Hawthorne, H. A. Moore, Wm. Crough, M. Mansfield, R. Shaw, Joseph Forster, W. Anderson, T. J. Johnston, John Lancaster, James Middleton and Wm. Mollmoyle.

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Warden Pearce took the chair and delivered the following address:

To the Members of the County Council of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—It affords me much pleasure in meeting with you, my colleagues, in the discharge of the duties of this the most important session of the year. And in so doing, permit me to express my appreciation of the honour conferred upon me, by which I have the privilege of following the time honoured custom of the many distinguished gentlemen who have preceded me, with an address at the opening of the council. In so doing I have no matters pertaining to the business of the county of an unusual or special character to report to the council since your last session. During the interval the auditors' detail and abstract statement of receipts and expenditures of the county treasurer for the year ending 31st December, 1894, have been completed, and will be laid before you for your careful examination, which, I trust, will meet with your approval and acceptance. I am pleased and must congratulate you upon the sound and satisfactory financial condition of the county as shown by the auditors' report. The affable, courteous and prompt attention given by your clerk and treasurer to all without distinction of rich or poor, who have business with him is proverbial. The accuracy, system and neatness of keeping the accounts, books, and papers of the county is most creditable and praiseworthy, and I feel confident in stating we have a county official, whose superior, if an equal, it would be difficult to find in the Province.

The world-wide depression which I feel persuaded Canada has escaped with effects of any country, I trust is now drawing to a close. With the old time once more quotation of dollar wheat, and a firm upward tendency in other farm products and of manufacturers' products of the country, I trust better times are dawning on us. The general depression in commerce and trade has left in the vaults of our monetary institutions considerable unused capital. This fact with the unquestionable security which this country can justly claim as gilt edged, has enabled me with your treasurer to make a satisfactory arrangement for what money may be required until the current year's taxes are paid, at a reduced rate from that formerly charged. It is however not deemed expedient to publish or make public the satisfactory rate obtained.

Re Kinmount Bridge.—I received a letter from the clerk of the county of Victoria, in February, stating that the Warden of Victoria had instructed him to ask what action I intended to take with regard to the Kinmount bridge, which the Road and Bridge Committee left in my hands with power to act. In reply I wrote that the bridge was not in my opinion a county bridge, that section 538 of the Consolidated Municipal Act did not apply to bridges situated as the Kinmount bridge is and that this county would most vigorously resist any demands for repairs or maintenance of the same. A copy of the correspondence will be submitted to your Road and Bridge Committee. In company with your County Engineer I made a tour of inspection of the greater portion of the county bridges last month and found them in

A SATISFACTORY STATE,

After the ice had gone, the floating bridges were placed in position by the caretakers, with but little expense this spring. I may leave particulars with the County Engineer, who will report fully respecting the same.

I have pleasure in reporting the completion of the Wallace Point bridge. This is a handsome and substantial steel bridge on stone abutments, spanning the Otonabee river between the townships of Otonabee and South Monaghan (replacing the old wooden structure), built at the joint expense of this county and the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, whose committee met with your special committee, the Engineer and Mr. Law, the manager of the Central Bridge Co., and inspected the bridge, which met with the unanimous approval of the joint committee concerned. It is a credit to the company who erected it, as well as to the Engineer. I feel confident that this council has shown great wisdom in abandoning wooden bridges and erecting, as they have, substantial iron and steel bridges, spanning the large rivers in this county in recent years, which will stand for years to come, and, I fully believe, future generations will point to them with admiration as monuments of your wisdom.

I met with your special bridge committee and County Engineer, who decided to rebuild the Douglas bridge over the Indian river in the township of Dummer. Mr. Hawthorne, Reeve of Dummer, was requested to ask for and receive tenders for the necessary material before the snow would go. This has been done, and as soon as the water in the river will permit it to excavate the rock,

THE BRIDGE WILL BE REBUILT

in accordance with the the Engineer's plans. I also accompanied these gentlemen and Mr. Buck, Reeve of Asphodel, on Friday last in inspecting the Comstock and Steele's bridges in the Township of Asphodel. Measurements were taken and the whole matter will be further dealt with during the present session of the council.

I received a letter from R. B. Rogers, Esq., Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, enclosing a letter addressed to him by the captain of the steamer City of Peterborough, complaining of the insufficiency of the guards at the approaches of the swing bridges at the locks bridge, Peterborough, and Wallace Point. I submitted the matter to the joint committee at its recent meeting. Action was deferred as to the Wallace Point approaches at the request of the committee from the Counties of Northumberland and Durham until they could submit the matter to their council.

I beg to report the memorials ordered to be prepared with reference to the swing bridges over the Trent Canal route, with that of condolance to Lady Thompson and also to His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada on the appointment of James Stevenson, M.P., to the Senate, have been prepared and forwarded as directed, and duly acknowledged, copies of which may be found printed with the minutes of the January session of this council, all of which I trust will meet with your approval.

The changes in the Judge's chambers, giving a separate entrance as directed, have been completed and the room has been decorated, and new carpet and furniture placed in the same.

Our old and venerable friend, Michael Sanderson, Esq., has verbally as a member of the Board of Audit of the accounts in connection with the Administration of Justice; the duties of the office so long and so efficiently performed by him he feels too onerous for him to continue to discharge in his declining years, and in this connection he makes a parting request that you appoint as his successor John Burnham, Q.C. In naming a gentleman so eminently qualified to fill the position, I trust that you will comply with this request.

TENDERED TO ME HIS RESIGNATION

The question of good roads is an important one. I have long felt that the present system of statute labour has outlived its usefulness, particularly in the older municipalities. In the spring and fall farmers are frequently debarred from marketing their produce and obtaining the high prices owing to the difficulty of reaching the markets. This being the case, is it not high time some change should be made in the way of improving our leading highways through the county? The system in vogue in the adjoining County of Hastings for a number of years, in my opinion, after carefully observing their system of building and maintaining the county roads, has many features commending its adoption. If a special committee were appointed to inspect and fully inquire into the system referred to, I am convinced that the results would prove beneficial if a system of county roads was adopted as in the County of Hastings.

I am sure you all, with me,

FELT SINCERE REGRET

at the recent announcement of the demise of a gentleman who for many years was a resident of this county, occupying, as he did, the most honourable position attainable in the county, and for a long term discharging the important duties pertaining to his elevated position with an ability of a high order, and winning for him the respect of the whole community. It is needless to say I allude to His Honour, the late ex-Judge of this county, Robert Dennistoun, Q.C. I feel assured he will always be remembered by the members of this council and the people of this county with the greatest respect. It would be but an act of courtesy to the memory of a just judge for this council to place on record an expression of sympathy and condolence with his respected family in their bereavement.

There are many other matters that will come before you, of which the equalization of assessment will not be of the least importance. This year will terminate the county valuators' report which was adopted in 1890. I feel confident that all matters coming before you will receive that careful consideration their nature and importance require.

J. B. PEARCE,
Warden.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 11th, 1895.

On motion of Mr. Moloney, seconded by Mr. Leeson, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to report on the Warden's address: Messrs. Anderson, Forster, Casement, Middleton, Burnham, Hawthorne and Moloney.

A petition presented by W. C. Cummings, Ashburnham, asking for a pedler's license at a reduced figure, was referred to the Committe on Petitions. Mrs. Cumming addressed the council in support of the prayer of the petition.

Council adjourned.

BUTTER MAKING.

The Visit of the Travelling Dairy to This Country.

The attention of farmers and farmers' wives, especially, is directed to the advertisement in another column, announcing the visit of the Travelling Dairy from the Ontario Agricultural Farm to this county during the last week of this month, and the first week of July. All interested in butter making or the dairy business generally are urged to study this advertisement and to attend the meetings which will not be confined to theory but will deal with real, practical, actual business butter making. The farming public should appreciate the efforts of the Ontario Government to bring the most perfect instruction in butter making to their very doors. The Government thus practically recognizes the fact that no industry is more worthy of assistance than the farming, and especially the dairy, industry.

"For a number of years I have been troubled with a general tired feeling, shortness of breath, pain in the back, and constipation. I could get only little rest at night on account of the pain and had no appetite whatever. I was that tired in my limbs that I gave out before half the day was gone. I tried a great number of medicines but did not get any permanent relief from any source until, upon recommendation of a friend, I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which made me feel better at once. I have continued its use, having taken three bottles, and

CRICKET.

The Orillia cricketers came down yesterday to try conclusions with the local men, by whom they were defeated by the narrow margin of 69 to 67.

The absence of W. A. Stratton, Tom Allison and Lefevre weakened the Peterborough team considerably, or they would have been victorious, doubtless, by a much larger score.

The game was decided on the result of the first innings, and it was well for Orillia that this was the case. Peterborough went to the bat in the second innings and quickly piled up 99 runs for the fall of seven wickets. At this juncture the visitors asked that the match be decided by the first innings. The score was as follows:

Sam Ray, the captain of the Peterboroughs, won the toss, and taking McGill with him went in to bat. The local team played in hard luck, and were only successful in making a score of 69. Of this Hal Burnham made 17, and Ray, Rogers and Stocker 9 each. The bowling of the visitors was well on the wickets but was all straight balls and easy to handle, if played properly, still nevertheless no fewer than six of Peterborough's best bats were bowled.

When the visitors went in for their innings Roper and Clark were the first pair put in, and each was retired after making a hit for three apiece. The Orillias braced themselves after this, however, and though every Peterborough man who had any pretension to be a bowler was put on, the visitors' score crept up to 67, with two wickets yet to fall. It required but two more runs to tie the score of the Peterboroughs, and three to turn the match.

The home team were in a quandary indeed. One hit to the fence and the match was lost. Sam Ray decided to assume the responsibility of winning or losing the game, and for the first time in years went on to bowl. The first ball sped from his hand and as Toogood made a sweep at it to swipe it to leg the players held their breaths. It was a critical moment. He missed it, however. Then another came high in the air and very slow. It had a twist on it, however, that caused it to rise high overhead, when the batsmen touched it and Geo. Martin gathered it in and the player was retired. Things looked brighter now for the home team, but there was still a wicket to fall and only three runs to make.

The veteran old cricketer bowled the new batsman exactly the same kind of a ball that retired his predecessor and he hit it exactly the same way. Up went the ball in the air from his bat and Gurd was safely under it before it fell, and the match was saved. It was a case of touch and go, however, and when the last wicket fell Peterborough heaved a sigh of intense relief, as a score so close is not seen every day.

It was altogether different in the second innings and the local team hammered the bowling all over the field. Montgomery and Stocker each placed 26 runs to their credit, and Rogers his regular 13. In all 99 runs were piled up for the fall of but seven wickets, and then the visitors were glad to ask to have the wickets drawn and the match decided on the first innings.

LACROSSE.

The Junior Peterboroughs played their first match of the season yesterday, and won "hands down" from the Junior Orillia's.

The local team was in splendid form, having been practicing regularly since the opening of the season, and their combination work was something pretty to watch. It would be hard indeed to pick a weak spot in the team, though if one or two of the players did not hold the ball quite so long even better results might be attained.

The Orillia's had a good defense but their home men were weak and sadly deficient in the art of knowing when or how to shoot.

The ball was kept on the visitors' flags all the time, and even when it did stray up into the Peterboroughs territory Hughes or Lynch were on it in a twinkling and sent it hustling far down the field.

It would be a difficult matter to pick out the particular stars in the Peterborough team, yesterday, as every man seemed to be at his best. The boys lined up as follows:—

Peterborough.		Orillia.
Craig	goal	Grant
Brown	point	Quinn
Lynch	cover point	McKay
Hughes	1st defence	Kiely
Dobbin	2nd "	Cameron
Green	3rd "	Yates
Guy	centre	Blaine
King	3rd home field	Thompson
Galley	2nd "	Mitchell
Thompson	1st "	Smith
Rickey	outside home	Dunn
Glover	inside home	Cameron

Umpires—E. Howell, T McDonough.
Referee—W A Sanderson.

THE SCORE.

Goals.	Won by.	Scored by.	Time.
1st	Peterborough	Thompson	22 min
2nd	"	Glover	19 "
3rd	"	Thompson	25 "

Several hundred people witnessed the match, but almost half of this number took advantage of holes under the fence, etc., and obtained entrance in that manner. It might be well to observe just here that while no steps were taken to prevent those so inclined from getting into the grounds without paying, yet on the occasion of the next match prosecutions will surely follow if any are caught in the attempt.

All members of the Athletic Lacrosse club are requested to be on the Driving Park for practice this evening, as a strong combination should be in practice for the match in Madoc on Monday, June 17th.

THE COUNTY COURT.

A Purely Civil List—No Criminal Cases for the Grand Jury to Handle.

At the opening of the sittings of the County Court this afternoon, with Judge Weller on the bench, the following jurors were present: Samuel Bryson, Douro; Geo. Elliott, Asphodel; Alfred J. Findlay, Norwood; Alex. Gillespie, Peterborough; Jos. T. Green, Monaghan; Ebenezer Jinkins, Dummer; Robt. Logan, Peterborough; Wm. T. Mather, Otonabee; John L. Madill, Lakefield; Daniel Young, Belmont, and Henry Hibbert, Peterborough. Mr. Alex. Gillespie was chosen as foreman.

Judge Weller, in addressing the Jury, explained that there was absolutely no cases to come under their notice. He had been handed a list of those persons confined in the gaol, and amongst them found that twelve were undergoing sentences for vagrancy, or in other words for not being able to show that they had any visible means of support. His Honour pointed out that he had more than once suggested the advisability of taking advantage of the law on this point, and erecting a House of Refuge. The county had expressed its willingness to co-operate with the town in any scheme towards this end.

It was a matter for congratulation that the county was so largely free from crime as it at present was, their being no criminal cases on the docket.

Since the last sitting of the court, there had been a change as regarding grand juries. The law had recently been amended. The sheriff instead of summoning 24 grand jurors now only called upon 18. The law only required that seven of the jury should agree upon a finding.

In commenting upon the proposed abolition of the Grand Jury, His Honour spoke strongly in favour of such a move. Investigations before this body were conducted with closed doors. An officer representing the Crown was present and brought out only such facts as were against the prisoner, who did not appear himself. The press was barred from the investigation and whatever might be said about the press, His Honour was strongly in favour of having representatives present on all such occasions to expose any action which was not as it should be.

The jury was then allowed to retire to inspect the different public buildings.

The first case on the docket was that of McCormack vs. Howry & Co., in which Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Steers, of the legal firm of Barron & Steers, Lindsay, for the defence.

The suit was one brought for wages and the defendants' solicitor moved for adjournment on the ground that a material witness could not be obtained in time for the trial.

The witness it appears is one of the Howry Co.'s foremen named Long, who is in charge of a drive of logs in Haliburton, and the company might be subjected to loss if he was called away from his duty.

Mr. Stone's sarcastic comment, in which he stated that the Howries need not think they were in Michigan now, where they could arrange the law at their convenience, was smilingly received. The plaintiff, he stated, was a poor man, who could not afford to remain in town until the next sitting of the court and it would be an easy matter for a rich corporation like the Howry's to win the suit if they were allowed to adjourn the case until they tired the plaintiff out.

The Judge saw with Mr. Stone in the matter and could not understand how an adjournment could be reasonably asked, just as a matter of convenience to the defendant. He therefore ordered the case to proceed and it is still on.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

Impressive Services on Sunday—The Conference and Education—Sabbath Observance—To Meet at Trenton.

Rev. M. B. Young, B. A., preached on Sunday at the meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference, in Picton, on the attractiveness of Christ. This beautiful, systematic and strong sermon was followed by the sacrament of the Lord's supper, administered to a large congregation.

At yesterday morning's session of conference reports of the standing committees were read. That of the Sabbath Observance sustained John Charlton, M. P., in his efforts to make prominent Sabbath observances. It condemned generally Sabbath funerals, Sunday excursions, unnecessary bicycling, Sunday visiting and Sunday parades. The question of parades called forth a long discussion, and the item in reference thereto was amended to show that there was no antagonism between the church and the societies.

The report of the Board of Examiners was presented by Rev. T. J. Edmison, B. D., and adopted. That of the Church Property Committee marked the rapid evolution of Methodism throughout the conference.

MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

It was moved by Rev. Dr. Cade: "That, while we have no desire to embarrass the general government of this country in its dealing with the Manitoba school question, or to abridge any constitutional liberties or rights of our Roman Catholic fellow-citizens, we view with alarm the agitation that is disturbing the public mind upon the subject of our invaluable common school system. We believe that any Federal attempt to coerce the action of Manitoba would be to override the recognized right to arrange their own school system and seriously threaten the future peace, the best education and the ultimate safety of this Dominion, and trust that no such coercion will be attempted."

Dr. Cade said that Methodism stood for the safety and peace of the Dominion. It had always been loyal to popular education. It was a pity that Manitoba should be hampered by a party that had always been averse to public education. He would simply join the conferences and Synods and say: "Let Manitoba alone."

An amendment was moved by Rev. W. J. Crothers, M.A, and Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Belleville, as follows:—"Whereas it is of the utmost importance that the inhabitants of the Dominion, irrespective of creed or nationality, should unite to develop to the utmost the interests of the country, build up a strong nationality and promote harmony among the people, and whereas in our opinion our Public School system is one of the strongest influences in securing the prosperity of the country and promoting harmony, whereas public opinion has been aroused on this question and discussions have taken place in reference to the matter; therefore be it resolved, that we, the members of the Bay of Quinte Conference, desire to place on record our deep appreciation and unfaltering confidence in our Public School system, and trust that the time will come when those who are at present opposed to this plan of education may feel it to be a privilege to join in the movement. We view with great apprehension any effort to weaken this system or in any way to hurt its influence or usefulness, and, further, it would afford us profound satisfaction if Manitoba were left free to carry out her own educational policy".

The original motion prevailed by a small majority.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Rev. D. J. McPhail, B.A., Presbyterian minister, of Picton, was introduced and addressed the conference.

A ministerial session was called. The following were changed this year to a superannuated relation: Rev. A. Campbell, R. M. Pope,, J. W. Savage, J. Whitelock, Wm. Tucker.

The pastoral address was read and ordered to be printed in the minutes. It recommended that great care be used in choosing candidates for the ministry, that civic duties be remembered, that connexionalism be maintained, that domestic piety be more fully cultured. There is 55 per cent. increase of members since union.

THE NEW COBOURG CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Bishop O'Connor Blesses the Corner Stone of the New St. Michael's.

On Sunday, there was a large gathering of all classes of the religious community assembled to assist in the solemn ceremony of blessing the corner stone of the new Roman Catholic church at Cobourg. The ceremony was performed by Right Rev. Bishop O'Connor, assisted by Rev. Father Murray, parish priest, and Rev. Father McColl, of Ennismore. The new church will be a beautiful structure 45x120 feet in area, with two fine towers in the front. The front is of pressed brick, while the remainder of the building is of ordinary brick and is estimated to cost about $15,000. Mr. J. E. Belcher, diocesan architect, prepared the plans. The site of the church is in the town, a considerable distance from the old church and adjacent to the presbytery and St. Joseph's convent. The sermon incidental to the consecration ceremony was preached by Rev. Father McColl, of Ennismore. His subject was upon the great commandment respecting love of God and of our neighbour. He pointed out that the vast assemblage composed of all creeds, which was present to assist in the blessing of a corner stone for a church to be erected for the worship of Almighty God, was a proof of love of God, and that necessarily involved the love of one's neighbour. Reference was also made to the beauty of the town, and to the evidences of harmony existing in the community, when all creeds were present to assist in a ceremony incident to the erection of a church to the worship of God, in whom all believed in common. His Lordship also delivered a brief but exceedingly eloquent address appropriate to the occasion.

The offertory was very liberal—over $400 having been contributed. The finances of the new structure are in a good healthy condition, and the Roman Catholics and public-spirited Protestants are to be congratulated upon a liberality that will secure to the town an architectural ornament in the shape of one of the finest church structures in the diocese.

FLOWERS FOR THE HOUSE.

The Azalea is Entitled to a First Place as an Indoor Winter Bloomer.

As in indoor winter bloomer the azalea is entitled to a place in the very front rank. It has been even more popular the past winter than ever before. Their blooms are of such gorgeous bright colorings that they are greatly admired and can't help but attract attention. Now their season of blossoms is over and they must receive attention for next season. The pots should be sunk out of doors and a lattice work covering be built over them to soften the rays of the summer sun. As soon as the last blossom drops off they begin to send out their new shoots and then the plant needs careful attention. The crown tips of the new shoots should be nipped off as soon as they got fairly started, to make the plant branch out in some other place. In this way the plant is given the desired bushy form. The plant should be given an abundance of water while it is forming its buds for next winter's blooming.

The cultivation of the tuberous begonia has enlisted a large number of growers in the past two years and its spell of popularity is by no means over. The distinct individuality of this wax-like flower wins favor for it and its possibilities of variation are so great that the growers delight in experimenting with it. Its cultivation has given rise to endless discussion among the growers, each being able to prove his case to his own satisfaction. It was contended by many that it could not be grown as a hardy plant but should be nurtured only in a favoring shade and under peculiar conditions. Such may be true of common seedlings, but if the bulbs are taken from selected stock they can easily be grown in sunny places, and with abundant success. One grower of these beautiful flowers has produced a new variety this year, having a delicate fragrance. The indications are that the tuberous begonia is only in the early stages of its popularity.

None of our bulbous plants is more popular than the gladiolus. It is very easily grown, is profuse in its flowering and is one of the most ornamental plants that can be put in the garden. The bulbs require so little space and are so magnificient in bloom, outdoors and in, that they ought to be in every garden. It takes from three to five years to bring the seed to a flowering bulb. The choicest varieties of seedlings are slowest to mature. The poorest sorts go to bloom the third year; the finest of all rarely before the fifth.

FRANCIS JOSEPH'S FOOT-WASHING.

The Curious Ceremony of Holy Week at Vienna.

On Holy Thursday, at Vienna, the Emperor Francis Joseph performed the annual ceremony of washing the feet of twelve old beggars. The ceremony took place in the Hall of Ceremonies in the Imperial palace. On a platform raised slightly above the floor was a long table with twelve covers, a plate, knife, wooden spoon, folded napkin for each, with a piece of bread, a pewter mug, and a little blue pitcher filled with water. At 10 o'clock twelve old men, the youngest 89 and the oldest 96, entered the hall and were supported, each by two relatives, to the platform, which they mounted with difficulty, and were placed in their seats, their relatives, most of them women, standing behind them. Then entered twenty Knights of the Teutonic Order, headed by their master, Archduke Eugene, dressed in white with a long black cross on the breast of their doublets and another on the back of their long white cloaks. They marched around the hall, and then, forming a line on either side, made way for the Ministers, with Count Kalnoky at the head, and the Emperor's staff. They were followed by the Primate of Austria, Cardinal Gruscha, with priests and acolytes bearing candles and burning incense. Then came the Emperor, dressed in the white uniform of an Austrian General and wearing the order of the Golden Fleece. He advanced to the table and addressed a few words to the old men. At a signal from the master of ceremonies twelve guardsmen stepped forward, each bearing on a tray the first course of a sumptuous repast; the Emperor now took off his helmet, gave it to an officer, and, passing down the line, arranged the dishes before each guest. Twelve Archdukes then approached and removed the Barmecide banquet from the guests eyes, handing the dishes to the guards. This was repeated for three courses, and with the last the plates, knives and other objects on the table were also taken off. They were all packed later, with the food, in wooden boxes, and sent to the homes of the old men.

The table was then taken away, and the "washing of feet" began. A priest approached with a towel and a golden basin full of water; their slippers were taken from the old men's feet, and the Emperor, on his knees, beginning with the oldest, moistened his feet with water and dried them with the towel. Without rising, still on his knees, he passed on to the next one, and so on to the end of the row. When he had finished he rose and placed around each man's neck a chain, attached to which was a small white bag containing thirty pieces of silver. That ended the ceremony; the Emperor and his suite withdrew, and the old men were taken home by their friends.—New York Sun.

Mr. Gladstone as a Linguist.

Mr. Gladstone is an unusually good modern linguist. He talks French fluently, and those who remember his extemporized after-dinner speeches years ago in the mansions of the Parisian elite, know that he could turn graceful phrases and express clear views in French, though he has never loved or professed to love that tongue. Italian, on the other hand, Mr. Gladstone admires most among all "living languages. He is as reticient and modest about his command of it as he is about his other qualities. Yet the following incident, which happened some years ago in Wales, shows that his knowledge of Italian is very wide indeed. The then Italian Ambassador had been introduced to Mr. Gladstone by a Welsh country squire. The two former presently left the house together and walked for several hours up and down the green lanes in animated conversation. Finally, the Ambassador returned to his friend, the squire, and expressed his boundless admiration of Mr. Gladstone's perfect grasp of the Italian language. "For three hours," he said, —subjects bristling with technical terms. And never once has Mr. Gladstone been at a loss for a word, nor has he used a single word that did not express his meaning with perfect clearness."—The Westminster Gazette.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it falling out. Mrs. M. W. Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. Fenwick, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. Weber, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

BEAUTIFUL RIVIERA.

A RETREAT FOR INVALIDS AND FOR GAMBLERS.

The Attractions of Nice, Cannes, and Monte Carlo—Something About the Hotels and Their Extravagant Charges.

The Riveria is a spot—it is rather a strip—of which the attraction may pall upon you or may grow upon you with successive visits. On the whole, I think it grows. There are those who despise it altogether. One friend, long resident, or resident at intervals, in Italy, I once heard denounce the Riviera as at best a poor, cheap, second-hand imitation of Italy. Yet it is not so long since this belt of seashore and snowy Alps was itself Italian. And it has the advantage of accessibility, which is often decisive with a busy man or with the man who has been busy and wants to be again, and must go somewhere to convalesce. Nice is within thirty hours of London if you choose to make the journey without stopping. Youths like Mr. Gladstone think nothing of it. He came home the other day from Cannes "straight on end," to use a piece of slang which would appal him, for while he is by no means a master of style, he is in some linguistic matters a purist. Not the distance nor the thirty hours by rail are obstacles so much as Paris. To pass through Paris, or round it by the ceinture railway, as the Calais-Nice trains do, and not stop, requires an effort of will—at least in an American—of which only a man in robust health is capable.

What you come for is, as a rule, either gambling or health. The Riviera is half hospital and half hell. To some very good people it seems all hell. This year, for some reason or other, there has been less outcry about Monte Carlo than usual. Possibly it was thought indecorous to protest against the wickedness of a place so near to which her Majesty the Queen of England is residing. Some things at some times have to be ignored, and sermons, though often excellent, are not always in season. The truth is, of course, that gambling goes on just as regularly at Nice and Cannes—though on a less scale at Cannes—as at Monaco. The scandal is less because the publicity is less. I do not like gambling, but I always thought that the complaints about Monte Carlo came with an ill grace from the moralists of a country where gambling on a far greater scale and with much more publicity is carried on during a season longer than that of Monte Carlo. Yet Nice is held to be, by comparison with its neighbor, respectable, because the gambling clubs of Nice don't flaunt their vice in open day, and all day and all evening long. You may often hear such a dialogue as this between men who have to be careful about the comments of their neighbors:

"Where have you been all this time?"

"At Nice."

"But I heard of you at Monte Carlo."

"Yes, but you know we always call it Nice."

And whether you call it Nice really matters very little, since from Nice to Monte Carlo is but half an hour by rail, and the railway company considerately provides an express service by which the Pharisee in Nice may spend all day long in Monte Carlo and return after the tables are closed. All day long means, of course, in his dialect, while the rooms are open. The rooms, whatever they may be morally, are intolerable to anybody who thinks pure air a condition of enjoying life. They are crowded—and such a crowd—overheated, ill-ventilated, and altogether abominable. I once lived in Monte Carlo, amid the fires of the hell itself, for some weeks, and I don't think I ever went to the rooms except with friends, nor ever stayed half an hour. The spectacle is interesting, very much as one of M. Zola's novels is interesting. Life turns out its worst side to you, and you may study it at your leisure. But the atmosphere of "L'Argent"—which is far from being the worst of M. Zola's performances—and the atmosphere of the establishment over which M. Blanc presides, or did preside, are much the same—fetid and altogether foul.

At Nice, however(though you may gamble to your heart's content, and to the emptying of your pocket not less rapidly than at Monte Carlo, you are not obliged to know that the pastime is going on. There is no one central spot devoted to the pursuit. The place does not live by gambling alone, nor is it ruled by a Prince who has sold his principality outright to the devil. Nice has an existence of its own. Monte Carlo has none independently of the joint stock company which lavishes other people's money on landscape gardening, and out of its plunder provides roads and sewers and builds hotels and makes the place beautiful and comfortable. Nice is one mass of villas and hotels, and of shops which, according to the guide-books, are excellent, but in which you will seldom see anything that would tempt you as a gift. A good deal of honest taxpayers' money has been spent in decorating the place and in sanitary works; the latter because of a scare which sprang the place and in sanitary works; the latter because of a scare which sprang up a generation or less ago when the English papers assured you that typhoid was indigenous and all but universal.

I don't imagine that anybody ever counted the hotels, or that anybody but a good arithmetician would try. Some of them are rather good; all of them are very dear, or all those to which the ordinary visitor goes. If, however, you are content to live in one of these hotels as a Frenchman does; to take a bedroom in the garret looking on a back yard, and always to lunch and dine at table d'hote, or, which comes to the same thing, at a fixed price, you need not spend more than you would spend at a good New York hotel on the American plan. But if you must have a parlor, and still more if, from choice or compulsion of convalescence, you take your meals in your parlor, your bill goes up by leaps and bounds. Dine at the table d'hote and you escape for $1.25, or, if at a separate table, and later than the impossible hour of half-past six, for $1.60. But order soup and the wing of a chicken in your rooms and there is no longer a tariff nor any limit to extortion except the conscience of the landlord—in other words, none at all. Your soup and chicken will figure on the bill at more than double the price of a table d'hote, which included them and a dozen dishes besides. If you are a millionaire it does not matter. If you are not, the rule is, here as elsewhere, to comply with the customs of the country. For the least departure from them you are made to pay heavily. Still, it is almost always better to pay than resist.

But never mind the hotels. If you go to Nice or anywhere else to worry over impudent items in hotel bills you might as well have stayed at home. Not on such terms is health to be regained.

Whether Nice or any part of the Riviera be pre-eminently a sanatorium I don't know. Wherever you go there are drawbacks, and if you study the medical advice of the handbooks—you had better not, except from pure curiosity—you will end by believing that there is not a spot in the municipality which will not, or may not for some reason or other, be deleterious to you. The sunlight and sea air will reassure you as soon as you have set foot anywhere along the shore, and if you are forbidden sea air the hills at the back of the town offer you an atmosphere straight from the mountains. Hard things are said of the Mediterranean by the faculty, and the mistral is described to you in terms which convince you that it sweeps off the population in an afternoon. The sea is of a blue which makes the sky look pale, and the air is champagne. I admit that the brands and vintages of the champagne vary in goodness, but just as there are people to whom champagne is champagne, so there are people to whom sea air is sea air—exhilirating, intoxicating, and nowhere in any half southern latitude more so than on this broken coast where each indentation of rock has a climate of its own, and where half an hour's drive changes for you the face of the heavens and the condition of your own soul. If Nice will not do, it is but a step to Villefranche, where the medical pessimist has to admit that the mistral cannot reach. Beaulieu is a stone's throw beyond, more Italian than either; and if as a member of the church in good and regular standing you feel bound to pass Monte Carlo by, you will presently be at Mentone, or at the newly-discovered Cap Martin, where the presence of Emperors and Empresses and Mr. Gladstone forbids you to suppose that everything is not for the best.—New York Tribune.

The Woman Who Harbored Napoleon III.

It was about seven in the morning, said the good woman, that the Emperor, finding it distasteful to meet the crowd of German soldiers on the road to Donchery, alighted and came up her narrow staircase. To reach the inner room he had to pass through her bedroom, where she had just got out of bed. The furniture of the inner room consisted merely of two straw-seated chairs, a round table and a press.....On her threshold, at his departure, the Emperor gave her four napoleons. "He put them into my own hand, and he said, in a voice in which there were tears, 'This hospitality of yours is, perhaps, the last which I shall ever receive in France.'" With a kindly word of farewell "which I shall never forget," concluded Madame Fournaise, the Emperor quitted the poor house in which he had undergone so much misery, and entered the carriage which conveyed him to the Chateau Bellevue.

Good-hearted soul as was Madame Fournaise, she was all the same a woman of business, and had made the most of her opportunities. It was to Bismarck she sold—not at his own price—the table at which he had sat with the forlorn Emperor. The purchasers of the veritably original two straw-bottomed chairs were Sir Beauchamp Walker, the English military commissioner, and General Sheridan. For years, although the pilgrims were by this time not so plentiful, she had done well for herself by showing the upper chamber in which the interview took place, and by selling, mostly, she said, to Americans, relay after relay of straw bottomed chairs, which she frankly owned to me have passed off as the originals. "And what about the four napoleons?" I asked; "no doubt you have sold them over and over again."

"Oh, my God no!" she exclaimed; "never! never! Did he not give them to me with his own hand? See, the original four are there, in that locked case on the mantel with the glass top. Yes, I have had great offers for them; over and over again I could have had five hundred francs for the four pieces, but no money would tempt me to sell them."—McClure's Magazine.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

Gentlemen,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
C. L. Kilmer.

Fergus, April 6, 1894
To Robert Phillips, Druggist, Fergus.
This is to certify that I have suffered from piles for a long time and tried several articles recommended for this complaint, but none of them benefitted me till I tried Chase's Ointment, which has completely cured me.
Mrs. JOHN GERRIE.
R. Phillips, jr., Druggist Witness.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON

BRITANNIA BEATS AILSA.

The Prince's Yacht Won on Time Allowance—Niagara's Victory.

London, June 10.—The Royal Yacht Club regatta was sailed from Dover today. The course for the large raters was from Dover Bay, around the Varne buoy and the South Goodwin lightship, thence to the flag boat in Dover Bay, twice around, a distance of 44 miles. The Ailsa and Britannia crossed the line before the starting signal was given, and were recalled. At the firing of the gun the boats got away a second time, the Ailsa crossing at 12.02.10 and the Britannia at 12.03.10. Both boats carried mainsails, jackyard topsails, foresails and jib topsails. Beaching out for the Varne buoy both set their spinnakers. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and General Lord Seymour were aboard the Britannia. Ailsa led Britannia at the end of the first round by one minute and three seconds. Time—Ailsa, 2.19.18; Britannia, 2.20.21.

The Britannia won on time allowance. The yachts covered the course in the time annexed: Ailsa, 4.37.50; Britannia, 4.39.20.

The Britannia, receiving an allowance of two minutes and eight seconds, thus beat the Ailsa 38 seconds.

Niagara won in the 20-rater race. Time—Niagara, 3.17.40; Luna, 3.23.02; Stephanie, 3.24.18.

MANITOBA LEGISLATURE.

Meets Again on Thursday to Consider the School Question.

Winnipeg, Man., June 10.—Members of the Legislature are already gathering for the meeting on Thursday, when the school question will again come up for consideration. Archbishop Langevin says the Catholics are determined to press for their school rights, and if the Legislature refuses them he will personally appeal the case to Queen Victoria.

CARDINAL VAUGHAN'S ASSAILANT.

Covington Thought to Be Either Crank or Blackmailer.

London, June 11.—Lorenzo Covington, the man who was arrested and arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court on Saturday, on the charge of having threatened to murder Cardinal Vaughan, by throwing vitriol upon him, failing to receive £250, which he alleged he had lost through certain action of the Catholic Church, was again arraigned this morning. The police have ascertained that the man is an American, but further information concerning him is not forthcoming. He was remanded for medical examination with a view of determining whether he is a crank or a blackmailer.

Robbed a Hamilton Jewelry Store.

Hamilton, June 10.—E. W. Parker's jewelry store, 187 King William-street east, was entered by thieves with false keys during the proprietor's absence at dinner and goods valued at $410 stolen.

ITALY'S FRIENDSHIP WITH BRITAIN.

King Humbert's Speech at the Opening of the Italian Parliament—Amnesty to Political Prisoners.

Rome, June 10.—The new Parliament was opened to-day with more than usual display of ceremony. The King and Queen upon their arrival were enthusiastically received and loudly cheered by the immense crowd assembled in the Plaza. All the ministers and a large number of other officials with the entire diplomatic corps were present, and a strong force of troops was confined in the barracks to preserve order, should it become necessary; 370 deputies presented themselves to take the oath. Signor Cavalotti and the other Socialist members were absent, in accordance with their previous announcement.

The Speech from the Throne appealed to the patriotism of the members of all parties to assist in expediting the budget. The financial situation, the speech declared, had already been sensibly ameliorated. The Government also promised such judicial reforms and laws as would enable a better defence of social order. It might become necessary for the Government to have recourse to force in order to preserve the required degree of order, but the King preferred the pursuit of human methods always, and believed in a policy of love before force.

This passage in His Majesty's speech is understood to forecast a large measure of amnesty, and was vehemently applauded.

The speech also announced officially the coming marriage of the Duke of Aosta to Princess Helene of Orleans, and the participation of the Italian squadron in the ceremonies at Kiel upon the occasion of the opening of the Baltic-North Sea Canal.

His Majesty also made allusion to the friendship existing between Italy and England, to the victories won by the Italians, and to the anniversary of the Liberation of Rome. The speech, as a whole, made an excellent impression.

One particular passage has been commented upon. After referring to the part to be taken by Italy in the Kiel celebration, His Majesty said: "We shall render our cordial greetings to England and show our close connection with the English navy." Pursuing the subject, he expressed thanks to the Government of Great Britain for having given a new proof of the sympathy of England with Italy, by prohibiting the importation of arms into Africa, to the detriment of the undertakings of Italy on the frontiers of Abyssinia. These utterances are interpreted in diplomatic circles as disclosing an agreement between Italy and England for common and concerted action in Africa.

Drowned While Playing Truant.

Toronto, June 11.—Thomas Hambly, the eleven-year-old son of Mr. Whitney Hambly, 178 Richmond-street west, left the home of his parents at 8.45 yesterday morning to go to Elisabeth-street School. He met a companion named James Wilson, and the day being hot the boys agreed to play truant and go swimming. While the two were bathing in the Bay at the waterworks pumping station Hambly was seised with cramps and was drowned.

McLaughlin Dismissed.

New York, June 11.—At the meeting of the Police Board, Inspector McLaughlin, who was convicted of extortion last week, was dismissed from the force.

Death the Penalty.

Santiago de Cuba, June 10.—The military governor of Santiago has issued an order prohibiting the public of this city or inhabitants of the towns and villages in the province from leaving for the open country between sunset and sunrise. Any person disregarding this order will be shot by the troops.

Before the bidding started Mr. Hodgson rose to complain that in his purchase of cheese at the last board, he had received two cheese which were not good.

In one case the inspector, Mr. Fitzgerald, had detected a cheese which was sour and refused to take it, asking the maker to lay it aside. The request had been acceded to at the time, but when the shipment arrived from the factory the condemned box was amongst the others.

In the other case he had received an impaired cheese so boxed that its cracked top was on the bottom, where it was not noticeable. He wished to warn all makers that in the event of such a circumstance occurring again, he was prepared to take the matter into the courts.

Mr. Drummond severely condemned any such underhand practices, and stated that dealings of this description would ruin the name of the Board.

The cheese will be returned to their respective factories.

The bidding was opened by Mr. Wrighton, who bid 7 cents for selections. Mr. Jones bid 7⅛, and Mr. Wrighton bid 7 3-16. Mr. Jones raised to 7¼, and Mr. Hodgson bid a sixteenth higher, and chose Lakefield, Pine Grove, Peterborough, Otonabee Union, N. Dummer, Trewern, Lakeview, Keene and Warsaw, all of which accepted.

Mr. Wrighton bid 7¼ for further selections and Mr. Cook rose to 7 5-16, and took Ormonde, Norwood, Westwood, Oakdale, Darlington Union and North Smith, all of which refused. The following factories accepted: Warminster, Shearer, Central Smith, Maple Leaf, Lang, Ida, Mount Pleasant and Fleetwood.

Mr. Wrighton again opened at the quarter and Mr. Jones raised to 5-16, and raised his own bid to 7⅜, and named Norwood, North Smith, Fraserville, all of which accepted. Westwood refused.

Mr. Wrighton opened at 7 5-16 for further selections and chose Missing Link, Cherry Grove and Bensfort, all of which accepted.

Mr. Cook opened at 7 5-16 which was raised to ⅜ by Mr. Hodgson who named Ormonde, which accepted.

Mr. Cook opened at 7 5-16 for still further selections and named Oakdale, Westwood, Melrose Abbey, Daisy D., Fleetwood, Bobcaygeon, Perrytown, Blackstock, Orono, Newtonville, Manchester, Hope, Young's Point, Darlington Union, Geneva, Millbrook, Brooklyn.

Mr. Hodgson offered 7¼ for the balance of Board and secured the remaining factories

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 8.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy before they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

THE AUDITOR GENERAL

A Thorn in the Side of the Government.

WOULD ABOLISH THE OFFICE

Sir Hibbert Tupper Abuses Mr. Macdougall for Asking That He Have Efficient Help—Generosity to the Soo Canal Contractors at the Country's Expense.

Ottawa, June 12.—In the House yesterday, on motion to go into supply, Mr. Mills brought up the matter of the petition presented by the Auditor-General, who evidently felt that he was denied the treatment necessary to the discharge of the duties imposed upon him by Parliament. His representations to the Government as to the organization of his office had been disregarded. The Auditor-General claims that his office is inefficiently equipped, that he is cut down in his estimates and only allowed one first-class clerk, where there should be four. He asked for a special committee to consider the facts and report. Mr. Mills declared that the Government had placed the stamp of their displeasure on the Audit Department. The clerks in the audit branch averaged only $1070, while in the finance, justice and other departments it was $1570.

Mr. Foster charged Mr. Mills with attempting to make party capital out of this matter. For himself, he was in sympathy with the aims of the Auditor-General, and no charge against him of unfair treatment of the audit branch could be established. Mr. Foster entered into a long argument and used many illustrations to show that the audit office had not been unfairly treated as compared with other departments. The reason the salaries in the Finance Department were on the average higher was because it was an older department. Mr. Foster resented the course taken by the Auditor-General in appealing to Parliament. He should have discussed it with the Government. He did write to the Finance Minister, but the Finance Minister did not find time to bring it before the Council.

Mr. Foster criticised the habit of the Auditor-General in publishing all the details of payments and the display of all items of expenditure. It was more than an audit. The details of payments to every Tom, Dick and Harry should not be paraded. The committee asked for could not be granted.

Sir Richard Cartwright thought that the Auditor-General's real offence was that he had given to Parliament and the country particulars of expenditures which the Government had rather kept concealed. The display of expenditure in the Auditor-General's report acted as a curb on the extravagance of the Government. It was no doubt unpleasant for the Government to have the Auditor-General extend all the payments for public perusal.

Sir C. Hibbert Tupper asked who had charged the Auditor-General with the supervision of public affairs. The taxpayers had not. They looked to the executive. How was it that it had been left to the Opposition to discover the many scandals alleged, notwithstanding the efforts of the Auditor-General "to pry into the departments?"

The Minister of Justice spoke warmly of the duties "arrogated to himself" by the Auditor-General. He termed that officer a censor and a bold critic of the Government and ally of the Opposition. Through all his long speech, however, the Minister of Justice never once cited a single instance where the Auditor-General overstepped his line of duty. He contended that the Auditor-General was trying far too much an dno staff they could give him would satisfy his longings. Growing warmer the Minister styled the Auditor-General's action impudent and unconstitutional.

Mr. Davies, who followed, rebuked the Minister of Justice for his unmeasured abuse of an independent officer whose services were of the greatest value to Parliament and the country. If the expenditures were right the Government need not be afraid of the Auditor-General. Mr. Davies, in an effective speech, defended the auditor, who was attacked now when he could not defend himself, but who was never attacked by Sir Hibbert Tupper in the Committee on Public Accounts, when he could explain and defend himself.

Mr. Dickey, the new Minister of Militia, questioned the propriety of the Auditor-General petitioning Parliament, and poohpoohed the whole affair, though he admitted that the principle involved was important. Mr. Dickey realised the importance of a charge by the auditor that a corrupt executive was crippling his staff, so as to try and prevent an efficient audit of the public accounts and investigation into the expenditure. He did not think an Auditor-General essential to a check on expenditure.

Mr. Laurier deprecated the spirit in which the Government had approached this question. He denied the proposition that the auditor should be held to be merely an officer of the Government. He was an independent officer, responsible to no parliament and to no one else, and removable only by two-thirds of Parliament. There was no Minister responsible to the House for the auditor. He was responsible to Parliament alone. Mr Laurier charged that Mr. Dickey let the cat out of the bag when he expressed the opinion that they could do without an auditor, and foreshadowed an abolition of the office. The point at issue now was as to the efficiency of the auditor's staff, and a request for an investigation of this point was so reasonable that it should be granted.

Mr. McMullen read from Hansard the opinion expressed by Sir Charles Tupper when Finance Minister in 1888, that the Auditor-General was an officer of Parliament and a most painstaking officer. This opinion Mr. McMullen put in as a complete answer to Sir Hibbert Tupper's tirade against the auditor, and was received by the Opposition with laughter and cheers.

The matter was then allowed to drop and the House spent the remainder of the sitting in supply.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMITTEE.

Rev. Dr. Manly Benson appeared before the Public Accounts Committee today to state what he did for the $1110 which the Auditor-General's report shows he received from the Government.

Dr. Benson's evidence showed that he had delivered ten lectures in England and Scotland on Canada and Canadians, for each of which he had received something over $100. He began his lecture series in Glasgow after having preached twice there. His lecture audience numbered about 400. Thereafter he preached and lectured at Edinburgh, Liverpool, Sunderland, Newcastle-on-Tyne, London, Billston and Beacombe. Besides this Dr. Benson lectured on the vessel coming home, as he said, to make it pleasant for those on board. He spoke 23 times altogether during his two months' absence, including sermons and lectures. Dr. Benson claimed that he had spent $200 or $300 of his own money in addition to what he had received from the Government. The amount he actually received was $994, the remainder having been spent by the Government in procuring his own passage. He said that the arrangement which resulted in his employment to promote immigration was the result of a conversation he had had with Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

The evidence before the committee developed some very interesting facts in connection with the construction of the "Soo" Canal. In cross-examining Deputy-Minister Schreiber, Gibson of Lincoln drew from him an admission that while under the original contract the rate to be paid for excavation for lockpit was 25 cents per cubic yard, a private arrangement had subsequently been made with the contractor by which he was paid 60 cents per cubic yard, it being held that he was receiving too little for the work.

A similar private arrangement was also made with regard to rock excavation, which was increased from the original contract price, 95 cents, to $1.40 per cubic yard.

Another evidence of the Government's generosity was found in the price paid for unwatering for which, under the original contract, they were to receive $20,000, which was increased to $55,000 when they decided to increase the length of the lock from 600 to 650 feet, with a width of 35 feet. It having been finally decided to increase the length of the lock to 900 feet with a width of only 60 feet, the Government added another $15,000, making in all $70,000 the contractors received for the work of unwatering. Engineers who will take the trouble to figure out the area covered by the original contract and the area of the lock as completed will appreciate the nice little sum the contractors made in the item of unwatering alone by their private arrangement with the Government.

It also came out in the Deputy Minister's evidence that by the private arrangement between contractor and Government the price allowed for concrete work was increased from $7, the contract price, to $8.30 per yard. It was further brought out that the price of wrought iron, which under contract was to be furnished at 6c per pound, the Government added $40 per ton in their generous moments.

FRANCE, RUSSIA AND GERMANY.

Terms of the New France-Russian Alliance to Be Made Public To-Day.

Paris, June 11.—The Republican newspapers are highly satisfied with the speech delivered by Minister Hanotaux in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, but the Radical and Socialist press are unanimous in denouncing the Government's action in sending French warships to Kiel, characterising it as wholly unjustifiable.

It has been learned on trusted authority that the terms of the French-Russian alliance referred to yesterday for the first time officially in the speech of the Foreign Secretary before the Chamber will be made public after the Kiel festivities. The Czar, in fact, declared that if France would send a fleet to the opening of the Baltic Canal he would consent that the terms of the alliance should be made public.

Will Maintain the Triple Alliance.

Vienna, June 12.—Count Goluchowsky, the successor to Count Kalnoky as Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared before the Hungarian Delegation to-day that there would be no change in the system hitherto pursued. Austria, he said, would firmly maintain her alliance with Germany and Italy, as well as her friendship with all the powers. The principal aim would be to develop the country's commercial policy and relations in the far east. The committee accepted the Ministry budget without debate.

Mr. John Caskey Dead.

Belleville, Ont., June. 12.—Mr. John Caskey, the Conservative candidate for the Commons for North Hastings, was last night stricken with apoplexy at his home in Madoc Township, and died.

NEW OCEAN LINE

Projected by London Steamship Men.

WILL ASK A CANADIAN SUBSIDY

C. N. Armstrong of the Atlantic Lake Superior Railway Floating the Company Which Will Run Fast Boats From Paspebiac to Southampton.

Montreal, June 12.—It is quite probable that another formidable tender, as well as a demand for the Atlantic fast line subsidy, will soon be in the hands of the Ottawa Ministers. It is understood that Charles N. Armstrong, who is now in London in connection with the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway, will leave for Canada in a few days, bringing out with him a proposal from London capitalists and steamship men to the Canadian Government to run a fast line of boats between Paspebiac, Que., the Atlantic and Lake Superior terminus, and Liverpool or Southampton.

The fact of Sir Charles Tupper having come to the rescue of Mr. Charlton, M.P., in the latter's crusade against Sunday newspapers, has raised a howl amongst the members of the Printers' Union here, and a memorial is being prepared to be forwarded to the Minister of Justice.

The Ontario Patron leaders are stirring up the farmers of the Eastern townships, and Mr. Fisher, ex-M.P. for Brome, appears to be taking a hand in the movement. A rally took place at Waterloo this afternoon.

It was learned to-day that negotiations have been going on for some time past between Duncan McIntyre of this city, who has a quarter of a million interest in the Windsor Hotel, and Mr. Southgate of the Auditorium, Chicago, for the transfer of the whole to the last named. It is believed, however, that the deal will not go through.

The town of St. Henri, Montreal's western suburb, which has a population of 15,000, voted to-day to borrow $20,000 for public improvements.

Sir Alex. Lacoste decided to-day that the Federal Government must pay all the costs in issuing subpoenas and for service in the St. Louis case, but are not responsible for the ordinary costs of procedure.

Alphonse Brenvenue, brakeman at the C.P.R. yards, was crushed between the cars and killed.

Mrs. Saunders, 47 Forfar-street, was burned by a lamp exploding to-day and will not recover.

SWAM TEN MILES FOR LIFE.

Terrible Experiences of Sailors Whose Boat Was Burned by Lightning.

Quarantine, S.I., June 11.—The little British steamer Antolia, which trades between this port and the Bahamas, arrived this afternoon from Nassau, N.P., and Governor's Harbor with 20 passengers on board. Among these passengers were six distressed seamen, the survivors of the crew of the barque Carrie E. Long, which was struck by lightning at 9 o'clock of the evening of May 21, when off Gun Cay, Bahamas. The Carrie E. Long was bound from Philadelphia for Havana with a cargo of crude petroleum and acids. She left the former place on May 6. When the barque was struck by lightning an explosion occurred and the vessel was instantly enveloped in flames. Captain Rolf and the mate with two seamen were burned to death. The other members of the crew jumped into the sea and swam for their lives, grasping spars and other floating material and endeavored to keep afloat. Tip Stanley, a fine robust-looking man, about 25 years of age, swam to the shore, a distance of about 10 miles. He had two small oars, or rather paddles, with him, and used them to frighten off the sharks, which those waters are infested with. The exertion necessitated by the constant splashing of the oars had nearly exhausted him several times, but the fear of the sharks prevented him from sinking. In an exhausted condition, after being in the water seven hours, he landed at Gun Cay, at 4 o'clock in the morning. A short time after daylight the other men, five in number, were picked up by natives and brought ashore. Later they were taken to Nassau in a small schooner and there embarked on the Antolia for New York. None of the survivors were able to save a thing. Stanley was entirely naked when he landed.

Gladstone Sails for Kiel.

London, June 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone left Harwarden for London at 9.55 o'clock this morning. They will proceed directly to Gravesend, where they will go on board the steamer Tantallon Castle. Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone, who are the guests of Sir Donald Currie, the owner of the steamer, will sail for Kiel to-morrow.

Austrian Warships Arrive.

Kiel, June 12.—The Austrian squadron which is to take part in the naval pageant on the occasion of the opening of the Baltic Sea Canal arrived this morning. The vessels were saluted by the German forts and ships, and the Austrian ships replied. As the fleet steamed into the harbor the band of the forts and German ships played Austrian National hymns, while the bands on board the Austrian vessels played Prussian airs.

Report adopted.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap and Mr. Hilliard, that the clerk be instructed to prepare a bylaw prohibiting the running of bicycles on the sidewalks of the village.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hull and Mr. Hilliard, that the application of Messrs. Isbister & Edwards for a grant of money towards the boundary between Smith and Lakefield be referred to the Road and Sidewalk Committee with power to arrange.re grant (if any) with the council of Smith—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Hull and Hilliard, that the reeve issue an order for the sum of $25.00 salary due David Smith up to June 1st as engineer.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap and Mr. Hull, that Messrs. Burgess and Hilliard be a committee to inquire into the relative cost of our electric light as compared with that of other places.—Carried.

A by-law to borrow money to meet current expenditure of school board was passed.

Council adjourned for three months except in case of urgent business.

Great complaints have been made about the robbing of bird nests by the boys in the village and those of a neighbouring school. It will be noticed in the council report that Councillor Lillicrap brought the matter up and Constable Doidge has received instructions to summon every offender he can obtain proof against and put a stop to the cruel practice.

Constable Doidge received instructions from the council last evening to at once prosecute every owner of a dog who had not taken out a tag, so that a lively time and bad words may be expected during the next few days. Parties can blame themselves as ample notice has been given through the press and by poster.

TUMBLED OVER NIAGARA'S BRINK.

William Jones of St. Catharines Found Seriously Injured—He Had Fallen 150 Feet Down the Embankment.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 12.—Two boys named Harry Clark and Willie Mitchell, while walking along the shore of the river, about 100 yards south of the Cantilever Bridge, came across the body of a colored man, apparently about 24 years of age, with his clothing badly torn and partly off his body, both eyes badly swollen and cuts on the sides of his face, with one foot hanging in the water. When they came close to the man they saw signs of life, and when they got hold of him to raise him to his feet he swore at them to keep away from him or he would shoot them; he raved like a maniac. The boys, thinking the man crazy, ran away from him and ascended the precipice and notified the police.

The location is covered with rugged rocks, and when some of the rescue party attempted to raise him he squirmed and kicked, and the idea of carrying him was abandoned. A boat was procured and the man taken in it.

When the man was placed in a room at the lock-up, Dr. Reid was called in and found the man had received concussion of the brain, with other injuries internally, but no bones broken.

Boys explored the locality where the man was found, and found the trail through the underbrush and weeds where the man had slid down the bank, which was steep and about 150 feet deep.

The man was identified as William Jones of St. Catharines by Frank Hoare, a brickmason working on the new St. Patrick's Church.

Dr. Reid, judging from the condition of the wounds, says he certainly went over the precipice at least some time yesterday, if not before.

THE FRENCH PACIFIC CABLE.

May Be Laid via Honolulu If the U.S. Aids the Scheme.

Honolulu, 2, via San Francisco, June 11.—Audley Coote, Hawaiian Consul at Tasmania, has conferred here with the Government concerning the construction of a cable across the Pacific He is the representative of a private French company, and has submitted to President Dole a proposition to construct a cable from Sydney, Australia, to San Francisco, touching at Auckland, Samoa and Honolulu.

Coote says that his company is in a position to begin and carry out the work with despatch, if proper subsidies and other matters can be arranged. Mr. Coote will visit Washington in October to confer with the American Government. Liberal inducements will be made to the American Government to aid the movement. There is a strong prejudice among the leading promoters in Canada of the all-British route against the scheme advanced by Mr. Coote, because the first link of the cable has been laid to the French colony of New Caledonia.

Odessa, June 12.—One thousand troops have been conveyed to Batoum to strengthen the Russian force on the frontier facing Armenia.

London, June 11.—The Chronicle publishes a despatch from Moscow, stating that the twentieth division of the Caucasian army has been ordered to Kars and other frontier stations. This movement has caused much surprise. It is conjectured it has some connection with the Armenian question

What Russia's Object Is.

London, June 12.—The Standard publishes a despatch from its Berlin correspondent saying it is feared that if the Turkish Government will not agree to the demands of the powers in regard to the desired reforms in Armenia, Russia will march her frontier troops into Armenia, establish a Christian governor in the country and pursue a policy similar to that followed in the Balkans.

Powerful saline and other drastic purgatives should be strictly avoided, except in extreme cases. When an aperient is called for, take Ayer's Pills. They restore natural action by imparting strength and tone to the bowels, and their use is always attended with good results.

INSURANCE ON CHILDREN.

30,000 Policies Said to Be Carried in Canada.

Ottawa, June 12.—In the Senate Mr. McClellan called attention to the crimes said to have developed from the practice of effecting insurance on the lives of children and those incompetent to make personal application for insurances, and asked the Government if it proposed to take any measures to restrict or prevent such practices. The Senator disclaimed any personal interest in any insurance company. He simply desired to place the question fairly before the Senate. In the working out even of marine and fire insurance, he said, there were many instances of ships being scuttled and buildings burned for insurance money, but the general principle of insurance was so universally accepted that he had no desire to invade the prerogative of insurance companies. With reference to life insurance, however, he thought Parliament should exercise great care. The question he desired to bring to the attention of the Senate, however, did not affect the general question of life insurance, but only the practice of insuring the lives of children and those incapable of taking out insurance themselves. The insurance of minors, he thought, should be made a misdemeanor, and he argued that its prohibition would be a benefit to every well-established insurance company. So important had this question of infantile insurance become in the State of Massachusetts, that a short time ago a committee of the Senate had been appointed to enquire into the question, and a bill was passed by the Senate prohibiting the practice in that State, but was defeated in the Legislature. He quoted extensively from the evidnce taken before this committee, to show that the system of insuring children placed a premium upon fraud and crime, and among the poorer classes led to children being neglected.

Coming to the question as it affected Canada, he quoted from an Ottawa newspaper the meeting of the special Board of Health at which the practice of insuring the lives of children was universally condemned as leading to neglect of the insured children. One of the members of the Board at that meeting had said that there were no less than 30,000 policies on children being carried in Canada. He was aware that the bulk of this business was carried on by foreign insurance companies, doing business in the country, principally the Metropolitan Company of New York.

Senator Allan: I do not think there is a single Canadian company carrying on a business of insuring young children.

Senator McClellan: That may be, but there is the statement that 30000 of these policies are being carried in the country. In the State of Massachusetts, said Senator McClellan, where the practice extended so extensively, vigorous efforts have been made to prohibit it, and he thought it was time for the Canadian Parliament to interfere and prevent the growth of the practice in Canada. He hoped the Government would take some steps to put a stop to this growing evil.

Senator Gowan thought the general consensus of opinion was in favor of life insurance. The insurance of children in Canada was carried on with a great deal of caution. Canadian companies, he said, regarded themselves in a large measure as the custodians of the lives of the children they insured. It was quite unfair, he contended, to judge the business in Canada by its abuses in the United States. Infantile insurance was not very prevalent in Canada, and was so limited by law as to prevent the possibility of abuse. He pointed out the advantage of early insurance, and claimed that the practice was not abused in Canada as it was contended it was in the United States. He thought Senator McClellan was opposed to life insurance anyway.

Senator Scott thought it was unfair to infer that Senator McClellan was opposed to life insurance generally because he brought up this particular practice. Infantile insurance, he said, had its origin in Great Britain, and its object was to provide money to defray the costs of burial of children of the poor who died young. The amounts were restricted, and often made payable to the undertaker. He admitted that the increasing of the amounts entailed certain risks, but thought the same objections might be argued against all classes of life insurance. He pointed out that the attempt to prohibit insurance on the lives of children in the State of Massachusetts had been defeated by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature. There was, he thought, room for criticism in the action of the Ontario legislature at its last session in increasing the amounts of insurance allowed on the lives of young children, but he was not aware that any abuse of the practice existed in Canada.

Senator Ancers said that with the restriction of the amounts at which the lives of children could be insured for under the laws of Ontario, it was ridiculous to say there could be any incentive to fraud or crime. Senator McClellan, he said, had to go to the United States for examples to illustrate the abuses he complained of, and then only gave one side of the case. He quoted from speeches delivered in the Legislature of Massachusetts in the debate on the bill to prohibit infantile insurance to show that the crusade against the practice had not brought out evidence sufficiently strong to warrant the Legislature in abolishing the practice. So far as the question affected Canada, he thought the Ontario Act, which restricted the amount of insurance to scarcely more than sufficient to pay funeral expenses in the cases of young children, was a sufficient safeguard against abuse. There were, he said, only two Canadian companies that dealt in children's insurance, and although there was no law restricting the amounts in the Province of Quebec, the companies did business in all the provinces, he understood, on the basis of the Ontario law. The only way in which the Federal Parliament could interfere in the matter would be to make infantile insurance a criminal offence, and he thought the present facts of the case did not warrant interference.

Senator Boulton spoke in favor of a system of State insurance.

The subject then dropped.

King Oscar Goes to Christiania.

Stockholm, June 12.—In accordance with the request telegraphed by the members of the Stang Ministry to King Oscar II., that he should come to Christiania and form a new Cabinet, His Majesty, accompanied by the Queen and Crown Prince, started for the Norwegian capital to-day.

O'BRIEN LEAVING NEWFOUNDLAND.

Details of the New Loan Will Be Complete To-Morrow.

St. John's, Nfld., June 12.—Gov. O'Brien's term expires at the end of this month, and he leaves for England on the steamer sailing on June 29th. Sir Roger Goldsworth, formerly Governor of British Honduras, will probably be the successor of Gov. O'Brien.

The Government expects to be prepared to meet the Legislature on Thursday next. Colonial Secretary Bond will probably arrive in London to-morrow and conclude arrangements with the bankers on Thursday so as to enable a final announcement to be made at the evening session.

The retrenchment bill provides for a reduction of every salary from that of the Chief Justice downwards, and every allocation for public services. The increased duties on all luxuries, together with this reduction, will give a sum sufficient to pay the interest and provide for a reduction of a portion of this special debt yearly until all is refunded.

FIREBUGS AT STRATHROY.

The Torch Used After the Alarm Had Been Tampered With.

Strathroy, Ont., June 12.—Fire destroyed the barns in rear of Taylor's pop works and the rear portion of the pop works was also damaged. The property was owned by James Bowlby and insured in the Commercial Union. The origin of the fire was no doubt the work of a firebug, as the ropes of the fire alarm had been tampered with.

Fire also broke out yesterday afternoon in a barn owned by George Clement, in the south part of the town, but was put out before much damage was done. Supposed to be caused by children playing with matches.

WORK FOR A BROCKVILLE LEXOW.

The Local Police Force to Be Investigated by the Judge.

Brockville, Ont., June 12.—Trouble is brewing on the Brockville police force. The town council last night ordered an investigation, under the direction of County Judge McDonald. Chief Rose was present and an exciting passage-at-arms between him and Ald. Cluff occurred, in which the officer of the law was called a contemptible cur. A charge was made by Mr. Cluff for investigation that Sergt. Best had stolen a watch from an intoxicated man named Clow.

Killed in Front of His Home

Orillia, June 12.—Charles Allems, the 6-year-old son of Wm. Allems, Barrie road, was instantly killed by having his head crushed between a wagon rack and telephone pole. The accident happened in front of his father's house.

Student at Mitchell Drowned.

Mitchell, Ont., June 12.—Louis Harris, a High School student, was drowned in the pond here this afternoon by getting beyond his depth. Herbert Love went to his assistance, but nearly lost his own life.

ALMOST CRAZY
Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
C. L. KILLAER.

Crew Desert a Burning Ship With Passengers on Board.

Paris, June 12.—A despatch from St. Brieux, Cotes Du Nord, says that the British vessel Why Not, with a cargo of fodder and a number of passengers for the Island of Jersey, caught fire on voyage and was abandoned at sea by her crew, leaving the passengers on board. The crew, the despatch says, landed at Erquy.

A later despatch from St. Brieux says the Whynet was driven ashore, with her passengers, all of whom were saved.

Demand Disarmament of the Bedouins.

Constantinople, June 11.—The British, French and Russian Ambassadors to Turkey have formally demanded that the Porte disarm the Bedouins at Jeddah and pay an indemnity for the attack on the foreign consulates at that place. It is understood that the Porte in reply urged the extreme difficulty that would be encountered in an attempt to disarm the Bedouins. The ambassadors will hold a conference soon to consider what further action shall be taken.

A NOTABLE EXCEPTION.

A Strong Feeling in Favour of a Canadian Product in the State of New York.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 10.—In spite of a strong sentiment prevailing throughout this state that nothing good can come out of Canada, a feeling is beginning to grow that there are certain notable exceptions and among them is classed the new specific remedy for all diseases of the kidneys, and all complaints arising from a derangement of those organs, known as Dodd's Kidney Pills. The medicine has received a thorough test and is being prescribed not only by druggists but by physicians, whose well known reluctance to admit any virtue in a proprietary medicine make their testimony to its merits still more remarkable.

B. B. B.
Purifies, renovates and regulates the entire system, thus curing dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache, biliousness, rheumatism, dropsy and all diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels. It also removes all impurities from the system from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Date of General Election.

When is it to be? This question is disturbing the souls of politicians. In view of the material alteration in the commercial policy of the country which would be involved in a change of government it is a matter which concerns the general public. The Belleville Woman's Sun.

A special women's edition of the Belleville Sun is a handsome 16-page edition, contributed entirely by the ladies of the City of the Bay. In the journalistic sense of the term it is not a newspaper, but it is replete with special articles written in excellent style by the ladies and covering every item of local philanthropic interest. Among the articles of special interest to many in Peterborough is a well written one contributed by Mrs. Terrill, entitled the "Street, World." The advertising patronage of the Sun of the women is liberal and indicates that the ladies have business as well as literary ability. The typography is excellent and altogether the Woman's Sun is a most creditable production

A PROBABLE MURDER.

Provincial Detectives Looking Into the Death of Wigmore.

It would not be surprising to find some arrests being made in connection with the death of the late Mr. Wigmore whose body was found in the Little Lake under very suspicious circumstances some time ago.

The provincial detectives are looking into the matter and are in possession of some alleged facts that point to suspicions which Detective Murray thinks warrant action being taken.

County Magistrate Edmison will lay the circumstances of the case before the Attorney General in Toronto. The mysterious disappearance of Wigmore has always had about it a mystery that may yet be solved. In the interests of justice it is to be hoped that the evidence submitted will be of such a nature as to remove the cloud which surrunds his death.

COUNTY COURT.

A Criminal Case Turns up for Adjudication after All.

Mr. E. B. Stone yesterday won the case of McCormack vs. Howry & Co., at the sitting of the County Court, in which the plaintiff sued for non-payment of wages. The jury brought in a verdict in favour of Mr. McCormack, awarding him $111.44 and costs.

The Grand Jury is out on the case of Alexander Anderson, who was committed for trial yesterday by Magistrate Edmison on a charge of the larceny of furniture from Thos. Earle.

In the case of Poole vs. Clysdale, in which the plaintiff sued for two hundred dollars for damages sustained at the hands of the defendant, Mr. John Burnham, M.P., Q.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. E. B. Stone conducted the defence. The prosecution showed that Col. Poole had been attacked and badly beaten in an hotel by the defendant. The defence entered a plea of drunkenness, and claimed that as the man had already been heavily fined by the Police Magistrate, he should not be more harshly dealt with.

The jury is still out in the case.

A WEDDING IN SMITH.

Celebration of the Leitch-Elliott Nuptials Last Evening.

A pretty wedding took place in the township of Smith, last evening, when Rev. Fred A. Leitch, formerly of Peterborough, but now living in Portland, Maine, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Lyda Elliott, daughter of Mrs. James Elliott.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. Leitch, of Castleton, a brother of the groom.

Miss Eva Elliott, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and Dr. Carmichael, of Peterborough, was the groomsman.

A wedding breakfast was served at Mrs. Elliott's residence at the conclusion of the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Leitch drove into town and took the midnight train for their future home in Portland.

Rev. Mr. Leitch, it will be remembered at one time resided in Peterborough for a year, assisting Rev. M. L. Pearson. He took the services at Auburn regularly.

PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT L. O. L.

Peterborough District L. O. Lodge met in semi-annual session, last night, in Otonabee Hall, Downer's Corners. There was a very good attendance and arrangements were completed for the celebration of the coming anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. The lodge decided to accept the invitation of the Millbrook brethren to visit them this year. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for divine service on the Sunday preceding the 12th of July.

A resolution of condolence to the widow and family of the late Bro. W.R. King was unanimously passed.

If the business men and hotelkeepers will come forward with a generous guarantee the lodge will take steps to have an unusually large demonstration here next year.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF DAVID SCOLLIE.

WHAT DO THOS. AND HESSIE GRAY KNOW ABOUT IT?

The Latest Developments—Detective Murray Presents his Preliminary Evidence—Police Magistrate Edmison Issues Three Warrants for the Arrest of Thos. and Hessie Gray.

Thomas and Hessie Gray, who a year ago last winter lived in the rural seclusion of Otonabee have come into notoriety that promises to be at least troublesome and unpleasant, if not dangerous and fatal, to them. About four months after the death of David Scollie, of Otonabee, they removed to Ocala, Marion county, Florida. While they have been residing there, fate, in the shape of the law, and Detective Murray, has been spinning a clue which may trace the death of David Scollie to them. Three warrans for their arrest, involving the serious charges of murder and arson, and the necessary extradition papers are by this time in the breast pocket of Detective John Murray, and speeding express southward. The long arm of the law will find out the suspected culprits, and bring them before the bar of Canadian justice to answer to the most serious crime known to the law.

Provincial Detective John Murray, who has for some time been investigating the circumstances connected with the death of David Scollie, who was supposed to have been burned to death in the house of Thomas Gray, Otonabee, with whom he lived, yesterday presented a portion of the evidence he had been able to collect before County Police Magistrate Edmison. Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, was present in the interests of the Crown.

The testimony of Mr. Z. Burnham, the nearest neighbour of the Grays at the time of the burning of their residence, Mrs. W. J. McGregor, sister of Mrs. Gray, Mr. W. J. McGregor, Edward Macdonald and Robert Mitchell was taken.

The testimony of Mr. Burnham went to show that Mrs. Gray in giving the alarm of fire, had passed by his house, which was about 120 yards, and went to a place half a mile distant. He thought that if he had been called at once that he could have from being destroyed by fire.

Mr. David Lawrence who assisted in removing the body from the charred ruins of the Gray residence, testified that at the time the body was discovered the head was missing. The bone of the neck protruded. The body was lying upon a straw mattress with the arms crossed; and that the surroundings did not indicate any greater intensity of fire at the head than at any other part of the body, which had not been consumed.

The testimony of Mrs. McGregor, sister of Mrs. Gray, went to show that the latter had stated to witness that she was going to by either poison or shooting, and that she would do so in such a way as to keep "Tom" (her husband) out of it. Witness advised her sister not to do anything rash, as it was sure to be brought home to her. The reply of Mrs. Gray was to the effect that burning would not leave any clue. It also came out that Mrs. Gray had requested her sister not to repeat to any one the conversation she had with her in reference to Scollie. She seemed to become alarmed at some newspaper reference.

It also came out in the evidence yesterday that Gray had boasted that he had the

in the world, who could in his absence get rid of the old man and secure the insurance.

The evidence of the other witnesses sufficiently strengthened that of the previous witnesses to warrant the Crown in issuing three warrants, one charging Thomas T. Gray, and Hessie Gray with murder, the second charging them with arson, and the third charging Gray with inciting his wife to burn the building for the purpose of committing fraud on the Merchantile Fire Insurance Co., of Waterloo.

Still further evidence is being heard today, and this evening the County Magistrate will take testimony from several witnesses in Toronto.

THE WHEEL.

The Women's Rescue League of Boston has adopted a resolution of timely interest declaring that bicycle women and the coming "mannish woman" are productive of "much harm, no real good to the industrial and self-supporting women, who create 80 per cent. of the wealth in all the manufacturing industries in this country. These women are entitled to political recognition by our law makers, because they help to create the wealth of the nation, while the 'sporting woman,' the 'manish woman,' and the 'bicycle woman' bring disgrace on the true womanly woman."

The league condemns bicycle riding by young girls and women for these reasons: Thirty per cent. of the "fast girls" that have come to the Rescue League for aid were bicycle riders at one time. It is resolved that "since the closing of the houses of ill repute in Boston, the sporting girls are taking to bicycle riding, because they can better ply their vocation on account of the 'opportunities' given them as cyclists."

An appeal is made to the prominent clergy of the States for the suppression of bicycle riding by young girls, because of the tendency to encourage immorality. The league further condemns the "mannish woman" as a creature entirely useless and an unnecessary evil in this country which should not be tolerated or encouraged.

THE TURF.

To-day's Mail says: Johnny Burns won two races—the three minute and 2.40 trots—at Flint, Mich., last week with Harry B. THE BENEFITS OF MILITARY LIFE.

In his sermon to the 57th, on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Davidson referred very appropriately to the benefits of military life to volunteers, as a corrective of the too insistent pursuit of worldly gain with its tendency to narrowing the boundaries of moral and social life, inasmuch as military life was good for the "health deportment and spirit." Briefly stated this is a pointed plea for the encouragement of our local volunteers. With the temptations that surround the average young man in a large town, the hours devoted to the necessary drill represent a removal from these temptations, not to speak of the physical benefit, and the important lessons of prompt obedience to authority learned, the spirit of patriotism developed. He that would command must first learn to obey, and this spirit fostered, results in better obedience to the laws of the land, and to the higher Divine law. The tendency of military life, especially that of a citizen soldier, is to make the wearers of Her Majesty's uniform better citizens and better Christians.

She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. THE AUBURN BRIDGE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—My attention being drawn to a letter in reference to the Auburn Bridge by "Civis," a gentleman who apparently is ashamed to sign his name, and for that reason alone is not worthy of reply, but the fact of his not only making incorrect statements regarding the cost of the bridge, but ignoring the offer made by the Auburn Woollen Mill Company, warranting the council in going to this expenditure this year, I will put the facts before the electors, which, in my humble opinion, justifies the council in making this expenditure.

Honoured Sirs,—The Auburn Woollen Company offer the town of Peterborough a right of way through their property on both sides the river, of a uniform width of 60ft., conditional on the town accepting their offer. Now, is this grant worth nothing? I venture to say very few property owners but will say it is a liberal offer, and one which the town would be wise in accepting. This year work is scarce, and for this reason the town is justified in the outlay, in giving work to our citizens instead of charity. No point on the river inside of the corporation can be so cheaply bridged as the site proposed.

The Town Engineer, in answer to my enquiry, says the bridge can be built for the sum estimated and put in the by-law. "Civis" may be competent to legislate for a village, but for a town the size of Peterborough he is, to say the least, not a wise counsellor.

I think it behooves every patriotic citizen to see to it that the present opportunity is not thrown away, and a few years hence have to pay more for the right of way than the whole cost of the bridge and land can be got for to-day. If it was an expenditure of $6,000.00, $8,000.00, or $10,000.00 it would be a different matter. The increase in our taxes on present cost of the bridge, including sinking fund, would be less than $150.00 per year. The town is making strenuous efforts to get manufacturers to locate here and utilise the water powers now going to waste, and I think it a wise thing in the future interests and development of the town, should the Toronto Carpet Company accept the council's proposals and locate on the site picked upon by them, that a bridge at this point should be built.

Where was "Civis" when the Smith street bridge was built, to connect an outside municipality? Or where were his objections then? Have the people of Peterborough on the Auburn side of the river no rights or claims in the town? They pay their taxes both for water and light, and get neither of these conveniences themselves, but are satisfied to do so in the general interests of the town. This being the case, then, Mr. Editor, outside of any other consideration, in asking a safe way for themselves and their children to cross the river, I do not think they are asking for more than they are justly entitled to, and I have more faith in the sense of fair play ingrained in the hearts of our citizens—the business foresight which in the past has helped them to build up the town of which we all are proud to call home—than to think that on polling day they will be guided by such clap-trap as Civis' letter, but rather when they go to cast their vote it will be to back up the council in their endeavour to advance the interests and build up the town. I would be sorry to think that in an enlightened community like the town of Peterborough there were many of the same stamp as "Civis," "brakes on the wheels of Progress." This is not a question of North, South, East or West Wards, but a purely business transaction. The Auburn people offer the deed of a roadway, 60 feet wide, free to the town on condition of the town building this year a bridge to cost $3,000 over the Otonabee River. It is for those who have invested their money in the town to say whether their offer be accepted or not.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your columns for the above,

I am, respectfully yours,
W. H. MELDRUM.

THE PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL

THE PROCEEDINGS AT THE JUNE SESSION.

Reply to the Warden's Address—Retrospective and Prospective—Summary of the Other Business Transacted.

WEDNESDAY, June 12.

The council went into session to deal with the report of the special committee on the Warden's address, which was presented by Mr. Moloney as follows:

WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

The special committee appointed to consider the Warden's address, beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee join with the Warden in congratulating this county and country at large not only upon the favourable manner in which they have passed through the depression which has prevailed for some considerable time, but also upon the bright prospects of returning prosperity. With increased prices for farm products, with good crops, almost assured and with restored confidence in the trade and resources of the country, your committee feels that better times are once more at our doors.

2. Your committee have been pleased to learn that arrangements have been made for borrowing money for current expenses on terms commensurate with the high standing and financial credit of the county.

3. Your committee approve of the action of the Warden with respect to the Kinmount bridge.

4. It is pleasing to your committee to learn that all the bridges of this county are in such good condition and that so little damage was done to the floating bridges by the spring ice and freshets. Your committee feel that time is warranting the wisdom of your council in erecting all bridges substantially of iron and steel, which although expensive in the first place by their enduring qualities are much cheaper and more economical in the end.

5. Your committee are pleased to note that the Wallace Point Bridge has been completed in a manner creditable alike to our engineer and the manufacturer thereof, the Central Canada Bridge and Iron Works.

6. Your committee would recommend that the matter of the Douglas' bridge, of Comstock's bridge, and of Steele's bridge, and of the approaches to the locks and Wallace Point bridge be referred to the road and bridge committee.

7. Your committee regret that increasing years and the infirmities of old age have compelled Mr. Michael Sanderson, ex-Warden of this county to tender his resignation upon the Board of Audit. Your Committee trust that although Mr. Sanderson is giving up active participation in the business of this county, he will long be spared to watch with careful eye the growth and prosperity of the county he so long and faithfully served.

8. Your Committee recommend that the Warden and Clerk of this council prepare a memorial of condolence with the family of Robert Dennistoun, Esquire, Q.C., ex-Judge of this county, lately deceased, occupying as he did the honourable position among our justiciary for so many years, linking the early history of the county with the present time, your committee are pleased to record that he has left behind him a name for probity and judicial fairness creditable alike to his legal judgment, learning and honesty, and he died in the fullness of ripe old age, respected by all for his uniform courtesy and honour.

9. Your committee affirm with the Warden their conviction that the days of statute labour are gone by and that the statute labour system is obsolete and worthless, and would recommend that the whole question of statute labour and good roads be referred to the consideration of the Road and Bridge Committee.

All of which is respectively submitted.

County Council Chambers,

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Hawthorne and Peoples.

THE AUBURN BRIDGE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—If anyone is driving to or from Auburn, the Smith street bridge is just as convenient as the proposed Auburn bridge would be; the distance would be the same.

If Auburn residents want to reach town they can come by the Smith street bridge without loss of time or waste of muscle. The only persons who would be convenienced by the new bridge would be such Auburn employees as may be living north of Smith street and west of the river. How many are they?

These people can now cross and for many years have crossed by the Auburn dam. If a new bridge be built it cannot be built on the old railway site, for the railway company will be probably be building there in a few years.

And if the new bridge be built above or below the railway line then a heavy embankment will have to be built for an approach. The road leading up to the proposed bridge and the road leading away from it will cost not less than $1,000.

Putting a new superstructure alone on the Smith street bridge last year cost $3,400. How much will an entire new bridge with abutments and cribs and approaches and steel superstructure cost? We affirm that it will cost not less than $6,000, and in view of the present condition of the town, is it justifiable to make so large an expenditure at the present time?

If the Railway Company build a new bridge it would be a simple matter to arrange with the company for a sidewalk. It might cost the town $1,000, but even so, it would answer all requirements and save us from this unjustifiable expenditure, an expenditure which means not only the first cost but an expense for maintenance for all time.

AN HEROIC ACTION FITLY RECOGNIZED.

THE ROYAL HUMANE SOCIETY AWARDS A TESTIMONIAL.

It is Presented to Mr. W. A. Sanderson for Gallantly Saving the Life of Mr. Gus Loch's Infant Son at Stony Lake.

A representative gathering of Stony Lake cottagers assembled last evening at the residence of Mr. K. G. Loch, Rubidge street. It was one of those occasions which inspires the soul of man to rise above the sordid aims and objects of the present generation, and goes far to prove that although the present era is essentially a commercial one, yet exhibitions of courage and self-sacrifice are as much appreciated as in the olden days.

Social enjoyment was a prelude to the object of the gathering, and when all were assembled Mayor Kendry rose in his chair and turning to Mr. W. A. Sanderson, to that gentleman's great surprise, read the following testimonial:

Royal Humane Society.
Instituted 1774.
Supported by voluntary contributions.
Patron,
Her Majesty the Queen.
Vice-Patrons,
H.R.H. the Duke of York, K.G., etc.
H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge, K.G., G.C.M.G.
President,
His Grace the Duke of Argyle, K.G., K.T.

At a meeting of the Committee of the Royal Humane Society held at their office, No. 4, Trafalgar Square, on the 16th day of January, 1895, Present Col. Horace Montague in the chair.

It was resolved unanimously

That WM. A. SANDERSON

is justly entitled to the Honorary Testimonial of this Society inscribed on vellum, which is hereby awarded him, for having on the 30th August, 1893, gone to the rescue of Keith Gustave Loch, who was in imminent danger of drowning in Stony Lake, Ontario, and whose life he gallantly saved.

ARGYLE, President.
HORACE MONTAGUE, Chairman.
J. W. HOME, Secretary.

The mayor added a few words relative to the pleasure it gave him to present the testimonial. He was sure the Society could have none more deserving of having their courage recognized than Mr. Sanderson.

Mr. Sanderson was too much taken by surprise to be able to speak to any extent. Though the correspondence regarding the testimonial has been going on for some time, all the necessary data had been furnished quietly and Mr. Sanderson had no idea whatever of what was in store for him, when he was invited to spend the evening at Mr. Loch's.

He briefly expressed his appreciation of the honour conferred upon him of which he felt most undeserving. He had seen the boy struggling in the water and his duty had at once been apparent. In rescuing the boy he thought he had done what anyone would do under the circumstances.

Mr. K. G. Loch in a few brief remarks concerning the rescue, spoke most feelingly of the noble act. Though Mr. Sanderson modestly tried to evade the praise which was due him by ascribing his action as simply a duty, yet many would have hesitated before taking their own life in their hands and plunging into the water, with all their clothing on. Considerable delay had been experienced in procuring the testimonial as the society was very particular as to facts.

Mr. Adam Hall commented on the gallantry of Mr. Sanderson's action to some extent and, alluding to Mr. Sanderson's propensity for angling, humorously remarked that as he had taken so many lives at Stony Lake, he was glad to know that he had saved one. He hoped that a similiar accident would not happen again at Stony Lake, but if it did, that Mr. Sanderson might be in the near vicinity at the time.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, in expressing his views on the occurrence, thought that it was the brave act of a brave man. It gave him great pleasure to assist in doing honour to a gentleman who, by a brave act, had saved a life. Bravery and courage always commanded respect in any walk of life wherever met with, and he knew of no man more deserving of tribute than he to whom the testimonial had just been presented. Only recently the representative of Her Majesty the Queen and the leading citizens of Toronto had assembled for a like purpose to that which drew those present, this evening, together—that of recognizing brave acts performed in rescuing lives. It took more than ordinary courage for a man to take his own life in his hands and leap into the water on a mission of rescue. Mr. Loch no doubt heartily appreciated Mr. Sanderson's efforts in saving his boy from a watery grave, and the young man himself, when he arrived at years of maturity, would recall with feeling the courageous act which saved his life.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson had been sailing in his canoe past Mr. Sanderson's point, and noticed the children playing on the wharf. On tacking away from the island he heard screams, and looking back he saw something in the water, which he at first took for a dog, but the distress of the children was so apparent that he turned back just in time to see Mr. Sanderson rush from the house, and plunge in to the rescue. He himself would have been too late.

Mr. B. Shortly had also witnessed the incident and endorsed Mr. Sanderson's act as a courageous one indeed.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum spoke generally on the admiration which an exhibition of presence of mind and courage always evoked under every and all circumstances, and from his knowledge of Mr. Sanderson was in a position to state that he was a man of high resolve, and just such a man as would willingly risk his life for the rescue of a human being in danger.

Later on in the evening refreshments were served, and several hours were passed most enjoyably in social intercourse.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

Resolutions Concerning the Death of Local Ministers.

A memorial service was held in connection with the death of the Rev. Thos. Clewerth, who died April, 1895. A resolution expressing the sense of the loss sustained by the conference in the loss of Rev. E. Dewart Lewis was moved. Mr. Lewis was transferred during the year to Toronto Conference through the change of boundaries.

Rev. Wm. Tomblin asked permission to introduce the names of two others, who had died during the year, J. W. Annis, M. A., and J. C. Slater. The latter was stationed in Picton, in 1854, and laid the foundation of the church in which the conference sits. The former was one of the pastors also of the Picton Stone Church.

A resolution expressed brotherly sympathy with the ministers, who had lost members of their families during the year.

Mrs. Dr. Carman was introduced as President of the Woman's Missionary Society of this conference. There is over $1,000 increase. The membership as a whole is 13,000. The Woman's Missionary Society is but a branch of the general society and works in perfect harmony with it. There are 32 missionaries on the roll. The deputation consisted of five, and through Mrs. Dr. Carman were recognized by a resolution in which special reference was made to Mrs. Carman's address.

Rev. Dr. Antcliffe represented the Wesleyan Theological College and read his report. He was most heartily noticed by resolution. The report on the state of the work showed 179 pastors, increase of members 982, total membership 40,000, and nearly the same number of children in the Sabbath schools.

There are increased church membership in the Sabbath school. The Normal lessons are growing in interest. Rev. Jas. Thom, B.A., was elected secretary-treasurer of Sunday schools and sent to the Provincial Sabbath school convention.

The conference will be held next year in Trenton. After debate each delegate was required to send in a dollar to secure a billet. The Epworth League report asked that general conference action prevail generally and showed a gross total of 10,000 members in the conference.

A strongly worded report from the Temperance Committee called out many addresses. In reference to one publication as a strong temperance paper was finally struck out. More children, it said, should sign the total abstinence pledge. The temperance committees of Epworth League should do greater work. Mr. Wilson of the Port Hope Guide stated in the discussion that he had lost thousands of dollars by refusing liquor announcements.

IN THE BARREN LANDS.

Experiences of Canadian Explorers in the Far Northwest.

Mr. R. Munroe-Ferguson, A.D.C., of the staff of Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, nad brother of the Munroe-Ferguson who recently married a daughter of Lord Dufferin, is busy in company with Mr. Tyrrell of the Dominion Geological Survey, preparing for publication by the Government a report of their remarkable exploratory survey of 1894-5, through the middle of one of the last remaining pieces of northern territory represented as a great blank space upon the map of North America. This territory is know as the Barren Lands, and is west of Hudson Bay, north of Reindeer Lake and the Churchill River and east of Great Slave Lake and Lake Athabasca. Though the Barren Lands in question are of lesser extent than the interior of the great Labrador peninsula, traversed last year by the Low-Eaton expedition, they were just as much a terra incognita, and extend even further north than Fort Cnimo, on Ungava Bay, the most northerly point of land visited by Mr. Low.

Mr. Munroe-Ferguson, who is a noted sportsman as well as an ameteur explorer, was added to Mr. Tyrrell's surveying party at his own request and that of the Governor-General, and contributed his own share of the expenses of the expedition, for the sake of the sport and the experience it afforded him. From the few advance notes of the survey with which your correspondent has been favored it is evident that the main report of Messrs. Tyrrell and Munroe-Ferguson will add very materially to the maps and geopraphy of the northern part of the continent, and also to a knowledge of the natural history and anthropological science of the country traversed by the last great Canadian exploration party. Briefly, then, to the immediate west of the Reindeer Lake region are enormous petroleum deposits, while rich metalliferous indications were found in a Huronian belt dividing the ordinary Laurentian formation of the region, of whose existence nobody had hitherto even dreamed. The herds of upland reindeer met with were simply enormous, while fresh water fish were of great size and yield. The party, too, noticed the peculiar condition of some hundreds of Esquimaux with a fixed abode in the interior of the country totally unlike the habits of their race elsewhere on the Arctic and other coasts of Canada, the apparent cause being the rapid destruction of most of the sea animals of the western coast of Hudson Bay by the whaling ships of Nantucket and elsewhere. This condition has for some time past driven these particular Esquimaux to depend upon the reindeer and the fresh water food fishes with which all these northern lakes are stocked almost to repletion. The difference in their food supply and mode of life has produced a better development in the stature of the Esquimaux, and some of the young men seen by the explorers were from 5 feet 10 in height.

For the greater part of their trip Messrs. Tyrrell and Munroe-Ferguson were accompanied only by four Indian guides from Manitoba. They left Selkirk to cross Lake Winnipeg on June 16, 1894, spending over six months in the interior of the Barren Lands. On July 4 they reached the north end of Reindeer Lake, having traveled 600 miles in canoes after the crossing of great Lake Winnipeg. Here they secured two Chippewa Indians of the country to show them the road. These guides remained with them until August 5, when they had reached Kasba Lake, having traveled 221 miles from Reindeer Lake in which distance there were fifty-three portages, over which all canoes and supplies had to be carried. Here the Chippewa Indians turned back. There ceased all knowledge to be derived from the Chippeways of that region, for between them and the Esquimaux of the coast there has been war as long as the oldest member of either of these peoples could remember. To this fact is due, in very great measure, the preservation of numberless herds of reindeer encountered by the explorers in their perilous trip, for a mutual fear has left a wide line of neutral territory, into which no Esquimaux or Chippawa ventures, and there the reindeer thrives. Near the summit of this divide the travelers had in some measure to guess their way. Rills trickeled into pools, pools into small creeks, creeks into small akes. These combining, made a stream at last, down which their canoes made a dangerous passage, for the descent was rapid between the divide and the waters of Hudson Bay. There were fortunate in finding another river, which the Esquimaux, whose camp they met on August 17, called the White Partridge. Guided by two Esquimaux, they followed this river for two weeks, with its formidable rapids, chutes, falls and narrow gorges, and ascertaining that it flowed into Baker Lake at the head of Chesterfield Inlet, almost within the Arctic circle, they managed, after a difficult and fatiguing portage of twenty miles, to reach a smaller river, which flowed directly eastward and carried them to the shores of Hudson Bay.

A number of additional lakes and rivers will be marked upon the map as a result of the Tyrrell survey, the only one in the vast country to the west of of the northern part of Hudson Bay, with the exception of that headed by Sir George Back, when he discovered and descended the Great Fish River, since that time rendered of pathetic interest from the fact that for its mouth the scurvy-stricken remnants of Sir John Franklin's crews were making when a storm and famine stayed their progress, and left for McClintock their battered boats, the skeletons of brave men, and a cairn, which told the sad story of their fate.

Salaries of Sovereigns.

There is certainly one very nice feature about being a potentate, and that is the income that comes to the occupant of a lofty place.

Besides having all his wants attended to and a large number of palaces always at his disposal, the Emperor of Russia is said to receive $25,000 a day; the Sultan of Turkey receives $18,000 a day; the Emperor of Austria rejoices in $10,000 a dey; Emperor William has to get along on $8,000 from breakfast to bedtime; Queen Victoria has $35,000 to spend every week, and the President of the United Stats receives a trifle under $1,000 a week, but a great deal of free advertising goes with the office. —Harper's Young People.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it falling out. Mrs. M. W. Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. Fenwick, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. Weber, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

ON BUTTERMAKING.

THE DANISH PRODUCT AS FOUND IN THE BRITISH MARKET.

A Lady's Observation—Mrs. Tweedie Thinks That British Farmers May Learn a Profitable Lesson From Little Denmark.

The following is the first part of a most interesting article from the pen of Mrs. Alec Tweedie in the May number of the Fortnightly Review:

England imported £13,470,419 worth of butter in 1894. That is to say, 2,576,063 cwt. of butter came into the country from foreign and colonial sources. Therefore, nearly £37,000 sterling was paid out of the country every day for butter consumed by people unable to make it for themselves. These figures are somewhat startling.

About a third of the butter import came from Denmark. Thus it will be seen that Danish butter plays a very important role in the household economy of our British wives, and even our navy is largely provisioned with Danish butter. Sir U. Kay-Shuttleworth, Secretary of the Admiralty, informed the House of Commons of the astounding fact that the butter for the navy "was ordered from abroad because our agriculturists could not hold their own with Danish butter." If we cannot compete with the foreigner, at least we might imitate him. The yearly increase in our import of Danish butter is very great, and its excellence is widely acknowledged. Therefore, a few words about its origin and manufacture may be of some interest.

It is only within the last twenty years that Denmark has made butter for export at all, and now this butter-making is the chief trade of the country and the source of the greater part of its revenue.

The Danish farmers have seen the advisability of combining and working together, and have realised the advantage of employing modern scientific principles. They have also found that the quality of butter cannot be maintained where each farmer makes it according to his own method and after his own ideas; with the result that individual butter-making has been entirely given up.

The farmers keep the cows and deliver the milk, or more often merely the cream—properly separated by centrifugal machines—to the butter-making factories, of which there are some hundreds established over the country. There the butter is made on the newest scientific and hygenic principles, and a certain standard of excellence is maintained. The result of this combination of labor, with improved methods of manufacture, is, that the Danish farmer to-day is a rich man, with a regular business, instead of being discontented, unemployed, and often almost starving, as so many of our farmers are in England.

Here they tell us they cannot grow corn with sufficient profit to enable them to compete in the market with foreign grain, and they further add that they cannot rear beef and mutton in competition with foreign supplies. Granting, for the present purposes, that this is perfectly true, does it necessarily follow that all other doors of profitable enterprise are closed upon them? Are foreign powers to grow rich on our gold by supplying us with necessaries which we cannot, or rather will not, supply for ourselves? Is our land to lie idle, and our country laborer to starve, or rush to swell the ever-increasing population of the towns?

Surely if a little country like Denmark can find employment, ay, and grow rich on butter-making, we may take a lesson from her, and see if something cannot be done to alleviate the misery of pastoral England. Naturally, expeditions starting for the North Pole have all their food supplies thoroughly analyzed before deciding definitely which are the most suitable. Dr. Fridtjof Nansen took only Danish butter, much compressed, with him on his four or five years' experimental drift through Polar ice, and Mr. Frederick Jackson, who started from our shores last summer, is similarly equipped; for, although he choose everything English as far as possible, he found our butter did not stand the severe tests equally well with Danish. Danish and colonial butter are creeping in everywhere. Even in remote Sutherlandshire, the native butter is so bad that Danish is chiefly used. Yet the Danish has to travel hundreds of miles at no little expense, while the other is made at the very door, and so badly churned that the foreign product is preferred.

In the National Review for March Mr. Inglis Palgrave, writing on agricultural depression, estimates the annual loss to farmers during the last fifteen or twenty years to be £25,000,000, while £2,800,000 less is distributed annually in wages. But yet we go on increasing our foreign imports of butter, bacon and eggs, instead of trying to alleviate this disaster. Will no influential person take up this great question, sift the matter to the root, and suggest a remedy, or else let England follow Denmark's excellent example.

Without going further, the following table will give some idea of what England imports yearly from Denmark alone:

It is erroneous to imagine that Danish butter-making is a "State" business. The State has nothing whatever to do with it beyond arranging competitions and awarding prizes for excellence. These competitions are usually arranged at twelve hours' notice, so that the competitors are obliged to send in any butter they happen to have ready, instead of an extra good pound or two made specially for the exhibition with great care.

Danish butter stands very high in the English market, competing equally with our own, and sometimes eclipsing it in price! its bacon, too, when it is properly cured, is equal to any except the very best qualities produced in England.

The breed of pigs is not usually Danish at all; on the contrary, the original animals came principally from Yorkshire and Berkshire. This is curious in itself. Denmark imports our pigs, breeds from them, fattens them, and sends them back to us as bacon, and still secures a profit.

The pig trade, concurrently with the butter trade, has increased enormously in Denmark. In Copenhagen every morning the pig market is quite a feature of the day's proceedings. Carts laden with the carcasses arrive from the country or the station at very early hours, until the market place is quite full, and the babel of voices tremendous. The costumes of the country folk are often very quaint, and one cannot but be struck by the good taste in color often displayed by foreign peasants. Some of their silver ornaments, too, are very handsome, and so much prized, that their owners are quite insulted should some stranger offer to buy them.

This pig market is altogether a quaint scene, with its curious double-windowed shops as a background. These double shops are very peculiar. The bottom one is half below the surface of the pavement, and the customer requires to go down a few steps to gain admittance. The top shop is directly above the lower one, the windows literally adjoining, and the customer to gain admittance must go up steps at the other side. The result is striking; while in the lower half sausages or saddlery are for sale, dainty bonnets and pretty laces occupy the upper storey. Copenhagen is not satisfied with this extraordinary display of glass windows, but in between the shops the dressmakers and glovers put little glass cases displaying their wares. The dressmakers' dolls are the most perfect models of costumes possible, and marvels of minute detail. With such a quaint background and such pretty costumes, the pig market becomes as picturesque a scene as an artists' eye can wish to gaze upon, and, while it is picturesque, it is also remunerative.

Thus it is not in butter-making alone that we English might earn money, but by rearing pigs on the milk left from the butetr-making. Pig-rearing under such circumstances is an extremely profitable trade. The money-making does not stop here, however. A tiny country like Denmark makes £400,000 a year out of her egg export alone. England's import of eggs is about half a million a day paid for with England's gold!

The British peasant has never excelled in rearing fowls, and yet it is on a small scale that fowls pay best, as the peasants of Denmark, Hungary, Belgium, France and Russia have long since discovered. It is these countries that supply us with eggs, which are not obtained on large egg farms at all, but from the village folk with their half-dozen fowls or so. These cottagers sell them to the egg collectors, who are continually going their rounds, and when they have obtained a sufficient number they pack them securely in boxes and send them to England.

Our farmers and cottagers do not consider eggs worth troubling about, apparently, judging by their scarcity; but eggs can be made to pay, nevertheless, even when taken in hand by a busy woman, as the following statement, quoted from Mrs. J. H. Riddell, the well-known authoress, will show:

"There can be no doubt but that poultry, properly managed, pay remarkably well. If anyone cares to start, say with six hens and a cock of the old barn-door breed, he can begin his experiment at a cost of certainly not more than £1 1s.

"At the expiration of a year his hens will have repaid the first outlay, kept themselves, and returned a trifle besides. They will also have produced fifty chickens (this is a low estimate), and he would, therefore, begin his second year with, say from twenty to thirty laying hens, for which he has had to pay nothing, the sale of the remainder settling the cost of keep."

So far, large poultry farms have not proved a success, the reason for which, seems to be that the profit on poultry will not pay for expensive plant in the shape of model houses, wire enclosures, drinking fountains, incubators and such luxuries.

Fowls must have a run, whether in a good yard, by the roadside, or in a field, but that run need not be large, if some arrangement can be made to divide it so that one portion may be "taking a rest" while the fowls are eating worms, insects, etc., in the other part.

The great mistake that people make is that they do not feed their poultry sufficiently well.

Hens require good and regular food, then they pay. They need change of diet also—oats, barley, cheap wheat and rice, with the husks on, and plenty of clean water. Young chickens eat nothing worth speaking of. Any amount of money may, of course, be wasted, but the best plan is to give them rice, crumbs, etc., and leave them to their mothers, who will scrape for them and keep them warm. Even when a really good run is unattainable a moderate number of eggs can, with proper management, be depended on all through the year.

It is to be lamented that ladies whose incomes are small do not turn their attention to poultry and dairy farming. If they began on a moderate scale and learnt their experience as they went along, they would soon find an appreciable difference in their means. There is nothing difficult about rearing chickens; all they require is to be properly fed and left alone. A practical hen-wife writes thus: "I am just about starting poultry-keeping again, so you may judge I at least do not consider hens a failure. On the contrary, I always found fowl-keeping most profitable."

We learn from an interesting book just written on chickens that in a certain part of Hampshire they have started fowl-rearing by division of labor. Hatching and rearing up to a certain point is done by the cottagers. As soon as the eggs are hatched they peg the hen down by the roadside (that is, tether her among the wayside clover) beside a rough deal box, into which she can retreat in bad weather. The chickens, of course, are at liberty, and forage for seeds, insects and worms within a short radius of the mother. As very little attention is required, a number of broods can be reared in this way. Eventually the farmer buys them up for fattening purposes at prices varying from ninepence to two shillings a head. This experiment is paying in Hampshire. Let us hope it may soon spread thoughout the length and breadth of the land.

Effectively Cured of Indigestion and Nervous Troubles By South American Nervine—No Trifling With Disease—This Medicine Cures at the Nerve Centers and thus Effects a Certain Cure—Never Fails in Cases of Indigestion, Weakness and Nervous Prostration.

"In a multitude of counsellors there is safety," said a wise man centuries ago. A multitude of counsellors testify that South American Nervine cures disease and removes suffering as no other medicine will do. In these pages, from week to week, has appeared the testimony of well known people—men and women, in all parts of the Dominion, telling in distinct and thankful terms what this wonderful discovery has done for them. A large volume would be needed to contain all the evidence that comes to the discoverer of this medicine.

This talk is to-day illustrated with faces of three well known people who add their testimonials to the others. Here we have Mr. H. H. Darroch, of Mount Forest, who found himself weak to desperation after an attack of la grippe. South American Nervine was the only medicine to be found that gave him back his former strength.

Mr. Thomas Sullivan, a second figure in the group, was a sufferer for a number of years with aggravated indigestion. He had been treated by several doctors, with very little benefit. A friend recommended South American Nervine, and after taking a few bottles he has found himself completely relieved of swelling of stomach and other disagreeable evidences of indigestion. In a brief sentence, he says—"it has cured me."

Mr. Noble Wright, of Orangeville, was a sufferer for a long period with indigestion and sluggish liver, these culminating in gastric and nasal catarrh. Doctors and doctors' medicines were unavailing to cure. Having taken only two bottles of South American Nervine he found himself greatly benefited, and after six bottles had been used he is cured.

Baffled though doctors often are with disease, when the root trouble is discovered a cure is not difficult. Here rests the entire success of South American Nervine. Certain nerves control entirely the stomach, liver and all the internal organs of the body. Let these become weakened and disease follows and will continue until strength is given to these nerve centers. The motor power is centered there. Attempts to heal an organ is only patchwork of the worst kind and cannot possibly be effective. South American Nervine heals at the nerve centres, and for this reason people, after having tried doctors and doctors' medicines without success, because the effort is only to give temporary relief, find it effects an absolute, positive and unmistakeable cure.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

The following card was sent out to ministers and co-workers in Y. P. S. C. E. societies throughout the county :

PETERBOROUGH, May 23, 1895.

DEAR SIR,—Kindly answer the following questions and return at earliest convenience, for publication in C. E. column for 10th June next. We intend devoting the whole column to these answers at above mentioned date. We thought of giving initials of correspondents if they do not object :—

1st.—Why is it the Young People's Societies do not secure a greater number of young men as members?

2nd.—Where does the fault lie?

3rd.—Suggest a remedy for this difficulty?

(Signed,) C. E. EDITORS.

Herewith are some of the answers received up to date, the following answers being from laymen :—

1st and 2nd.—A wrong idea of manhood on the part of the average young man, and a failure of the Young People's Societies to meet the young man on his own ground—to go out and compel them to come in.

3rd.—Let the societies have true ideas of TRUE MANHOOD. Discard every "wishy-washy" element. Enthrole the MAN CHRIST, and use tact, common sense and prayer. With persistency of effort compel them to come in.

Kingsville. R. A. W.

Young men, as a rule, are engaged in active work, either in business or study, and they naturally seek for recreation, places of amusement and interest. It is our place then, as C. E. workers, to show by our every day lives that there is true pleasure in Christian work, and by being consistent ourselves we are bound to impress our associates with the fact that the C. E. Society can be made a home for young men.

H. P. K.

1st. Because of their inability to influence young men. Apparently the street, games, saloon, etc., have a much greater influence.

2nd. Partly with C. E. Societies and partly with the boys; there is a spirit of seeming indifference by C. E's. and a spirit of noted indifference by the young men.

3rd. More prayer, if we believe that God holds the hearts of the young men in His power. His promise of the Holy Spirit to enlighten must be laid hold of. Prayer will enlighten us so that we will be enabled to bring the boys in.

A. C. McC.

1st. We are fighting against "world, flesh and devil" for every soul won to Christ. These are ever coming between young men and religious influences.

2nd. Careless indifference of young men, Endeavourers' want of real earnestness, not realising the responsibility of being co-workers with God as did Christ; they are at ease in Zion instead of being always about their Father's business.

3rd. Make your prayer meetings lively, interesting and especially attractive for young men. Individual work much prayer, and Holy Ghost power is what is needed to bring young men to Christ.

A. J. J.

To Christian Endeavour Editor :

Town, June 3rd.

1st. They are attached by other societies.

Lack of knowledge of Christian Endeavour movement.

Character formed by living in the world resents anything spiritual.

2nd. Indifference on the part of the young man makes it hard to reach him. Through ignorance of members not knowing the needs of young men. Too much social distinction, lack of personal work and prayer.

3rd. Bright, happy, consistent lives attract others. Show him you have something he should have. Come to the young man, he will not come to you. Abolish social distinctions, let him see that we are one common brotherhood. After which you may introduce him to our Master above. Above do not rush the worldly young man into prayer meeting at first. Give him a social course, work with him gradually, make him feel you want his company; eventually you will be rewarded by seeing him become anxious to go all the way with you. Don't be too general, make this a one man work; individual work counts. Pray, work, then our motto "For Christ and the Church" would be exemplified.

T. H. M.

1st and 2nd.—The majority of homes do not train them in love and loyalty to the church, above any outside society, entertainment, etc.

The lack of sympathetic contact between the young men in and out of the society.

Not enough individual work among the members of societies.

The "I am better than you" manner of Endeavour societies.

Not enough prayer especially for young men.

3rd. Let parents, Sabbath schools and junior societies look well after the boys in training them from the first to regard religion as supreme.

A manly Christian interest in young men, their work, sports, etc.

Make the meetings as cheerful as possible.

Young ladies use your influence and induce more young men to come to Endeavour meetings instead of places of amusement, etc.

Earnestly ask them to the meetings and when there give them a good hearty hand-shake and show your pleasure at their presence.

Let the society pray for a certain young man that he be brought into the society and to Christ. Keep on praying and inviting him until he comes.

Let Endeavorers be more consecrated, consistent and Christ-like.

J. H. B.

PETERBOROUGH, June 3rd.

To Christian Endeavour Editor :

1. (a) Because they don't work for them, pray for them and go into their court-rooms of sin after them.

(b) Because the Y. P. societies often try to imitate the world in providing amusement and entertainment. They are not equal to the world and the devil in this respect and so fall while the world wins.

(c) Because we let the boys drift away from the Sunday school.

(d) Because of the formal mechanical nature of our Y. P. meetings revealing a lack of the presence of God's Holy Spirit. This is due to nine-tenths of the membership failing to take an active interest in the burdens and work of the society.

2. (a) With the young men.

They have a false appetite.

They are colour blind.

They oft sin wilfully.

They prefer the ease and enjoyment of the present moment.

(b) With the members of our Y. P. Societies.

They are too worldly-minded; have not "come out from among them and become separate."

They do not realise the necessity, the responsibility, the importance and the many-sided joy of soul-saving.

They are spiritual cowards. Having Light they are afraid to shine; having All Power they are afraid to use it; having Salvation they are afraid to offer it.

3. (a) Study young men as a class.

Their pleasures, their aims their needs, their souls.

(b) Work both collectively and individually for INDIVIDUALS.

Let each member have definite ones in view, and fish for "one."

Be a Win-One Society.

(3) Organize the young men in each society as a special committee for this work, and let the pastor, or some other competent man, organize, drill and discipline this committee for this special work.

In general, let every member be careful to preach Christ, more careful to live Christ, and most careful to serve and please Jesus only.

Let every member be full of the power of the Holy Ghost, and each meeting characterized by presence of God's Holy Spirit.

W. J. P.

TOWN, June 3rd.

To the Christian Endeavour Editor :

The answer to first question, I think, is

(a) That the great majority of our members are not in downright earnest to secure young men;

(b) That the subject matter of our meetings is not as substantial or as profitable in character as it might be, hence fails to draw young men;

(c) That the methods of entertainment adopted in the social meetings often possess too much artificiality, and too little heart, (I refer to the match card business and like devices.)

I think your second question is embraced by the first, and the answer to the third is implied in what is said under the first.

J. E. T.

LAKEFIELD, June 6th.

To Christian Endeavour Editor :

The following are my answers to questions :

1st—Because the Church has not won them to Christ and His truth.

2nd—Lack of spiritual power and singleness of purpose on the part of

(a) Parents.

(b) Teachers.

(c) The Church as a whole.

(d) It may be the pastor's inadaptability to enter into sympathy with young men and lead them to think of the value of the soul.

3rd—Let pastors, people, parents and teachers in the Sunday School and Bible class seek to place themselves in the hands and under the administration of the Holy Spirit, whose office it is to convince of sin, righteousness and judgment. The reception of the gift of the Holy Spirit by each member of the church, a good working knowledge of God's word, a firm grasp of the fundamental truths which it teaches regarding sin and salvation, are remedies which I would suggest.

Samuel Deyell, of Smith, is still very low from results of an accident, and not much hopes of his recovery are entertained.

The funeral of Mrs. Jas. Fee was largely attended. Her age was 76. She had been ailing for some time. A large number of friends and relatives were in attendance and much sympathy was felt.

The excursion next Saturday promises to attract a large crowd. Boat tickets will be sold at Peterborough for those wishing to join friends and acquaintances on the trip at the usual price of 50 cents.

The Emily District including about six lodges, total 500 men, are undecided about where they will go, having invitations from Millbrook, Orillia and Fenlon Falls.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

Ship Sprung a Leak by Earthquake.

London, June 12.—The barque La Escocesa (British), Captain Evans, from Guayaquil, March 6, for Central American ports, has arrived at San Juan del Sur, leaking badly from damage received by an earthquake while in nine fathoms of water. Her steam pumps were kept constantly at work en route to San Juan del Sur. She will proceed to Corinto, where she will be beached for repairs.

Harvey's Murderer Respited.

Albany, June 12.—Gov. Morton to-day commuted to imprisonment for life the sentence of death imposed upon Charles F. Wilson in Onondaga County in September, 1894. Wilson was jointly indicted with his brother for killing James Harvey, a police officer, at Syracuse, July 31, 1893.

LOADED TO THE MUZZLE.

A Booming Summer Sale.

GOUGH BROS., the Wonderful Cheap Men, are loaded to the muzzle with splendid goods; and now, listen to the BOOM of their SWEEPING SUMMER SALE.

WHY is this unprecedented and unparallelled summer sale organized? In a word, we have too much stock on hand—not on account of trade, for our prices and our goods have kept trade humming—but when THE BOTTOM FELL OUT OF ENGLISH AND CANADIAN WOLLENS and the manufacturers offered baits, we could not help biting—because we never hesitate to pass over a snap in Bargains to our customers—and we loaded ourselves up to the muzzle with splendid ranges of goods at prices that made us weep for the manufacturers, but it's

A BIG BOON TO THE BUYER,

and the consequence is that to unload our shelves we have inaugurated

OUR BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

We purchased and have in stock THOUSANDS OF BOY'S, YOUTHS AND MEN'S SUITS, of the highest quality, which will be offered at prices, that will make ineffective competition writhe with envy and make every dollar swell with pride at the double, yes, and treble work it can do at Gough Bros. BOOMING SUMMER SALE.

WHY DO WE SELL at such low prices? Because our stock is large, because we bought it low, the season is advanced and we want to sell it; we must sell it and we are going to sell it, and when Gough Bros. WILL sell you know what that means in the matter of prices—so low that lookers buy be ore they know it. They cannot resist our prices any more than we could resist the snaps the manufacturers offered us, and that accounts for the give-away prices you are getting in the shape of the biggest bargains ever offered in Peterborough.

IN HATS AND CAPS.

Gough Bros. have the crowning stock of the district—the highest quality the latest style and the LOWEST prices.

IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

Everybody knows that leather is up. Gough Bros. had a big stock on hand before the rise and could laugh at the climb in leather. They can, and do offer tip-top goods at the same old low prices. The advance of 10 to 20 per cent. in leather goods does'nt affect our prices. The same old low prices are good enough for Gough's and better for our customers.

NOW FOR THE CLINCHER.—In a word, our stock covers the whole habilmentary wants of man from head to heel. Low prices and high quality begin at the bottom—at Boots and Shoes. The quality remains all through, but the prices stay at the bottom.

Something new under the sun are the Wonderful Bargains at the Booming Summer Sale, at

GOUGH BROS.

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

Clearing Sale

Still Continues Unabated.

We have always carried a very large stock and it takes some time to get it down as low as we would wish before commencing the alterations, and owing to the large crowds visiting us daily we have been enabled to handle some large outside lines to clear at a sacrifice much less than wholesale prices, consequently our stock is still well assorted. To those who are not familiar with our stock and prices we below enumerate a few of our leading departments in which we are giving sweeping reductions :—

A SENATE SENSATION

Seven of the Divorce Committee Resign.

NOT IN THE CHAMBER'S CONFIDENCE

So Many Senators Are Opposed to Divorce on Principle That the Committee's Reports Are Rejected Without Reference to the Merit of the Case.

Ottawa, June 18.—The Senate yesterday furnished one of the biggest sensations of the session. By the British North American Act the subject of "Marriage and Divorce" is placed entirely within the legislative jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament, except in the case of those provinces which had divorce courts before Confederation. These provinces are Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia. In three of the provinces divorce is left to the courts but in Prince Edward Island the Executive Council deal with it, and Hon. D. Ferguson told me that there had only been one divorce case there in the last 40 or 50 years. The Dominion Parliament is thus left with jurisdiction in divorce cases arising in Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

The Senate Divorce Committee, which enters very carefully into the consideration of all the divorce applications coming before it and takes the evidence has of late years had its reports hacked to pieces frequently by the Senate. Today the committee, after reconsidering the treatment it had been subject to in recent sessions, decided almost unanimously to resign, and in doing so presented a weighty and important report setting forth the reasons which had led them to this conclusion.

It may be stated, in explanation of the reasons assigned in the report, that of the 71 members constituting the Senate at the present time, 39 are Protestants and 32 are Catholics. The Committee on divorce consists of nine members, viz: Messrs. Lougheed, Chairman; Boulton, Ferguson (Niagara), Kaulbach, Kirchoffer, McInnes (BC.), McKindsey, Primrose and Read of Belleville.

The report reads as follows: The undersigned members of the Divorce Committee, having decided to decline to serve any longer upon that body, wish to place before the House their reason for having adopted that course. While admitting the abstract right which the House has to disagree with or negative the reports of any of its committees, we are of opinion that this is a right which, out of respect to the dignity of the House, itself, and out of consideration for and courtesy to members upon those committees, should not be exercised on any private, personal, or religious grounds, or through caprice or whim, but solely where, upon a careful study of the facts or evidence which has been produced before the committee, it can be shown that that body has reported contrary to the rights and justice of the case. The appointment of the Divorce Committee is merely a convenience for having the evidence heard and reported upon to the House. Its members are, however, but individual members of the whole House, the full bench, whose duty it eventually becomes to read and determine whether the finding of the committee is just and in accordance with the evidence presented to them.

It is well known that a certain number of hon. Senators are opposed to the principles of divorce entirely. They do not allow even an undefended bill to pass without a protest. They refuse to act upon the committee. They say practically, we do not look into the facts of these cases, we do not listen to the arguments, we will not read the evidence, and our convictions are that this thing is wrong in principle, and on that account we oppose it, and not on its merits. Hence it follows that when the evidence has been completed and a report made to the House, it is well known that nearly one-half of the full bench of judges are sitting with their judgments prepared, saying in effect, we do not know anything about this case, we do not care to know, but our minds are made up, and although the hostility is not always invoked we know that it is there, and ready to be used whenever they consider that the occasion requires it. We consider that parties concerned in divorce proceedings before this House cannot expect to have justice done to them if one-half of the judges have, before its inception, already decided the case. We find that the committee is in constant hostility to a considerable portion of the House, and that under certain conditions a report cannot be passed unless the committee make a personal matter of it, and not always then. We have this session sat day after day and week after week, listening to evidence and arguments of counsel, with the prospect that after we made a report upon what has come before us the House, a large number of whose members know of the case only by name, may at any time proceed to negative it.

We say that, under such circumstances, a vote adverse to the finding of the committee whom you have asked to conduct these enquiries is an indignity to which no member of this House should be liable to be subjected.

We consider that the committee is too heavily handicapped by the conditions we have described, and though these may be understood in the House the public and the country at large are not acquainted with the circumstances and seeing only that the reports of the Divorce Committee are negatived almost every session naturally must come to the conclusion either that the committee has not done its duty or that it has not got the confidence of the House.

Feeling, as evidenced by the report just adopted, that the latter is the correct interpretation, we have decided to resign. (Signed) J.H. Kirchoffer, Robert Read, James A. Lougheed, C.C. McKindsey, Thomas R. McInnes, C. Primrose, John Ferguson.

After reading the report, Senator Kirchoffer said that in presenting this report he desired to state that he had not been personally consulted when placed on the Divorce Committee, but consented to act because of the difficulty experienced in getting Senators to act on the committee. When he consented he did so with every desire to honestly do his duty. Events which had transpired during the past three sessions had given him all the experience he desired. It was necessary, he said, to make it a personal matter in order to have the reports of the committee adopted by the House. He was entirely opposed to the electioneering dodges resorted to by Senators in securing the adoption and rejection of reports of the committee. He had even known cases where Senators were canvassed to be present or remain away, as the case might be, in order to secure the rejection of a report.

The memebers of the Divorce Committee, he said, had no personal interests to serve in making their reports, and he thought the committee represented fairly the average of intelligence in the House. The labors of the committee were arduous and not pleasant. They usually sat from 10 in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon listening to disgusting evidence and revelations of human depravity. The committee, he said, had no desire to listen to this disgusting evidence, but carefully examined all cases referred to it and reported as their consciences dictated. He did not think the committee deserved the treatment accorded it by the Senate in practically defeating its report in reference to this petition, and not even extending the usual courtesy of referring it back for consideration, but with mandatory instructions to bring in another report directly opposed to the one the committee had decided upon after mature and careful consideration. He moved that the report be taken into consideration at once, but upon Senators Power and Kaulbach rising to a point of order, the consideration was left over until Monday next.

Senator Miller remarked that the report was one of the most extraordinary ever presented to the Senate.

The New Valkyrie.

Glasgow, June 12.—Lord Dunraven's new racing yacht, Valkyrie III., still lies off Laporthus, at Gourock, where she is receiving her outfit. Captains Cranfield and Sycamore are personally superintending the work. The crew assisted in completing the running of her rigging and trying all her working parts. They were engaged in housing and hoisting her topmast yesterday, which operation was repeated many times. The new boat's sails are now lying in the loft at Gourock, ready to be bent on, but the managing partner in charge of Laporthus, Gourock branch, professes ignorance of their measurement. The first trial of the new boat under sail has been definitely fixed for Saturday, providing the weather is suitable.

Cornell Couldn't Beat a Scratch Crew.

London, June 12.—This evening the Cornell crew rowed a series of races against an untrained scratch crew made up of members of the Henley Club. In the Cornell boat were Matthews, Bentley, Roe, Freeborn, Shape, Hall, Louis and Hamilton stroke. On the way down the Americans had the lead, but at the start the two boats were even. The Henley crew then immediately began to draw away, and were a quarter of a length ahead by the time they had pulled 16 strokes, when they stopped rowing, having broken a rowlock. The second start was made after the damage had been repaired, and the Henley boat again secured a lead. Cornell, however, soon showed in front, but Henley again drew up about level, and both crews ceased rowing, having covered a distance of a quarter of a mile. The boats were put about, and the crews rowed from Bushey Gate to Henley Bridge, against the stream. The Henley crew took a length's start, rowing 36 strokes a minute. Cornell, pulling 46, overtook them in about 200 yards, when Henley again began to draw away. The rowing of the Americans became ragged, but they soon steadied themselves, passing Henley, and were a length ahead upon reaching the bridge. The distance covered was half a mile. Much surprise was expressed among the spectators that Cornell was unable to leave the scratch crew with greater ease.

The Suburban on Saturday.

New York, June 12.—James R. Keene says that his horse Horuplpe, the winner of the Brooklyn Handicap, would not start in the Suburban. On Tuesday at Sheepshead Bay Domino, with Taral in the saddle, worked a mile in 1.41 1-2, finishing very easily. Domino is now a strong favorite over Ramapo for the Suburban, to be run on Saturday. The layers are all scared of him, and few, if any, of them are willing to accept big bets at much better than even money. The only doubt as to Domino seems to be as to his stamina. A good many clever judges do not believe that he can stay a fast mile and a quarter. It will be a great race if the track is fast, and it is not unlikely that last year's record of 2.06 1-5 may be beaten.

O'Brien Declared Bankrupt.

London, June 13.—The Bankruptcy Court issued a receiving order against William O'Brien, in consequence of his failure to satisfy the judgment obtained against him by Patrick A. Chance, M.P., for legal services rendered in action for libel against Lord Salisbury.

Colter's Body Sent to Lewiston.

Toronto, June 13. — The body of Samuel Colter, who died in the Toronto General Hospital from injuries received in a fight at Lewiston, on the American side, will be taken possession of by Coroner Walker of Niagara, N.Y. Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright expressed himself as anxious to assist the American authorities to punish the party responsible for Colter's death, and issued instructions that the body be handed over to Coroner King. A post mortem examination of the body will be made prior to its removal. Scott, the alleged murderer of Colter, is under arrest. The deceased never recovered consciousness to give his version of the fight in which he received his death-wounds.

CONFESSED TWO MURDERS.

Told How 40 Years Ago She Killed Her Grandmother and Child.

Lancaster, Pa., June 13.—Mrs. Hattie Good, a widow of Bowmanville, last week tried to commit suicide by cutting her throat, but failed. She was a victim of consumption, however, and died last Friday. She was buried on Monday. It has just been ascertained that before her death she confessed to a Mennonite preacher that 40 years ago she murdered her grandmother and illegitimate child to get them out of the way.

Murderer Aged 4 Years

La Porte, Ind., June 13.—Indiana has a youthful murderer in Gilbert Lowsher, 4 years old, who killed Bernice Collins at Monticello, his victim being a toddling infant. Being angry with the Collins child, he attacked her with stones, and before her piteous cries for help brought relief she was dead. The authorities are puzzled as to what steps are to be taken in dealing with the boy, the annals of the state failing to record a parallel case.

Wife Murder and Suicide by a Maniac

Cannah, N.H., June 13.—Insane jealously prompted Walter Leary, 50, to shoot and probably fatally wound his wife last night. When Sheriff Murray went to arrest him, Leary shot himself in the temple, and will die.

Was at of Work Drove Him to Murder.

New York, June 13.—Siegmund Schmeidler, 36, shot his wife while she was asleep, and then killed himself at their home, this morning. Mrs. Schmeidler will probably recover. In a letter which Schmeidler left for the coroner he stated that he had become tired of life, because he had no money and no work.

JAPAN HOLDS THE PESCADORES.

The Cession of an Island by China to France is Discredited.

Washington, June 13.—The report that one of the Pescadore Islands will be given to France for a coaling station is discredited among diplomatic officials here. These islands were ceded to Japan in the recent treaty made with China, and no part of them, it is asserted, will be relinquished by Japan.

THE STATUTE LABOUR QUESTION

The County Council in its reply to "the speech from the throne," dealt strongly with an important question, as in the following paragraph:—

Your committee affirm with the Warden their conviction that the days of statute labour are gone by and that the statute labour system is obsolete and worthless, and would recommend that the whole question of statute labour and good roads be referred to the consideration of the Road and Bridge Committee.

The highways of Canada as a rule are by no means in keeping with the advanced civilization that obtains in other departments. As the Council says, the statute labour system is "obsolete and worthless"—has outlived its usefulness. It may have been all right in the early days when limited travel by ox teams was the prevalent mode of travel, but in the present day, when the activities of life demand the best travel facilities, good roads are a sine qua non. And we shall never have good roads under the present statute labour system. System, applied in this connection, is a clear misnomer, for our statute labour is characterized by an entire lack of system. Nothing more haphazard could be devised. Thus the labour ostensibly put upon our highways is a waste of energy—what little energy is put into it. People as a rule, though there are a few exceptions, regard statute labour or "road work" as it is usually known as a sort of pic-nic. The laziest and weakest member of the farm staff is generally sent with the laziest and most ricketty team and the overseer is, as as a rule, by no means a tyrant. Then there is no plan of operations and the work is done with a happy deference to the fancy of each individual operator. It is safe to say that a given amount of statute labour commuted at half its nominal value and the cash properly expended, under competent oversight, would give four times as good returns. The lack of system is not the only bad feature of the statute labour system. The time of year at which it is done is most unfortunate. The month of June is generally selected, the month when there is the largest amount of driving. This month there is the largest delivery of milk at cheese factories, and the greatest necessity of good roads. Yet the statute labour begins. Mud, clay, gravel, stones, etc., are piled up promiscuously, and the last state of that road, like the man in Scripture, is worse than the first—the road is rendered almost impassable for months. This is the result of the present "obsolete and worthless" statute labour system, and it is high time that a reform should be inaugurated. There is a difference of opinion as to the best road material, but there is no doubt that the best material for making roads is brains—that is, thought, deliberation and judgment. Self-made roads, as under the present system, are like self-made men—inclined to be bumptious and difficult to get on smoothly with. It is to be hoped that the roads and bridge committee of the County Council will deal with the matter with that wisdom and decision that characterize their dealing with other matters coming under their jurisdiction.

THE evidence given before the Public Accounts Committee Tuesday, shows that part of the extra outlay on the Sault canal was due to the Government undertaking the cost of work, which should have been borne by the C. P. R. This great railway got from the Dominion Government as a start in life one hundred millions of dollars, and it would not perhaps be improper to suggest that the road which is doing a big business should pay its way.

THE Kingston Whig says: "The Peterborough EXAMINER objects to the billeting of ministers, and says that the majority of ministers receive sufficient salary and there would be no hardship for them to pay their way. The Whig does not endorse that idea, but it certainly thinks the churches should pay a capita tax out of which all the expenses of these annual meetings should be paid." The Whig's position on this subject is the same as that of the EXAMINER, which advocated in case it was not considered fair for ministers to bear the whole burden, that the congregation interested should bear the expense of ministers at conference.

PARLIAMENT spent as much on Sir John Thompson's funeral as it proposes to vote for the maintenance of his family, which was left comparatively unprovided for. Here is a chance for the funeral reformer. Wasting, in vain display at funerals, money that would be better devoted to the maintenance of the living is a fault that does not lie alone with governments. In tens of thousands of cases money is spent on foolish pomp at funerals that would be more wisely devoted to buying flour for the surviving family; and in the vast majority of cases the display does not mean a proportionate respect for the deceased, but is a foolish display in attempted rivalry of others. Simplicity and solemnity are specially called for in connection with the obsequies of the beloved dead much more than a public striving to satisfy the vanity and love of display of the surviving relatives.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. and Mrs. Faint, of Peterborough, visited Norwood last week.

Messrs. Arthur Lang and Jas. Dawson paid Norwood a visit on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Davidson and Miss E. Cook sail from Montreal on the 13th of July, on the steamer "Sardinian" for a trip through the British Isles. Mrs. Davidson has been in poor health and it is hoped that the ocean voyage will restore her to her former vigor.

Mary Brown, daughter of the late Thos. Brown, died on Sunday after a short illness. She was ten years of age. The funeral which took place on Tuesday was attended largely.

Mr. Alger, of Hastings, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church last Sunday morning. Mr. Wm. Thistlethwaite preached in the evening.

Some of our local Waltons are said by the Hastings Star to catch their trout at Burleigh with a silver bait.

Last Friday, while Jos. Harper was grinding a drill on an emery wheel in W. P. Plant's foundary, the stone burst and he was struck by several of the pieces. Three ribs were broken and for a time it was feared there were internal injuries. This happily was not the case and Mr. Harper is able to be around again.

At the departmental examinations to be held in July there will be about 70 candidates writing for Primary Junior Leaving and Matriculation certificates. This number constitutes more than half of the enrolled attendance at the High School. About ninety candidates will write for commercial certificates. The village has reason to be proud of the position taken by the High School in the recent Art school examinations. One hundred and seventy certificates and four full certificates were secured by the students.

The weather on Decoration Day was all that could be desired, and the streets were lined with people. At 4 o'clock on Tuesday, all the places of business were closed. Shortly afterwards the procession of Oddfellows, about 75 strong, headed by the Norwood band, left the hall and proceeded to the cemetery. The graves of the late brethren John Vosburgh, Wm. Findlay and Archie Scott were beautifully decorated with flowers. The assembly then congregated about a platform which had been erected. Bro. R. J. Stuart, N. G., took the chair and made a short address. Speeches were also delivered by Revs. Thompson of Hastings, and Weaver and Somerville of Norwood. The meeting was concluded by an address by Bro. Hoyle, Grand Master for Ontario. We were pleased to notice that a number of the citizens decorated the graves of deceased relatives.

The regular meeting of the school board was held on Monday evening, a bare quorum being present. The following were the members around the table—W. E. Roxburgh, chairman, W. H. Stephenson, secretary, Thos. Rork, Thos. Fraser, J. Breckenridge, A. R. Anderson and Dr. Pettigrew.

On motion the following accounts were left in the hands of the Finance Committee—J. G. Keefer, printing, $3.75; R. J. Stuart, repairing furnace, $5.

A communication from Miss E. Brown, resigning her position as teacher in the public school was read. Moved by Mr. Fraser, seconded by Dr. Pettigrew, that the resignation be accepted, and that the Executive advertise for another teacher.

An application from B. Hales, B.A., for the position of teacher in the fourth form during the Model School term, was laid before the board, and on motion was referred to the Executive Committee.

Moved by Mr Anderson, seconded by Dr. Pettigrew, that whereas the Norwood High School is the County High School, it is incumbent on the Public School Inspector to preside here at the teachers' non-professional examinations and attend personally to the interests which he is paid to conserve. That in asking the Education Department to appoint himself as presiding examiner in Peterborough, and thus handing the control of such an important matter to outsiders, to whom there are objections, we deem such to be not only contrary to custom, but detrimental to our school interests. And further, in the matter of interchange of teachers, he has discriminated against our staff by asking us to pay one examiner from Peterborough the sum of $32, while giving our representative a subordinate position worth $16. Two are sent from Peterborough while one from the High School is appointed to exchange. That this board draw the attention of the County Council, through our Reeve, our representative in council, to have these grievances redressed.—Carried.

A tender for the supply of paper, from THE EXAMINER, was referred to the Supply Committee.

Mr. Davidson, Principal of the High School, requested a few days' leave of absence at the opening of the fall term, as he will not be able to return from a trip to Europe in time for the opening.

On motion of Mr. Breckenridge, seconded by Mr. Fraser, the request was willingly granted by the board.

Rheumitism Cured

Rheumatism is caused by lactic acid in the blood attacking the fibrous tissues of the joints. Keep your blood pure and healthy and you will not have rhuemitism. NORTH MONAGHAN.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A delightfully successful lawn social was held under the auspices of North Monaghan Council, R. T. of T., No. 356, on Thursday evening, June The lawn of Mr. J. T. Tully's residence was the scene of the social. There was an attendance of about 300 persons, who enjoyed the pleasant social intercourse, which, with the musical and elocutionary entertainment, formed the staple of the evenings enjoyment. But mention must not be omitted of the splendid refreshments provided by the ladies of the vicinity, which were greatly enjoyed by the large company present. The High Park Brass band was present and supplied liberal installments of their excellent music. Dr. Goldsmith, town, occupied the chair and gave an excellent address upon temperance topics. Mrs. Goldsmith, Miss Goldsmith and Miss Jennie Evans gave much appreciated recitations. The Charlotte street church choir quartette furnished one of their choice selections, Miss Florence Hall, a trio from the Charlotte street church, rendered a fine selection. Mr. Herb. Williamson's cornet solo was much appreciated as well as the whistling solo of Master E. Hall, town, Miss Jennie Huston gave an excellent reading. After the usual but unusually hearty votes of thanks, the entertainment concluded with "God Save the Queen." The affair was a good financial success.

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterborough, you must remember this when you get a cigar direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold traveller's imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out those samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

MR. EDGAR EXPLAINS HIS BILL

His Object Is to Make It Criminal for Such Officials to Contribute to Election Funds—A Telling Speech—Mr. Mulock's Anti-Pass Bill Defeated.

Ottawa, June 13.—The House yesterday rejected Mr. Mulock's bill prohibiting the acceptance of railway passes by senators and members of Parliament by an overwhelming majority. Its defeat was due to the solid opposition of the Government to the example set by the ministers was followed by most of their supporters. It was not a party measure, and every member was at liberty to treat it as he saw fit. The Liberals, while not united upon the question, gave the bill a generous support, as the division list will show. Mr. Laurier and other prominent members of the Opposition recorded their votes in its favor. The division resulted the rejection of his bill by 100 to 16. When the order for the resumption of the debate on the motion of Mr. Mulock for the second reading of his bill was reached, there were discordant shouts of "Carried!" "Lost!" Mr. Mulock demanded that the yeas and nays be taken, whereupon the division bells were set a-ringing, with this result:

Mr. McMullen's bill wiping out the superannuation system was ruled out of order by the Speaker.

Mr. Haggart, replying to Mr. Laurier, said that the claim of the Gilbert Blasting Co., arising out of the cancellation of their contract for constructing portions of sections 5 and 8, and the whole of sections 6 and 7 of the Cornwall Canal, was settled on April 18 by the payment of 15 per cent. of the value of the work estimated as remaining to be done, in all $29,850.

Mr. Daly, in reply to a question by Mr. Rider, said that the Government did not advertise the sale of the Government land, consisting of over 135 acres, situated on the east side of the Richelieu River, in the County of Iberville, opposite Isle Aux Noix, before selling to Hiram Sewell Foster for $600. The reason for the failure to advertise the sale, given by Mr. Daly, was that the revised statutes authorise the sale of ordnance land to the person in possession, and it was considered desirable to sell it to the leaseholder. The Government, he said, had no reason to think that any member of Parliament was interested in the purchase of the land.

Mr. Edgar moved the second reading of his bill to so amend the Criminal Code that contractors and directors or officers of subsidized railways shall be debarred from contributing to election funds while the subsidies constitute a claim against the Government. The aim of the bill, he said, was to put the same restriction upon contractors for and directors of subsidized railways that was imposed upon contractors for public works. He said that there was much more necessity for applying legal restrictions to the beneficiaries of railway subsidies than to public contractors. He thought it was scarcely necessary to give illustrations of the evils which he proposed to prevent, but he might mention that on one occasion Parliament gave 50 million acres of land and $30,000 to the old Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Mr. Cameron: That is stale; give us something new.

Mr. Edgar: $300,000 of that subsidy was contributed to the election fund of Hon. gents opposite by Sir Hugh Allan, one of the beneficiaries of that fund. There is a member of this House—the member for Quebec West—who was a director of Sir Hugh Allan's board. The member for Three Rivers (Sir Hector Langevin), who was in his seat not three minutes ago, was the recipient of over $32,000 of that election fund. The leader of the Government to-day, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, voted in this House against granting the enquiry moved for by Mr. Huntington into the Pacific Scandal. Therefore, Mr. Cameron is all astray when he says that this is an old and stale question.

Mr. Edgar, continuing, said that the persons who had benefited by the subsidy of one million dollars to the Lake St. John Railway had contributed between $25,000 and $50,000 to the Conservative election fund, as the Postmaster-General well knew. The Temiscouata Railway was subsidised to the extent of half a million dollars, and Contractor J. J. Macdonald expended $25,000 for political purposes. If the loan of two and a half millions were made to the Hudson Bay Railway, would it not be a great pity for the Government to allow the contractors, directors or officers to contribute to the election fund of either party? Mr. Onderdonk, the contractor for the Trent Valley Canal, could not without risking prosecution make political contributions. Mr. St. Louis was not legally entitled to contribute to election funds.

Mr. Edgar proposed to put railway contractors, directors and officers in the same position as public contractors.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper suggested that the bill be referred to the Committee on Criminal Code amendments and moved the adjournment of the debate.

The Curran bridge scandal will be ventilated by Mr. Davies to-day.

MATTERS IN MONTREAL

The St. Louis Case and Sir C. H. Tupper's Remarks the Main Topic.

Montreal, Que., June 13.—There is quite a tempest in Montreal legal and judicial circles, and everyone considers Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper's reference to miscarriage of justice in the St. Louis case as exceedingly unfortunate. Judge Desnoyers, who dismissed the case, is a gentleman of unimpeachable character, and has for long years been looked on as a sound lawyer and conscientious judge. His Honor has in fact sent a strong letter to-day to the Minister of Justice protesting against the language used by Sir Charles, and affirming that the judgment was rendered after careful consideration. Some members of the Montreal bar have also taken action in the matter, and a petition is being prepared asking Hon. E. Robidoux, batonnier of the district, to call a meeting of the Montreal bar, in order that a formal protest may be entered against what they all believed to be a most unjust aspersion on the integrity of Justice Desnoyers.

Some days since L'Electeur published a report to the effect that before leaving Ottawa Mgr. Langevin had had an interview with Hon. Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Daly, with reference to the Manitoba school question. To-day however, the same paper is obliged to publish the following:

Winnipeg, June 11.—Your statement of my interview with Messrs. Daly and Tupper is absolutely without foundation. Saw them five minutes on the platform, but not a word on school question was uttered. Mgr. Langevin.

This morning Henri Frigon, who was the Crown's alleged trump card in the St. Louis case, failed to answer a summons from the Court of Queen's Bench. Consequently, Sir Alex. Lacoste ordered a bench warrant to be issued at once. High Constable Bissonnette arrested the delinquent witness late in the afternoon.

Philip Tremblay, who was serving a term of four years at St. Vincent De Paul, and who would have been free a week hence, died in the Penitentiary this forenoon.

Prof. Goldwin Smith, who is in the city, opines that the Unionists will win in Britain, and that the Liberals will, as is their wont, be defeated in Canada at the next general election.

FATHER SHOOTS HIS SON.

Mistook the Boy's Hat for the Mark to Fire At—The Ball Entered Above the Eye.

Lion's Head, Ont., June 13.—A sad accident happened at Dyer's Bay, a few miles north of this place, by which Jas. Graham, a farmer, accidentally shot his own son Irving, killing him instantly, the ball entering just above his left eye. As near as can be learned, father and son had been working in the fields a short distance from the house, and were returning at dusk. The son, who was carrying the rifle, fired at a mark on a tree, and then handed the gun to his father, at the same time going to see the result of his own shot, and to make the mark plainer for his father, whose eyesight is not good. It is generally supposed, from the nature of the ground and the thick bush growing around the spot, that the father mistook his son's hat or head for the mark, as he was returning from the tree through the brush, and only the upper part of his body would be in sight.

HIT WITH A SLEDGE HAMMER.

John McLaughlin of Toronto Badly Injured Near Cedardale.

Oshawa, June 13.—While engaged in spiking rails on the Electric Railway near Cedar Dale John McLaughlin of Toronto Junction was accidentally struck a side blow on the head with a sledge wielded by a companion, John Mitchell of Toronto. For a time he was unconscious. He was taken to his home.

Killed by a Kick.

Markham, June 13.—Henry Vogue, the 12-year-old son of Robert Vogue, lot 30, concession 6, Markham, was kicked in the stomach by a horse on Sunday evening. The injuries proved fatal a few hours afterwards.

BITE OF WHISKERS IN EVIDENCE.

Sues for $200 for Having His Beard Torn Out

Ottawa, June 13.—Octave Lemay, blacksmith, of St. Andrews-street, with one side of his beard torn out and his face disfigured, stood in the witness box at the County Court sittings to-day. He states that his disfigurement was done by Maxime Lepine of St. Andrews-street. He is now suing Lepine for $200 damages as the result of "The shame in the insult and the injuries" he received.

Reciprocity in Sealing Schemes.

London, June 13.—The Behring Sea Bill, introduced by Sir Edward Grey, in addition to the award in regard to the seizures, empowers the officers of foreign states which are parties to the agreement to seize British ships and equipment when they violate the order. British officers have the same powers in the case of foreign ships. An impression prevails here that Canada will vigorously oppose the passage of the measure.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Stole a Pair of Boots.

A young lad named William Godfrey, 9 or 10 years, plead guilty, this morning, before Magistrate Dumble to the charge of stealing a pair of boots from the store of Robt. Neill. The boy was remanded in order to give the Chief of Police an opportunity for fuller investigation. A great many pairs of boots have disappeared from Mr. Neill's store lately, and it is thought Godfrey may be induced to tell of their whereabouts, as it is the opinion of the Chief that the lad knows something about them. The Children's Aid Society is looking after the little fellow's interests.

A Valuable Dog Killed.

Mr. John McKee had the misfortune to have his valuable thoroughbred cocker spaniel bitch, "Venus," killed by the street cars. The poor brute's legs were cut off and it had to be put out of its misery. If the street cars were provided with proper guards such accidents could not happen. It may be said that a dog's life is of little consequence, but the absence of a guard would have had a similar result in the case of a child. A properly-adjusted guard, as is used in some cities, would save a life in case of accident.

The City of Peterborough will leave her wharf at eight o'clock to-morrow morning for the first excursion of the season to Hastings. The trip is one of the most delightful that can be taken on the water, affording, as it does, a sail of ninety miles through ever-changing and most picturesque scenery. The excursion is one admirably suited for families, who wish to take a healthful day's outing and see the many pretty spots along the shores of the winding Otonabee. Return tickets have been placed at $1.00, and the boat will return to Peterborough at 8 o'clock the same evening.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Stewart Street Drain Will Have to be Properly Repaired.

At a meeting of the Board of Health, last evening, there were present Messrs. J. J. Hartley (chairman), Benj. Shortly, H. Denne, Adam Hall, C. Stapleton, Dr. Clarke, Mayor Kendry, R. Innes and W. Blackwell.

The Board was called together for the purpose of considering the question of the Stewart street drain, which has been the cause of much recent complaint and has been reported a nuisance to the Medical Health officer.

The following resolutions in reference to to the matter was passed:

Moved by Charles Stapleton, seconded by H. Denne, that the inspector be instructed to notify all parties using the present drain back of houses on Brock street running across Stewart down by the Protestant Home to the creek, to cease using the same at once.

Moved by B. Shortly, seconded by W. Blackwell, That the inspector be instructed to superintend the laying of a 6-in. glazed tile drain to commence at the rear Mr. George Claxton's house in the lane, and the same be carried to the creek where the old drain emptied; that there be bevel junction 6x4 inches left where all houses using the old drain and they can connect the pipe to the old drain; that this drain be not less than four feet deep and all drains connecting to main be properly trapped and all joints be sealed with Portland Cement and properly graded.

FELL INTO THE OLD QUARRY.

Badly Bruised and Scratched by the Fall.

Master Jack McFadden, the messenger boy in the employ of Gough Bros., is confined to his bed through the effects of an accident with which he recently met.

A few evenings since he was playing in the Jackson Park, and in racing along the summit of the old quarry his foot caught in a root and, tripping, he was precipitated to the bottom. The sides of the quarry are almost perpendicular, and as the lad crashed through the underbrush he was followed by a small avalanche of stones, which he dislodged in his descent.

When picked up by his companion his clothes were found to be almost torn from his back, whilst he was bleeding profusely from a number of scratches and ugly bruises which he had received in his fall.

Although no bones were broken he was shaken up so badly as to necessitate his keeping very quiet for the next week or so. At present he is so sore that he cannot raise his hand.

DROWNED IN THE RIVER.

Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Seymour, Meets Death in the Trent River.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Wm. Edwards, a well-known farmer, of Seymour township, was drowned in the Trent river, and one of his horses suffered the same fate.

The unfortunate man was at work during the day on a piece of land across the river, some distance from his dwelling, and in order to reach the place he swam his horses to the opposite side.

On returning after the day's labour, the horse upon which he was riding sank and was drowned, and Mr. Edwards went down also, to rise no more in this life. A searching party was organized, and the body was found at one o'clock Wednesday morning.

Had No Licenses.

Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Hoddart were up this morning charged with peddling goods without a license. Both admitted their guilt, but averred that there were plenty of others who plied the same avocation. Judgment was suspended in both cases to allow the defendants time in which to raise the necessary funds to procure a license.

Bow-Legged Children.

Did it ever occur to you that bow-legged children are produced by making them walk, instead of buying one of our baby carriages, which saves the strain on their soft little leg bones? It's a fact. Don't let you child have such a deformity, but buy one of our strong, handsome, handy baby cabs, and don't let another day pass without it. The price is only $3 to $15 at A. H. STRATTON & Co's, Peterborough Bookstore.

The Mission Excursion.

The moonlight excursion, last evening, under the auspices of St. John's South Ward Mission, was a great success. It was liberally patronized, fully 250 citizens boarding the City of Peterborough for a trip down the river. The Italian orchestra was taken along, and altogether a most pleasant evening was enjoyed. Great credit is due to the ladies of the mission, who left no stone unturned to work the venture up to a successful issue. It is hoped that this will only be the first of a series of excursions under the same auspices.

The Coming Event.

THE PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL.

THE PROCEEDINGS AT THE JUNE SESSION.

The Application of the Agricultural Societies—They Request a Grant in Aid of Their Exhibitions—The Deputation Addresses the Council.

THURSDAY, June 13th.

Yesterday the members of council were chiefly engaged in committee work. However a brief session was held to receive a deputation from the East and West Riding Agricultural Societies.

Mr. George Elmhirst, president of the West Riding Society, was the first to address the council. He pertinently and forcibly advanced the claims of a grant to the Agricultural Society. A grant such as was asked was not only devoting the money to a most worthy object and a most necessary cause. It was impossible to carry on the excellent work of the societies without money. He pointed out that other counties had been most liberal in their dealings with these societies, and he thought that a prosperous county like Peterborough should not be wanting in this important matter.

Mr. F. Birdsall, of the East Riding Society, followed and urged the request for a grant. He pointed out the educative influence of these societies on the farmers—especially in the development of stock raising. The East Riding Society's exhibition was a purely agricultural one. In conclusion Mr. Birdsall extended a cordial invitation to the council to attend the Farmers' Institute picnic at Idyl Wyld, which Mr. R. S. Davidson on behalf of the Peterborough Navigation Company, supplemented.

Mr. Robt Vance, of Ida, spoke briefly of the exception taken by some members of the council to the speeding events at exhibitions. He pointed out that the prizes offered at these meetings were largely composed of purses given by hotelkeepers and others. These trials of speed tended to develop the industry of raising road horses which were in good demand. Racing is prohibited under the amended Agricultural Act, but speeding under the direction of the directors is permissable. He hoped to see Peterborough follow the example of other counties in making a liberal grant.

Messrs. Wm. Rutherford, of South Monaghan, and Mr. T. M. Hunter, of North Monaghan, also briefly addressed the council.

Mr. Birdsall added that the East Riding Society wished a grant on account of loss at the last exhibition through wet weather.

The application of the societies was, on motion of Messrs. Moloney and Joyce, referred to the Finance Committee.

The council decided to accept the invitation to the Farmers' picnic, and the councillors went down on the steamer City of Peterborough this morning.

STILL ANOTHER WEDDING.

Marriage of Mr. Wm. Ivory and Miss Metcalfe. Yesterday.

A verry pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon, at three o'clock, at the residence of Mr. William Metcalfe, 251 Simcoe street, when Mr. W. H. Ivory, C. P.R. operator at Manvers, wedded his daughter, Miss Florence Maud Metcalfe.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Rae, pastor of the Charlotte street church, in the presence of a large number of guests from Toronto, Cobourg, Omemee and other places.

The bridesmaid was Miss Lizzie Ivory, sister of the groom, who came all the way from Manitoba to witness the ceremony. Mr. Fred. Metcalfe, brother of the bride, assisted the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ivory left on the afternoon express for Toronto, Detroit and other western points.

Mr. Ivory is very well known in town, having been connected with both the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. for many years in the capacity of operator.

PERSONAL

Mr. Gus Gough has returned from Lindsay.

Miss Sarah McFadden left yesterday for a visit to Turners' Falls, Mass.

Miss May Grace of Belleville, has accepted a position with Gough Bros. as bookkeeper.

Rev. R. E. Spence, of town, has successfully passed his second year's Arts examination at Toronto University.

Miss Nonie Milburn, of Belleville, is spending a week or two in town as the guest of Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Water street.

The Campbellford Herald says: Mrs. G. Armour of Peterborough, is here visiting at the residence of Mr. Jas. Armour for a few weeks.

The Lindsay Post says: Mr. S. G. Faulkner, inspector North American Life Assurance Co., was in town a few hours this morning.

Mr. M. Cassidy, who has been spending a term at the Peterborough Business College, has gone to Turners' Falls, Mass., where he has received a responsible commercial position.

When is it to be? This question is disturbing the souls of politicians. In view of the material alteration in the commercial policy of the country which would be involved in a change of government it is a matter which concerns the general public. THE COUNTY COURT.

In the case of Poole vs. Clysdale, the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff of $35 and costs. Mr. J. Burnham, Q. C., appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. E. B. Stone for the defence.

Alex. Anderson was acquitted of the charge of larceny of furniture from Thos. Earle. Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the defence.

Judgment has been reserved in the case of Kelly vs. Manning. Poussette & Gurd and W. H. Moore were the counsel engaged in the case.

The Grand Jury brought in the following presentment yesterday:

To His Honour Judge Weller:

We, the members of the Grand Jury of the present sittings of the County Court and General Sessions of the County of Peterborough have completed the duties imposed upon us, as clearly explained to us by Your Honour, beg to submit herewith our report.

Your Grand Jury are pleased to state that owing to the almost entire absence of criminal cases at this sittings, the Court is to be congratulated in consequence, and they consider that this fact may be accepted as a satisfactory evidence of crimes of a serious nature in this county, which is also a matter of congratulation.

Your Grand Jury has visited the gaol, being shown through the building by the jailor. Having inspected every department, they are pleased to report that everything necessary appertaining to the comfort, cleanliness and discipline of the prisoners was found to be in a most satisfactory state of efficiency. A fact upon which the gaoler and his staff are to be congratulated.

Although the vagrants at present confined in the jail, owing to the absence of some other more appropriate place for this class of unfortunates, are apparently receiving the best attention their present quarters can afford, we are quite convinced it is not a proper place for them and are pleased to learn, through your honour that the promise of a more suitable House of refuge will soon be an accomplished fact. We would, however, recommend, that every effort be made on the part of the proper authorities to bring the matter to a satisfactory settlement as early as possible.

Your Grand Jury has also visited the Nicholls' Hospital, being most courteously received and shown through the building by the Lady Superintendent. Having inspected every department, we are pleased to report that too much cannot be said in favour of the efficiency of this much-needed and deserving institution. We have much pleasure, therefore, in stating that the Board of Management and staff are to be highly commended upon the apparent able administration of the institution, and the town congratulated upon the possession of such a Hospital.

Your Grand Jury is also pleased to report that the St. Joseph's Hospital has been visited, where they were most graciously received by the Sisters of Mercy and conducted through the institution, which was also found to be in a most satisfactory condition; nearly approaching perfection in every department.

In conclusion, we would say, that owing to the very satisfactory condition in which all the institutions visited were found to be, it is unnecessary for us to make any suggestions or recommendations affecting the interests or welfare of the public further than a recommendation that better facilities be provided in the hospitals for the speedy removal of the inmates in case of fire, which at present are, in our opinion, insufficient.

(Signed), A. GILLESPIE, Foreman.

A NOTABLE EXCEPTION.

A Strong Feeling in Favour of a Canadian Product in the State of New York.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 10.—In spite of a strong sentiment prevailing throughout this state that nothing good can come out of Canada, a feeling is beginning to grow that there are certain notable exceptions and among them is classed the new specific remedy for all diseases of the kidneys, and all complaints arising from a derangement of those organs, known as Dodd's Kidney Pills. The medicine has received a thorough test and is being prescribed not only by druggists but by physicians, whose well known reluctance to admit any virtue in a proprietary medicine make their testimony to its merits still more remarkable.

ANGLICAN SYNOD NOW IN SESSION.

APPOINTMENT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEES.

Reports Received and Discussed—Notices of Motion by Local Representatives—Statements Concerning the Missions.

The annual meeting of the Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Toronto opened Tuesday morning with a celebration of the holy communion in St. James' Cathedral. The Bishop officiated as celebrant, and was assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Boddy, of York, Ven. Arcdeacon Allen, of Peterborough, Rural Dean Septimus Jones, and Canon Cayley. There was a large attendance of clerical and lay delegates.

Shortly after 11.30 o'clock the business of the session opened in St. James' schoolhouse, when Bishop Sweatman took the chair and called the delegates to order. On the platform with the Bishop were the Archdeacons of York and Peterborough; Rev. Dr. Scadding, Bishop's chaplain; Rev. T. W. Patterson, Clerical Secretary; Dr. Thomas Hodgins, Lay Secretary, and Mr. John A. Worrell, Q.C., Registrar.

After opening prayers, read by Archdeacon Boddy, the report of the Committee on Credentials of lay delegates was presented by Mr. G. F. Harman and referred to the Court on Contested Seats. Revs. J. P. Lewis and Dr. Pearson were appointed to introduce visitors to the Synod.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

The Bishop then read his annual address. In opening he made feeling reference to the deaths during the year of Rev. Canon Brent, Rev. Dr. H. W. Davis, Bursar of Trinity College, and Rev. J. S. Baker, of Port Hope; also to the death of two prominent laymen, namely, Mr. Robert H. Bethune, of the Dominion Bank, Toronto, and Mr. Basil Rowe, of Orillia. In addition to three clergy removed by death, nine others had left the diocese, but these two losses had been more than made up by a gain of twenty new men, viz., thirteen by ordination and seven by transfer from other dioceses. The clergy roll now totals 188, viz., 150 engaged in parochial work, 16 in tuition or chaplaincies, three doing occasional duty, nine on leave or retired, and ten superannuated. During the year 1,100 candidates had been confirmed into the church by the Bishop of the diocese and the Bishop of Niagara, in addition to those confirmed by the Bishop of Huron, whose returns had not been received. The Bishop added the interesting fact that while in England last month he held a confirmation in Christ Church, St. Marylebone, the church of his own childhood, and where he himself had been confirmed and had preached his first sermon. On that occasion 200 candidates were received into the church.

The fact was noted that at no time had the missions and parishes of the diocese been so amply supplied as at present, the members having increased in fifteen years from 103 to 136.

The next matter dealt with was the condition of the mission fund. The contributions from the diocese for the maintenance of the missionary clergy fell last year to $9,851, the smallest sum subscribed in any year of his episcopate, and quite inadequate to the requirements, even under the reduced scale now paid to the missionaries. As a result $1,155 had been added to the unsecured debt, which now amounted to $3,945. In the meantime $11,293 had been paid during the year for missions. His Lordship deeply deplored this condition of affairs, and urged strenuous, persistent and concerted action to revive interest in the matter.

PRESENTATION OF REPORTS from standing committees was next taken up, the first being that of the Executive Committee, read by Dr. Hodgins. The report stated that the negotiations with the Niagara Diocese had been happily concluded, the $5,000 which the Toronto Synod agreed to pay in settlement of all claims had been disbursed, and a release in full given by Niagara. The report recommended that the system of voting for members of the Executive be changed, and instead of the proportionate representation scheme now in use, the former method of straight majority vote be reverted to. The proposal to establish a house of laymen, after the English precedent, was declared to be impracticable, but the advocates of the idea were advised to form an association of lay-workers, such as is proving so successful in Bishop Baldwin's Diocese of Huron. In conclusion the committe urged that a special effort be made this year to build up the capital of the Episcopal Endowment Fund, from which the Bishop's stipend is paid, to $50,000, and recommended that a special committee be appointed for that purpose. The sum of $13,500 is needed to make up the amount.

The proposal to appoint a committee to raise the Episcopal Endowment Fund to $50,000 was approved and the report as a whole adopted, with the exception of the standing committees recommended by the Executive, which were laid over until the report of the court on contested seats were received.

OTHER REPORTS PRESENTED.

The report of the Clergy Commutation Trust Fund Committee was next presented by Mr. A. H. Campbell. It stated that three vacancies had occurred in the list of beneficiaries through death, and that two new names had been added. The receipts for the year had been $19,798.88, including a balance from last year of $1,518.30, while the disbursements had been $18,179.79, leaving a balance of $1,619.09. The estimated receipts and expenditure for the ensuing year were placed at $18,334.87. There are at present 42 beneficiaries on the fund. The report was adopted.

The See Endowment and Lands Committee's statement showed the receipts for the year to be $1,892 85, which had been paid to the Bishop's stipend account.

Rev. Rural Dean Septimus Jones submitted the report of the Widows' and Orphans' Fund and Theological Students' Fund Committee. The Widows' and Orphans' Fund showed a balance of $1,897.30, as against $1,082.76 last year. Since the date of the last report three beneficiaries had been placed on the fund, and one removed by death. All the assessments made upon the parishes had been paid, with the exception of $25, the total charge now being $6,267. The Divinity Students' Fund showed a balance of $123.76, as compared with $309.85 the previous year. The sum disbursed amounted to $715.63. The report was adopted.

GENERAL PURPOSES FUND.

When the Committee of Church Extension and General Purposes of Synod Assessment and Statistics submitted its report, several members of Synod rose to call attention to the way in which the General Purposes Fund had been depleted by various recent grants from its capital account, notably the payment last year of $5,000 to the Niagara Diocese. The Bishop ruled such discussion out of order, inasmuch as the Synod had ordered these payments, and had a perfect right to dispose of the fund as it deemed proper. The report showed that grants of $50 each had been made to the parishes of Apsley, Fairbank, Kinmount, Burleigh, King, Brighton, Esonville and Brooklin; also grants of books to seven Sunday schools. From the the proceeds of the Burnside bequest grants of $50 each had been made to Faraday and Ursa churches in Toronto diocese, and to Huntsville church in Algoma. The Synod expense fund was $239.28 in debt owing to the failure of several parishes to pay their assessments. This report was also accepted.

Canon Cayley presented the report of the Sunday School Book and Tract Committee, which showed a useful and active year's work. After the report had been adopted, the following were appointed representatives from the Synod to the Inter-Diocesan Sunday School Committee of the Provincial Synod: Canon Canon Sweeney, Rev. C. L. Ingles and Mr. G. B. Kirkpatrick.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE

The Business Transacted Tuesday in Picton.

The Epworth League meeting last night was addressed by Revs. Geo. W. McColl, J. J. Rae, and W. E. Dyer. In the arrangements for next year it was decided if possible to hold an open air meeting. That held this year is allowed by all to have been intensely interesting and of great profit.

Rev. R. D. Duke introduced this important resolution:—"That after the minutes of the session are generally adopted they be immediately signed by the President and Secretary, each session's minutes to then become legal documents." This was at once carried.

The Secretary and President and pastors of Trenton, with two members from each of the Quarterly Boards, are a committee to prepare a programme for conference services.

The only evening service to be arranged for was that of the reception of the young men. In this, too, it was recommended that the experience of every young man to be ordained be given. As the six ministers who ask for a superannuated relation were being considered, the most affecting words showed the deep love and esteem the Conference had for these retiring veterans, and their continued love for their brethren.

It seems to be generally understood that the Stationing Committee affirms the principle for this conference of stationing the ministers for the fourth year.

The laymen's convention considered a resolution placed before it expressing disapproval of the invitation system, but it was voted down by a large majority. A committee to revise the constitution of the sustentation fund was appointed.

Rev. Dr. Hare, of Whitby Ladies' College and Rev. Demill, of Deamill College, and of the orphan work in Toronto, addressed the conference.

Rev. E. Roberts was appointed to canvass the conference on behalf of Albert College. The pastor of Belleville First Church will aid him.

It was decided, in order to secure a uniform basis for superannuation fund assessment, that horse keep be entered as $75.

The recommendation of the committee in the case of Mr. Ash, that his name be not published in the printed minutes of this conference, and that he be not permitted to exercise the functions of a minister within the bounds of the Dominion of Canada, was carried. This settles the matter finally, after many hours of deep consideration.

George C. Workman, Ph. D., was left without an appointment, at his own request. A. W. Mallett requested a like condition.

Revs. R. M. Pope and J. S. Clarke were granted a superannuated relation for one year.

Rev M. J. Bates was re-appointed conference evangelist.

The large temperance meeting of last night was addressed by Mr. McDiarmid, of Fenelon Falls, Mr. Outram, of Port Hope, and Rev. Jas. Kines. Conference assembled assembled at 10 p. m., Rev. O. R. Lambly, D. D., in the chair.

Revs. C. W. Watch, J. J. Kines, O. R. Lambly, D. D., and J. N. Young were delegated to attend the Dominion Alliance.

The conference decided to print 25,000 copies of the minutes, and as far as possible distribute them, by sale or otherwise among the members.

A cablegram from Shanghai, relative to the missionaries of the Methodist church in China, was read, saying that they were safe, although all the property had been destroyed. The Doxology arose spontaneously and heartily from the whole congregation.

The Board of Examiners will meet in Belleville next spring.

Among the prominent features of the gathering it was noticed that heart trouble and nervous prostration seriously affected many ministers.

At 1.30 a.m. the conference was adjourned by the benediction from the President.

CHURCH BUSINESS.

The Cause of Sleep During Sermons Explained in a New Way.

I have a scientific explanation of the somnolence which overtakes people in church. I used to think that it was the dullness of the sermon which provoked the sleep of the congregation.

One remembers the actor who gave a private reading of his play to his friends, and when he was done asked their opinion. At last when one began to speak, the playwright interrupted: "You can have no opinion; you were asleep." "Ah," replied the critic, "do you not know that sleep is an opinion?" And sleep is certainly an opinion, and not an especially flattering one.

But it may not mean that the sermon is really dull. I have seen people sleep in church under all circumstances, and in the hearing of the most admirable preachers, preaching the most eloquent sermons. I saw a man sleep when Mr. Spurgeon preached. Mr. Moody has more than once called out to have a window opened to wake a somnolent member of his audience. Canon Knox-Little is accounted a preacher of more than usual earnestness and power, yet I remember once in Worcester seeing a minister, clad in surplice and stole, and seated in the chancel, go straight to sleep while the canon preached, disregarding the eyes of the congregation. And once when Mr. Gore delivered a sermon in that great abbey where he is now canon, people who sat in my neighborhood went to sleep in shoals.

No; my theory is that most times when the congregation sleep during the sermon they are simply hypnotized. For, consider the situation. Most of the conditions which the hypnotist desires are present. There is a dim and subdued light in the room; the atmosphere is somewhat close, the temperature is high; somewhere behind the speaker, in a position which compels the eyes of the congregation, is a jet of gas or a sharp gleam of electricity, into which they look as the sermon proceeds, and the preacher goes on and on, in a gentle and monotonous voice, and down and up like a mother's lullaby; and behold our eyelids are pressed down against our will by soft, invisible fingers, and everything is deliciously vague and far away, and suddenly people stand up with an awakening sound about us, and the preacher is pronouncing the ascription at the end of his sermon, during whose wise and eloquent paragraphs we have humiliatingly slept. This is hypnotic sleep. And it is the fault, not only of the preacher, but of the whole construction of our ill-ventilated and absurdly lighted churches.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Cure For Dog Mange.

Douglas' Egyptian Liniment is guaranteed to cure any case, regardless of stage of disease.

Dean Stanley's Bad Handwriting.

Dean Stanley's bad handwriting is a matter of common notoriety, and I have often been asked if it was true that the printers refused to set it up. The fact is that when the "copy" for the History of the Jewish Church was sent in, the printers deported that they would have to charge a special rate for composition, as no man could set up such manuscript on the ordinary terms. We, accordingly, had the work copied out by a skillful amanuensis before it was set in type, as this proved to be the least expensive way of meeting the difficulty.

Once he wrote to my father a letter on an important matter, but there were some passages in it which in spite of every effort, proved undecipherable. My father was consequently compelled to underline these sentences and return the letter, with a request that they might be rewritten. In due course the dean replied: "If you cannot read my writing, I am sure I cannot do so, but I think I meant to say" so and so, and the sentence was rewritten in a form scarcely more legible than before.—John Murray, in Good Words.

About Royalties and Others.

Queen Victoria has a magnificent cellar of wine at Windsor Castle.

The Czar of Russia inherits his father's weakness for brass bands.

The Queen of the Belgians is one of the most accomplished performers on the harp in the world.

The Marquis of Queensberry is a man of much generosity, giving away more in proportion to his means than any other man in the British peerage.

Prince Waldemar of Denmark has one distinction which no other member of the Danish Royal House can claim—he has no throne and no prospect of one.

The King of the Belgians makes only one appearance at public worship in the course of the year. This is on the day which commemorates his accession to the throne.

Lord Charles Fitzgerald, a brother of the Duke of Leinster, lives in a small cottage in Simpson street, East Melbourne. He is married to a sister of the actress Miss Athenia Claudius.

For Stout or Slender Ladies.

The P. N. Corset is the delight of slender ladies—supplies deficiencies in form, produces the desired contour, and assists nature in her work of development. Priceless in value to fleshy ladies—reduces the size, supports the bust and corrects the figure. For sale only at Robt. Fair's, Sign Golden Lion.

AGE LIMIT IN FACTORIES REDUCED

British Columbia Has Not Applied for the $750,000 Set Aside for Crofters' Expenses—Turkey's Anfwer Not Considered, and Private Until Discussed.

London, June 12.—In the House of Commons the Trade Committee having the Factory Bill under consideration reported in favor of substituting 14 years for 16 as the age limit for employment in factories, the Liberal and Conservative members of the committee pressing Home Secretary Asquith to consent to the change. Mr. Asquith assented to the proposal and it was carried in committee by a vote of 40 to 14. The Radical members of the committee protested against the change.

Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, said the text of the Porte's reply to the proposal of France, England and Russia regarding reforms in Armenia had been received only within the last few days, and that until the three powers had had time to consider the reply and decide what action should be taken upon it no statement would be made.

In reply to a question by Thomas Gibson Bowles, Tory, regarding the Russo-French financing of the Chinese loan of $16,000,000, Sir Edward said the Government would make no statement in regard to the matter.

Answering a question by William Birkmyre, Liberal, Sir J. T. Hibbard Financial Secretary to the Treasury, said the Government of British Columbia had not asked the Treasury for any part of the $150,000 which he has been authorised to advance to them for the purpose of paying the expenses of the transfer of Crofter families from Scotland to British Columbia.

Mr. Balfour asked if the Government would confirm the reports that they intended to again claim the time of the House, as they had done after the Whitsuntide recess in 1894.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said he would take this opportunity to inform the Opposition that the Government certainly did intend to claim the time of the House, as indicated by the leader of the Conservatives.

T. G. Bowles: "Does the Government propose at this session to submit to the House a resolution relative to the status of the House of Lords?"

Sir William Harcourt: "Yes, sir." (Liberal and Radical cheers.)

New Irish Assistant Secretary.

London, June 12.—Prof. Dougherty of Magee College, Belfast, has been appointed assistant Under Secretary for Ireland, vice Sir William S. B. Kaye, resigned.

British Cabinet Council.

London, June 12.—The entire Cabinet was present at the Council at 11 o'clock to-day.

Lord Rosebery presided. Home Secretary Asquith left the Council at noon, but the other members continued in session.

Canon Nicoll paid a visit to Lord Rosebery to interview the Premier in regard to the situation in Armenia. The Canon is an ardent advocate of British intervention in behalf of Armenia.

Toronto Markets

Toronto, June 12.—Flour quiet, demand restricted. Straight rollers quoted at $4.60 to $4.70. Toronto freights.

Bran—Business in bran quiet and prices $12.50. Toronto freights. Shorts unchanged at $16.50.

Wheat—The market remains very quiet with offerings limited. White and red are quoted west and north at $1 to $1.02. Manitoba wheat is dull and nominal at $1.05. Toronto freights.

Peas—There is a moderate demand, with sales on C.P.R. at 63c.

Barley—Trade dull and prices steady. Feed quoted at 52c to 53c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices about steady. Car lots sold at 38 1-2c high. freights.

Rye—Business quiet, with prices nominal at 62c to 63c, outside.

Buckwheat—There is nothing doing and prices are purely nominal.

Shoeman Suicides by Shooting

MINING HORROR IN GERMANY.

Twenty-Six Bodies Recovered—Fifty Rescued Unconscious—Many Missing.

Berlin, June 12.—The fire in the mining pit near Antionettehut is still raging, but its extension to other parts of the mine has been prevented. Fifty of the entombed miners were taken out unconscious during the night, but all of them were resuscitated.

Up to noon 26 bodies had been recovered. Nobody appears to know, even approximately, how many men there were in the mines at the time of the disaster, but it is believed that many bodies, dead or alive, remain below. Count Hentel, the owner of the mine, is personally directing the rescuing parties.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it from falling out. Mrs. E. [illegible] Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. Fenwick, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. Weber, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

A WICKLESS OIL LAMP

A NEW METHOD OF ILLUMINATION BY THE USE OF PETROLEUM.

Nor Is Any Chimney Required—A Superior Light Is Obtained From the Oil, Which Is Consumed in the Shape of Gas.

Note was made of the wickless oil lamp in "The Record" some time ago, and to-day a picture of the lamp is shown. It is from London Invention. This lamp was devised by Dr. Schuelke, the eminent German scientists and mechanician, and its characteristic features seems to be the removal of all necessity for using wick or chimney, and that the oil is burnt not as oil but as gas.

The sizes of lamps at present being manufactured are said to be of 80 and 140-candle power, and their reservoir will contain sufficient oil to last for 24 hours continuous burning, the cost of the light being, it is estimated, about one-eighth to one-fourth of a penny per hour for the full power named.

The oil reservoir is at thetop of the lamp, and there is connected to it a stout brass tube which runs downward and is provided at its lower end with a filtering wad of cotton wool to arrest any impurities the oil may contain. When it has passed this medium the oil flows along a small-bore brass tube which coils spirally around the main casing of the lamp and from the upper end of this tube the oil falls, drop by drop, down a slanting iron tube into the "gas chamber," where it becomes vaporised, the gas generated escaping down through tubes to the burner.

The gas jets from these tubes, which are very close together, unite when ignited in one large round flame of intense light and beautiful whiteness, the light being absolutely steady and having no ill effect upon colors, even of the most delicate tints.

The size of the flame is ingeniously regulated by means of the spiral tube, which is wound upwards round the lamp casing, upon which it is caused to slide by means of a screw lift. When the upper end of the spiral tube is raised so as to be above the level of the oil in the reservoir, the supply of oil to the gas chamber is at once cut off, and the light is extinguished. On again depressing the spiral tube, however, until its top end is below the reservoir, the oil at once begins to flow, drop by drop, to the gas chamber, and as the tube is further depressed, so the pressure of the oil supply increases until the maximum light is obtained.

A certain amount of heat is needed, of course, to vaporize the oil in the gas chamber, but when the light has once been started, this is easily performed by the heat of its own flame, the initial heat to start the lamp being obtained through burning methylated spirit or petroleum for the outdoor lamp in the cup below the burners.

AN IMPROVED WATER-MOTER.

For Conveniently Utilizing the Current-Force of Any Stream.

This useful device consists of a number of wheels fixed upon a common shaft, the width of the stream determining how many wheels may be used. On the sides of the wheels are gates that swing outwardly to increase the resistance of the wheel, and consequently its power. When the wheel is not in gear the gates close into recesses provided for them. The gates on one side of a wheel are connected with each other by chains, so that when one swings open it pulls the next one open.

Opposite to the gates are holes that prevent excessive suction and permit the current to enter and assist in turning the wheel, but the holes on the end wheels have their outer sides partially covered by deflectors.

The motor is well adapted to being placed in a stream where the force of the current is the only power. It is illustrated and described in the Scientific American.

Silage and Green Crops.

One thing about silage and green crops is that pasturage is rendered less necessary. Every acre of ground reclaimed from the pasture and made to yield a crop reduces the cost of keeping the cows and consequently augments the profits. This is the season of the year when the growing of corn for ensilage should be considered. Feeding the cows a portion of the time green food at the barn will also save the pasture grass and give it an opportunity to grow.

LATEST SLEEVE AND BONNET.

A Puffed Bag Now Hangs Below the Elbow, Giving a Mantle Effect.

In sleeves the latest caprice is a bag at the elbow, which imparts an effect that justifies their name—mantle sleeves. The wearer of the mantle sleeve has quite the appearance of having a short wrap about her, the pointed bag which hangs below the elbow as shown in the illustration being responsible. These new sleeves are not so aggressive at the shoulder as have been transferred to the lower joint of the their predecessors, their volume being arm. Whether they are pretty or not, individual opinion must decide. They are at least very new and very modish.

The design of the "new bonnet," which is a late Parisian novelty, is significant, recalling those worn 25 years ago. As nothing so repeats itself as fashion in wearing apparel, says the New York Times, it is possible that this headgear is the forerunner of other quarter-of-a-century old styles. It is trimmed with quills, wired pleatings of lace, gauze-like feathers and many bows.

Health and Looks.

Canadian women are too porne to stay indoors, and the more they stay in the more they don't want to go out. Too many naturally domestic women make the great mistake of devoting all their time and strength to their household and feel a sense of guilty neglect if they deliberately run away for an outing. Such a woman is wearing her nervous force threadbare, and, by allowing herself to become tired, she becomes fretful and impatient; she is thus wronging herself, her children and everybody in any sense dependent upon her.

Outdoor exercise is a great remedy for women's health, nerves, tempers and looks. Do not say, "Such and such thing must be done, and then, if there is time, I will go out for a walk." Say, rather, "I must get all I can done by such an hour for then I must start punctually for my daily walk." It need not be exactly at the same hour every day. One day it may be to go to meet the children from school, or to go in time to sit an hour before school is over. Again, it might only be a stroll to meet one's husband at night; or a visit to a sick neighbor, or to an elderly one. During the summer holidays, take the children with you sometimes; try to all have an outing once a week to the woods, or elsewhere. Hunt up all the pretty spots and pretty roads within walking and driving distance of your home. If nothing else, it will give you leisure and opportunities of studying your children's characters. They will rejoice in having so good a comrade in their mother. Dress nicely, to please them.

Start a fernery or a rockery at home, and then there will be an object in gathering and fetching home ferns, moss and odd-shaped stones that you find. Trailing vines and roots of wildflowers will often fill your basket. Children are true lovers of nature, and you can all learn much from bird and leaf and tree. You will grow younger in spirit and more youthful in face and grace of movement, more happy and helpful and hopeful.

Try this for a year and see if it does not "pay," not only for yourself, but your family.—Household Companion.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

Gentlemen,—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it suceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

CUBAN LIBERTY WILL TRIUMPH.

Leader Gomez Vows Vengeance on Spain for Marti's Death

New York, June 12.—A special from Nassau, N.P., says: Advices received here from Cuba, yesterday, dated Las Tunas, May 29, say that a sudden increase in the strength of the rebel movement was apparent in Holguin, Puerto Principe and Santa Clara, at Gomez's approach, and was accompanied by great alarm among the Spanish. Gomez was encamped in the Almique Mountains, near San Andres, four days ago, having quite recovered from his wounds received in his last charge at Dos Rios.

The correspondent found Gomez surrounded by his staff and 1500 to 2000 men. He appeared sad and careworn. Tears stood in his eyes when Marti was mentioned. He said: "If Marti had remained with me, he might be alive today, but the interests of the revolution demanded his presence abroad. He had hardly commenced his journey towards the coast to embark for Jamaica when he fell into an ambuscade and was treacherously killed, virtually massacred, with almost his entire staff, by Col. Sandival's troops, which were six to one. He was a martyr like Crombet to the cause, but they were brave boys, noble heroes, and if I live I shall avenge them both when we triumph. Neither of them died in vain, and though myself, Maceo Masso, Guerra and others equally brave, may fall, the cause of liberty will not lack its Bolivar, its Washington, its San Martin. The outlook is too bright for that. Already the provinces of Puerto, Santa Spiritus and Santa Clara are responding nobly. Before two years we will enter Havana in triumph, the republic will be an accomplished fact and the people of Cuba, grateful to Marti for giving his life and labor to the cause of liberty, will erect a monument to his memory.

"The report that Hayti was assisting us is also untrue. I declined President Hippolyte's indirect, but courteous, overtures. The report that the Standard Oil Company is assisting us is a canard. Campos' attempt to prevent the uprising in Camaguey failed. Even Marcos Garcia is about to repudiate his neutrality, owing to Campos' slowness in giving the promised reforms. Campos must soon acknowledge his failure and return to Spain shorn of his former prestige. He attempted too much."

Insurgents Defeated.

Havana, June 12.—Two insurgent bands, numbering 50 men, under the command of Campanoni and Agramont, entered the town of Moron, Province of Puerto rPinsipe, on Monday night. They fired two volleys, but were driven off by Spanish troops.

Still Calling for More Troops

Santiago de Cuba, June 13.—Gen. Campos has asked for additional troops to suppress this new uprising in Puerto Principe.

Neutrality Must Be Maintained.

Washington, June 13.—The Secretary of State has sent formal communications to the Attorney-General and Secretaries of the Treasury and the Navy, directing them to take all necessary steps to enforce the neutrality laws in view of the increased activity of the insurrectionists in Cuba and their sympathisers in this country.

Spain Determined to Crush Cuba.

Madrid, June 12.—Preparation are under way to have 40,000 troops ready to sail for Cuba in August, besides the 10,000 men who will start for the Island next month.

The Senate has passed a bill authorising the Government to raise 600,000,000 pesetas, should that amount be necessary to put down the insurrection. An official despatch from Havana states that insurgents have appeared in the Camagney district of the Central provinces. This is regarded as important.

CANADIAN-BRITISH TRADE.

Our Exports of Butter and Cheese Doubled This Year.

London, June 13.—The Government of Victoria, Australia, has directed its representatives in London to support the proposal to form a joint commission on a Pacific cable. An Intercolonial exhibition is projected for this year. Displays will be made of the products of all the large colonies. The colonial agents-general in London favor the scheme.

The Canadian Gazette is authorised to deny the story that General Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, would send 10,000 emigrants to Canada in the autumn. An official of the Army will go to Canada to look for a location for an Army colony and to negotiate with the Government for procuring the land, but the further plans are as yet incomplete.

The British exports to Canada increased 4 per cent. in May and decreased 7 per cent. for the five months. The imports from Canada increased 7 and 8 per cent. in the same periods. The chief increases were oxen and sheep. Both cheese and butter also have nearly doubled this year.

FOUR STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

It Fused Miss Collins' Hairpins and Corset-Stays

Kiowa, I.T., June 13.—The residence of Henry Thompson was struck by lightning last night, and J. B. Jones, Mrs. Henry Thompson, Miss Lelia Collins and Miss Ella Ward, who were practising church music, were knocked senseless.

One end of the building was torn out and the clothing of all the persons in the room, together with the furniture, caught fire, and but for the entrance of neighbors all would have been cremated.

Mr. Jones and Mrs. Thompson were playing on a violin and a guitar, respectively, and the fingers which touched the strings were burned to the bone. Miss Collins' hairpins and corset stays were fused, and her head, face and body were terribly burned, the current passing down the left side, tearing her shoe to shreds and paralysing her left leg. Of Mrs. Thompson's shoes was torn from her foot, and she is paralysed. Miss Ward escaped with slight bruises.

Toronto Markets.

Flour—Business quiet, with demand restricted. Straight rollers quoted at $4.60 to $4.70. Toronto freights.

Bran—Bran quiet and prices $12.50, Toronto freights. Shorts unchanged at $16.50.

Wheat—The market remains very quiet and the feeling unsettled. Carlots of white and red sold outside at $1. Manitoba No. 1 hard is unchanged at $1.05, Toronto freights.

Peas—There is a moderate demand, with sales on C.P.R. at 62c.

Barley—Trade dull and prices steady. Feed quoted at 52c to 58c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices about steady. Car lots sold at 38 1-2c west, and on track here the quotation is 42c.

Rye—Business quiet, with prices nominal at 62c to 63c, outside.

Buckwheat—There is nothing doing and prices are purely nominal.

No More Boxing at Coney Island.

New York, June 12.—Mayor Schierren of Brooklyn did not come to a decision to-day relative to the Seaside Athletic Club's application for a renewal of its license for boxing exhibitions at Coney Island, but he is almost certain to do so to-morrow. He is not at all disposed to renew the license, and he is supported in his opposition to the club by the opinion of Corporation Counsel McDonald. Police Commissioner Wells says that the bouts advertised for Friday night would not be permitted by the police unless the license was renewed before then.

The Ginita Probably Lost.

Syracuse, June 12.—A Cape Vincent despatch to The Standard says that a small yacht answering the description of George B. Sloan's Ginita was seen last Thursday off O'Neil's Point, on a shoal, heading into the heavy sea. She finally disappeared. A skiff, life preserver and two oil cans have just washed ashore at Fuller's Bay. Parties are searching the shores for the bodies of the crew, and wreckers have been despatched to the scene.

$2000 Loss at Guelph.

Guelph, June 12.—The residence and stables of Thomas Simpson, drover, were totally destroyed by fire early this morning. The stock were in the fields and escaped. Loss about $2000; partly insured.

Oil Works in Buffalo Burned.

Buffalo, June 13.—The Atlas Oil Works the junction of Elk and Babcock-streets, the paint shop and eight freight cars were destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss heavy, but cannot be stated at this writing.

Another Pool Jumper.

New York, June 12.—David Cohen, aged 22, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge and was picked up by the crew of a ferry boat. Cohen suffered no injury beyond severe shock and a wrench of the arm. He was arrested.

Don't Wait For the Sick Room.

The experience of physicians and the public proves that taking Scott's Emulsion produces an immediate increase in flesh; it is therefore of the highest value in Wasting Diseases and Consumption.

SOME OLD TRADE TRICKS.

How They Were Punished in London Five Hundred Years Ago.

Cheating in trade is no new thing. It was practiced in the fourteenth century as well as in the nineteenth.

I cull a few from the archives of the city of London. In 1348 proceedings were taken against a butcher for selling putrid meat. Three reasons were alleged against this conduct at his trial before the Mayor and Aldermen. It was deceitful and dishonest; dangerous to the public health; it brought scandal and disgrace upon the Mayor, corporation, and all the inhabitants of the city that a Londoner should behave so. After investigation he was found guilty and condemned to be taken with his bad meat carried in front of him, to the pillord in Cornhill, and while he stood therein the carrion he had tried to sell was burned under his nose.

It is well know that the pillory was an instrument in which the culprit was fixed, incapable of movement, exposed to the contempt of the people. The offence of the culprit was always publicly proclaimed, and according to the views of the spectators the punishment might be severe or otherwise. if they disliked the offence or the offender their contempt would take the proverbial and forcible form of rotten eggs and dead cats, and the trader would make a closer acquaintance with his own wares, both raw and cooked, than he might find pleasant.

A publican, convicted of selling unsound and unwholesome red wine, was sentenced to drink a draught of the same stuff which he sold to the common people, the remainder being poured on his head, and compelled to forswear the calling of a vintner in the city of London forever, unless he could obtain the favor of the King. A note on the record states that he was readmitted five years later.

About the same time we find a woman charged with selling ale in a short-measure quart pot, the bottom of which she had thickened with pitch and covered with rosemary, to look like bush in the sight of her customers. It was a common practice to put some sort of evergreen leaves in the bottom of tankards—hence the proverb, "Good wine needs no bush." Her sentence was to stand in the "thew," or female pillory with half of the pot attached to it. As far as possible, the cause of the offense was always exhibited along with the person punished.

Severe punishment was meted out for endeavoring to raise the standard market price for corn and other articles. In 1347 a merchant was imprisoned for forty days for enhancing the price of his own property. He secretly employed a man to bring certain of his own (the merchant's) wheat to the market, whereupon he bought his own at 2d more per bushel than the market price, taking good care to make the same well known, forgetting, however, to state what he knew about the seller. —English Magazine.

GLITTERING GEMS.

The emerald is now one of the rarest of precious stones.

The black diamond is so hard that it cannot be polished.

An uncut diamond looks very much like a bit of the best gum arabic.

The diamond, in a sufficient heat will burn like a piece of charcoal.

The Island of Ceylon is the most remarkable gem deposit in the world.

Every gem known to the lapidary has been found in the United States.

The carat, used in estimating the weight of gems, is a grain of Indian wheat.

The Orloff diamond is believed to have been responsible for 67 murders.

The diamond, if laid in the sun and then carried into a dark room, shows distinct phosphorence.

When a fine ruby is found in Burmah a procession of elephants, grandees and soldiers escort it to the king's palace.

The sapphire which adorns the summit of the English crown is the same that Edward the Confessor wore in his ring.

When Pizarro sacked Peru many gems were obtained, but a monstrous emerald, as large as an ostrich egg, called the "Great Mother," was hidden by the natives and has never been found.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

ECONOMY IN LIGHTING!

Electric Lighting in residences is becoming more popular every week, as it should be when the cost is compared with either gas or oil, being 50 per cent. cheaper than the former and equally as cheap as the latter, to say nothing of the cleanliness safety or convenience. The best recommendation is obtained from those who are using it. The following are some of the residences fitted up during the last two months: Mr. A. L. Davis, Mr. T. G. Haslett, Miss Dickson, Mr. John Crane, Mr. W. E. Conway, Mr. F. J. Jameson.

House wiring can be fitted up complete from $2.00 a lamp up.

GOUGH BROS

The Wonderful Cheap Men,

375 and 377 George Street.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13th.

The Month Of Roses!

JUNE, the month of Roses, inaugurates the season for light-weight Clothing, at Reduced prices for Men, Youths and Boys. Before the June roses are all gone we expect that most of our present stock of Summer Clothing will have gone also, if sales keep on as they are doing the past two weeks. As the mercury in the thermometer ascends, the sales of our Cool Clothing ascends correspondingly, and unless you prepare for summer heat now, half your time will be spent in trying to keep cool. Every corner of our two big stores has a summer-like, hot-weather appearance. But, figuratively speaking, Gough Bros. is the coolest Clothing House in Canada during the hot days of June—because Gough Bros. prices are always below zero.

Perhaps We're Wrong.

We're sometimes blamed for selling things too cheap—but just now we're not making any apologies. We're working for "the greatest good to the greatest number"—and the way customers crowd the store every day shows that the public is abundantly satisfied with good things being cheap and cheap things being good.

What Counts.

What counts in purchasing is the comfort of knowing you made a good bargain. Look back a few years ago and compare the store of to-day with the business as you knew it then. Study the trend of values during the same period. Prices have been gradually reduced in proportion as facilities were enlarged.

Every now and then we are accused of underselling, when we merely do our duty—by you, and sell as low as we can. Dollars and cents—cents and dollars—with a leaning towards the store that gives the best values, and a disposition to trade where prices are lowest—that's the yard stick to measure by.

Summer Suits.

Men are apt to feel the summer heat more now than later on in the season. They need thin, comfortable Clothing now, and nobody wants to pay more than is necessary. Don't put off coming until late in the day if you can help it. Saturdays are our crowd days, when everybody's in a hurry. Better come now.

When the mercury is simmering, remember that we have the comfort you need. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means, and values are generally good all along the line.

—American Iceberg Coats, at 75c and $1.25.
—Lustre Coats and Vests, at $2.00.
—Lightweight Serge Suits, $2.95, $3.50, $10.00.
—Lightweight Tweed Suits, $3.90, $5.00, $7.50.
—Lightweight Skeleton Coats, 50c, $1.00 to $2.50.
—Blazer Coats, all colours, $2.00.
—White and Coloured Vests, from 69c to $2.00.
—Silk Coats and Vests, plain and striped, $2.00, $3.00, $5.00.
—Sporting Trousers, $2.00 to $4.00.

We sell about everything that men and boys wear, and many things they buy for personal gratification. In this respect the store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

Gent's Furnishing.

—French Balbriggan Suits $1.50.
—Natural Wool Suits $1.50.
—Outing Shirts 40c.
—Coloured Shirts, fast colours, all sizes 50c.
—Fine Elastic Braces 15c.
—Merino Socks, seamless, double heel and toe, 3 pairs for 50c.
—Silk Knot Ties, 2 for 25c.
—Plain and Coloured Merino 25c each.
—Striped Underwear 15c each.
—Flannelette Shirts 18c, 23c.
—Collars and Cuffs 10c, 15c, 18c a pair.

A great thing for a man who aims to succeed is to look well. Everybody is judged, more or less, by appearance. It doesn't cost much to possess stylish furnishings if you buy at Gough Bros.

Not Much of a Trick.

It's not much of a trick to sell Straw Hats at this season of the year, although some of the regular hat dealers may have to hustle to do it and get their fancy prices. If we had to sell Hats alone, we might have to hustle, too, but we don't have to. It's as easy as looking down a well. The Hat maker usually loads up the regular Hat dealers at good, plump figures, and when he finds he has an immovable load left he calls in the live general retail clothier and bids him take them at his own price—but take them. That's one of the ways we get in our best work. GOUGH BROS. have helped several such hat manufacturers out of a hole, and it accounts for the special price festival we have been holding in Hats the past few weeks. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade; but were the SELLERS and that suits us just as well.

—Gents' Fine Straw Hats 25c, worth 40 cents.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 50c, worth $1.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 75c, worth $1.50.
—Men's Straw Hats in lightweight, wide and narrow rims, 50c to $1.50.
—Boys' Hats, in every style, from 15c to 75c.
—Children's Sailors 10c, 25c.
—Tweed Hats 20c, 25c.
—Men's Tourists, 75c.
—Men's Christy Hats, all sizes 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2 and $3.
—Fedoras, all popular shades, qualities and sizes, for Men and Boys, as low as 70c, as high as $3.

That's enough to prove our interest in your welfare. We have a complete assortment, and prices are low enough to capture your trade.

Tan Shoes.

A discussion is just now bothering some people as to whether or no, Tan Shoes are cooler than black in hot weather. The question is easily answered: Nothing is fashionable long that does not combine comfort with style of late years no two things have added more to a mitigation of hot-weather discomfort than the brown shoe and the outing shirt.

We have tan shoes in all sizes, for men, women and children, and seem to have no difficulty in disposing of all we can get.

There's no jobbers' 25 per cent. on boots in this store—you pay no intermediate profit here. We sell as we buy.

—First quality Canvas Oxfords, kid-faced, white, tans and greys.
—Russian Tan Oxfords, in dark and light colours, hand-turned soles and welts; tan overgaiters to match.
—Nobby street shoe in patent leather vamp, kid quarter, opera and Philadelphia toe.
—Tennis shoes, all sorts and sizes.
—Men's Tan Shoes, kid lined $1.15.
—Misses' Tan Balmorals and Button Boots $1.
—Woman's Tan Balmorals $1 a pair.
—Ladies' hand-made Tan Oxfords $1.25.
—Hand-made Button Boots $2.
—Finest American White Canvas $2, $2.50.
—Oxford, hand-made $1.25, $1.50.
—Finest Russian Leather (city made) Oxford, $2.

Our prices may be ruining the shoe trade—we can't help it. We're sorry to injure the shoe trade, but we must look after your interests and keep you posted in right prices.

MANITOBA'S REPLY.

She Declines to Accede to the Remedial Order.

INQUIRY BY COMMISSION FAVORED

How Politicians at Ottawa View the Answer—French-Canadians Will Press For Remedial Legislation, Ontario M.P.'s For a Commission.

Winnipeg, Man., June 13.—The Manitoba Legislature assembled this afternoon. The first business was the consideration of the Remedial Order of the Dominion Government calling upon Manitoba to restore Separate Schools. The Government submitted a resolution to the House in the form of a memorial to the Governor-General-in-Council. The memorial recites the clauses of the Remedial Order, and sums up their effect on the province, if the pernicious system of Separate Schools, as they existed prior to 1890, was restored, and points out that the present system, or national system, was adopted after a careful examination of the results of the Separate system. The schools were found to be inefficient. The old Separate schools had never been defended on their merits.

"The privileges by said order we are commanded to restore to our Roman Catholic fellow-citizens are substantially the same privileges which they enjoyed previous to the year 1890. Compliance with the terms of the order would restore Catholic Separate schools with no more satisfactory guarantees for their efficiency than existed prior to said date. The educational policy embodied in our present statutes was adopted, or an examination of the results of the policy theretofore followed under which Separate Roman Catholic schools, now sought to be restored, had existed for a period of upwards of 19 years; said schools were found to be inefficient as conducted under the Roman Catholic section of the Board of Education; they did not possess attributes of modern Public Schools. Their conduct, management and regulation were defective. As a result of leaving a large section of the population with no better means of education than was thus supplied, many people grew up in a state of illiteracy. So far as we are aware, there has never been an attempt made to defeat those schools on their merits, and we do not know of any ground upon which the expenditure of public money in their support could be justified.

"We are therefore compelled to respectfully state to Your Excellency-in-Council that we cannot accept the responsibility of carrying into effect the terms of the Remedial Order.

"Objections upon principle may be taken to any modification of our educational statutes which would result in the establishment of one or more sets of Separate schools. Apart, however, from objections upon principle, there are strenuous objections from a practical educational standpoint. Some of these objections may be briefly indicated. We labor under great difficulties in maintaining an efficient system of primary education. School taxes bear heavily upon our people. A large amount of land, which is free from school taxes, and the great extent of country over which our small population is scattered, presents obstacles to efficiency and progress. Reforms effected in 1890 have given a strong impetus to educational work, but difficulties which are inherent in our circumstances have constantly to be met.

"It will be obvious that the establishment of a set of Roman Catholic schools followed by a set of Anglican schools, and possibly Mennonite and Icelandic schools, would so emasculate our present system that any approach to even our present general standard of efficiency would be quite impossible. We contemplate the inauguration of such a state of affairs with very grave apprehension. We have no hesitation in saying that there cannot be suggested any measure, which, to our minds, would more seriously imperil the development of our province.

"We believe that when the Remedial Order was made there was not then available to Your Excellency-in-Council full and accurate information as to the working of our former system of schools. We also believe that there was lacking means of forming a correct judgment as to the effect upon this province of the changes in the direction suggested, and that such lack still exists.

"Being impressed with this view, we respectfully suggest that it is not yet too late to make a full and deliberate investigation of the whole subject. Should such a course be adopted, we shall cheerfully assist in affording the most complete information available. An investigation of such a kind would furnish a substantial basis of fact upon which conclusions could be formed with a reasonable degree of certainty.

"It is urged most strongly that, upon so important a matter, involving as it does the religious feelings and convictions of different classes of people, in Canada, and the educational interests of a province, which is expected to become one of the most important in the Dominion, no hasty action should be taken, but that, on the contrary, the greatest care and deliberation should be exercised, and full and thorough investigation made.

"While we do not think it proper to enter upon a legal argument in this memorial, we deem it our duty to briefly call attention to some legal and constitutional difficulties which surround the case. It is held by some authorities that any action taken by the Parliament of Canada upon the subject will be irrevocable. While this opinion may or may not be held to be sound, it is in our judgment only necessary to point out that there are substantial grounds for entertaining such an opinion, in order to emphasize the necessity for acquiring the most ample knowledge of the facts before any suggestion of Parliamentary action is made.

"It will be admitted that two essentials of any effective and substantial restoration of Roman Catholic privileges are:

"1. The right to levy school taxes.

"2. The right to participate in legislative school grants.

"Without these privileges Separate Schools cannot be properly carried on, and without them, therefore, any professed restoration of privileges would be illusionary. It may be held that the power to collect taxes for school purposes, conferred upon school boards by our former educational statutes, were conferred by virtue of the provisions of sub-section 2, of section 92, of the British North America Act, and not by virtue of the provisions of section 22, Manitoba Act. If this view be well founded, then that portion of the Act of 1890 which abolishes the said right to collect taxes is not subject to appeal to Your Excellency-in-Council, and the Remedial Order and any subsequent Act of Parliament of Canada (so far as they may purport to restore the said right) will be ultra vires. As to the legislative grant, we hold that it is certainly within the control of the Legislature of the province, and that no part of the public funds of the province could be made available for the support of Separate Schools without the voluntary action of the Legislature.

"It would appear, therefore, that any action of the Parliament of Canada looking to the restoration of Roman Catholics' privileges must, to be of real and substantial benefit, be supplemented by the voluntary action of the Provincial Legislature.

"If this be the case, nothing could be more unfortunate, from the standpoint of the Roman Catholic people themselves, than any hasty or pefemptory action on the part of the Parliament of Canada, because such action would probably produce strained relations, and tend to prevent a possibility of restoring harmony.

"We respectfully address to Your Excellency-in-Council that all of the above considerations call most strongly for deliberate and careful investigation, and for such a course of action as will avoid irritating complications.

"We deem it proper, also, to call attention to the fact that it is only a few months since the latest decision upon the subject was given by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Previous to that time a majority of members of the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba had either expressly or impliedly given pledges to their constituents which they feel in honor bound to fulfil. We understand that it has been lately suggested that private funds of the Roman Catholic Church and people had been invested in school buildings and land that are now appropriated for Public School purposes. No evidence of such fact has ever been laid before us so far as we can ascertain, but we profess ourselves willing, if any such injustice can be established, to make full and fair compensation therefor."

THE PEERLING IN OTTAWA.

French Members Want Remedial Legislation—Ontario M P's Favor a Commission.

Ottawa, June 14.—Once more the Manitoba school question is in the very forefront of Dominion politics. The decision of the Manitoba Government was wired to Ottawa in the afternoon and is being eagerly canvassed in Parliamentary circles. I have talked with more than a score of members of the House, endeavoring to elliott their views upon the situation. Singular to say, stalwart Orangemen and ultra-Catholics profess to be satisfied with Mr. Greenway's answer. But the undercurrent of feeling, so far as the Ontario members are concerned, whether they be Liberals or Conservatives, is one of professed disappointment that this troublesome question is again within the arena of Federal politics.

What the Ontario members undoubtedly wanted was the appointment of a commission for the purpose of investigating the condition of the Catholic schools of Manitoba and of staving off legislative action. Possibly it is not too late to appoint a commission, although it is felt that it would have come with better grace from Mr. Greenway.

The French-Canadian members from Quebec, on the other hand, are sincerely glad that things have taken the shape which Mr. Greenway has given to them. What they want, and what they will press for, is the introduction this session of a bill granting Remedial legislation, which they claim is the only legitimate outcome of the Remedial Order.

Mr. Greenway's offer of assistance to investigate the condition of the schools will, it is thought, furnish the text from which the Ontario members will preach to the Government. They will ask the Government to appoint a strong commission, consisting of say five of the best judges in the land, three Protestants and two Catholics, to go to Manitoba and thoroughly examine into the position of affairs.

The fact cannot be disguised, that even those who are willing to concede that Catholic rights have been encroached upon, are diffident about invoking the power which the Dominion Parliament seems undoubtedly to possess, to interfere with the educational system of the Province of Manitoba in such a case as the present.

It is conceded now that the session may be lengthened a month or two longer than would otherwise have been the case had Mr. Greenway's decision been different to what it is.

J. S. Ewart, Q.C., was asked and gave views on the situation. "I think," he replied, "that Mr. Greenway's answer is most ill-advised and calculated to raise a very difficult and troublesome question for both parties in Dominion politics. Mr. Greenway would have taken a wiser course if he had followed some of the suggestions that no doubt have been made to him, not only by His Excellency, but, as I understand, by his own political friends, and have granted to the Roman Catholics the rights which have been declared to be theirs by the Imperial Privy Council.

"What about the future?" I asked.

"There can be no doubt that the matter will come before Parliament almost immediately, but of course no decisive step will be taken until the proceedings in the Manitoba Legislature have been officially communicated to Ottawa. As soon as that has taken place I have no doubt the Government will follow up its Remedial Order by introducing the legislation which is necessary to give it effect."

"Then you expect remedial legislation this session?"

"Undoubtedly. I cannot see any reason why it should be delayed. The Roman Catholic minority of Manitoba have been kept out of their rights for five years. They have gone through all these courts for the purpose of establishing their rights and making clear the method of having them established. There can now be no reason for delay on the part of the Dominion Parliament in carrying out the Remedial Order.

Whiteway's Loan Bill.

St. John's, Nfld., June 13.—The Whiteway Government introduced a loan bill in the Legislature to-day. It empowers the Receiver-General to raaise by a loan upon the credit of the colony $2,676,000 at 4 per cent. per annum, to run 40 years. The bonds are being floated by a London syndicate at 94 cents on the dollar.

Met Death While Bathing.

St. Catharines, June 13.—A lad named Harvey Burtch, aged 12 years, while bathing at the Fifteen Mile Creek last evening, got beyond his depth and was drowned.

Inflammatory Swedish Socialist Jailed.

Stockholm, June 13.—Hjalmar Branting, leader of the Swedish Socialists, was condemned in court this morning to three months' imprisonment for lese majeste. Branting's offence was committed on Mayday, when in the course of a speech he referred to the fact that the Conservative press was urging the King to send troops to Norway. In his denunciation of such a course, he asked: "Who will guarantee that nobody will rise and with one bullet prevent one man from ordering thousands of bullets fired at our brethren?"

Cleveland Didn't Fish Sunday.

Wilmington, Del., June 14.—Tuesday night, in a lecture at Dover, Rev. Dr. Merritt Hulburd of this city having referred to the statement in a Washington despatch that President Cleveland spent last Sunday fishing, the editor of The Dover Index telegraphed Secretary Thurber, who replied: "In answer to your telegram, I beg to state that if Rev. Dr. Hulburd said that the President was fishing on Sunday he told an absolute falsehood."

Gold Movements in England.

London, June 13.—The large increase in the Bank of England coin and bullion this week reflects the return of cash from the country after Whitsuntide, the imports of gold being only £30,000 net. The details are: £162,000 imported from Australia, £33,000 from Egypt, £35,000 in bars bought and £208,000 exported to the Cape.

Toronto Markets

Toronto, June 16.—Flour — Demand rather slack. Straight rollers quoted at $4.60 to $4.70, Toronto freights.

Bran—Bran quiet at $12.50, Toronto freights. Shorts unchanged at $16.50.

Wheat—The market remains very quiet and the feeling unsettled. Car lots of white and red sold outside at $1. Manitoba No. 1 hard is unchanged at $1.05, Toronto freights.

Peas—There is a moderate demand, with holders asking 63c, west, and buyers at 62c.

Barley—Trade dull and prices steady. Feed quoted at 52c to 53c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices about steady. Car lots sold at 38c to 38 1-2c, west, and on track here the quotations are 41c to 42c.

Rye—Business quiet, with prices nominal at 53c to 55c, outside.

Buckwheat—There is nothing doing and prices are purely nominal.

Held in high esteem—Grafton & Co's Men's Summer Coats and Vests and high weight clothing—best value in Canada. At Grafton & Co's.

FRIDAY, JUNE 14, 1895.

THE AUDITOR-GENERAL.

The Government is inclined to abolish the office of Auditor-General, and from the Government's point of view, with reason The present Auditor-General is a decided thorn in the side of the Government. He s too honest to suit their purpose. He insists too rigidly upon honest vouchers for public expenditure, and this is what constitutes him a nuisance. The Government is trying to starve him out. The Government has starved his office until the average salary in it is $1,050, as against $1,570 in the departments, some of which are charged with fewer and simpler duties and have larger staffs than the audit office. The Government does not deny that the office is overworked, does not deny that it is underpaid and undermanned, but declares that the audit office seems to work against the Government and for the Opposition, that it demands too much in detail of the expenditure, and that instead of strengthening the audit office in any way the Government is rather inclined to abolish it altogether. The fact is that Mr. Macdougall is a man peculiarly adapted to is position, possessing, as he does, a phenomenal head for figures, and exacting love of righteouness in detail, and a bull dog tenacity of purpose in the presence of any odds, and that the audit office has done its work only too well, and an extravagant and corrupt government is anxious to rid itself of its supervision. The Government was afraid of what an inquiry into the treatment of the audit office would reveal to the public, and it has refused the petition presented by the Auditor-General for a committee to inquire into the niggardly policy pursued towards the most important department in the public service. In every department of financial activity the proper and capable auditing of accounts is considered of vital importance. In railways, loan companies, municipal corporations, the work of the auditor is considered indispensable, and the very suggestion of the Government's desire for the abolition of the office of auditor-general is a confession of guilt—that the transactions of the Government will not bear the light of investigation. Mr. Macdougall deserves well of the country; his watchfulness has saved millions that would have been otherwise squandered or unaccounted for, although at times his decisions have been overriden and payment ordered of questionable accounts in cases where the Government thought it safe to brave public opinion for the purpose of carrying out their policy of "making themselves solid" with some contractor who might be regarded as good for a good round recoup in the form of contributions to the Government's electoral corruption fund.

By a vote of an even 100 to 40 the House rejected Mr. Mulock's anti-free pass bill. The Government voted solidly in opposition to the measure, though a few of its supporters stood up for it. It was in no sense of the word a party affair, every member being at liberty to treat the bill as to him appeared fit, but it received the largest share of support from the Opposition side of the House.

"Sir Hibbert Tupper's protest," says the Globe, "against the voluminousness of the Auditor-General's report is amusing, coming from a Government that has printed 10,000 pages of the report of the labour commission, which wilderness of printing has not resulted in a solitary scrap of legislation in the interest of the working classes; from a Government which has, up to date, printed 8,000 pages of the report of the liquor commission, a still more useless expenditure of printer's ink and printer's time. It will be difficult to convince the public that it is the cost of printing the Auditor-General's report that meets with Sir Hibbert's disapproval.

Powerful saline and other drastic purgatives should be strictly avoided, except in extreme cases. When an aperient is called for, take Ayer's Pills. They restore natural action by imparting strength and tone to the bowels, and their use is always attended with good results.

CHEESE TRADE DISTURBED.

Kingston Whig.

The cheese market is very dull and it will probably become duller as there is a manifest over-production which has not been taken into account. Ontario and Quebec are not only dairy centres, from which are exported large quantities of cheese, but the people of the North-West Territories and Prince Edward Island have gone into the business and with a vim and energy which are quite commendable. But history is repeating itself.

The fact having been discovered that Canada was making a superior article of cheese, that this article had made a reputation for itself in the foreign markets, that the trade was booming and that in cheese-making there was more money to be made than in anything else to which the farmer could devote his time and means, the tendency is to over-do the thing and make the enterprise unprofitable by excessive competition.

Moreover, the Territories and Prince Edward Island are reaping advantages which are not theirs upon their merits. The government instructor, J. A. Ruddick, speaking in Winnipeg, admitted that the excellent reputation which Canadian makers have earned for their goods, adds a monetary value to the product of the western dairies which would be wholly lacking if a start was made on an entirely different basis. But he adds significantly, "After all, while it is true that the western cheesemaker has a big advantage in being able to call his goods Canadian, he cannot expect to fully realise upon this advantage unless he brings the quality of his cheese up to the high standard of Canadians in general."

It is asserted that the Ontario cheese makers regard somewhat jealously the paternal care that is being shown to the western cheesemen by the federal government, and comment is made upon the fact that "the resources of the whole country are at their disposal to assist them in making a start, but the dairymen of Ontario had to work out their own salvation," not in fear and trembling, but in a condition of anxiety, a repetition of which cannot be desired.

The one thing about which the Ontario cheesemen have a right to complain is the danger of injury from over-production, induced by a government direction of the business, and damage to the product of Ontario and Quebec by having, as the Woodstock Sentinel-Review puts it, "the reputation of Canadian cheese lowered by the injection into the national aggregate of badly flavoured cheese from new sections," in which there is limited experience and limited facilities for good work.

The federal government has undertaken to disturb and demoralize the trade, by an unnatural and unreasonable interference with it, and the cheesemen will bye and bye be tempted to demand that this government confine itself to the framing of a policy, which will let trade grow according to the demands and requirements of the times.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Rev. Jas. Robertson, D. D., of Winnipeg, Elected Moderator.

London, June 12th.—This evening in St. Andrew's church, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the court of last resort of the followers of the faith of John Knox, held its opening session. It was an opening meeting, but one event of importance occurred, the election of the new Moderator. When it is known that Rev. Jas. Robertson, D. D., of Winnipeg, the Superintendent of Missions for the Northwest and British Columbia, was elected, it will be seen how keen was the interest of the Presbyterian church in forward movement, and in what high honour it holds its pioneers. Last year it was Rev. G. L. McKay, D. D., the great missionary to Formosa, the hero of one of the most romantic mission stories ever known, and the man who has devised and made successful a most remarkable scheme for utilizing the work of the native church in the evangelization of their brethren who was chosen to the proud position of head for the year of the church, and this year the other branch of the forward movement of the church was recognized, and the man whose life is spent in alternately with colossal energy providing the great west with preachers and teachers to prevent it from lapsing from Christianity, and with equal energy traversing older Canada to arouse the interest of Eastern Presbyterians in the fortunes of their fellow members in the west, was elevated to the Moderator's chair. Well might Rev. Dr. McKay choose as the text of his eloquent sermon the words, "Go Forward." The interest of Presbyterianism in its missions has received an emphatic proof, and the men who have to face the actualities of a conflict with new conditions have been accorded a graceful recognition.

Statements that

MOTHERS

Should Consider.

The mortality statistics furnished by health boards of cities and towns in Canada, clearly disclose the fact that, during the hot summer months, the great majority of infants die from cholera infantum, dysentery and diarrhoea.

It is now generally acknowledged that these deadly infantile troubles result from imperfect feeding and poor food. Unhealthy and nauseating forms of food are administered to babes with weak organs of digestion, that would soon sicken the strong stomach of an adult.

The perfect substitute for healthy mother's milk is Lactated Food, and for the excessively hot weather this food is a strength-giver and flesh-builder for every delicate infant. Lactated Food keeps the bowels and organs of digestion in a natural and perfectly healthy condition, and wards off those diseases so much dreaded in summer by all mothers.

Lactated Food is the only infant food that truly "saves babies' lives."

A NEW UPPER LAKE STEAMSHIP SERVICE.

The Canadian Pacific are making a new departure in their Upper Lake Steamship service. Instead of running two boats a week from Owen Sound and Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur as hitherto, they are arranging during the excursion season, commencing 29th June and ending 6th September in addition to the two steamships from Owen Sound on Mondays and Thursdays to run a third steamship, the "Alberta," from Windsor every Saturday, leaving after the arrival of the morning train from Montreal. She will call at Sarnia, thence to Mackinac Island, where a lay over of 5 or 6 hours will be made. From there to Sault Ste. Marie, where a stop over of three or four hours will be made, and then on to Thunder Bay, connecting with the overland express for Winnipeg and the Pacific Coast. Returning, the Alberta will not call at Mackinac, but passengers going via Windsor will have the advantage of returning via Owen Sound, or vice versa.

MR. FOSTER MAKES NO DEFENCE

Money Spent Like Water in Vain Display —$35,000 the Cost of the Funeral— Neat Little Incomes Made By the Prohibition Commissioners.

Ottawa, June 14.—The House devoted the afternoon yesterday to the consideration of Government legislation, and in the evening disposed of the supplementary estimates.

In supply, on an item of $8000 further for the Royal Commission on Prohibition, Mr. Foster gave the sums paid to the different members of the commission: Dr. McLeod received $6000; Sir Joseph Hickman $2100, Mr. Clark $2460, Mr. Gigault $2800, Judge McDonald $3900, the secretary $10,088.

Sir Richard Cartwright thought it strange that one member should be paid so much in excess of the others.

Mr. Foster said he received more by reason of his doing more work.

Sir Richard denounced the expenditure as utterly useless, as did also Mr. Flint, Mr. Davies and others.

A long discussion ensued and Mr. Foster was pressed to state his estimate of $90,000 as the total cost of the commission was correct, in view of Sir John Thompson's statement last session that the cost to date had been $120,000. Mr. Foster did not try to reconcile these two statements.

In the course of the discussion much ridicule was cast on the commission. Sir James Grant excited the laughter of both sides of the House by discussing the matter seriously.

Mr. Foster refused to say whether the evidence was to be be translated into French. Mr. Fraser wondered why not? when the report of the commission was like Castoria—Children cry for it.

There was a good deal of chaffing one member accusing another, that he had not read the five orsix volumes of evidence. The item finally passed.

When the vote of $25,000 for the funeral expenses of the late Sir John Thompson was reached Sir Richard Cartwright said that be very much regretted that he was obliged to criticise the Government for the expenditure of such a large amount of money. He was sorry that the Government had made it necessary for the Opposition to find fault with the expenditure, (for the desire would have been to pass the item without comment. There was expended for the funeral of the late Sir George Cartier $10,000 and for the funeral of the late Sir John Macdonald $6900. There were many items in the account which showed unjustifiable extravagance. He held that the Government had no right to use its position to issue Governor-General's warrants in such a way.

Mr. Foster admitted that the amount was large. He was sure that no one objected to a state funeral to the late Sir John Thompson. From the time that the funeral began in Great Britain until it reached Halifax, it had been nothing but a constant bill of expense. He was not in a position to state what the expense was to the British Government, but he placed it at about $100,000. When the British Government evidenced such a high appreciation of the worth of such a distinguished colonial statesman it was only natural that it should evoke a due response on the part of Canada. Yet while the expense to Great Britain had been enormous he had not heard that a single member of the British Parliament, not even the most advanced Radical, had made any objection. An officer of the Government had been sent to Halifax, with instructions to take charge of the funeral arrangements. The provincial buildings, the church and the city of Halifax had been draped. The undertakers had been given their orders. This had cost a good deal of money. It might be called an extravagance, but it was an extravagance that evinced in some degree the sorrow of the people of Canada. At such a time it was not possible to cut and carve. Another of the larger items of expense was the public ceremony which took place in Ottawa, in the church which Sir John Thompson had attended, and at which the people of Ottawa paid their tribute of respect to the memory of our distinguished fellow-Canadian. Then there was the expense of the official funeral train that went from Ottawa to Halifax. He hoped that the criticism would not be made that the Government had spent money for the sake of political patronage, because such a thought was never present in the minds of the members of the Government.

Mr. Davies said that he did not think there was a friend of Sir John Thompson who would not bitterly regret the disgraceful extravagance that the Government had been guilty of. No person would have condemned such conduct more than the late Premier himself. The fact that the body had been brought to Halifax in a British war vessel under the British flag was no justification for the unseemly extravagance and rioting. He condemned the Government for having taken advantage of the unfortunate circumstance to allow its officers to make a lamentable display of inexpedient and inexcusable extravagance.

Mr. Stairs justified the account upon the ground that the call was so sudden that there was no time to give the careful consideration to the expenditure that was made. There was no desire to incur any expense for the purpose of providing patronage for anyone.

Mr. Fraser said that the very fact that the bills had to be revised, as had been stated by Mr. Foster, was evidence of the extravagance. He had no word of objection to offer to the public funeral, but he did say that the funeral should have been in accordance with the simple tastes of the dead statesman and with the circumstances of the country. Twenty-five thousand dollars was too much to spend on the funeral of any man in any country. He did not object to a proper amount being expended on the funeral, but the expenditure of $25,000 in a democratic country like this, with but 5,000,000 population, was creating a very bad precedent. He believed that a proper appreciation of the dead statesman's work had not been shown in making his funeral a vain and gaudy show.

Dr. Macdonald of Huron mentioned some of the more indefensible charges to show the outrageous extravagance that had been permitted.

Mr. Tarte also condemned the extravagance of the Government.

Mr. Ouimet said that the British Government had spent £50,000 to honor Canada's dead chieftain, and the Government here had felt bound to do its part. He admitted that the Government might have been carried away, but the people of the country would not begrudge the money that was spent, even if it were called extravagance. He was sorry that the circumstance did not allow either him or the employe he had sent to Halifax to control the expenditure.

Mr. McMullen admitted the propriety of paying all due respect to the memory of so great a statesman as Sir John Thompson, but he deplored the extravagance that had characterised the funeral ceremonies. He was sorry that the management of the affair had been entrusted to the Minister of Public Works.

Mr. Ouimet said that none of the accounts had been paid yet. They would be adjusted by the Auditor-General, the Deputy Minister of Public Works and the Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals. He hoped that $23000 would cover the amount required. The item of $25,000 was passed.

Then came the proposed vote of $25,000 as the country's contribution to the Lady Thompson fund, a strong opposition to which was developed. The item was passed, however, by a vote of 93 to 43.

THE COLONIES BRITAIN'S ALLIES.

Lord Lorne Says the Colonies are as Independent as Many Foreign Powers.

London, June 13.—The Marquis of Lorne spoke at Cambridge University to-day at a meeting called to establish a memorial to the late John Robert Seeley, who was regius professor of modern history at Cambridge University. The Marquis said that Prof. Seeley's views on the expansion of Great Britain were now generally accepted, and the British colonies must be looked upon as allies. These colonies were as independent as many foreign powers. The idea of alliance must be inculcated, not the idea that the colonies belonged to Great Britain. Nevertheless Great Britain must oppose any policy that would let the colonies go to pieces.

Mr. Gladstone, Prime Minister Rosebery, Mr. Balfour, the Earl of Derby and the Marquis of Lansdowne sent letters expressing sympathy with the object of the meeting.

OPENING OF THE SOO CANAL.

The Proceedings Purely of Formal Character.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 13.—It was expected that a larrge delegation of ministers and members of Parliament would be here to-day to join in celebrating the opening of the new Canadian Canal, but as members on both sides of the House were opposed to breaking in on the time of Parliament when so many were anxious to get home, the idea was abandoned, and the proceedings to-day were of mere formal character.

NO MONETARY CONFERENCE.

A General Opinion That No Good Would Result

Berlin, June 14.—The National Zeitung says: The majority of the Federal Governments have sent their replies to the enquiry of the Imperial Government in regard to the expediency of summoning an International Conference on the currency question. Some of the Federal Governments oppose the project unqualifiedly, and others, while they do not imply direct opposition, express doubt as to its feasibility. None of them express a desire to have the Conference called, and generally the replies indicate a conviction that such a movement would not be productive of positive results.

NEW ELECTION IN NIPISSING.

Another Vote as to What Place Shall Be the County Town.

Toronto, June 14.—A new election has been ordered for July 11 in the Nipissing district to decide whether North Bay, Mattawa or Sturgeon Bay shall be the county town. At the last election North Bay secured a majority of the votes, but a protest was entered by Mattawa on the ground that the election had been carried by bribery. Mr. James Fleming, inspector of legal offices, has appointed a commission to investigate into the facts and as a result of his report the new election has been ordered.

A NOTABLE EXCEPTION.

A Strong Feeling in Favour of a Canadian Product in the State of New York.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 10.—In spite of a strong sentiment prevailing throughout this state that nothing good can come out of Canada, a feeling is beginning to grow that there are certain notable exceptions and among them is claimed the new specific remedy for all diseases of the kidneys, and all complaints arising from a derangement of those organs, known as Dodd's Kidney Pills. The medicine has received a thorough test and is being prescribed not only by druggists but by physicians, whose well known reluctance to admit any virtue in a proprietary medicine make their testimony to its merits still more remarkable.

JAILED FOR SWINDLING.

An Alleged Graduate of McGill Found Guilty of Fraud.

New York, June 14.—Dr. Lambert Melville Clark, a tall young colored man, who is said to be a graduate of the McGill University of Montreal, and who says he is a regularly ordained Baptist clergyman, was sent to the penitentiary for one year yesterday by Judge Cowing in the general session.

In April last he called on Ella Gallon, and, under the name of James B. Lee, told her she was entitled to a legacy which had been left her by a wealthy Barbados planter named John Simon, amounting to $60,000. He induced her to give him $75 and a watch to make the necessary arrangements to collect the money. On Nov. 20, 1892, he swindled Anderson Bagley out of $200 by a similar game.

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Useful at Times.

A hotelkeeper in town remarked the other day, when the knots on the floor of the bar room were being planed down, that they had been very useful in the past. Sidewalk Sprinkling.

Shop owners, or at least their employees, are, many of them, habit of sprinkling the walk in front of their place to promote coolness. This is all right if it is properly done, and at the proper time. But it is a mistake to flood the walks with water, which rests in pools in the depressions of the walks and penetrates thin-soled shoes and spoils ladies skirts. Put the water on sparingly and oftener. Sprinkle the walks, don't deluge them.

Last Night's Lawn Social.

The lawn social held under the auspices of the Faithful Workers' Mission Band of St. Paul's church last evening on the grounds surrounding Mr. G. M. A Dog Case.

Mr. Walter Head, a veterinary student with Dr. Johnston, was brought before the Police Magistrate, this morning, charged with wounding a dog belonging to Dr. Beatty. It appears that the dog was in Dr. Johnston's yard and Head ran out of the office to chase it away. It was alleged that a stone was thrown breaking the animal's leg, but the evidence adduced did not go to show that Head bean instrumental in the breaking of the leg. The case occupied over two hours.

Committed as Insane.

A single woman from Ennismore was committed to gaol Wednesday as being insane. She will be detained there till admission can be procured for her to an asylum for the insane. Her father, 96 years of age, testified that he could not give her the attention that her infirmity demanded, as she was at times violent. Dr. Yelland testified that she was undoubtedly insane, as she was violent at times and laboured under the delusion that she had died twice. Mr. Dumble committed the unfortunate woman to gaol.

Drowning Accident.

A sad drowning accident occurred on the river, near Searight's old mill, township of Belmont, about 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening. The victim was James Kelly, brother of David Kelly, of Norwood, who with several other men was engaged in running logs down the river. Mr. Kelly and two or three of his companions were seated on a log and were floating along the stream when he suddenly fell backwards into the water and disappeared. One of the men plunged into the river after him but could not manage to get hold of him. His body was recovered about half an hour after the accident. He leaves a wife and two children.

Mr. T. Cavanagh Under Arrest.

The Chief of Police and his three assistants surrounded the house of Mr. Michael O'Brien, near the Catholic Cemetery on the boundary, at four o'clock this morning, and upon obtaining admittance placed Mr. Timothy Cavanagh under arrest, and brought him up to the police station. This morning he appeared before the Magistrate and was remanded until this afternoon, when he will be given a hearing on the charge of selling liquor without a license. No defence, it is understood, will be offered, Mr. A. P. Poussette, counsel for the prisoner, agreeing not to even cross-examine any witnesses which may be brought to testify against his client.

A Man's Full Tweed Suit for $4.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." Occasionally the manufacturer miscalculates. H. LeBrun & Co. have just found one who had done so by making up too many men's tweed suits. He needed money, came with a tempting offer, and we promptly closed with him, taking one hundred suits. To-morrow we will place the whole 100 on our bargain tables to sell at $4 the suit—only $4 for the tweed coat, tweed pants and tweed vest. Men of Peterborough! you have a chance now that can't last long. Every suit is as good as a "bank cheque." Strictly custom-made, well trimmed, well lined, well buttoned, well sewed. All good patterns, all pleasing colours, to fit men of any ordinary size. Don't want anything better for a good all-round wearing suit. The price we ask represents about the cost of the cloth. Come early, the earlier the better, and pick your choice to suit yourself. H. LEBRUN & Co, City Clothing Store. 2d

Date of General Election.

When is it to be? This question is disturbing the souls of politicians. In view of the material alteration in the commercial policy of the country which would be involved in a change of government it is a matter which concerns the general public. Meanwhile the aching corns of the populace cry for a remedy and the government give no heed to the demand. Look here! don't suffer this neglect to delay the use of means open to all and which removes the most painful and obstinate corns in two days. Painless sure-acting corn cure, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor.

THE AUBURN BRIDGE BYLAW.

On Monday next the electors will be called upon to express their opinion on the bylaw to grant three thousand dollars for the construction of a bridge across the Otonabee river at Auburn. There are differences of opinion as to the desirability of such an expenditure, and it is the duty of every elector to come out and cast his ballot, marking it as he sees fit. It is desirable that the public opinion should be expressed on such bylaws. It shows a lack of public spirit for the electors to permit a bylaw to be carried or defeated by default. There should be ballots cast by the majority of the qualified electors—in this case freeholders or leaseholders with tenancy corresponding in time with the life of the debentures involved.

WAS PENSIONER JOHNSON FOULLY DEALT WITH?

The Case About to Re-opened and New Testimony Taken.

Peterborough seems to be aspiring for first place in the ranks of the towns which have supplied the public with so much sensational reading. Following close on the developments in the Scollie case comes the announcement that sufficient new evidence has been unearthed in regard to young Wigmore's drowning two years ago as to warrant the re-opening of that case. Another and third sensation is now about to thrill the ears of the reader of sensation, as it is stated that several new witnesses are about to be examined in the case of the death of old "Pensioner Johnson," who was found dying in a barn some three years ago, with a pistol beside him. Suicide was thought to have been the cause of his death, but it is alledged that an entirely new light will be thrown on the matter when the new testimony referred to is taken.

THE SCOLLIE CASE.

County Magistrate Edmison had a talk over the telephone this afternoon with the Attorney General's Department which expresses a wish to push the Scollie case to trial as soon as possible. Mr. Edmison goes to Toronto to night to take the evidence of Drs. Cavan and Primrose.

A Little Roaster Gone.

One day lately a farmer of Seymour west lost a little pig by drowning, and another nearly suffered the same fate. A can of milk was set out to cool in a well, and a young porker having passed that way, stopped to take stock of the contents and fell into the can. A boy about the premises went to the rescue, and succeeded in getting the pig out, but not without injury as the squealer bit him on the hand while in the act of lifting him up. Sometime afterwards another little porker dropped into the milk and was drowned.

Street Watering.

There is considerable reason for the kicking that is being indulged in over the manner in which the work is done in the centre division especially. One merchant who has a shop on a corner of George street, complains that while the rest of the street is well watered, a corner near his place that is perhaps not easy of access to the water van, is left without water. The wind eddies around the corner and covers his goods with dust to their great damage. The lack of uniformity is a cause of complaint. While one portion of a street is sufficiently watered another may be and is often a whirl of wind blown dust. Several city fathers agree that the watering is not satisfactorily done and they and the others should see that the people get what they pay for. The goods in a shop are damaged by dust due to defective street watering to an extent far in excess of the cost of the work.

Swallowed Paris Green.

The inquest on the body of the late Mrs. Martha Mann, Lindsay, which was opened Wednesday morning, and adjourned to await the post-mortem examination, was resumed in the police court at 7 o'clock in the evening, before Coroner Poole and an intelligent jury, Mr. Jas. Boxall, foreman. The deceased was seen and spoken to for the last time at her own door on Tuesday evening of last week. The evidence showed that she was a respectable woman, a little odd in her manners at times, and with ample means of support. The report of the examination, presented by Dr. Burrows, showed conclusively, both from the appearances to the eye, and from the usual chemical tests, that paris green had been swallowed in considerable quantity. It was also shown that she had formerly had this poison in the house for the purpose of banishing cats and mice. The jury brought in a verdict that ther death was caused by swallowing the paris green, but whether taken accidentally or by design the evidence did not enable them to say. Deceased had a son residing in Toronto, who was notified by telegraph, and came down on this melancholy occasion. The interment took place Wednesday at the Riverside cemetery.

SIMMONS v. THOMPSON. — Judgment on appeal by defendant from judgment of McMahon, J., in so far as in favour of plaintiffs in any action for the price of logs and timber cut for defendants, and upon cross appeal by plaintiffs from the same judgment, seeking to increase the amount found due. The Court held that the defendants were justified in refusing to take any of the logs. Appeal allowed with costs, and action dismissed with costs. Watson, Q. C., and Stevenson, (Peterborough), for defendants; A. H. Lefroy for plaintiffs. The defendants in this case are the firm of Elias Thompson & Sons, who were sued more than two years ago for the price of certain logs delivered at the village of Hastings. The case was tried three times, first before Judge Fraleck of Belleville, then before Judge Lazier of Belleville, and lastly by Judge MacMahon, in every case the verdict being for the plaintiff. However, there is nothing like perseverance, especially in legal matters, and Messrs. Thompson & Sons have now obtained from the Divisional Court the reversal of the three judgments against them, together with the costs of the proceedings. Solicitor for the plaintiff, A. A. Macdonald, Madoc; solicitors for the defendants, Dennistoun & Stevenson.

Pains in the Joints

Caused by Inflammatory Swelling

A Perfect Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. My son was afflicted with great pain in the joints, accompanied with swelling so bad that he could not get up stairs to bed without crawling on hands and knees. I was very anxious about him, and having read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, I determined to try it, and got a half-dozen bottles, four of which entirely cured him." MRS. G. A. THE ORILLIA EXCURSIONISTS.

What the Orillia Papers Say of the Trip to Peterborough.

The Orillia Times says:—"Close on to a 500 crowded into the nine coaches which the G.T.R. had furnished the firemen and and band, and notwithstanding the heat and crowded cars thoroughly enjoyed the trip to Peterborough. The committee who had charge of affairs, under Capt. Mainer and Bandmaster Gibbons, did all in their power to make things pleasant and comfortable. Arriving in Peterborough the excursionists were met by the fire brigade and band and escorted through the principal streets to the fire hall where the reel was left and the party adjourned for dinner. In the afternoon the procession was again formed and proceeded to one of Peterborough's beautiful parks, when the two bands played a programme of music, and games and sports were indulged in. The visitors were royally entertained during their stay, the town council having voted $50.00 towards the entertainment (and judging from the good results this is an example our own council might take into consideration). Everybody thoroughly enjoyed themselves and the return journey was made in good time, reaching Orillia about 10 o'clock. Judging from all accounts the next time the band and firemen excurt to Peterborough they will need two trains of nine coaches each instead of one."

ANNUAL PICNIC OF THE FARMERS' INSTITUTES OF THE VICINITY.

A Most Enjoyable Day Spent Down the River—Addresses—Over 2,000 Present.

The annual picnic of the Farmers' Institutes of East and West Peterborough, East and West Northumberland and East Durham are always looked forward to with interest every year, and as this season all combined to hold a union outing at Jubilee Point, the affair was more than usually enjoyable.

The steamer City of Peterborough carried about 450 passengers to Rice Lake, the steamer Daisy, from Keene and other points, about 300, the Beaver, from Hastings, 700, and the Sunbeam 200, while hundreds more attended by private boat and vehicle. There were probably 2,000 people present.

Manager Beckett of the Jubilee Point Hotel had his hands full supplying the wants of his many guests, but, as usual, looked after everyone in a manner most satisfactory.

During the afternoon a number of addresses were delivered by prominent officers of the various institutes. Mr. Frank Birdsall, president of the committee, was chairman, and the speakers were Messrs. T. Blezard, M.P.P., E. Hawthorne, Reeve of Dummer; J. B. Ewing, of Dartford, one of the Executive Committee of the Central Farmers' Institute; and A. H. R. Sproule, a gentleman farmer, of Ireland.

A game of baseball between a scratch nine from Peterborough, and the famous Indian team of Hiawatha, was watched with interest. The latter nine won by a score of 10 to 8. Archie Moore and Will McClelland were the battery for the Peterborough nine.

Among those present were Warden Pearce, Robert Shaw, Reeve of Harvey; John Moloney, Reeve of Douro; Wm. Anderson, Reeve of Otonabee; John Lancaster, Deputy Reeve of Otonabee; J. L. Aunger, Reeve of Belmont; A. Brown, Reeve of Chandos; J. Forster, Reeve of North Monaghan; J. B. Peoples, Reeve of Belmont; Mr. Joyce, Reeve of Havelock; W. McIlmoyl, Deputy Reeve of Smith; Wm. Leeson, Deputy-Reeve of Douro; W. Crough, Reeve of Ennismore; H. Moore, Deputy-reeve of Dummer; Mr. Buck, Reeve of Asphodel; J. E. Belcher, county engineer; H. Nesbitt, gaoler; F. J. Bell, clerk of the Division Court; J. F. Davidson, President West Peterborough Institute; Geo. E. Elliott, Jas. Davidson, J. Stothart, Wm. Rutherford, Wm. Collins, Wm. Miller, R. E. Birdsall, W. J. Westlington, representative of this district in Agricultural and Arts Association; S.E. Ferguson, Ida; R. Grandy, Cavan; J. Smithson, Otonabee; Geo. Armstrong, Smith, etc.

In his address the chairman, Mr. Birdsall stated that it was the intention to invite Mr. R. H. Lauder to address meetings in this section on the sugar beet industry in the near future.

The day passed off without a hitch to mar the general pleasure of the picnicers and great praise is due the committee who worked the affair up to so successful an issue.

A MAN NEARLY DROWNED.

John Corcoran, of Peterboscugh, has a Narrow Escape.

On Tuesday a boat containing eight river drivers capsized in the Trent, and one of the number, John Corcoran, of Peterborough, had a narrow escape from drowning.

The accident occurred at the centre pier of the railway bridge where there was a "jam" of logs which they were about to break up.

As they approached the "jam" the boat was swung round by the swift current and upset, and the men were thrown into the water.

Everyone struck out for the shore, and soon landed, but Corcoran was carried down to the bend of the river, and after a hard struggle was assisted to shore. He was in great danger of being swept into the rapids and over Ranney's Falls. Both ends of the punt were knocked out, and it floated down the river. The men lost their pike poles, pevies, oars and paddles. —Campbellford Herald.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. R. A. Mulholland, Port Hope, is visiting friends in town.

Miss Edith Cunningham, Lindsay, the Warder says, is at present visiting friends in Peterborough.

Miss B. Sperry, of Peterborough, was visiting her sister, Mrs. D. A. Fraser, Norwood, last week.—Register.

Mr. Fred Oke, of Port Hope, nephew of Mr. J. B. Oke, fruit merchant, was in town yesterday for a short visit.

Mrs. Terrill, of Belleville, is spending a few weeks in town as the guest of her son, Mr. Alf Terrill, of THE EXAMINER.

Rev. M. L. Pearson, formerly pastor of the George street Methodist church here, has been elected president of the Toronto Conference of the Methodist church.

The Port Hope Guide says: Miss Norah Eby, Toronto, who has been the guest of Mrs. R. A. Mulholland, Mill street, went north to visit friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Crane left to-day for a trip to Winsted, Conn. They will visit a few days in Montreal en route. Mr. Geo. Arnold will relieve Mr. Crane as organist at St. Paul's church.

The Orillia Times says: Mrs. Hamilton, of Peterborough, was an excursionist to Orillia last Thursday. She missed the outgoing train, and was the guest of Mrs. McLeod, Matchedash street, for a few days.

Miss Florence Hoar, says the Port Hope Guide, who has been staying at her uncle's, Mr. Henry Bennett, Mark street, Ashburnham, for the last three months under the care of Dr. Yelland, has returned home very much improved in health.

Mrs. F. Roblin, Belleville, mother of D. O. Roblin, traveller for H. Corby, has inherited considerable property in New York and Jersey City. It is thought it will be worth more than a half million dollars. J. N. Greenshields, Q.C., of Montreal, is acting for Mrs. Roblin. Mrs. D. O. Roblin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Snowden.

John Davidson, M.A., L.L.B., principal of the Norwood High School, accompanied by Mrs. Davidson and her sister, Miss Cook, intend going to Europe this summer. They will sail on the Allan Line steamship "Sardinian" on the 13th July. For some time past Mrs. Davidson's health has not been very good, and it is to be hoped that the ocean voyage will be beneficial to her.

The many friends of Mr. Geo. S. Thompson, author of "The Life of a Lumberman," will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed a sessional clerk in the House of Commons, Ottawa, through the influence of Mr. Chas. Fairbairn, M.P., of Victoria, and leaves to assume his new position at once. The duties of the office will afford him ample leisure and facilities to complete additional matter for his volume, which will be published in September.

Some time ago, the Lindsay Watchman says, it was rumoured that Mr. B. Gough, of Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap clothing men, was having a house erected in the south ward, and all sorts of rumours were current. It appears that there was something in the rumour, as Mr. Gough has had built to his order a neat frame house, but it turns out that it was a boat house, and he has since placed therein one of the neatest skiffs on the river, which he calls "Trilby."

COURT OF REVISION.

The Next Meeting Ought to Finish up the Appeals for the Year.

At the last meeting of the Court of Revision, there were present Councillors Stone, chairman, Mills and Clinkscale.

The following appeals were taken up:

C. M. Birdsall, over assessment of real estate. Judgment—The store occupied by H. Newton, reduced assessment on real estate from $3,800 to $3,400. As to other properties, assessment was confirmed.

Mr. Cluxton, over assessment on income. Assessment on income reduced from $1,650 to $388.

D. W. Dumble—appelant did not appear. Stands until next meeting of the court.

Chas. Holland, over-assessment of real estate. R. E. Wood appeared for appelant. Assessment confirmed.

Hatton & Wood for Patterson estate, over-assessment of lots 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31, Plan 40. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for appellants. Evidence heard and assessment reduced from $900 to $540.

Dunable & Johnston for S. Ray. Appellants did not appear. Stands until next sitting of the court.

Peterborough Light & Power Co.—Over-assessment of real estate and personel property and wrong assessment. Assessment of personal property reduced from $2,000 to $1,000. Assessment of real estate confirmed.

Auburn Woollen Company—Over-assessment of real estate. Assessment of cottages occupied by P. Belleveau, Lafevre and Lavelette reduced from $300 each to $200 each. Part block C, plan 14, $500 (old boarding house) struck off as included in other description. Andrew Kay & Co—Assessment reduced from $1500 to $750. Part of block C, plan 14, assessed for $13,000, reduced as follows: On Woollen factory, assessment fixed at $8,000, on portion of store house not assessed to W. H. Meldrum, assessment fixed at $3,000, being a reduction from $13,000 to $11,00. Assessment of Peterborough Water Co., part block C, east river road, plan 14, stands until next sittings of court.

Other appeals stand until next sittings of court on Monday, June 17th.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen Aquatic and Field Sports.

LACROSSE.

All lacrosse players are requested to be on hand to-night at 7 o'clock sharp at the Driving Park, when teams will be chosen to compete for the cup won at Beaverton. Team winning best 3 out of a series of 5 games to hold cup.

Arrangements will probably be made for a friendly game of lacrosse sometime next week between the staffs of the EXAMINER and Review offices. As there are good men in both offices the game would doubtless be a close and interesting one.

The combined team of the grocers and clerks are trying to flunk out of their challenge to the newspaper men, and cannot be persuaded to name a date for the match.

The Senior Peterboroughs are trying to make arrangements to bring the Uxbridge team here for a game.

The Millbrook twelve played in Cobourg yesterday, beating the home team five straights.

Of the Peterborough-Orillia lacrosse match a week ago Thursday, which resulted 6 to 2 in favour of Orillia, the Barrie Gazette says: "We were informed by a sporting gentleman, who takes a great interest in lacrosse and other outdoor games when played on the square, that the game between Peterborough and Orillia lacrosse clubs on Friday last in Orillia was a combination of shinney and hockey, interspersed with a little pugilism. It was a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other."

Concerning the same game the Orillia Times says,—"The game was fast and furious from the start, and at times very brilliant, but there were other times—far too often—when it got down to slugging. In this respect the Peterboroughs were the greatest offenders, but the Orillias proved themselves a match, if not inferior to their opponents in the art of "tripping." The only wonder is that the referee did not send both teams to the fence. Some of the principal offenders should have been dealt with severely, both for the credit of the game and the good name of the town. If the lacrosse club invite people to witness an exhibition game of lacrosse, they should see that the spectators get what they pay for, and not treat them to a gorey scrapping match. The first game was scored for Orillia in two minutes, but the second was the toughest and hardest in the whole match, lasting 30 minutes, including the time taken for repairs, Peterborough finally scoring. Frost scored the third game for Orillia in 12 minutes, and Peterborough the fourth in 7 minutes. After 16 minutes' play in the fifth game, the ball was passed to Tudhope, who made a pretty dash for the flags, passing three red shirts and shooting the ball through, winning for himself a great burst of applause. Orillia scored again in 7 minutes the sixth game, but in the seventh they did not even see the ball, Peterborough taking it at the face and rushed it through in 30 seconds. The match resulted in a win for Orillia by 6 goals to 2.

CRICKET.

The local men playing in to-morrow's game will include Vernon McGill, W. J. Drope, Hal Burnham, Mac. Poussette, Court Poussette, Alf. Terrill, Walter Stocker, Lionel King and Hal. Lewis.

The Trinity School cricket team comes up from Port Hope to-morrow for a match with a local eleven on the P. A. A. A. grounds, and doubtless a most interesting game will be witnessed. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of spectators, as their presence always lends encouragement to a home team. No admission fee will be charged, and the game will be on all afternoon. The crease is in good condition, and as the local men have been practising considerably they should make a good showing to-morrow.

The first eleven of Trinity School was beaten for the first time this year on Wednesday last by the Deseronto club by a score of 121 to 118.

THE TURF.

A sensational trotter was uncovered yesterday at the Fleetwood Park trotting meeting, Wm. Penn starting for the first time this year, stepping three heats in 2.11¾, 2.12¼ and 2.12¾, without being called upon to do his best. In the first heat the 5-year-old made a burst of speed which caused old horsemen to stare, and it is common talk that if Wm. Penn had been driven out in the mile he would have beaten two minutes.

BASEBALL.

The Peterborough baseballists left at noon to-day to play a match with the Lindsay nine in that town. The local club is very strong this year and its supporters will be much disappointed if a victory is not placed to their credit.

The Vaticans are practicing every other evening on Riverside Park and it is about time that they were running up against the Auburn's or Edison's and giving them a game.

STRUCK A CAMP MEETING.

Lightning Kills Two and Injures Sixteen Others.

Muskegon, Mich., June 14.—Lightning yesterday afternoon struck one of the tents of the Methodist camp meeting at Ravenna, instantly killing Mrs. Burleson of Wayland. Her sister, Mrs. Hillard, was terribly shocked and cannot live. Mrs. Hillard's son was also terribly burned about the hips, but may recover. Sixteen others in the tent were knocked down and more or less injured. The tent was torn into pieces.

Mrs. Hartley Gets $2 000 Insurance.

Brantford, June 13.—Mrs. Caleb Hartley, who was acquitted of the murder of her husband, has been handed a cheque for $2000 from the A.O.U.W. The Home Circle also held a policy for $2000 on Hartley's life. Half of this has been paid to Mrs. Hartley, and the other half into the court. This is due to the action of Fred Hartley, son of the deceased, who claims that the original policy provided that he should have one-half of the amount.

"SUN" LIFE Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

PLEASURES OF TRAVELLING.

These Incidents Relate to the Abominable Compartment Cars Used on English Railroads.

A director of the Great Western Railway had a very unpleasant experience on one occasion when traveling between Gloucester and London in the days when there were no means of communication between passengers and guard, the only other occupant of the compartment besides himself being a gentlemanly looking man, who opened conversation upon various topics pleasantly enough for some little time, when all of a sudden he became very excited in manner, asking the director if he could sing, to which he innocently replied he could not. The effect of this answer, however, proved to him that, having a dangerous lunatic to deal with, for his own safety's sake he would have to do the best he could, and sing he had to until the lunatic changed his tactics by producing a knife which he opened, and taking a turnip out of his pocket, cut a piece off and, presenting it to my friend, remarked: "You had better—you had better." There was nothing for it but to take each piece as it was offered to him with the same remark each time. The director ate as slowly as possible, determined to make the turnip last until the train made its first stop, and it was most fortunate that he was enabled to do so, for as the train slowed up at the station two officials, who had been apprised by wire of the lunatic's escape, entered the compartment and, seizing the lunatic, remarked that he was a most dangerous man and that it was most fortunate that the turnip held out, for had it not my friend would have had his throat cut.

Two passengers were the only occupants of a compartment in a train about to start in a few minutes, when one gentleman addressed the other as follows:

"Sir, do you know where you are going?"

"Yes, certainly," was the reply, "I am going to Twindon."

"No, sir, you are not, you are going to the devil."

Feeling sure he was dealing with a lunatic, he replied: "Good heaven! then I must have made a mistake and have got into the wrong train!" and quickly seizing his handbag, rushed out.

On another occasion a gentleman, the only occupant of a first-class smoking compartment, and who was lying down on the seat, taking a comfortable smoke, dozed off with the cigar in his mouth. At one of the stops a lady with a dog entered, not knowing that it was a smoking compartment, as the written label had evidently fallen from the window. She determined to resent the outrage of smoking, and moving up to the sleeper, whom she aroused by taking the cigar out of his mouth, remarked, with a chuckle, at the same time as she opened the window to throw it out, "This is not a smoking compartment, if you please." Whereupon the gentleman jumped up and very quickly resented such conduct, and seeing the dog seized it, and opening the reverse window, threw it out, remarking, as he did so, "Madame, this is not a dog-box." The gentleman was a well-known lawyer, and knew that he had the law on his side, for not only was it a smoking compartment, but the lady had disregarded the rules of the company, which forbade dogs being taken into passenger carriages—there being a proper compartment for them at special rates.

On another occasion two young fellows entered a first-class compartment rather full with ladies and children. One had a bet with the other that at the first stop he would clear the compartment. Accordingly he said to his friend, who sitting as he did, by the window, thus entitling him to the command of it, had opened it, "Take care! You must not be so foolish. You forget that you have only just recovered from a severe attack of small-pox." He could not have created greater commotion had he fired a charge of dynamite. At the first stop the compartment was cleared, and the bet won. But these and similar or worse incidents would be utterly impossible with the splendidly arranged American system of railway travel.

JAPAN'S EMPRESS.

One of the Cleverest and Most Progressive Women of Her Land.

The Empress of Japan is a clever woman, according to the Japanese standard. That she is amiable goes without saying; she is deeply imbued with western ideas with regard to the status of woman, and the influence she has exercised in the state as well as the domestic circle has been worthy a woman born and reared among the most liberal ideas of the occident, says a writer in the Pall Mall Magazine. Her readers and teachers have found their seed falling into good soil. She began at once to interest herself in silk culture, lacemaking and embroidery. Competent women were selected to instruct Her Majesty in the art of silk weaving and the care of the worms, etc. Lace schools are under her patronage, and she has never failed to encourage any industry and education among women. She is most benevolent, giving to charity with a free hand. It is said that she gives so liberally of her private allowance that were it not for the care of the chancellor of the exchequer she would be a bankrupt before the end of the first week of the quarter. The peeresses' school is especially under her fostering care, as well as several of the hospitals in Tokio. She is particularly fond of children, and often goes into the children's wards with her arms full of gifts for the little ones. Each autumn there is held a fancy fair or bazar for the purpose of raising money for the public charities, and Her Majesty makes a point of spending one afternoon there, buying liberally; and, if one did not know that she was the Empress, there would be no outward sign to discover her identity. She wore a tailor suit of dark blue, a sealskin cloak and blue bonnet, with feathers and aigrettes when I saw her, and was fair to look upon. The entire service of the palace and of the Emperor's table is European silver, porcelain and glass being marked with the imperial crest of the sixteen-petaled chrysanthemum, and the kiri mon of the Poulownia iperalis appearing on the decorative design woven in the white napery and traced on the delicate porcelain surface.

Given What He Called For.

It doesn't pay to be too funny. A man who formerly boarded at a Maine hotel used always to call for "old hen" when he saw chicken on the bill of fare. The table girl and cooks thereupon prepared for him, and whenever chicken was served an old hen also was provided, and this particular boarder always got a generous piece of that. After this order of things had continued for three months without the boarder suspecting the joke, he one day called the waitress to him and told her he was getting sick of old hens, and he'd like to have a taste of chicken. "Very well," was the reply, "you can have it; but you ordered old hen regularly, and as this house always pleases its guests when it is possible, we've been giving you what you ordered."—Phillips (Me.) Phonograph.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it falling out. Mrs. H. W. Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. Fenwick, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. Weber, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

IN LABRADOR'S WILDS.

A Vast Extent of Territory that Invites the Explorer and Naturalist.

The summary report is published here to-day by the Imperial Government of the exploratory survey of the Low-Eaton expedition of 1894 through the interior of Labrador. The personal adventures of the exploring party went the rounds of the press upon its return some months ago, but the details of its geographical and other discoveries, as compulsory with officers of the Geographical Survey, have been kept secret, pending their official publication.

The expedition traveled on foot and by canoe about 5,660 miles, through a country containing 500,000 square miles, which is shown by its report to be by no means "the land of Cain" that it was formerly supposed to be. Except at the scattered Hudson Ba posts, civilized men were never met by the explorers, and most of the territory was traveled for the first time by the scientific explorers. The reading of the report leaves no doubt that outside of Africa and the sub-Arctic regions of this continent, searches after travelers' adventures can find no equal expanse of virgin territory to operate in.

The natural attractions of Labrador are among the grandest on the continent. The Ungava River runs through twenty miles of the crooked valley, with perpendicular, rocky walls rising 1,000 feet above its waters. On the Hamilton River the banks are 700 feet high, below Grand Falls. Before taking the plunge the river rushes down an incline of 200 feet in four miles, and then throws itself over a precipice 300 feet deep into the gorge below.

Lake Winakapow is 416 feet deep. In every direction the streams broaden out into lakes, often studded with islands. Lake Michikamow is as large as Mistassini, about which a few years ago such a fuss was made.

As a result of the exploration the courses of the Ungava and Hamilton rivers, heretofore only outlined on the authority of very unreliable Indian reports, are now accurately defined. The face of the map of Labrador has been altogether changed and very materially added to.

Much also that is new is learned of the climate, which, judging from the trees and plants, does not differ from portions of northern Quebec under cultivation.

Along the Ungava and Hamilton rivers there are areas where the forest trees, white, black, and balsam spruce and birch, are of considerable mercantile value, being twenty-four inches in diameter.

On the Ungava and Hamilton, too, there are bedded in the rocks immense masses of iron ore, the amount seen, to use the words of the report, "running up to millions of tons." Most curious gelogical features were also observed, the great ice drifts having produced singular displacements, perching great boulders on the very summits of rocky hills sometimes in such positions that a push would displace them. The whole country will have a perfect paradise for such fishermen as have the leisure and means to penetrate into it, for the scientific and therefore truthful explorer testifies that during the summer of 1894 his party lived almost exclusively on fish caught in nets, set at night and taken in the morning, where brook trout seven pounds in weight, and enormous lake trout, whitefish, pike and land-locked salmon were everywhere.—Boston Herald.

SHOEMAKING IN ENGLAND.

American Machinery is Largely Used in All European Countries.

The labor disturbance that has been going on for some time past in the shoe manufacturing centres of England is due to causes which, fortunately, have not come up in a serious form in this line of industry in the United States, says an observer of trade conditions. American shoe manufacturers and the operators in their employ have taken much more kindly to the introduction of labor-saving devices in the way of machinery than have those similarly engaged on the other side of the Atlantic. Almost all of the modern machinery used in the boot and shoe factories of this and other countries is machinery of American invention. We have borrowed from the English, French and Germans in machinery for the manufacture of woolen, cotton and silk goods, but in the manufacture of boots and shoes the case has been entirely different, and the originating faculty has existed almost entirely on this side of the Atlantic. Up to a few years ago the work of manufacturing boots and shoes in England was carried on to a large extent, not in great factories as it is with us, but in little shops where three or four men were employed under the supervision of one of their number—that is, what would now be known as the "sweating" system, was the rule—a workman taking a contract to do a certain amount of work and then hiring associates to assist him in putting it through. At the request of the operatives, who believed that this method worked to their disadvantages, the manufacturers entered upon the American system of building large factories and equipped them with modern boot and shoe machinery. The difficulty that has now arisen is in the disinclination shown by the operatives to permit this machinery to be utilized to its full extent. Apparently there is a great discrepancy between the possible output of some operatives employing these machines compared with the results of the work of others. When paid by piece work some operatives are able to earn more than twice as much as their associates, in consequence of their greater skill and the intelligent utilization of their time. The labor organizations, it is alleged, have decided that a maximum output should be established. They assert that if the work that any one man is permitted to perform is limited to what only a moderate worker could compass, then more men could be employed and the scale of price for piece work will tend to advance. The manufacturers point out that they are already more than threatened by competition coming from the American factories; that the scale of pay given for piece work is lower in the United States than in England, but that the operatives here earn much more than shoemakers in the United Kingdom, for the reason that they are able each day to get through a much larger amount of work, and that the effort at limitation which is now proposed would, if it were carried out, imply in a short time the surrender of the English boot and shoe trade to the American boot and shoe makers.

The Greatest Gunpowder Explosion.

The greatest explosion of gunpowder the world has ever known took place at the Du Ponts' works on the 7th of October, 1890. With their usual cautious policy the du Ponts have never stated just how great a quantity of powder exploded at this time, but it is certain that three magazines and three mills in the upper yard were blown up one after another, and a safe estimate will put the quantity of powder exploded at one hundred and fifty tons. In this explosion thirteen men and one woman were instantly killed, while twenty-two men and nine women were injured, some fatally.

The explosion occurred a little after three o'clock in the afternoon. It began in the magazine for hexagonal powder, the kind used in large guns, and the most dangerous, being made not in grains, but in reddish, six-sided cakes about an inch and a half in diameter, and an inch thick, with a small hole running through the centre. These cakes look like nothing so much as the nuts on a wagon wheel. At the time of the explosion, cakes of powder were being packed into large wooden boxes lined with tin, each box being about three feet square. The tin linings projected above the tops of the boxes about two inches, and, when a box was packed were folded down over a tin cover fitted closely upon the cakes of powder. It was the duty of one of the workmen, William Green, to solder these tin edges down upon the tin cover, a hot iron being used for this purpose...

On the day in question, what he feared came to pass. A fellow-workman, William McGarvey, was bringing him the hot irons from a charcoal brazier about twenty-five yards distant. Green stood just at the door of the open magazine, and all around him were uncovered boxes filled with the hexagonal powder, ready to be sealed and stored away. There were also dozens of boxes that had been sealed. Just what happened will never be known, for neither Green nor McGarvey was left to tell the story. But the probability is, one of the soldering irons was a little too hot, and by touching a particle of dirt on the tin cover produced the deadly spark.—McClure's Magazine.

CURE FOR STIFF JOINTS.

A New Form of an Old Remedy Placed in Operation in London.

The application of heat is one of the universal remedies for the various forms of rheumatism. Almost every modern city has its Turkish or Russian bath, and innumerable uncivilized tribes enjoy the same luxury in cruder shape. Travelers in the Navajo country will often find close to the trail which leads to the neighborhood of water miniature huts, such as children might build in imitation of Indian tepees. These are the "sweat huts" of the Navajos. When one of that intelligent and thrifty tribe finds himself beset by a severe cold or rheumatic pains he goes to a secluded spot, close to the water and builds a little conicial hut of sticks. The bottom ends of the sticks may be possibly two feet apart, and the upper ends are lashed together in a point. The interstices of this rough edifice are carefully chinked up, and the inside is covered with a layer of mud, which makes it absolutely air-tight. Then, building a fire, the Indian places stones on the embers. When the stones begin to crack with the heat, they are cast inside the hut, and water is thrown upon them. The Indian creep in, closes the narrow entrance chamber, and remains in the steaming atmosphere until he is nearly suffocated. The latest form of this crude therapuy is used in a London hospital. It consists of a copper cylinder about three feet long and eighteen inches in diameter, which will hold an arm up to the shoulder or a leg up to the middle of the thigh. The patient, who is suffering from sprains, or gout, or rheumatic affections, is placed in an arm chair, the limb is introduced into the cylinder and the joint made air-tight by a rubber band. The inside temperature of the cyclinder is raised, if necessary, to 300 or 400 fahr., by means of gas burners. When the enclosed moisture begins to have a scalding effect, which occurs at about 250 degrees, the end of the cyclinder is opened, and the moisture escapes. The effects are greatly increased local circulation, profuse perspiration, and relief from pain.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B.B.B made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN.—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it suceeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B B B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON

A BOOK TO ALL SICK ONES

Cures When Other Medicines and Doctors Have Failed

RESTORES THE SICK TO HEALTH.

"I Can Attribute My Restoration to Health Solely to South American Nervine." Says C. J. Curtis, of Windsor.

C. J. CURTIS, WINDSOR, ONT.

When one has climbed a high mountain it is not difficult to mount the ordinary hill. A medicine that will cure when the case is a desperate one, may be safely taken as a good all round medicine in ordinary cases, and it is not alone the very sick who need medicine.

The statement is borne out by a multitude of facts, thousands of testimonials from reputable citizens, that South American Nervine cures, after what are considered the best medicines in the country have failed, and where the skill of the ablest physicians has come to naught.

The acknowledged scientific principle of disease is weakness and disorganization at the nerve centers. These nerve centers are the main spring of the whole system. When the stomach is out of order the certain remedy is to set the nerve centers in right condition again, so with every other trouble. Thus it is that it may be liver complaint, nervousness, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, loss of appetite, impoverished blood, consumption of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, sick or nervous headache, sleeplessness, pains in the kidneys, or other ailments from which a person is suffering South American Nervine will cure, and cure quickly, and best of all cure effectively and lastingly in every such case.

Much as we were disposed to laugh at La Grippe as a trifling complaint when it first made itself known in this country, later developments have proved that it is a serious malady. The after effects are such that very thorough measures need to be taken to ensure perfect restoration to health. South American Nervine has proven wonderfully efficacious in giving back health to the victims of La Grippe. Mr. C. J. Curtis, a wealthy and well known farmer near Windsor, Ont., suffered from a severe attack of this malady, leaving him exceedingly weak and with no appetite. No medicine seemed to do him any good until he was influenced to try South American Nervine and his testimony is this: "After taking one bottle I found very great benefit from it, my appetite improved wonderfully, and I felt my strength returning very fast." Mr. Curtis then purchased five bottles, but after taking only three out of the five, to use his own words: "I am feeling as nearly well to-day as I ever did, and I can attribute my restoration to health and strength solely to South American Nervine."

REPORT OF THE MISSION BOARD.

The committee reported a serious deficit and a very considerable falling off in income as compared with the previous year. The decrease is $1050; and this explains why, in spite of reductions in grants last year, the overdraft at the bank has swelled to $3,944 this year as compared with $3,039 in 1894 and $1,524 in 1893.

Grants were last year made to forty-three missions to the amount of $12,100.

The Bishop having reviewed the mission field and its urgent needs, Rev. Mr. Hartley, of the Mission Parish of Burleigh, gave an account of his labours and the great need there is for more missioners in the rural districts.

Rural Dean Jones anticipated relief from the present calamitious state of the mission funds by the agency of the Women's Auxiliary, who had been drawn into co-operation with the synod in this work. Women, he said, are the best collectors for all church objects.

A collection, amounting to $36, was taken up, and the synod adjourned until this morning.

RESULTS OF ELECTIONS.

The results of the elections held the previous day were announced as follows, the names being in order of election:—

Executive Committee—Revs. Septimus Jones, John Langtry, Dr. Pearson, J. P. Lewis and A. H. Baldwin; Messrs. A. H. Campbell, N. W. Hoyles, J. H. Plummer, J. A. Worrell, A. McLean Howard.

St. Alban's Chapter.—Lay member elected by lay members to take the place of Mr. R. H. Bethune, deceased, Mr. J. H. Plummer.

Later on in the session the Bishop announced the following as his appointments to the Executive Committee,—Ven. Archdeacons Boddy and Allen, Canons DuMoulin, Cayley and Farncombe, Hon. G. W. Allen and Messrs. C. J. Campbell, W. Ince, C. R. W. Biggar and Stapleton Caldecott.

SHOULD LEARN TO SWIM.

The Youngsters Should be Taught How to Strike Out.

There are hundreds of boys in town who would like to be able to swim, and it is safe to say there are at least half that number of parents who would like to have their children taught this necessary accomplishment, if it could be done without danger.

At present if a boy wants to learn swimming, the only place is at the river in company with other boys, a very dangerous place to say the least.

The suggestion has been made that if some enterprising citizen with a little capital would lease the skating rink for the summer season and convert at least the side rinks, into a swimming bath, it would be a paying investment and the idea is a good one, and one that would receive liberal support, if well conducted. Boys and girls too, could then learn the desirable art of swimming, free from all danger and the relief to parents would be simply incalculable.

During the warm summer months an entertainment—sort of a promenade concert—could be given once a week, where parents and others could gather and watch the young gaffers display themselves to their hearts content in swimming, tub and other races. "There's millions in it" for some local capitalist.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

Sealing Bill Drafted on Suggestions From Ottawa.

NO FAST MAIL SERVICE REPORT.

Britain to Build a Railroad in Uganda and Establish a Protectorate From That Country to the Coast—Russia Must Not Occupy Corea.

London, June 13.—In the House of Commons to-day, Sir Edward Grey, Under Foreign Secretary, on behalf of Mr. Sydney Buxton, Under Colonial Secretary, answered the questions put by Mr. Thomas Gibson Bowles in regard to the Behring Sea bill, of which the latter gave notice yesterday. Mr. Bowles asked whether the Canadian Government had concurred in the provisions of the Government's bill to regulate seal fishing in Behring Sea, in accordance with the terms of the Behring Sea treaty, and also asked to have the correspondence on the subject, which had passed between the Home Government and the Dominion Government since 1893, laid upon the table of the House.

Sir Edward Grey said that the Government of Canada was aware that legislation on the subject of sealing in Behring Sea was necessary in the place of the laws about to expire, and that the Dominion Government had furnished the Home Government with a full expression of the Canadian views as to the amendments which were desired. These views had been carefully considered and the Government had endeavored to put them all into effect in the present bill.

Mr. James F. Hogan, member for Mid-Tipperary, asked the Government to expedite the report of the committee of the Postoffice Department respecting a fast line of subsidized mail steamers between the United Kingdom and Canada.

Mr. Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General, said the deliberations of the committee on the subject required considerable time, and promised there should be no unnecessary delay in the submission of their report.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced that the Government would take the entire time of the House for the remainder of the session for purely Government business.

Sir Edward Grey, in reply to Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, said that the Government considered that Russia still abided by the agreement that in the event of Great Britain's ceasing to occupy Port Hamilton Russia should not seize the opportunity to occupy Corean territory.

Sir Edward Grey announced that the Government had decided to construct a railway to Uganda, Central Africa, and to establish a protectorate over the country between Uganda and the coast. He asked the House to vote £30,000 yearly to meet the expense of administering the protectorate.

Joseph Chamberlain and A. J. Balfour, the leaders of the Liberal-Unionists and Conservatives respectively, congratulated the Government upon its decision.

Sir Charles Dilke declared that the policy of the Government in this resect was a fatal one, and he would unceasingly protest against it. The money grant was adopted by a vote of 249 to 51.

Considered the Government's Position.

London, June 14.—The Cabinet Council met at 11 o'clock yesterday. Lord Rosebery presiding. Before the meeting Sir William Harcourt had an extended interview with Thomas E. Ellis, the first Liberal whip in the House of Commons. The business of the council was chiefly devoted to a consideration of the position of the Government in the House of Commons. The council adjourned at noon.

Free Trade in New South Wales.

Sydney, N.S.W., June 14.—The customs bill passed its second reading in the Legislative Assembly to-day. The measure abolishes the duties provided for in the act of 1891, and its effect will be the establishment of free trade with New South Wales.

FAST TRIP OF THE ST. LOUIS.

Fast Time Made By the New Atlantic Liner.

Southampton, June 14.—The steamship St. Louis completed her voyage across the Atlantic by arriving at Southampton at 4.40 o'clock this morning. Her time from New York to Southampton was 7 days 3 hours and 53 minutes, which was made at the almost uniform speed of 18 knots an hour. The ship's stiffness in the moderate seas encountered and the astonishing absence of vibration from her machinery were subjects of admiration. Great enthusiasm was manifested at a meeting of the passengers, held on Tuesday evening, and presided over by Sir Julian Pauncefote over the sterling qualities of the first creation of a new American merchant marine. Capt. Randle believes that when the St. Louis has been prepared for her best work at high speed, later in the summer, she will accomplish remarkable results.

GOUGH BROS

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 377 George Street, June 14.

The Month Of Roses!

JUNE, the month of Roses, inaugurates the season for light-weight Clothing, at Reduced prices for Men, Youths and Boys. Before the June roses are all gone we expect that most of our present stock of Summer Clothing will have gone also, if sales keep on as they are doing the past two weeks. As the mercury in the thermometer ascends, the sales of our Cool Clothing ascends correspondingly, and unless you prepare for summer heat now, half your time will be spent in trying to keep cool. Every corner of our two big stores has a summer-like, hot-weather appearance. But, figuratively speaking, Gough Bros. is the coolest Clothing House in Canada during the hot days of June—because Gough Bros. prices are always below zero.

Perhaps We're Wrong.

We're sometimes blamed for selling things too cheap—but just now we're not making any apologies. We're working for "the greatest good to the greatest number"—and the way customers crowd the store every day shows that the public is abundantly satisfied with good things being cheap and cheap things being good.

What Counts.

What counts in purchasing is the comfort of knowing you made a good bargain. Look back a few years ago and compare the store of to-day with the business as you knew it then. Study the trend of values during the same period. Prices have been gradually reduced in proportion as facilities were enlarged.

Every now and then we are accused of underselling, when we merely do our duty—by you, and sell as low as we can. Dollars and cents—cents and dollars—with a leaning towards the store that gives the best values, and a disposition to trade where prices are lowest—that's the yard stick to measure by.

Summer Suits.

Men are apt to feel the summer heat more now than later on in the season. They need thin, comfortable Clothing now, and nobody wants to pay more than is necessary. Don't put off coming until late in the day if you can help it. Saturdays are our crowd days, when everybody's in a hurry. Better come now.

When the mercury is simmering, remember that we have the comfort you need. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means, and values are generally good all along the line.

—American Iceberg Coats, at 75c and $1.25.
—Lustre Coats and Vests, at $2.00.
—Lightweight Serge Suits, $2.95, $3.50, $10.00.
—Lightweight Tweed Suits, $3.90, $5.00, $7.50.
—Lightweight Skeleton Coats, 50c, $1.00 to $2.50.
—Blazer Coats, all colours, $2.00.
—White and Coloured Vests, from 60c to $2.00.
—Silk Coats and Vests, plain and striped, $2.00, $3.00, $5.00.
—Sporting Trousers, $2.00 to $4.00.

We sell about everything that men and boys wear, and many things they buy for personal gratification. In this respect the store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

Gent's Furnishing.

—French Balbriggan Suits $1.50.
—Natural Wool Suits $1.50.
—Outing Shirts 40c.

—Collars and Cuffs 10c, 15c, 18c a pair.

A great thing for a man who aims to succeed is to look well. Everybody is judged, more or less, by appearance. It doesn't cost much to possess stylish furnishings if you buy at Gough Bros.

Not Much of a Trick.

It's not much of a trick to sell Straw Hats at this season of the year, although some of the regular hat dealers may have to hustle to do it and get their fancy prices. If we had to sell Hats alone, we might have to hustle, too, but we don't have to. It's as easy as looking down a well. The Hat maker usually loads up the regular Hat dealers at good, plump figures, and when he finds he has an immovable load left he calls in the live general retail clothier and bids him take them at his own price—but take them. That's one of the ways we get in our best work. GOUGH BROS. have helped several such hat manufacturers out of a hole, and it accounts for the special price festival we have been holding in Hats the past few weeks. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade; but were the SELLERS and that suits us just as well.

—Gents' Fine Straw Hats 25c, worth 40 cents.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 50c, worth $1.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 75c, worth $1.50.
—Men's Straw Hats in lightweight, wide and narrow rims, 50c to $1.50.
—Boys' Hats, in every style, from 15c to 75c.
—Children's Sailors 10c, 25c.
—Tweed Hats 20c, 25c.
—Men's Tourists, 75c.
—Men's Christy Hats, all sizes 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2 and $3.
—Fedoras, all popular shades, qualities and sizes, for Men and Boys, as low as 70c, as high as $3.

That's enough to prove our interest in your welfare. We have a complete assortment, and prices are low enough to capture your trade.

Tan Shoes.

A discussion is just now bothering some people as to whether or no, Tan Shoes are cooler than black in hot weather. The question is easily answered: Nothing is fashionable long that does not combine comfort with style of late years no two things have added more to a mitigation of hot-weather discomfort than the brown shoe and the outing shirt.

We have tan shoes in all sizes, for men, women and children, and seem to have no difficulty in disposing of all we can get.

There's no jobbers' 25 per cent. on boots in this store—you pay no intermediate profit here. We sell as we buy.

—First quality Canvas Oxfords, kid-faced, white, tans and greys.
—Russian Tan Oxfords, in dark and light colours, hand-turned soles and welts; tan overgaiters to match.
—Nobby street shoe in patent leather vamp, kid quarter, opera and Philadelphia toe.
—Tennis shoes, all sorts and sizes.
—Men's Tan Shoes, kid lined $1.15.
—Misses' Tan Balmorals and Button Boots $1.
—Woman's Tan Balmorals $1 a pair.
—Ladies' hand-made Tan Oxfords $1.25.
—Hand-made Button Boots $2.
—Finest American White Canvas $2, $2.50.
—Oxford, hand-made $1.25, $1.50.
—Finest Russian Leather (city made) Oxford, $2.

Our prices may be ruining the shoe trade—we can't help it. We're sorry to injure the shoe trade, but we must look after your interests and keep you posted in right prices.
